Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, the pastor, was chairman of the meeting and O. B. Leonard, the church clerk, was in his position. The annual report of the treasurer, J. Herbert Case, was presented. This showed the total receipts, together with last year's balance to be $7,847.89 and the disbursements to be $7,809.73. The $1,000 included for music does not represent the total cost, the balance, amounting to about $3,000 being contributed privately for the purpose. During the past year about $700 was expended for repairs. It was reported that arrangements have about been completed to build a few new horsesheds alongside the church to take the place of the old sheds recently removed.

There were two trustees to be elected to succeed Alexander Gilbert and Alfred W. Day, whose terms of office expired. Mr. Gilbert was re-elected for a full term, and George F. White was chosen to succeed Mr. Day, who with his family expect to remove to New York in the near future.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED ON AN AUTO SPEEDER.

Released on his own recognizance after his arrest on South avenue on Sunday afternoon, Frank L. Apgar, of West Fourth street, whom Patrolman George Dobson found driving a big Fiat car at a rate of thirty miles an hour, appeared before City Judge Runyon at the session of court today. The machine bore no number at the time, and it developed that the number had not been put on when the car started from Newark. Apgar alleged that this was the fault of the man who had washed the car at the Newark garage.

Riding with Apgar at the time of the arrest was a prospective purchaser of the car, but while Apgar, who is a salesman for the Fiat, acknowledged that he had "let out" the 80-horse-power car before reaching town, he said that he had gone into the second speed at the city limits. Judge Runyon suspended sentence with a warning.

"Ladies' Night at Trinity.

The Dutch Arms, the men's association of Trinity Reformed church, will hold its first "ladies' night" affair, Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Walter David, of New York, will provide the entertainment. Mr. David is an entertaining story-teller, while Mrs. David is a harpiest of exceptional talent.

MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

P. D. C. Burroughs, of Paterson, Chosen by Scott Post as Orator of the Day.

THE COMMITTEES ARE NAMED.

Veterans to Hold "Open House"—To Decorate Graves—There Will Be Public Exercises.

At the meeting of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., last night, plans for the annual observance of Memorial Day were discussed, and an outline of the program partly decided upon. The general committee on Memorial Day comprises Charles B. Stephens, chairman; I. L. McVoy, Fred Wenzel, Nathan Pennington and Edward Vanderweg. This committee has selected its sub-committees, I. L. McVoy being in charge of music and speaker and Fred Wenzel and Nathan Pennington on hall. The marshal for the day has not yet been appointed.

The orator of the day has been chosen. He will be Past Department Commander Burroughs, of Paterson, who is said to be an exceptionally fine speaker.

The plans for this year's observance will include several features. The Post will keep "open house" at headquarters in Reform Hall and during the interval between the parade and the public exercises in the afternoon dinner will be served at headquarters by the members of the Women's Relief Corps. A general invitation will be extended to all veterans of the Civil War in this vicinity, whether members of the Post or not, to join in the observance and they will be invited to partake of the dinner.

Details from the Post will visit the various cemeteries early in the morning of May 30, and upon their return the Post, accompanied by Co. K, which has been invited, will join in a parade of the principal streets, during which the Evergreen and North Plainfield cemeteries will be visited. Appropriate exercises will be held at these two cemeteries. The Plainfield Brass Band will furnish the music.

After the parade dinner will be served. The public exercises will be held in Reform Hall in the afternoon when the veterans will have charge under the direction of H. Craig Smith, commander. There will be a chorus of school children to sing patriotic airs and the usual service for the unknown dead will form a part of the program; together with the reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

A few days prior to Memorial Day, details from the Post will visit the public schools of the city and borough and speak to the children, as usual. Commander H. Craig Smith is in charge of the work to collect flowers from the public schools to be used in decorating the graves of departed veterans.

GEN. WANSER ORDERS ELECTION HELD NOW.

Major-General Peter Farmer Wanser, division commander of the National Guard of New Jersey, yesterday issued a division order calling for the election of a successor to Brigadier-General Edward A. Campbell Friday night.

The election will be held in the armory of the Fourth Regiment in Jersey City, and General Wanser will preside. Colonel Edwin W. Hine, of Fifth Regiment, who was appointed temporary brigade commander pending the decision of the Campbell case, is the only candidate, and the promotion is due him under the seniority rules of military etiquette.

General Wanser, it is understood, would not have ordered an election until the Campbell case had been settled by the courts, but Governor Fort, as commander-in-chief of the New Jersey National Guard, directed the election, General Wanser stated yesterday.

Only the line officers of the First Brigade, including the colonels, lieutenant-colonels and majors, will vote, and there are fourteen of them.

Lieutenant-Colonel Albert A. Van Valraven, it is understood, will have no opposition in advancing to the command of the Fifth Regiment, if Colonel Hine is made brigade commander. The election in the Fifth Regiment will be ordered as soon as Hine is elected brigade commander, if present plans go through.

No Trace of Emil Mueck.

Emil Mueck, who disappeared from his home at Elizabeth a week ago Monday, is still missing.

—Mrs. Charles Hook, of West Front street, entertained the Thimble Club, of which she is a member, at her home, last night. Refreshments were served during the evening.

BABY MAY BE BLINDED

Eight-Year-Old Boy Fires a Blank Cartridge, Powder Going in Brother's Eye.

THE VICTIM TWO YEARS OLD.

Dr. A. H. Dundon Has Hopes of Saving One of Little Biddle Boy's Optics.

Arthur Biddle, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Biddle, of Lee place, while playing with a revolver filled with blank cartridges at his home this morning, accidentally discharged the firearm in the face of his baby brother, aged two years, and as a result the little tot will lose the sight of one eye, while his face will be disfigured for a long time. Dr. A. H. Dundon, the family physician, was summoned immediately and through prompt treatment believes that he will save one optic.

The revolver belongs to an older brother, Richard Biddle, Jr., and Arthur got hold of it while his mother was out of the room. In a playful mood and for the purpose of amusing his brother, he danced in front of him waving the weapon. He pressed the trigger a little too hard, discharging it. The report frightened the lad so that he dropped the pistol and ran from the room, while the screams of the injured baby brought the mother to the scene instantly.

The child's face was blackened by the powder from the cartridge, and the examination by the physician showed that the discharge was so close as to not only burn the skin, but also the eyes, one more than the other. The sight of both eyes are in danger, but Dr. Dundon now believes that he can save one.

MURDERER ESCAPES THE ELECTRIC CHAIR

Archibald Herron, who has been held in the death house at Trenton for several weeks under sentence to die in the electric chair for the murder of the Rev. Samuel B. D. Prickitt, at Metuchen on July 15 last, was yesterday judicially declared insane by Justice James J. Bergen at New Brunswick.

The court made no order in the matter except to direct the man to be taken in charge by the State prison keeper.

Justice Bergen stated that his refusal to reimpose sentence of death was the only action he could take, but that counsel for the defendant should make a move for the further disposition of the prisoner. Former Judge C. T. Cowenhoven, counsel for the man, declared that he would do so and an application to have the man committed to an asylum for the insane will be made later. This afternoon the prisoner was taken back to State prison.

Zelocowitz Case Postponed.

The case of Louis Zelocowitz, the New York plumber who is bringing action against Samuel Roth, of Plainfield avenue for an alleged assault committed Saturday night when Zelocowitz went to the house to collect some wages, was postponed for a week at the session of city court today. The reason for the postponement is that Patrick Kilbride, of Westfield, who was at Roth's house at the time, and has been subpoenaed as a witness in the case, was unable to come to this city today for the postponed hearing. Roth has retained Robert Newton Crane as his counsel.

Young People's Dance.

About two score local young people, including some Plainfield High School graduates now at the various colleges, held an informal dance at the Fanwood fire-house last night. Refreshments were served at midnight and dancing was continued until an early hour. The committee in charge of the affair comprised Louis De Brigard, Paul Collier and Stewart Freeman.

An African Missionary to Speak.

Rev. Mr. Barchwitz, a returned missionary from Africa and a religious worker of large experience, will address the meeting of the Christian and Missionary Alliance in the W. C. T. U. rooms Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. He will also conduct the meeting of the Rescue Mission in the evening at the same place.

Sesame Club Meeting.

Mrs. Duncan W. Taylor will entertain the Sesame Club at her home, 455 West Seventh street, tomorrow morning.

JAMES T. CLOSSON DEAD

Generous and Unostentatious Resident Passes Away After a Long Illness.

AGED SEVENTY-TWO YEARS.

Retired from Banking Business Twenty-five Years Ago—He Is Survived By a Sister.

James T. Closson passed away at an early hour this morning at his home on East Front street. His death comes at the close of a long illness, which has confined him to the house for the past six months.

Mr. Closson was seventy-two years of age and has lived in Plainfield since 1867. He was a banker of the firm of Closson & Hayes, of New York city, but retired from active business life about twenty-five years ago. He was for many years before his death prominently identified with the City National Bank of Plainfield as its vice president and one of its directors and much of the conservatism and strength of that institution are due to his watchful and intelligent interest in its affairs.

Mr. Closson was one of the best beloved men in the city. Of a disposition entirely unselfish and kindly he took an active part in helping every good cause. Having ample means, he used them generously but unostentatiously wherever there was need. His right hand never knew what his left hand was doing and there are many among the poor and deserving who will hold his memory in grateful recollection.

Mr. Closson was never married and is survived by an only sister, Mrs. Edgerton. His devotion to her was beautiful and his one great purpose in life was to minister to her comfort and happiness. His genial smile, his open hospitality, his firm friendship will long be cherished by those who were privileged to know him. The funeral will be private.

BIG NIGHT FOR THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Under the direction of District Deputy O'Neil and staff of six from Jersey City, the second degree was conferred on thirty-eight candidates at the meeting of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, last night. The initiatory work was performed in a highly creditable manner by the team and the members were personally congratulated by the knights.

After the initiatory work there were several speeches, Deputy O'Neil and his staff, as well as Francis J. Blatz and J. J. Varley responding. The remarks were all of a congratulatory nature. Following the work of the evening Watchung Council served refreshments and a smoker was enjoyed.

PLAINFIELD MEN VISIT A RAHWAY INSTITUTION.

A. E. Force, Isaac Schwed, J. Hervey Doane and M. C. Van Arsdale were the guests of a Mr. Cloyd, the founder of what is to be known as the Self-Supporting Home for Men and Boys, which is located at Rahway. The object of the new institution is to take in men and boys who are un-employed and if possible to uplift them. Mr. Cloyd stated that it was his intention of making the institution self-supporting if possible and the large tract of ground that was leased with the building will be run as a truck farm, to be worked by the inmates.

On next Monday night Mr. Cloyd will be in the city as a guest of the Merchants' Association and will make some remarks pertaining to the institution.

Dr. Zwemer to Preach.

Rev. Dr. S. M. Zwemer, field secretary of the foreign board of the Reformed Church in America, and greatly interested in the Forward Movement for foreign missions and for many years a missionary in Arabia, will occupy the pulpit of Trinity Reformed church, Sunday morning and night. He is a very able speaker and much sought after by the churches.

The Daily Press Never Fails.

A member of the family of N. W. French, of West Fourth street, on Saturday lost a gold fraternity pin, and advertised the fact in The Daily Press. The pin was found by Mrs. David Bush, a reader of this newspaper, who returned it to the owner today and received a suitable reward.

MURDEROUSLY ATTACKED

The Victim, an Aged Junkman, with Skull Fractured, in Critical Condition.

ROBBERY WAS THE MOTIVE.

Police and Detectives Searching for the Unknown Assailant of George Elwyn.

His skull fractured with an axe by a murderous blow from behind, George Elwyn, a junk dealer, sixty years old, whose home is in a little shack on the Warrenville road, near the Watchung ice house, lies unconscious at Muhlenberg Hospital, the victim of an attack by an unknown assailant. Robbery is supposed to have been the motive for the crime, for the old man's pockets were rifled. The axe, a short-handled rusty tool, was found covered with blood and human hair near the barn, to which Elwyn had gone to feed his horse late last night.

William Bartle, who lives within a few hundred feet of the little six-by-ten hut where the old man has lived alone for the past two years, heard moans of pain at his front door as he was preparing to retire at about 10 o'clock last night and discovered Elwyn in a fainting condition on the stoop. The injured man had crawled on his hands and knees from the place where he was attacked and was so weak that he could only murmur that he had been struck in the head by a man near his barn. He could give no description of the assailant.

Realizing that the man was seriously hurt, Bartle summoned John Gunn, a neighbor, who ran to Hugo Maul's hotel, a mile away, and telephoned for Dr. Daniel C. Adams. The two then carried Elywn to the hotel, where the physician's examination showed that Elywn's skull was fractured. A telephone message to police headquarters brought Patrolman George Dobson and the patrol wagon and the old man, who had become unconscious, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital.

Detective George Totten, of Somerville, was notified by telephone from the hotel, but no traces can be found of the assailant. Neighbors say that the old man had nearly $200 with him when seen in the borough yesterday afternoon, and when he came to Bartle's house his pockets were turned inside out. Elwyn lived the life of a recluse in his little hut and was a peddler and junk dealer. The story that the old man had a hoard of money which he kept in his hut may have been the motive for the assaut, for the place was ransacked. Nothing is known to have been taken but Elwyn's revolver.

Elwyn's hut is one of a colony of houses, situated close to each other near the ice house. As far as can be learned, no one saw any suspicious person near the place last night. Detective Totten and Constable Clemens, of Watchung, are at work on the case. The North Plainfield police were notified by the physician at about midnight.

About three weeks ago, the home of George Wilson, who lives near Warrenville, was broken into and $1,500, which he had just received on a mortgage, was stolen from the mattress, where it had been put but a few hours before.

CRESCENT AVENUE MEN'S CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS.

Officers for the coming year were elected at the annual meeting of the Men's Club of the Crescent Avenue church, last night, in the study of the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie. Lindsey Best, last year's president, was again named to head the organization, and Henry Cochran was re-elected as vice-president. George Davey, the secretary-treasurer named last night, is a new officer, as is William Abbee, of the executive committee. F. M. Genung, Arthur Lovell and James Kimball were re-elected as the other members of the executive committee.

Following the election, there was a discussion of ways and means by the club members, and plans were made for the meetings of the year.

State Home for "Bad Boy."

At a conference yesterday between Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, probation officer, and Judge Atwater at Elizabeth regarding Tony Moratio, Westfield's 8-year-old "Bad Boy," charged with breaking into and looting Councilman John J. Schmitt's bakery, Broad street, Westfield, Sunday morning, it was decided to send the boy to the State Home for Boys at Jamesburg.

Where Trolley Goes Population Grows

PUBLIC SERVICE had something to say last week about the "Trolley Car as a Builder of Cities."

It was pointed out in that talk how the electric street railway makes it feasible for great numbers of people to live under more healthful conditions and amid more pleasing surroundings than would be possible without it. Attention was directed to the fact that in doing this the trolley road adds to the wealth of the community.

Public Service wants to say something more on this subject. It wants to impress upon your mind that you, personally, are benefitted by the street railway. If you have never stopped to consider whether this is so or not, Public Service can, perhaps, convince you that it is so.

HOW THE TROLLEY BENEFITS YOU.

Because it transports you quickly and cheaply the trolley car is a convenience.

If you are a property owner the trolley road adds to the value of your property.

If you are a renter, the trolley road, by enlarging the residential area, brings more houses within reach and makes it possible for you to get living quarters cheaper than you would have to pay for similar accommodations in a more contracted district.

ATTRACTS POPULATION.

In opening up new sections for homes the electric street railway attracts people to a community.

The history of every trolley road shows that where the trolley goes population grows.

Growth of population adds to the volume of business.

More business means greater progress and increased prosperity.

As a factor in attracting population and promoting business relations between people of different communities, thus contributing to the comfort and prosperity of all, the trolley car is a benefit to you as well as a convenience.

Today's Story of Women's Apparel

Is An Interesting One--Read It to Your Profit.

There's not a tailoring shop or dressmaking establishment in New York that we are not watching as a catch watches for a mouse—alert for anything new that may come out, alive to every new idea that may make its appearance, ready to seize the freshest fashions as they issue from the fashion-making centres.

And so this great Garment Shop of ours is ever a revelation to those seeking new styles—to those who want the very freshest dreams of the designers and who would rather be fashionable than be President.

New arrivals come almost hourly. The showing is panoramic, endless. To be in touch you must come often.

These new suits are just now beckoning to you.

Women's Smart Two-Piece Street Suits of Chiffon Panama and Fancy Mixtures; hipless coats of medium length, slashed, with large pockets and silk cord; bengaline notched collars; buttons to match; semi-circular skirt with panel, trimmed with buttons in rows; gray, navy, Copenhagen and other shades and black; suits that we count well worth $20; tomorrow at $11.49

Women's Two and Three-Piece Suits of fine Serge and Prunella Cloths, combination stripes and best colors including black and white; coats in straight Directoire styles—the new envelope models; handsomely trimmed with inlays of bengaline collars, and buttons; richly lined with soft silk or messaline; smart gored skirt to match; excellent value at $35; special $23.98

Fine Tailored Suits of Fancy Novelty Mixtures; Spring weight cloths and French Serges; three-quarter and medium length coats in straight and hipless effects, with semi-fitted or seamless backs; notched or Empire collars, Persian or satin trimmed; high Empire or straight round skirts with panel front; the lot including the most-talked-of suit with 118 round buttons on it; suits we count good value at $45; would sell at that in many a store; offered here $31.98

Fine Tailored Suits with extra long coats—elegant effects of imported 2-tone novelty cloth and French bengaline satin; very light weight; handsomely trimmed with braids and buttons, bengaline and straps; some also tailored in severely plain style; lined with handsome messaline; high bodice; semi or lapped gored skirt; a full range of the very best of this season's shades and all the good sizes; suits we value fairly at $58; selling at only $42.98

Other Three-Piece Suits at $49 to $115—truly a grand collection to choose from.

Women's Linen Jumper Dresses in Nile, natural linen, pink and blue with lace insertions and crochet buttons to match; would be cheap enough at $8.98; we are selling them at $5.98

Pretty Two-Piece Linen Suits in all the new shades; suits full insertion trimmed, laces to match; three-quarter pointed effects; skirts semi-gored and trimmed to match coats; would sell in some stores at as much as $17; offered here at $9.98

Linen Coat Suits, full insertion trimmed; three-quarter length coats; semi-gored skirts; very pretty $10 suits; priced at $5.98

Handsome New Dresses of Fine Messaline and Foulard in Empire and Princess styles; side sash effect or heavy braided satin gored; with or without lace collars and embroidered collars; in all sizes; small and women's sizes included; valued at $29.98; being featured at $19.98

2,000 FULLY GUARANTEED $1.50 to $3 Umbrellas $1

A New York umbrella maker of high repute has sold us this big lot of umbrellas (over 2,000 of them) and hardly two alike in the whole collection for this big two-days' sale.

The coverings are of guaranteed rain-proof taffeta with tape edge; also with hemmed edge; mounted on Paragon frame with strong, slender steel rods with case and tassel to match.

The handles—we had thought of trying to describe them but we find such a vast variety and so many distinct styles that it would be futile to undertake to tell you of their beauty. Suffice it to say there are many handles here worth more than the price we are going to ask you for the umbrella—gold and pearl, silver and pearl, gunmetal (plain and trimmed), exquisite ivories, imported horns, boxwood, furze (plain and silver trimmed) Dresden balls, mission, gold stick shapes, square, round, flats—every conceivable sort of handle.

There are 26-in. lengths for women, and 28-in. lengths for men. Not an umbrella in the lot should sell for less than $1.50; others are worth $2, $2.25, $2.50 to $3. Many of them are of the highest grade—yet you can pick from this lot tomorrow or next day at the insignificant price of.... $1

Morning Sale (10 a. m. to 1 p. m.) $5 Silk Petticoats 2.98

This sale comes in response to your encore on the occasion of our last event of this sort. We could have sold so many more petticoats had we had them last week, for though we knew we were offering one of the best things that had ever been presented in a Newark store, you fairly took us off our feet by the way you appreciated the offer. So here is another lot of the same kind of petticoats, and will be ready for any demand that may be made upon us.

These petticoats are of heavy Taffeta Silk, crisp and fine, made in generous widths with a full 12-in. flounce, finished with two rows of shirring and tiny tucks, with new silk inlay. You can choose from cerise, green, navy, dark green, myrtle, light gray, taupe, jasper, royal brown, wine, blue and black, and we would advise you that there are plenty of black, always so much in demand; every petticoat is splendidly made, and you will agree with us when we say they are well worth $5, but you can have them tomorrow, whether you want one or half a dozen at $2.98

We cannot fill mail or 'phone orders. See the window display. Second Floor.

My, but that boy Giddes is some sort of a Hans Wagner with the stick. He hit Birdy Peacock for four nice singles.

It's about time the North Plainfield High School lads got busy and let a fellow know when they play a game. Get together boys and let some one know you are living.

Billy Keeler, the new captain of the New York Americans, wants to get busy and show what he was in days gone by. Billy failed to make a hit in the opening game.

The Macon team of the South Atlantic League defeated Mercer University, 1 to 0, Monday in a game featured by the remarkable pitching of Sam Weems. Neither team made an error. Weems did not allow a hit, nor walk nor hit a batter, struck out fourteen and retired twenty-seven successive batters. He equaled the record held by Cy Young and Addie Jooss.

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Long Bridge, in Salem county, which has had no repairs in fifteen years, is being rebuilt.

The largest fox seen in that section for a long time was killed yesterday by Louis Fisler, of Clayton.

Mrs. Abraham Gabriel, of near Millville, who stepped upon a rusty nail a week ago, now is threatened with teanus.

While playing with a toy pistol, Viola, the small daughter of Ewan Smith, of West Millville, blew away a part of the fishy portion of one hand with a blank cartridge.

The second blaze in a week, believed to have been started by firebugs Sunday night, destroyed the barns on the farm of George Kumpels, near Riverside. Five horses and two cows perished in the flames.

A forest fire on the Amos Creely farm on the Rancocas road, near Burlington, gave neighboring farmers a hard fight and destroying fifteen acres of timber and much rail fence before it was checked at a sand embankment the fire fighters threw up in its path.

Miss Helen Clarke, daughter of Mrs. William B. Clarke, of Bayonne, was married yesterday at the home of her mother to Professor Henry Austin, manual training instructor of the Bayonne High School. The officiating cleryman was Rev. William H. Boocock, pastor of the First Reformed church.

Tillers of the soil living along the Bridgeton turnpike have formed the Model Farmers' Agricultural Association, to stand together in contracts, to buy baskets, hampers and supplies in wholesale quantities, to charge a uniform price for products and to procure up-to-date appartus for fighting the San Jose scale and pests.

Hearing that a warrant had been sworn out for his arrest on a charge of larceny of a bank containing $14 from Arthur Schaefer, of 535 North Fifth street; Frank Fisser, of 533 North Fifth street, Camden, surrendered himself to the Camden police yesterday, and was held in $300 bail by Recorder Stackhouse for his appearance at court.

A large brood of chicks, about ready for hatching, were destroyed by fire at 1:20 o'clock yesterday morning in an incubator located in a small shed in the rear of the home occupied by Mrs. Mary Doyle, at 182 East Twenty-second street, Paterson. It is believed that the lamp used in the incubator became overheated and set fire to the hatching machine.

Telling his companions on a fishing trip from Philadelphia that he would stay out alone a while longer, Jacob Frizell, of Paulsboro, fell from his boat late Sunday night and was drowned. Early yesterday morning his friends found his body in shallow water near his boat. Coroner Hunter gave a certificate of death by accidental drowning.

Joseph Myers, of 284 West Twenty fourth street, Paterson, complained of feeling ill last evening, and retired at 8 o'clock. He grew worse and his wife offered to call a physician, but Mr. Myers objected. Later, when physicians did arrive at the house, the man was dead. He was a victim of heart failure. Mr. Myers is survived by his widow and eight children.

There was an exciting time on Middlesex street, Gloucester City, last night, when a woman picked up the two-year-old son of John Solomon, who lives at 230 Middlesex street, and started to run away with him. The child sereamed, and the woman, when she saw that she was being followed, dropped the child and made her escape. Chief of Police Goan returned the child to its father.

With a bogus bill of lading from the New York and New Haven Railroad, two men yesterday succeeded in securing a five-horsepower engine at Pavonia Station, Camden. The engine was consigned to Thomas Street. The forgery was not discovered until the men had been gone some time with the engine. They succeeded in eluding the edtectives sent after them. The engine was valued at $157.

The announcement last night of the marriage on July 1, 1908, of Justice of the Peace Charles M. Baldwin, sixty-seven years old, of Camden, and Mrs. Margaret Chamberlain, forty-five years old, of Port Norris, caused quite a surprise among their many friends. Baldwin also announced the marriage on November 29, 1908, of his step-daughter, Miss Pearl Chamberlain, of Port Norris, to Ralph Corson, which ceremony he had performed.

CAN'T PAY ALIMONY; IS INSOLVENT DEBTOR.

Jersey City, April 14.—According to a decision just handed down by Vice-Chancellor James E. Howell, a divorced husband defaulting in the payment of alimony, and unable to pay, practically becomes an insolvent debtor, and his former wife a preferred creditor to the extent of the arrearages. This ruling grew out of the pleadings of counsel for Thomas B. Jones, an engineer, a former resident of Perth Amboy, whose wife divorced him, and to whom he was in debt for alimony arrearages amounting to $350.

Three weeks ago Jones was arrested on an order issuing from the vice-chancellor because of his failure to pay the alimony in question. He has since been in the county jail.

"KIDNAPPED" BOY ASKED FIVE DOLLARS RANSOM.

It's a safe bet that when little LeRoy Montgomery, colored, and thirteen years old, was turned over to his parents at Morristown Monday night by County Detective Brennan, he got a good spanking. The lad framed up a self-kidnapping swindle, with his mother as the proposed victim of the projected blackmail. Five dollars' ransom was his demand. LeRoy ran away Sunday, after being threatened with chastisement by his mother. Sunday night he spent in the police station in Madison, and Monday afternoon walked to Convent. At Convent he went to the postoffice, and with the one cent he had in his pockets, bought a postal card. This is what he wrote on it:

"Mrs. Montgomery, Morristown:

"We kidnapped your boy on Sunday. Unless you send us five dollars you will not get him back. Signed, CONVENT."

Postmaster Scott had been watching the boy and so looked the postal card over after it had been deposited for mailing. Mr. Scott asked LeRoy what had happened to him. "Why I've been kidnapped," said the colored youth, "and I have to wash dishes and do digging." Mr. Scott then telephoned to Detective Brennan, who hurried to Convent and brought LeRoy back home.

New Bill at Proctor's.

BLAMING HER HURBAND, WOMAN TRIES TO DIE

"Tired of life, so end it all. Smith does not give me money to live on. Been married twenty-eight years; never had a happy day with him.
"SARAH SMITH."

Leaving the above note as a farewell message, Mrs. Joseph Smith, wife of a retired fish dealer of 409 Warren street, Harrison, yesterday slashed her throat with a razor and is now in St. Michael's Hospital in a precarious condition. Before making the attempt on her life Mrs. Smith told her husband that she was tired of living and added that she wouldn't have to bother him for money any more.

It was shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning when Mrs. Smith spoke what she thought would be her last words to her husband. Going to the kitchen she leaned over the sink and drew a razor across her throat. Hearing the crash of her head against the bottom of the sink, Mr. Smith ran to the kitchen and found his wife nearly unconscious from loss of blood.

Dr. F. C. Thornley, of 113 South Third street, was called, and, expressing the opinion that the woman was dying, ordered her hurried removal to the hospital. Arriving there, Mrs. Smith told attendants she was sorry she had made a botch of the suicide job.

Mr. Smith, who has lived in Harrison for more than forty years, admitted that he had quarreled with his wife many times over money matters, but declared there was no reason for her to attempt to destroy her life. He added that they had always lived comfortably and that he gave her all the money he thought she required.

Mrs. Smith is 66 years old, and neighbors declare she has long feared that her husband, who is a few years older and in ill health, would die and leave her alone. The couple have no children.

THE FORUM.

Dr. Mitchell's Recital.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Professor S. A. Mitchell, of Columbia University, will give an illustrated lecture on "Astronomy" in the First Presbyterian church tomorrow (Thursday) evening. Prof. Mitchell is a very able lecturer and should receive a large audience to greet him. It is hoped that the people of Plainfield will heartily support him.

JOURNEYMEN PAINTERS HAVE JOLLY DINNER.

The local branch of the Journeymen Painters' Union held a banquet last night at the Hotel Waldorf, in East Front street. After an elaborate dinner was served under the direction of Henry Windham, speeches were made by local officers and by some State officers of the organization.

An orchestra and some vocal singers contributed musical selections to further enliven the occasion. There were fifty-four present.

John Donaldson acted as toastmaster. The chairman of the committee was James Boyle. David Bodine also made an address, and there were songs by William Spaulding and Allan Anderson.

Wants Protection from Feudist.

Jersey City, April 14.—Salvatore Cacco, of 599 Grove street, this city, has asked the protection of the police. He asserts that he has received word that a relative, Calagero Cacco, has sailed from Italy for this country with the avowed purpose of killing Salvatore. Calagero has recently been released from prison, where he was committed ten years ago principally on Salvatore's testimony. The police are waiting for the arrival of the ship on which Calagero is supposed to have taken passage.

Trolley Freight Bill Passes.

The State Senate last night passed the amended trolley freight bill, introduced by Senator Gaunt. It gives a limited franchise to trolley companies to carry freight.

DEMOCRATS PAY TRIBUTE TO JEFFERSON'S MEMORY.

Under the auspices of the Essex County Democratic Committee the anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson was celebrated in Weaver's Colosseum, in Newark, last night by a big gathering of the leaders and the rank and file of the Newark and the Essex county Democracy.

More than twelve hundred tickets had been sold for a dollar beefsteak dinner. The general idea of the celebration, which was similar to others held in other parts of New Jersey last night, was conceived and put into operation by the Democratic State chairman, James R. Nugent, city cunsel of Newark and a recognized Democratic leader in Newark and Essex county. His object was to renew party enthusiasm and to start now in paving the way for Democratic success next year, when a Governor is to be elected.

Alderman Elmer A. Day, of Newark, presided, and Tyler Parmley, chairman of the Essex County Democratic Committee, was toastmaster. Though the gathering was supposed to be in the interest of party harmony, Sheriff William Harrigan and his large following were not among those present.

Frank G. Katzenbach, of Trenton, the Democratic Gubernatorial candidate of two years ago and prospective candidate for the head of the party ticket a year hence, was unable to attend. James Smith, Jr., was present, but was unable to make a harmony speech owing to severe hoarseness from a cold. City Counsel James R. Nugent, of Newark, made the opening address, declaring that the party throughout the State is working splendidly together and that the next Governor and the next Legislature of New Jersey ought to be from the Democratic ranks, and he believes will be.

Representative Eugene Kinkaid, of Hudson county, spoke briefly on national matters, including some reference to the tariff issue. Senator Harry V. Osborne told of his experiences in the Legislature at Trenton this year. Short talks were also made by Mayor Jacob Haussling, of Newark; Sterling Joiner, of Brooklyn, who was present as a guest of Mayor Haussling, and by Assemblyman Edward W. Kenny, of Hudson county, and James Matthews, of Union county.

Extends Time Limit.

State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman introduced a bill in the Senate last night extending until July 1, 1912, the time limit for the completion of the Plainfield Horse Car Company's line. The measure also allows the corporation the right to sell out if it so desires.

Reed Admits Robbery.

Ransom Reed, whom his accomplice, Helen Theimer, accused of robbing the home of Samuel Koestier, admitted his share in the robbery in the police court at Elizabeth yesterday, and was committed to the county jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

John Marshall Alexander.

John Marshall, infant son of Rev. and Mrs. Marshall Alexander, died this morning. The funeral will be held from the home of the parents, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Joseph and William W. Jefferson come from an old theatrical family. Their ancestors have been actors of exceptional prominence continuously since 1746, and the Jefferson name will doubtless continue famous for generations to come. These noted actors, supported by an excellent company, are billed to present Richard Brinsley Sheridan's famous old classical comedy "The Rivals" at the New Plainfield theatre tonight.

"The Man From Home" has no State bounderies. But he is absolutely, wholly and essentially of the States that lie between the Great Lakes and the Mason and Dixie line. He is not a stage fiction. He is an actual breathing entity. He personifies the spirit of wide seeing, big hearted, all dominating Americanism, which despised the petty, scorns the pretending, and which alone may some cycle encompass the dream of altruism—"The brotherhood of man, the federation of the world." Meanwhile "The Man From Home" is a play that willy-nilly is insistent upon recognition. You simply cannot avoid seeing it. Go and see him tomorrow night at the New Plainfield theatre.

SUICIDE WRAPPED HIMSELF IN FLAGS.

Veteran of the Spanish-American War Shoots Himself in Bayonne.

After making a tour of the neighborhood bidding friends goodby, Jacob Oldenwalder, forty years old, of Bayonne, committed suicide Monday by shooting. After looking himself in the parlor of his home he wrapped two American flags, one of which bore the inscription, "Spanish-American War," about his head and fired one bullet through his head and another through his heart.

Oldenwalder had several times threatened to kill himself. When his wife saw the revolver she hastened to Police Headquarters, three blocks away, and asked that a policeman be sent to prevent her husband doing harm to himself. As soon as she had left the house he prepared for his death. His son, hearing the shots, broke into the parlor and found his father dead. Oldenwalder was a veteran of the Spanish-American War.

Mrs. M. Snedeher, 244 East Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I have had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills for nearly three years, but I have not forgotten what this remedy did for me in 1905. At that time I was suffering from an attack of kidney complaint. The pains in my back were terrible and were accompanied by a disordered condition of the kidney secretions. I had dizzy spells, was subject to chills and felt weak and depressed in fact, had about every symptom of this dreadful disease. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice, I procured a supply at Randolph's Pharmacy and had only used two boxes when I was cured. During the time which has elapsed, I have never had a return of kidney trouble and I cheerfully give Doan's Kidney Pills my re-indorsement."

Don't Wrestle With Furnace Clinkers

Clinkers just naturally pass right through the grate of the Boynton.

If they hesitate, the cutting bar smashes them. There is no chance of clogging. The intense and uniform heat of the reduces nearly everything to the finest ash. That's because a square pot develops more heat per unit of fuel than any other kind. That's economy.

The Boynton has some other exceptional features too—the fresh air supply—the dust flue—the square ash pit. Any BOYNTON dealer will be glad to explain how these points reduce the care and cost of up-keep.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

BOY IS BENT ON A DOUBLE MURDER.

Roland Matlack, 19 years old, boastingly pleaded guilty in police court at Trenton Monday to attempting to kill Miss Margaret Sommers, 20 years old, and Roland Chadwick, a Philadelphia youth of about the same age, and declared that he would yet accomplish the double murder. He was held in $3,000 bail which his father refused to furnish, and an examination will be made of his mental condition.

The only reason that Matlack is not twice a murderer is that the second-hand dealer with whom he traded his overcoat for a revolver put the wrong kind of cartridges in the weapon and it would not respond to pressure on the trigger. Matlack has been attempting to pay court to the girl for some time but she repulsed him and when young Chadwick won her favor the situation is thought to have deranged the mind of the rejected boy. For a time he threatened to commit suicide and then he decided to kill the pair who caused his unhappiness.

He bided his time until he saw them walking together in a public square and attempted to carry out his purpose. When the pistol refused to work he walked away, after warning the crowd that gathered not to follow. Later he surrendered himself to two policemen and gave up the revolver.

SISTERS IN FIGHT; BONNETS RUINED.

Jersey City, April 13.—Mrs. Annie Cofield, of 9 Sommers street, Brooklyn, and Mrs. Alice Beland, of 154 West Fifteenth street, West New York, sisters, Sunday paid a social visit to their aunt, Mrs. Annie Harnett, of 14 Frazer place, this city. They were not on speaking terms, and neither knew that the other had planned the visit. Each had her children with her and each wore her new Easter bonnet.

When they came face to face in their aunt's home the old argument was renewed, with the result that both, with hair disheveled and Easter bonnets smashed, were led to the nearest police station by a burley policeman, who charged them with being disorderly persons. Both slept in cells Sunday night, and were very contrite when arraigned before Police Justice John Wahl Queen in the Second Criminal Court yesterday morning. The justice decided that both had been punished severely enough, and bade them depart in peace. Glaring at one another, they left the court-room by separate routes.

NIAGARA IS SILENCED; THE LOSS ENORMOUS.

For the first time since the white man has come to the banks of the Niagara the voice of the river has been mute twice in one year. The first time was late in February, when, following a severe northerly blow, the falls ran dry, and now for the second time, following a severe southwester, when the flood is frozen solid from bank to bank.

Unprecedented weather has brought about unprecedented conditions. On Wednesday of last week the worst gale of the season and the most violent that the records of the Weather Bureau ever recorded for April, tore out of the southwest and, following the lakes and the channel of the Niagara, left ruin in its wake.

Conservative estimates place the damage at $1,000,000. All day long a constant stream of visitors has been on hand to watch the river, white, glistening and silent.

ELIZABETH MAN BUYS BIG JUDGMENT CHEAP.

William Lybolt, formerly employed as a motorman by the Walkill Transit Company, some months ago obtained a judgment at Middletown, N. Y., of $12,00 against the company for injuries alleged to have been received in an accident. This judgment has been sold by Lybolt for $750, while the case was on appeal, the purchaser being Frederick K. Gaston, of Elizabeth, N. J.

The case is one of the most remarkable which ever developed in that section. After the accident Lybolt walked bent over nearly to the ground, and was a most pitiful sight, those who saw him believing that he would never improve. It is claimed that he has now entirely recovered and is employed in a town in Pennsylvania.

Manacled, But Aids Keeper.

While John Wilson, of Boston, was pleading in the United States District Court Monday morning at Trenton to charges of forging money orders, Deputy United States Marshall Bowers, to whom he was handcuffed, was stricken with vertigo. Wilson tore open Bowers' vest and shirt and noted his heart action, and gave orders for remedies until physicians arrived. Wilson studied medicine while serving time in the federal prison in Georgia for forging money orders. Bowers will recover.

Seven Hurt In Mine Accident.

Seven men were hurt last night at the Taylor mine of the New Jersey Zinc Company, near Newton. James Havens, one of them, will probably die. The other six—Hungarians—were less badly hurt. The men were in a skip, being lowered to the headings, and another skip loaded with tools fell on them.

POLLY of the CIRCUS

By MARGARET MAYO

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead and Company

Hasty picked up the empty box and the stepladder and went out through the gate. He had barely disappeared when a peal of laughter was heard from the hillside, and before Mandy could get out of the way the youngsters came tumbling down the path again.

"Lawsy, lawsy!" she gasped as Polly circled around her, dodging the children. "Youse cheeks is red as pinies, honey."

"Tag; you're it!" Polly cried as she touched the widow's auburn haired offspring on the sleeve. There was much wailing when Willie passed the tag to little Jennie, the smallest girl in the crowd.

"I won't play no more," she sobbed, "'cause I's always it."

To comfort her Polly began to sing an old circus song that the children had learned to love, and the little ones huddled about her in a circle to hear of the wonderful "Van Amberg" who used to "walk right into the lion's cage and put his head in the lion's mouth." The children were in a state of nerves that did credit to Polly as an entertainer when Hasty broke in upon the song.

"When yo' get a minute I want ter tell yo' somethin'."

"I have one right now." And, turning to the eager mites at her side, Polly told them to run along into the grove and that she'd come pretty soon to teach them a new game.

The youngsters went screaming and laughing on their way, and she breathed a sigh of relief as she threw herself down on the rustic seat that encircled the elm tree.

"What is it, Hasty?" she asked, suspecting that he was in trouble with Mandy.

"It's 'bout de circus," Hasty informed her bluntly.

"The circus?" She rose and crossed to him quickly.

"It's in Wakefield—an' nex' month it's a-comin' here."

"Here?" Polly gasped.

"I thought yo'd want ter know," said Hasty, a little surprised at her lack of enthusiasm.

"Yes, of course." She turned away and pretended to look at the flowers.

"Don' youse tell Mandy I been talkin' 'bout dat circus," said Hasty uneasily. He was beginning to fear that he had made a mistake, but before Polly could answer Mandy came out of the house, carrying baskets of food, which Hasty was to take to the Sunday school room. She looked at the girl's troubled face and drooping shoulders in surprise.

"What make yo' look so serious, honey?"

"Just thinking," said Polly absently.

"My! Don' yo' look fine in your new dress!" She was anxious to draw the girl out of her reverie.

"Do you like it?" Polly asked eagerly, forgetting her depression of a moment before. "Do you think Mr. John will like it?"

"Massa John? Mercy me! He nebber takes no notice ob dem t'ings. I done got a bran', spankin' new allapaca one time, an' do you think he ebber seed it? Lawsy, no! We might jes' well be goin' roun' like Mudder Eve for all dat man know." Polly looked disappointed. "But udder folks sees," Mandy continued comfortingly, "an' yo' certainly look mighty fine. Why, youse just as good now as yo' was afore yo' got hurted!"

"Yes, I'm well now and able to work again." There was no enthusiasm in her tone, for Hasty's news had made her realize how unwelcome the old life would be to her.

"Work! Yo' does work all de time. My stars, de help yo' is to Massa John!"

"Do you think so? Do I help him? Do I?"

"Of course yo' does. Yo' tells him t'ings to do in Sunday school what the chillun like, an' yo' learns him to laugh an' 'joy himself an' a lot of t'ings what nobody else could a-learned 'im."

"You mustn't say 'learned him,'" Polly corrected. "You must say 'taught him.' You can't 'learn' anybody anything. You can only 'teach' them."

"Lordy sakes! I didn't know dat." She rolled her large eyes at her young instructress and saw that Polly looked very serious. "She's gwine ter have anudder one a dem 'ticlar spells," thought Mandy, and she made ready to protest.

"See here, ain't you nebber"—

She was interrupted by a quick "Have you never" from Polly.

"It done make no difference what yo' say," Mandy snapped, "so long as folks understands yo'." She always grew restive under these ordeals, but Polly's firm controlled manner generally conquered.

"Oh, yes, it does," answered Polly. "I used to think it didn't, but it does. You have to say things in a certain way or folks look down on you."

"I's satisfied de way I be," declared Mandy as she plumped herself down on the garden bench and began to fidget with resentment.

"The way I am," Polly persisted sweetly.

"See here, chile, is dat why yo' been a-settin' up nights an' keepin' de light burnin'?"

"You mustn't say 'settin' up.' You must say 'sitting up.' Hens set"—

"So do I," interrupted Mandy. "I's doin' it now." For a time she preserved an injured silence, then turned upon Polly vehemently. "If I had to think ob all dat 'ere foolishness ebertime I open my mouth, I'd done been tongue tied afore I was born."

"I could teach you in no time," volunteered Polly eagerly.

"I don't want ter be teached," protested Mandy doggedly. "Hasty Jones says I's too smart anyhow. Men don't like women knowin' too much; it skeers 'em. I's good enough for my old man, an' I ain't a-tryin' ter get nobody else's," Mandy wound up flatly.

"But he'd like you all the better," persisted Polly, laughing.

"I don't want to be liked no better by no nigger," snapped Mandy. "I's a busy woman, I is." She made for the house; then curiosity conquered her, and she came back to Polly's side. "See here, honey, whose been l'arnin' yo' all dem nonsense?"

"I learn from Mr. Douglas. I remember all the things he tells me, and at night I write them down and say them over. Do you see this, Mandy?" She took a small red book from her belt and put it into Mandy's black, chubby fists.

"I see some writin', if dat's what yo' mean," Mandy answered helplessly.

"These are my don'ts," Polly confided as she pointed enthusiastically to worn pages of finely written notes.

"Youse what, chile?"

"The things I mustn't do or say."

"An' youse been losin' yoah beauty sleep for dem t'ings?" Mandy looked incredulous.

"I don't want Mr. John to feel ashamed of me," she said, with growing pride.

"Well, yo'd catch Mandy a-settin' up for"—

The Emergency Value

"Certainly, bring Mr. Blank home with you to dinner. It is late, but I can telephone the butcher and grocer and dinner will be ready when you arrive."

The unexpected guest to dinner, the engagement necessarily broken at the last moment, the delayed arrival of household supplies, the the sudden illness of the children—in these and a thousand and one other emergencies of home life the telephone is an ever ready, quick, reliable and efficient assistant. Have you a telephone in your home? If not, you should consider the question today. Rates are reasonable.

LOCAL OPTION BOGIE UP.

Rears Its Horrid Head—Oh, No, It Didn't.

There was an awful scare in the House Monday night at Trenton when Buck, of Cumberland, secured unanimous consent to introduce a bill and then told his colleagues it was the Anti-Saloon League's local option excise bill.

Clerk Parker read the title and it sounded right, but he discovered he had not seen clearly and that the measure was to prohibit the sale or exposure for sale of deleterious food.

It is said to be a copy of Pennsylvania's pure food and drug law.

Bowling and General Sports

BOWLING.

There is no reason why the Plainfield bowlers shouldn't make a go out of the Madison Square games. Plenty of the best men in the country fall down on such big games and the dark horse wins. Why not be a dark horse sometimes?

It's about time "Doc" Herbert began to get into good condition. "Doc" is a hot weather bowler and he will soon have a chance to make good.

The spring weather has caused the scores to fall off a great deal during the last few weeks. None of the men have been doing any thing out of the ordinary.

If Skelly can get into the same condition he was around Christmas, he would more than stand a show for winning the individual prize in the two-men tournament. But as there are no turkeys to be won, it's all off for him.

Griff Beers is seldom seen at the alleys any more. The duck pin "champ" is thinking more of the seashore at present than anything else.

There is still some bowling going on at the Park Club. The boys are doing little at the game at present. With one championship they are content to let some one else have the fun.

BASEBALL.

The Somerset Field Club defeated Holy Cross, 3d, Monday by a score of 23 to 0. The same day the Somersets defeated the Mountain A. C. by a score of 6 to 5.

DeLancey Ferguson, Arthur Titsworth, Fred Smith and Isidore Kunsman, of this city, students of Rutgers College, resumed their studies at that institution this morning after enjoying a week's Easter vacation.

LONG CHURCH TREASURER

W. H. Shotwell Re-elected for Forty-Sixth Year at the First Presbyterian.

THE TRUSTEES ARE CHOSEN.

Receipts for Year $5,416—No Debts—L. H. Gates Re-elected An Elder.

The annual meetings of the church and congregation of the First Presbyterian church were held last night, and all the reports were gratifying showing the past year to be the best in the history of the organization. All bills are paid and there is a balance on hand. The various societies made an excellent showing and considerable money was given to both home and foreign missions, as well as other benevolent objects.

At the church meeting which was held first, the pastor, Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring was chosen moderator, and Fred Dickerson acted as church clerk. His report showed a total membership of 409 and there were eight deaths during the year. There was received and disbursed for home and foreign missions and other benevolent objects, $1,862.98. The report of the home and foreign missionary societies showed receipts of $198.67 and disbursements of $194.03 and $410.85 was contributed to the Forward Movement. The report of the Deacons' fund showed receipts of $303.11 and disbursements of $189.31. The Christian Endeavor Society contributed $40 to home and foreign missions and the Sunday-school expended $240.25 for general purposes and $58.50 for home and foreign missions.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society raised $124.87, while the Pastors' Aid Society raised $534.27 and expended $110.66, leaving a large balance which will go toward purchasing a new carpet for the church. After L. H. Gates was re-elected elder and Charles M. Hummer was re-elected deacon to succeed themselves, this meeting adjourned.

The congregational meeting was then called, Frederick Dickerson being chosen chairman and William J. Hamilton secretary. William H. Shotwell, who has been treasurer of the church for forty-five years, presented his annual statement. This showed that there had been received and paid out during the year the sum of $5,416.40 and there is no deficit. It was the best report yet received.

For the first time the trustees made an extended report. This was signed by President D. K. Young and Secretary William J. Hamilton, and it reviewed at great length the work of the church, other than the spiritual. It was stated that the trustees had succeeded in obtaining a copy of the original incorporation papers by which the church had been able to adjust itself to the church laws of 1905. This necessitated the election of an entire new board of trustees, three for three years, three for two years and three for one year. These were chosen.

Three years, William H. Shotwell, Clarence E. Bond, John Abbott; two years, Dr. Norman W. Currie, A. V. Searing, Harry Williams; one year, William J. Hamilton, D. K. Young and E. P. Morris.

The statement of the trustees shows that during the thirty-eight years of the church history, there were but three annual meetings when a surplus was reported in the treasury. The work of William H. Shotwell, church treasurer, was highly praised. The report of the auditing committee attested all accounts to be correct. It was decided to continue the pastor's salary this year as before and the music was left to the elders as customary. It is understood that Clifford A. Braider will be continued as organist and choirmaster.

Approaching Wedding.

Miss Aimee Louise Emmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Emmons, of Prospect place, and Royal Phillips will be married Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, by Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church. The couple will reside at West Front street and West End avenue.

Will Entertain Ball Team.

McNulty Bros.' baseball team of New York, together with their women friends, will be the guests of the Clinton Avenue Baseball Club at its dance in Saengerbund Hall to morrow night.

—In the choice line of green vegetables offered by Neuman Brothers today will be found fancy asparagus, Boston head lettuce, green peas, wax and green beans, fancy cauliflower, while the finest strawberries are received every day.

GOT QUARTER IN CHANGE FOR A $10. GOLD PIECE

In an effort to find out who gave his errand boy a quarter in exchange for a ten dollar gold-piece, Abraham B. Kanter, a West Third street grocer, appeared at the city court today with Cornelius Webley, a fifteen-year-old colored boy, whom he suspects. Kanter explained to City Judge Runyon that his errand boy, William Sacher, was sent to W. W. Wilson's store Tuesday night to get change for the gold-piece and returned with a quarter. The boy is not bright, according to his employer's statements, and had told him that he had secured the change from a colored youth, who said the gold-piece was only worth a quarter.

Cornelius told the Judge that he hadn't seen Sachar, but had seen a crowd of his playmates near the grocery store when he went out to get some meat for his mother. Mrs. Webley also claimed that her son was innocent, saying that he did not leave the house until 7 o'clock, some time after Sachar had taken the money back to Kanter. The "change," however, comprised two ten cent pieces and a nickel, and Mrs. Webley said she had given her son two ten cent pieces to get the meat. Sachar's small brother told the court that he had seen William and Cornelius together. The Webley boy couldn't tell a very straight story, but Judge Runyon did not consider that there was sufficient evidence to hold him, and therefore adjourned the case for a week. Kanter says he will try to have more witnesses at court at that time.

MANY VISITING TRIBES AT MIANTONOMO SESSION

There was a large gathering of Red Men at the wigwam of Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order Red Men, last night, when the warriors' degree was conferred on Felix Chargois, Leo Ayers, John Hess and Frank Masso, of this city. The work was performed by Pamrapaugh Tribe, of Bayonne, and in the opinion of the Red Men it was the finest degree team work witnessed here in many a moon.

There were in all about 175 members of the order present, including delegations from Nariticong Tribe, of Somerville; Awaga Tribe, of New Brunswick; Tonoluke Tribe, of Cranford; Opechee Tribe, of Elizabeth; Menno Tribe, of Westfield; Wetumpka Tribe, of this city, as well as Pamrapaugh Tribe, of Bayonne.

Following the degree work there were addresses by District Deputy Robert Winans, of Cranford; Josiah Tice, of New Brunswick, the latter being a member of the finance committee of the great council, and Past Sachems Joseph Neshanic, of Somerville; James O'Brien, of Elizabeth, John Burns, of Bayonne, and A. E. Willard, of this city. At the conclusion of the speech-making the visiting braves were invited to the banquet room, where there was an abundance of corn and venison and the pipe of peace was enjoyed until a late hour.

MR. AND MRS. C. F. PLATTES ENTERTAIN MANY FRIENDS.

Mrs. C. Frank Plattes, of Lyman place, was tendered a birthday surprise at her home, last night, by a large party of friends. Dancing, games and progressive hearts combined to afford a pleasant time for all. The solos by Mrs. Charles Codington, Miss Irma Codington and Mrs. William Lindsay were greatly enjoyed. At a late hour refreshments were served.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Codington, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy DeCamp, Mr. and Mrs. Charles French, Mr. and Mrs. George Apgar, Mrs. John Higgins, Mrs. Abbott, Miss Seidentop, Miss Carrie Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wherry, Miss Leila Wherry, Miss Bertha Swackhamer, Miss Irma Codington, Charles Engelhard, Miss Sarah Hummer, Mr. and Mrs. William Lindsay and Mr. and Mrs. C. Frank Plattes.

IMPROVEMENTS AT P.C.C.

Club House Extension to Be Completed in June it is Expected.

SEASON IS TO OPEN EARLY.

Fees for Use of Courts and Links By Non-Members Arranged By Trustees.

At an important meeting of the trustees of the Plainfield Country Club, Tuesday night, all the details of the clubhouse extension were finally decided upon and Alexander Milne was awarded the contract, the bids having been competitive. Mr. Milne was present, on request of the trustees, and undertook to begin the work immediately with the idea of rushing it to speedy completion. It is expected that members will have the use of the extension in June.

In the meantime the men's and women's locker rooms will be cleaned and put in commission this week, as well as the rest of the clubhouse, excepting only the dining-rooms and kitchen. As they are being greatly enlarged, there will be no restaurant service until June. But by the end of this month it is planned to improvise a temporary kitchen, and at least to serve a simple luncheon on Saturdays.

Several new members were elected, taking advantage of the reduced initiation fee. This opportunity will remain open a little longer for those wishing to join the club.

Owing to the chance to get the seed in early this year, it is hoped to open the summer greens two or three weeks earlier than last season. With the right kind of weather from now on, the greens can probably be thrown open on May 1, three weeks ahead of last season. Four tennis courts are already in commission and the upper courts will soon be ready.

The trustees have amended the rules relating to guests and from now on all out of town guests must pay $1 a day, or portion thereof, for use of the links or courts. Any resident of Plainfield who is not a member, may be invited to play golf or tennis only twice a year, on payment of $1 each time. These rules have been framed on the lines of the rules which prevail generally at other clubs. It is the general rule at all clubs to charge non-residents $1 a day for the use of the grounds, and not to permit residents to use them unless they are members. In the case of residents, however, the trustees decided to permit playing twice a year on payment of the $1 fee.

FIFTY-THREE CAUSES BUT ONLY ONE CONTEST

There were fifty three cases listed for trial at the weekly session of the District court, this morning, but a big majority of them were put over. These contract cases were reported settled: J. A. Sweeney against United States Company, Hacker & Rosenbaum against Hertz, and A. M. Griffin against J. C. Murray. Mitchell Fletcher Company against J. G. Lindzey, judgment for plaintiff for $11.74; Elias & Samuels against B. Farbman, judgment for plaintiff for $161.14.

In the case in tort of Eva McIntyre, colored, against Edward Cline, in which the plaintiff seeks to recover damages for the leak of a water pipe in rooms rented from Cline, whereby her goods were damaged, decision was reserved. According to the plaintiff's story, she rents the first floor of the house on West Second street, the family occupying the second floor moved out and soon afterward a water pipe sprung a leak allowing the water to run through to her rooms soaking the furnishings. According to the defendant he is not responsible and protested against paying damages. He intimated that the plaintiff was to blame.

Four landlord and tenant cases were reported and possession was given the plaintiffs, there being no defense.

Charter Day Meeting.

A meeting of all those interested in the charter day celebration, including all committees, the Mayors of both the city and borough, and prominent citizens generally, will be held in the assembly room of the Plainfield Business College tonight. The committees which were announced in this paper two weeks ago will get down to work and from this time on the preparations will be made.

—We will have a special shipment of Delaware roe and buck shad tomorrow. Ivamy's. Tels. 1024, 1025. ***

BOROUGH'S BANK OPENS

North Plainfield Firemen's Relief Association Makes First Deposit.

500 ATTEND THE RECEPTION.

Doors of New Institution Opened for Business at 9 o'Clock This Morning.

More than five hundred people attended the reception and inspection of the new Borough Bank of North Plainfield, held last night at the institution, 33 Somerset street, and everyone expressed pleasure over the well-equipped quarters provided by the new concern. The reception was held from 7 to 9 o'clock and during that time the place was thronged with visitors. The rooms were attractive through floral decorations, there being an arrangement of palms and cut-flowers. An added feature was a program of harp and violin music, furnished by Charles Suhr.

With the exception of Jacob Voehl and Frank A. Weeks, who were detained, all of the officers and directors of the bank were present to extend a welcome to visitors. Many kind expressions were heard and that there is a field for the new institution was the opinion of all.

The bank opened at 9 o'clock this morning for business and the first deposit received by Cashier Frederic Coriell was from the Firemen's Relief Association of North Plainfield, through its treasurer, W. W. Rowley. This was for a substantial amount, although the bank officials declined to state the figures.

According to a previous announcement, the bank will be kept open every Saturday night from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, as an accommodation to the business men of the city and borough.

ADVANCED VAUDEVILLE AT THE NEW PLAINFIELD

Advanced vaudeville will be introduced at the New Plainfield theatre on Monday night, Manager William J. Counihan having arranged to afford Plainfield patrons of his model house the best specialty acts available. William Morris, of New York, known internationally as the best vaudeville booking agent in this country, will supply the artists.

For the opening week, this high class bill has been booked: The Musical Vinos in their famous musical barn-yard sketch; The Blue Ribbon trio with their comedy elephant; Prince Hindoo Ishman in his mind-bewildering magical act of illusions and legardemain; Miss Tillie Barrison, the dashing soubrette, and Eddie Gardner, comic singer, dancer and hat juggler. An added attraction will be the big laughing hit, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Ferguson, in their side-splitting sketch, "Nonsensical Frivolities." Another feature will be Miss Leighton in her latest illustrated songs and high class comedy pictures.

Manager Counihan announces that incidently with this innovation of advanced vaudeville at his house, he has decided to give away a real live baby. Any man or woman anxious to receive the little tot may do so if he or she is fortunate enough to hold the lucky coupon on Monday night. The number will be announced from the stage during the performance. The nurse will make the presentation speech.

COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY HONORS DR. E. W. HEDGES.

At the annual meeting of the Union County Medical Society, held yesterday at the Elizabeth General Hospital, Dr. Ellis W. Hedges was elected permanent delegate to the State Medical Society. Dr. Hedges, whose term of office as president of the society expired yesterday, read a paper on "Smallpox." Dr. Stephen T. Quinn, of Elizabeth, was elected president for the coming year.

The first report of the Union County Milk Commission was made by Dr. Arthur Stearn, of Elizabeth, in the absence of Dr. William H. Murray, of this city, chairman of the commission. The report showed that the commission is now ready for work.

President Smith Has Five Wives.

Hans P. Freece, of Columbia University, who recently lectured in this city on Mormonism, desires The Daily Press to say that in his address at the Y. M. C. A., on April 4, he said that Joseph F. Smith, the president and prophet of the Mormon church, has five wives, and not Senator Reed Smoot, as reported at the time.

CHURCH IS PROSPEROUS

Crescent Avenue's Total Receipts for the Year Aggregate $71,884.

CHAPELS' REPORTS FILED.

Total Sunday-school Membership 1,759—Combined Church Membership 1,822.

Encouraging reports were presented and officers elected at the annual meeting of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, last night. Rev. Dr. John S. Zelie, minister, was the moderator, and Dr. E. W. Hedges filled the position of church clerk. The reports of not only the home church, but of the chapels supported by it showed marked progress in every department. The total receipts for the year from all sources aggregated $71,884.

G. Herbert Condict, A. W. Duxbury and William D. Murray were elected elders for the full term of three years and S. H. Whitney and Henry DeForest were elected deacons.

The report of the treasurer summarizing for the three chapels was:

Assets—Unpaid subscriptions considered good, $231; not provided for, $1,094.84. Total, $1,325.84.

Liabilities—Short cash, $899.73. Unpaid bills—Warren, $8.70; Bethel, $249.64; Hope, $167.77; total, $426.11. Total, $1,325.84.

The Hope chapel organ account showed there was but $200 due on it.

The membership of the home church and chapels is as follows: Home church, 1,033; Bethel chapel, 73; Hope chapel, 413; Warren chapel, 303; total, 1,822, a gain of 50. Sunday-school—Home school, 388; Bethel chapel, 306; Hope chapel, 626; Warren chapel, 439; total, 1,759, a gain of thirty seven.

The total cost of the renvation of the church was $22,617 and there was paid on account of the new organ given by Mrs. Charles Hyde, $17,000. The total beneficiences were $60,223, and the total amount for congregational expenses, $11,661. There was given to foreign missions, $6,519; home mission, $3,909; for the support of chapels, $4,814, and $1,368 on account of Deacons' fund. The total amount raised for all purposes aggregated $71,884.

UNDERHILL OBTAINS A DISPOSSESS VERDICT

Gerard Underhill, of Watchung, was given a verdict by Justice D. D. Smalley, of the borough, yesterday, in his action to dispossess Freeman Straight, with whom he had an agreement to work a farm owned by the former. The complainant contended that Straight had not kept his part of the agreement, that instead of working the farm when he should, he was off attending to his duties as a game warden.

These charges were denied by Straight, who claimed that he worked the farm as best he could, but that it would yield nothing. Mr. Underhill called many witnesses, including Former Sheriff Cooper and William Mernah, and appeared to have an overwhelming amount of evidence to prove his case. Justice Smalley immediately gave the plaintiff a verdict.

There is another action pending against Straight, he being made defendant in a case started by a woman of Watchung, who charges that he was cruel to a horse. This case was called for 1 o'clock yesterday before Justice Snape, of Watchung, but at the request of the defendant, it was postponed for one week.

Attended a Convention.

Miss Addie Parker Jackson, physical director of the Plainfield schools, has returned from Philadelphia where she has been attending the convention of the American Physical Education Association, the program of which was devoted almost exclusively to public school problems along the lines of physical education.

Another Ackerman Bill Signed.

Governor Fort has signed Senator Ackerman's bill amending the school law of 1903 by authorizing the appointment of physicians for medical examinations.

Miss Bessie Alpaugh, of East Sixth street, is visiting friends in Orange.

MISS E. T. WOODCOCK W. A. GASTON'S BRIDE

In the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends, Miss Ellena Thompson Woodcock, daughter of Clarence Woodcock, of West Seventh street, became the wife of William A. Gaston, son of Dr. William F. Gaston, of West Front street, at the home of the bride's parents, last night. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock, Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, officiating.

The bride was gowned in white satin, made Empire style, en train. Her wedding veil was caught up with orange blossoms. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Frank T. Clawson, as matron of honor. Mrs. Clawson wore pale green satin. Augusta Clawson, step-daughter of the matron of honor, was the flower girl. Her dress was of white, with pale green sash and hair ribbons. Bertram Leggett was best man.

The house was lavishly decorated with palms, smilax and cut flowers, green and white being the prevailing color scheme. After the ceremony, the wedding reception was held, at which there were about two hundred present, including guests from New York, Philadelphia and Paterson. The collation was an elaborate one.

The groom is a graduate of the Plainfield High School, and has been in California for some time, where he has recently purchased extensive orange groves. After a short honeymoon, the couple will make their home in California.

ACTRESS HAS LOST HER DIAMOND NECKLACE

LOST—In Hotel Iroquois, Plainfield, N. J., chamois bag containing diamond jewelry and money. Liberal reward if returned to H. T. W. Waller, Consolidated Exchange, New York.

This advertisement, appearing in another column of this paper, is inserted by Miss Rosa Rand, of the Jefferson Brothers Company, which appeared last night in "The Rivals" at the Plainfield theatre. The company was registered at the Hotel Iroquois, and Miss Rand believes she lost the chamois jewel bag at the hotel before the performance. In the bag was a diamond necklace, valued at $500, and some money. The actress carried the bag in her corsage, and believes that it slipped out while she was preparing for dinner.

Miss Rand, who plays the part of "Mrs. Malaprop" in "The Rivals," generally wears the necklace on the stage. She did not discover their loss until she was at dinner, just before going to the theatre. She remembers that she had the little bag with her when she registered upon coming to the hotel.

REV. G. M. CONOVER INSTALLED AS PASTOR.

Rev. Garret Milton Conover, formerly pastor of the Reformed church, Rocky Hill, was installed as pastor of the Grand Avenue Reformed church, Rocky Hill, was installed as pastor of the Grand Avenue Reformed church, Asbury Park, Tuesday night, in the presence of a large congregation. Mr. Conover succeeds Rev. John Y. Broek, who is now pastor of Trinity Reformed church, this city, and the latter attended the installation and delivered the charge to the pastor, Rev. F. C. Forbes, of Middletown, president of the Monmouth county Classis, presided at the services.

At the meeting of the Monmouth county Classis on Tuesday, Mr. Conover's transfer from the Philadelphia Classis was accepted. The meeting of the Classis was held during the day, preceding the installation services. Mr. Conover is well known here where he frequently visits relatives.

Mrs. Arthur McVoy Entertains.

Mrs. Arthur McVoy, of West Fourth street, entertained a number of friends at her home yesterday afternoon, the time being spent in playing hearts. The home was decorated appropriate to Eastertide and during the afternoon, Mrs. J. K. Roundy played several selections on the piano. At the conclusion of play, it was announced that Mrs. J. L. Pope, Mrs. D. J. Galbraith and Mrs. Frank W. Weed had scored the greatest number of points. Supper was then served.

Dunellen Couple Wed.

Miss Mary E. Schneider and Henry Kirchner, both of Dunellen, were quietly married last night at the home of Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel. The young couple had but two attendents, Miss Eva N. Schneider, a sister of the bride, and Fred Kirchner, a brother of the bridegroom.

LITTLE HOPE FOR ELWYN

Robber's Victim Has Not Regained Consciousness Since the Assault.

HUNTING FOR HIS ASSAILANT.

"Shad" Jeroloman Not the Man Wanted—Much Mystery in the Case.

George Elwyn, the aged Watchung junkman, who was murderously attacked and robbed near his barn Tuesday night, has not regained consciousness since his removal to Muhlenberg Hospital, and lies near death with a fractured skull. The man passed a restless night, and the hospital physicians feel that he has but a very slight chance for his life.

The Somerset detectives and Constable Clemens, of Warrenville, spent yesterday in a fruitless effort to find traces of the assailant. It is now believed that there was a struggle and that the old man was struck with the axe, which crushed his skull, after he had been knocked down by a blow. The lantern which he carried was found near the blood-stained axe, and was spattered with the victim's blood. One side of it was deeply dented, and the detectives think that Elwyn tried to shield his head with it when he was attacked.

Just how the mortally injured man managed to crawl to the house of William Bartle, a neighbor, after he had been struck with the axe is a mystery. It is some two hundred feet from the place where the lantern and bloody axe were found. Hearing the man's groans, Bartle, who was about to retire, opened his front door and discovered the prostrate figure. Elwyn was unconscious.

Detective Totten, of Somerville, saye he learned from Elywn's neighbors that there was suspicion of "Shad" Jeroloman, who lives near the hotel and who is employed in this city. Owen Gavin, a resident of the colony near the ice house, who is also employed there, told Chief Kiely yesterday that he had met a man, whom he thought was Jeroloman, walking along the road near the place where the crime was committed shortly after Elwyn is believed to have been attacked. After talking with Gavin at police headquarters, yesterday, Chief Kiely asked him to identify Jeroloman, whom he had sent for, but Gavin said he could not positively state that he was the man. Jeroloman proved conclusively by several persons, that he had not been on the road at the time Gavin mentioned having seen him. Companions of his during the evening proved an alibi from 6 to 10 o'clock on the evening of the crime.

The police believe that the assault was by somebody who lives in the neighborhood, or else that some person had been secured to knock the old man senseless that robbery might be effected. As far as is known, Elwyn had no enemies, but there was a general belief that he had a hoard of money concealed in his hut, where he lived alone. The police have not learned how much money was taken, but it is said that Elwyn displayed a big roll of bills of large denominations at a borough blacksmith shop where he went to pay a bill the afternoon of the crime.

Elwyn is well known as a character in both city and borough, where he has conducted a junk business for several years. Some time ago he was employed as hostler at Hugo Maul's hotel. It is reported that he has relatives in New York State.

Surprised George Hook.

A surprise party was tendered to George Hook, of East Third street, last night. The affair was arranged by Miss Jane Muir and Miss Mary Greenhulse. Games were played and piano selections enjoyed. Refreshments were served. Those present were the Misses Henrietta Giles, Minnie Hook, Edith Myers, Jennie Grady, Carrie Coon, Mary Greenhulse, Anna Darling, Jane and Minnie Muir, Lillian Stenzenberger and Charles Bremmer, Herman Klinsman, George Perry, Frank Mohart, Louis Lane, Harry Ward, Frank Huff, George Hook, Clarence Hook, Harry Wilson, George Brown and Otto Bimble.

Miss Cole Surprised.

A surprise party in honor of Miss Edna Cole, of West Second street, was given by Miss Grace Debele, at Debele Hall, on Chatham street, last night. There were about forty guests present to enjoy the music and dancing. At a late hour refreshments were served.

Rainfall 3.02 Inches.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

C. H. Bingham, of Richmond Hill, N. Y., who purchased the residence of W. L. Larabee, came to Dunellen yesterday, where he and his family will make their future home. Mr. Larabee leaves for Pasedena, Cal., today, where he will go in the plumbing business with his son, Merrill Larabee.

The Levering & Garrigues Company, which has been closing at 5 o'clock, is now working half an hour longer, while the Hall Printing Press has increased their hours from 2:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon.

The union services at the First M. E. church was largely attended last night. The meeting was addressed by Mrs. Addie Parsels, of the W. C. T. U.

The members of the First M. E. church are ready to give their new pastor, Rev. W. K. Know, upon his arrival today, a royal welcome.

Misses Meta and Percillia Pennoch, of Main street, are spending their Easter vacation with relatives in Philadelphia.

Dr. T. H. Platt is enjoying a fishing trip in the upper part of New York State.

WESTFIELD.

Westfield Park commissioners have made arrangements with the board of trustees of the Presbyterian church to lease a strip of land adjoining the Park Lake, sufficient to make a roadway beside the lake and near the church. The project is not looked upon with favor by some of the church people.

Contractors are at work grading new streets through the Ripley tract, near Garwood. Many of the streets in the tract have been changed from the first mapping.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad promises a new schedule for suburban travel this season. Picton will be benefited by it.

William Weldon, of Westfield, left yesterday morning for Indianapolis, on a business trip.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Judge W. E. Smith returned home from Hot Srings, Arkansas, Tuesday night, where he has been under treatment for the past six weeks. His daughter, Miss Maude Smith, is visiting friends at Harrisburg, Pa.

Mrs. William Norman, of South River, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cole.

Rev. C. W. F. Attlee is visiting Mrs. Jennie Poole, of Ridgefield Park, N. Y.

NEW OFFICE AT PRINCETON.

A. C. Umbrie Made Financial Secretary of the University Trustees.

Princeton, April 15.—Official announcement was made last night of the action taken by the Board of Trustees of Princeton University at its meeting last Thursday. Andrew C. Umbrie, an Alumni Trustee, was appointed financial secretary of the Board of Trustees, a newly created office. He is to co-operate with the President of the university in the oversight of all business and attend all meetings of the committee on finance, grounds, and buildings.

A plan for the reorganization of the present alumni committee of fifty was adopted. The committee will be known as the Graduate Council, the graduate interests of the university in so far as they pertain both to organization in the alumni classes and the welfare of the university financially and otherwise being combined under a single committee of graduates.

Gifts to the amount of $145,939 were announced, $100,000 of which was presented by Cleveland H. Dodge, of New York, for the endowment of Guyot Hall, the natural science laboratory now being built.

Henry H. Drake.

While sitting in his office in the Dix building, Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon, Henry H. Drake, well known there as a lawyer and advocate of the State Junior Order United American Mechanics, expired. He had been ailing for several days, but because of pressure of business was compelled to return from a sojourn at Lakewood on Monday. He seemed to be feeling in fairly good health yesterday, and at noon conversed with several of his lawyer friends at luncheon. He was alone in the office when stricken with a hemorrage of the lungs and died before medical assistance could reach him. He also expired before his father, Edward K. Drake, could arrive.

Express Companies and Banking.

Washington, April 15.—The American Bankers' Association has determined to continue the fight it has begun against the American and other express companies, on the ground that they are discriminated against in the matter of shipments of money, and in several other material matters. Commissioner Clark will hear arguments at Chicago, on the twenty-sixth, for another, against the right of the company to ship money and conduct a banking business on a limited scale. It is expected that the arguments may occupy several days.

De Luxe Books---Fine Subscription Sets

AT ABOUT ONE-FOURTH THEIR VALUE.

The big sale of fine books in sets which we have been conducting the past few weeks, continues with added attractions, some new lines having been secured from other publishers—books largely for men's reading because devoted to subjects in which they are primarily interested; all in beautiful bindings—rivaling the De Luxe subscription sets which formed the basis for the original sale, and these with the fine library sets will continue on sale at the wonderfully low prices quoted until all are sold.

This sale has been the talk of the trade throughout the country—nothing like it has ever been known, at least not in a quarter of a century, and the opportunity that is presented to buy fine books so cheaply cannot well be overestimated.

If you have a library or are building one or want to start one, now is surely the time to do it, for you can do it right with very little money.

The books, as we have told you, come from such great publishing houses as John D. Morris & Co., Gebbie & Co., The Chesterfield Society, The Devos Press, etc. Represented in the collection are the Great Dramatists and Historians, as well as the works of the Great Masters of Romance.

The books are printed from the most readable type faces, on elegant paper, and are sumptuously bound in three-quarters leather and fine silk cloth.

The subscription sets include—

$27 Emerson, in cloth, $6.
$45 Hugo, in leather, $10.
$32 Kingsley, in leather, $7.25.
$35 Burns for $8.75.

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Society girls of Hoboken will pose in tableaux this evening to benefit the Memorial Day Nursery.

The silver chalice used Easter Sunday by St. Rose church, Haddon Heights, was presented by Mrs. Katharine Keheler.

Out of forty-eight applications for liquor licenses considered at Cape May Court House yesterday, all but two new ones were granted.

A sixteen-year-old boy was found helplessly intoxicated on Millville streets, and the police are endeavoring to learn who sold the lad the whisky.

Twenty-three liquor licenses were granted in Ocean county court at Toms River yesterday and eight applications laid over to consider remonstrances.

Sea Isle City has entered into a gas plant contract with William Boardman, of Philadelphia, the latter agreeing to furnish gas at $1.50 per 1,000 feet.

Failure of Woodbury physicians to report tuberculosis cases that proved fatal has been taken up by the State authorities. A fine of $50 is provided by the new law for such neglect.

A special train was run out of Williamstown yesterday in order to get Miss Kate Simmerman to Atlantic City express and into a hospital for an operation required by critical appendicitis.

The Laurel Springs Gas Company has just received its certificate of incorporation, with $60,000 capital, to supply gas to Laurel Springs and vicinity at the rate of $1.25 per 1,000 feet.

Relatives having balked at removing the last four bodies in Christ church graveyard, Woodbury, the Board of Health has ordered the removal, which will permit the execution of improvement plans.

The greatest wind and sand storm in Pitman in many years was allayed late yesterday afternoon by rain. In some sections sand was carried across fields and piled against fences to a depth of two feet.

Councilman I. Bachrach, of Atlantic City, is behind the movement to buy up the entire inlet section and convert it into a municipal park. The cost is estimated at $200,000. Council has indorsed the plan and asked for detailed information.

Mrs. Lucia Tolson, formerly of Philadelphia, tried suicide by turning on the gas in her private apartments at the St. James Place Hotel, Atlantic City, which she owns. A boarder who detected the fumes broke into the room in time to save the woman's life. Mrs. Tolson's husband is in the government service in Panama, and no reason can be assigned by other relatives here for her act.

A lighted match thrown by a small boy into an open oil barrel in front of the Teileman grocery, Broad and St. Mary streets, Burlington, last evening, started a serious conflagration. A southeast gale was fanning the blaze directly toward some frame dwellings adjoining when the firemen arrived, and the blaze had eaten from the first floor to the eaves. In less than five minutes the firemen had subdued the flames.

Political followers are gasping over the appointment of Assemblyman Martin Keffer as recorder of Atlantic City in place of James H. Hayes, who was named as assistant city solicitor. Keffer was practically forced into the State Legislature by "Bob" Delaney, when other machine leaders doubted his ability to carry off the election, and his new appointment is looked in as a victory for Delaney over the powerful influences of the city machine.

An explosion of a thousand torpedoes at the Newfield fireworks factory yesterday so badly scorched the proprietor, Albert Cimirose, about the hands, arms, face and hair, that he was recognizable only through his clothing after the report and smoke had cleared away. While there were millions of torpedoes lying about only the boxful that the proprietor was handling exploded, and no damage was done to the plant. The explosion was heard all over town and caused considerable excitement.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

When Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson set forth to write a big American play, they went abroad to do it, much on the same principle, apparently, that James Gordon Bennett, when he decided to start the Paris edition of the New York Herald, came back quickly to New York to edit it by cable. The Tarkington-Wilson reason, from all accounts, was that pure Americanism shone all the more strongly by comparison with European forms and usages. However that may be, the result is the successful play, "The Man From Home," the drama that ran for 342 consecutive performances in Chicago and has also captured New York. The attraction will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre tonight.

"The Wolf," the powerful play of the Hudson Bay fur country by Eugene Walter, which the Messrs. Shubert will present at the New Plainfield theatre on Saturday afternoon and night, with an all-star cast, comes here direct from brilliant successes at the Lyric Theatre in New York and at the Grand Opera House, Chicago. This drama, which is in three acts and three scenes, possesses many novelties, and is fraught with intense human interest. It is a story of the far north, where men, though primitive, yet have all the pure and baser instincts of a more effete civilization. The treatment of the theme—the attempt of an American railway engineer to betray the daughter of a Scotch settler with whom a young French-Canadian is in love—is handled boldly yet skilfully by Mr. Walter, who has provided at least one climax that takes rank with the most thrilling ever devised for the American stage. It is the duel in the dark, in which the victor is only distinguished by the glimmer of a match. The Messrs. Shubert have provided an all star cast, each of the six characters being ideally cast. William Courtenay will be seen in the role of Jules Beaubien, the young French-Canadian; Frances Ring will portray the role of Hilda McTavish, Thomas Findlay and Sheridan Block, the roles of Andrew McTavish and B'Atiste Le Grand, respectively, and Walter Hale will enact the part of William MacDonald, the American railway contractor. William Rosell will be seen as George Huntley, the best type of American youth.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Easter music will be repeated at the First Baptist church, Sunday night, under the auspices of the Young People's Society.

The annual meetings of the Congregational church and society will be held at the church, tonight, following the serving of supper by the Women's Association.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Philip Geise, at Westervelt and Manning avenues.

BIG MACKEREL SCHOOLS OFF NEW JERSEY COAST.

New York, April 15.—Captain Chichester, of the steamship Arapahoe, in Tuesday from Jacksonville and Charleston, reports having passed through immense schools of mackerel while off the Delaware capes and New Jersey coast. There was school after school, each containing millions of fish.

One school alone, according to Captain Chichester, covered an area of more than a square mile. He said he had not seen so many fish together in years.

Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tomorrow night.

AN ORDINANCE

For the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with Permanent and Durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the following streets and parts of streets of the City of Plainfield, shall be permanently improved with durable macadam pavement to be completely laid and constructed on or before the thirtieth day of September, 1909, said macadam pavement to be of the depth and width hereinafter specified, and to be in every respect equal to the macadamizing on Park Terrace in said City, but with liquid asphalt binder in the upper two inches of macadam, the quantity of asphalt to be 1.00 gallon per square yard, said macadam with asphaltic binder to be equal in every respect to that on the pavement on Blackwood Turnpike between Chews Landing and Blackwood in the County of Camden, N. J. Heavy liquid asphalt binder shall be used having a specific gravity of 12-14, with asphalt contents 82%. All work to be given out upon contract to the lowest responsible bidder, and only after bids therefore shall have been solicited and received according to law, all bids to specify prices for each of said streets or parts of streets separately:

Union Street, from the southwesterly curb line of Arlington Avenue to the southerly side line of Stelle Avenue;

Stelle Avenue, from the easterly curb line of Madison Avenue to the westerly curb line of Union Street;

Madison Avenue, from the southerly curb line of Stelle Avenue to the macadam already constructed on Randolph road;

Darrow Avenue, from the southeasterly curb line of West Fourth Street to the northwesterly curb line of West Seventh Street;

Compton Avenue, from the northwesterly curb line of West Front Street to the macadam already constructed on Dunellen Avenue;

Ravine Road, from the easterly curb line of Belvidere Avenue to the southerly side line of Dixie Lane.

Sec. 2. That said streets and portions of streets described in Section 1 shall be macadamized for the full width of the respective roadways of said streets, and the macadamizing preparation shall be laid down to the grades already established by ordinance for said streets or portions of streets respectively.

Sec. 3. That for the purpose of obtaining money by the sale of bonds hereinafter specified for the permanent improvement of said streets and parts of streets as aforesaid, in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits, the Common Council of the City do hereby, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, authorize the issuing of eleven coupon municipal bonds of the City of Plainfield, of One Thousand Dollars each, amounting in all to Eleven Thousand Dollars, which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, and be payable three years from said date of issue with the option of the city to redeem or pay off the said bonds, or any one or more of them at any time after one year from date of issue, and before three years from said date of issue, on giving personal notice to the said holders of said bonds or thirty days' notice by advertisement in the official newspapers of the City, of the intention to make such redemption or payment, which bonds may severally or collectively be sold for an amount not less than par value, and the interest on said bonds shall be raised annually by taxation and the principal be paid by the city at maturity, and the money derived from the assessments upon the property benefited shall, when collected, be held as a fund toward the payment of said bonds.

Sec. 4. That after said improvements shall have been completed, the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively, by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax; no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actually derived from said improvements.

Adopted by the Common Council, April 12, 1909; approved by the Mayor, April 12, 1909.

CHARLES J. FISK, Mayor.

PARK AVE. BAPTISTS HOLD YEARLY MEETING

The annual meeting of the Park Avenue Baptist church, which took place last night, was not well attended owing to the stormy weather. At the conclusion of the mid-week service there were found just enough present to make a quorum. The meeting which was precided over by Rev. A. E. Finn, saw that all business was gotten through with in a short time, as a number of the heads of the committees were not present.

The chairman of the finance committee, G. E. Hall, was absent but the folowing report from the treasurer was read. Cash on hand with receipts from last year was $4,258.84, with disbursements amounting to $4,114.01, leaving a balance of $74.83. The liabilities which amounted to $549.84, left a deficiency of $475.01, all of which is covered by subscriptions.

One of the most gratifying reports was that made by the debt fund treasurer. The report showed that during the past year $2,315.07 had been received and $2,181.50 had been paid out, leaving a balance of $133.57. The debt fund treasurer stated that five thousand of the ten thousand dollars debt of the church had now been paid.

Three trustees, H. H. Moore, John H. Doane and H. F. Johnson, were elected for terms of two years, while L. R. Schofield will fill out the unexpired term of F. F. Ostrom, who lately resigned.

Plans are now being made for the painting of the church and making such repairs as one deemed necessary.

KENILWORTH NEGRO GETS FIFTEEN YEARS' SENTENCE.

Grant Buckley, the thirty-year-old negro from Kenilworth, who was found guilty of a grave charge in the Union county court, was sentenced by Judge Atwater yesterday to serve fifteen years in State prison at hard labor. When sentence was pronounced Buckley collapsed and the services of a physician were required before he could leave the court room.

The complainant in the case was Bertha Burton, aged twelve years, also of Kenilworth. Following the trial the jury was out but five minutes when it returned with a verdict of guilty. The sentence imposed is one of the heaviest recorded in the court in a long time.

Miss Helen Douglas, of Buffalo, is the guest of Mrs. A. E. Crone, of College place.

Miss Fannie Brown, of New York, who has been visiting relatives here, has returned home.

WIFE DENIES THAT SWEENEY HAS FLED

Chancellor Pitney at Trenton yesterday issued an injunction restraining William Ralston Sweeney, formerly of this city, but now of Trenton, from transferring fourteen shares of the stock of the Kline Chair Company, to which Franz Hill, of Trenton, the brewer, claims ownership. The complainant is represented by Attorney Alexander Trapp.

It is contended that Mr. Hill transferred the stock to the defendant so that the latter could represent him in the company's affairs during his absence in Europe.

Mr. Hill alleges that Mr. Sweeney has never returned the stock, although having frequently promised to do so, and that the defendant has left the state "for parts unknown."

Lawyer Trapp and Lawyer Ellis L. Pierson, in the complaint, have made affidavit that on March 24 the former made demand on Mr. Sweeney for the return of the stock, and that the latter had agreed to deliver it within an hour, but failed to do so.

Mr. Sweeney left Trenton about a fortnight ago, and his counsel, Adrian S. Appleget, announced that he had gone to a sanitarium to be treated for nervous prostration. It was reported on the streets yesterday that he had left the country, and that he had many creditors in Trenton.

Mrs. Sweeney, who has been in New York, returned last evening, and was interviewed at her home, 490 West State street, Trenton. She declared the rumors about her husband false; that he was in a sanitarium in New York State, and that he would return to Trenton in five or six weeks.

She said her husband was very ill, and that the stories circulated about him were false and malicious. The name of the sanitarium in which Mr. Sweeney is a patient she declined to divulge.

Mrs. Sweeney declared that her husband's indebtedness would not total more than $150, and that all his bills would be paid upon his return home.

Among the stories afloat is one that Franz Hill has a large amount of money invested in some of Mr. Sweeney's projects, one of which is a South American smelting company.

Mrs. Sweeney said her husband had been president of the company three years and she branded as absurd the report that he had fled in order to avoid difficulty with Mr. Hill over his investments in the concern.

PRINCETON ENDOWMENTS AMOUNTING TO $145,939

Princeton, April 15.—Formal announcement was made by the board of trustees of Princeton Tuesday night as to matters disposed of at their meeting here last Thursday night. Gifts amounting to $145,939 were made public. Of this sum $100,000 was donated by Cleveland H. Dodge, a trustee, for the endowment of Guyot Hall, which is to be the name of the natural science laboratory now in the process of construction to the south of the Palmer Physical Laboratory, recently completed.

The plan for the organization of a graduate council was adopted by the board. As soon as the present committee of fifty shall be reorganized as such lots will be drawn to determine the expiration of the terms of fifteen members-at-large, the terms of three members to expire in October of each of the years 1909, 1911, 1912 and 1913. At the next commencement in June the representatives of the classes prior to and including 1874 shall retire. The secretary of the class of 1909 will become, ex-officio, a member of the graduate council, together with the secretaries of the preceding classes. The classes of '79, '84, '89, '94, '99 and '04 will elect representatives to serve five years in place of their present representatives.

The graduate council is to be composed of a representative form each of the thirty-five classes last graduated and fifteen members-at-large. The officers are to be a chairman and secretary, who shall be elected annually. The plan of organization calls for the appointment of six committees to be appointed by the chairman annually.

The office of financial secretary of the board was created and Andrew C. Imbrie, an alumni trustee, elected to it. He is "to co operate with the president of the university in the oversight of all business interests."

The resignation of De Witt Clinton Blair, of New York, who has been a trustee since 1900, was accepted with regret. Henry W. Green was appointed chairman of the commencement committee. Leave of absence for the first term of the next academic year was granted to Professor Paul van Dyke and John H. Westcott.

Stomach Pump Saves Girl.

A seventeen-year old girl took poison on Springfield avenue, Newark, yesterday, in an attemut to end her life. She is now at the City Hospital, where it is said she will recover. The girl is Helen Stahl She was seen to fall on the street, and after being hurried to the hospital it was discovered that she was suffering from poison. A stomach pump was used. When she recovered consciousness she refused to tell why she had taken poison.

The young people of the Salvation Army will give an entertainment this evening of a international character. They will wear costumes to represent the countries in which the army is at work.

The Rev. A. L. Longley, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, Bayonne, has announced that the collection on Easter amounted to $2,500, which is $200 more than enough to wipe out the debt on the edifice. Next fall the church will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary.

ELIZABETH SCHOOLS WILL LOSE $40,000.

At the request of President Walter B. Timms, of the Elizabeth Board of Education, Superintendent Richard E. Clement last night submitted the following approximate estimate of the receipts from the several State appropriations for the school year in Elizabeth beginning July 1, 1909. Mr. Clement explained it was an impossibility to get at the facts and that the figures he submitted were estimated.

"Elizabeth has lost more than $40,000 by the legislation at the present session," said the superintendent in his report, "and it is almost impossible to estimate how much the other cities of the State lost." His report, in part, is as follows:

From the State fund of $200,000, $4,300 will come to this city. From the State treasury appropriation of $100,000, $6,300; from the railroad tax of 1908 (to be distributed April 15, June 15, 1910), approximately $50,000. From the State school tax approximately $125,000; a total of $185,000.

From current year apportionment to Elizabeth from same sources a total of $194,097.10; from railroad taxes (1907), $61,131.79; total for current year, $265,525.89; total for 1909-1910, $248,675.

"This amount may be changed," the superintendent declared, "if the Legislature enacts further laws affecting the public school moneys."

Mr. Timms brought up the reading of the report with the statement that there was much unwise and injudicious discussion of the actions of the Governor and the Legislature at the present time, and that many of those who had written the newspapers on the matter seemed to have erroneous notions regarding the whole question. It was for the purpose of enlightening the citizens of Elizabeth, he said, that he had requested the superintendent to investigate the matter.

HALSEY WILL PROBATED.

The will of Henrietta A. Halsey, widow of Harlan P. Halsey, of Elizabeth, known as "Old Sleuth," writer of detective stories, was admitted to probate yesterday by Judge Atwater. The case had been pending in the Orphans' Court at Elizabeth for several months. The will was contested by Lewis Halsey, of Cranford, a son of the testatrix, on the ground that his mother's mind was affected and that she was not capable of drawing the instrument. He was represented by William R. Wilson, who said he would appeal to the Prerogative Court.

Raymond T. Parrot represented Rena Isabella Halsey, to whom the bulk of her mother's fortune was left. She was also named as executrix of the will. The case, it is said, involves the fortune of "Old Sleuth," amounting to more than $50,000. This was denied on the hearing by Rena Isabella Halsey, who claimed that all that was left of her mother's fortune was $7,000, invested in property in Cranford.

SOMERVILLE BOROUGH PROJECT IS ATTACKED.

Somerville, April 15.—Opponents of the proposed change in form of the local government have circulated anonymously a circular calling upon citizens to vote against the borough and for the retention of the old form. The circular asserts that the citizens have been betrayed and that the proposed change is sure to result in "greater corporation rule, more taxation and higher rents."

This community has a government that is almost perfectly the old Democratic system, where "town meetin'" decides all questions of public policy and finance. For some time there has been a desire on the part of a number of local people for a borough form of government. Borough advocates argue that the present form is cumbersome, unwieldly, ineffective and no longer truly representative.

Senate bill 268, introduced by Mr. Frelinghuysen, member from Somerset county, erecting this town into a borough, was passed by the House Monday night, and is now up to the Governor. The bill contains a referendum clause.

The circular urges citizens and property owners to vote against the borough plan. It says, in part:

"Citizens of Somerville: An attempt is about to be made to rob you of your greatest treasure, your beautiful form of government, of which the eminent jurist, Robert H. McCarter, when attorney general of this State, said to you only a short time ago: 'Yours is the ideal form of government—stand by it always!'

"You are told that there is no power to enforce ordinances or to make needed improvements or repair streets or do anything. Why are such things said now when over forty years of successful and prosperous government have proved the contrary?

Why are the merits of all other forms of government placed above yours? Why was it first proposed to make a city of your town? Why, when that failed, was the borough proposition taken up?

"Citizens of Somerville, your present form of government offers but few opportunities for the dishonest politician or the crafty retained corporation lawyer! This is the sole reason for the present agitation.

"Do you want greater corporation rule, more taxation, higher rents?—Vote for the change of government. Do you want peace, quiet and home comforts?—Vote for your treasure—'your ideal form of government!'

"Remember also that if there is any doubt about the power of the board of commissioners no test has ever been made which has shown that existing laws do not give it all needed power. No test has been made because it would upset all corporation plans.

"The Board of Commissioners of Somerville has all the power that the people of the town choose to give it—and all the power that is needed for any and all legitimate purposes. When the board wants anything let it ask for it, and if the people think it right the board can and will get it. This is law as construed by the highest authorities. What the conspirators want is to do what they please without being obliged to ask you for the money."

RUNAWAY SENT HOME.

Police Captain Peters Furnishes Him Transportation.

After being reprimanded by Judge Mahon yesterday at Elizabeth, Robert Simonson, the 15-year-old runaway from Philadelphia, was placed on a train and sent home. His parents had sent word that they were satisfied to let the law take its course.

Simonson told of his making his way to New York with another boy on a freight train, and how his companion had been arrested for sleeping in a hall of the Flatiron building. He admitted that he had robbed a store in Philadelphia and committed other offenses. Upon his promise to be good in the future, Captain Peters agreed to furnish transportation to his native city.

Central Trains Delayed.

Owing to a mishap at Whitehouse trains on the Central Railroad ran behind their schedules at Elizabeth yesterday afternoon. Regular schedules were resumed in time to handle the commuters.

The Cubs won their first game of the season, while rain kept the Giants from playing.

Georgetown more than surprised Holy Cross with a defeat of 5 to 3. It was a game between two of the strongest college teams.

Now that both leagues have opened up the fans will have plenty to talk about for the next six months.

The local teams are about ready t start the season. From the number of teams there are in Plainfield at present, no one need fear of getting baseball hungry.

Clinton Avenue claims to be in first class trim for her opening game. The boys are working well together and claim they won't miss Randolph so much after all.

Dad Anson's Colts certainly proved themselves no twentieth century players when the ran up against McGraw's Giants.

The Georgetown nine is looming up as one of the strongest of the college teams so far as the season has gone.

One good thing about the new Polo Grounds is that on a home run to centre the batter has to run it out and no more has the help of a friendly rope.

The New York National catching staff showed up very strong last Saturday and the work of Schlie and Myers did not cause any mourning over the absence of Bresnahan.

The Athletics, it is said, are 100 per cent better than a year ago, both in ability and condition. That being so, the Phillies must be 200 per cent better.

Pitcher Russell Ford is a cartoonist of no mean ability.

The New York Americans thought they had the tallest man in baseball in McConnell until they ran across First Baseman Fox of Columbus.

GOLF.

"One of the curiosities of challenge matches for a money stake," says the London Field, "is the match for £20 a side which will be played at the end of this month between two one armed golfers, John Scott, of Silloth, and J. Haskins, of Hoylake, and the match will be home and home. Some time ago Scott issued a challenge to play any one armed golfers in the world, and it was accepted by Haskins. Both players have lost the left arm. It sounds something of an anomaly to play golf with one arm, but several cases are known where one armed golfers have often won scratch prizes in a good field of competitors. Two of the most familiar instances are two well known Leven players, who having each lost one arm in the course of their industrial occupation, stuck to the game enthusiastically, each playing at scratch in their club competitions."

Members of the Forest Hill Golf Club hope to get into their new home, the remodeled Hendricks homestead, near the Soho Station, early next month, although much still remains to be done to that almost historic structure. A new steward has been engaged, however, from May 1—Sherman, formerly at the Newark Athletic Club.

It has been slow work getting the trees and rocks out of part of the seventy acres recently leased for a long term of years, but preparations are being made to open three new holes early in May, near the new house.

Eventually nine or ten holes will be located on the land lately leased, but it is doubtful if more than five are in commission within a year. A rustic bridge is now practically finished, spanning the ravine near the Erie Railroad tracks, which will constitute a formidable hazard.

This ravine will call for a mashie shot, the carry being about 125 yards. The present links is 2,863 yards out and 2,873 yards in, or a total of 5,736 yards, or decidedly short as measured by present day standards, so a general lengthening out will be attempted, calculated to afford a 6,000-yard course.

The new clubhouse is half a mile from the old one, so sweeping changes will be necessary in relocating the first few and last few holes.

The first two holes by the new plan will be in front of the new clubhouse, each being played in the opposite direction. The first is to be approximately 500 yards, and the second about 400, both calling for a drive brassey and approach. That will mean a gain of about 150 yards on the old first, which is 330 yards, and 125 on the second, which is 260 yards. The third hole will be over the ravine, toward the ground now being abandoned because of real estate encroachments, but that change means a loss of fully seventy-five yards on the hole.

The last three holes by the rearrangement, the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth, will carry players over the ravine and Second River, again leaving them near the back of the clubhouse. The last will be 150 yards against 500 yards for the old eighteenth, and will call for a three-quarters iron shot.

The club has never had a membership limit, but one will probably be set at 300 or 350 persons. The name may be changed to the Forst Hill Golf Club, as lawn tennis and all the other activities are to be taken over by a new social organization made up wholly of folk living nearby, who will lease the old clubhouse for indoor and outdoor recreation.

GENERAL SPORTS.

The cocked-hat tournament will be concluded at the Park Club on Thursday night, April 29, when the names of the winners will be announced.

The tennis courts at the Park Club have been in use for two weeks and are in fine condition. There will be several tournaments there this season.

Edward McLaughlin, one of the best known billiard players in the United States, died at his home in New York Monday from lobar pneumonia. He was also referee in many of the largest matches that has taken place in New York during recent years.

Jerome D. Travers, the American amatuer golf champion, was defeated by Tom Fernie at Troon, Scotland, in their first match for the championship of Great Britain.

Svanberg, the Swedish five-mile runner, wants to meet St. Yves in a Marathon just as soon as the Frenchman is ready.

Al. Kaufman, the California heavyweight, defeated Tony Ross in a ten round bout at the Fairmont Athletic Club, New York, Monday night. By the battle the Californian fought he stands a poor show of meeting Jack Johnson.

The Plainfield Club is getting ready to put some of its members in some of the big road races in the near future.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL IS BEATEN AT CHECKERS.

Ben Scully, the blind checker player of New York, made his second visit to Red Bank Tuesday night and played a series of games with the local cracks there. Upon his first visit Scully won every game in which he engaged. Tuesday night three Red Bank players succeeded in obtaining a draw game, they being William Curchin, Benjamin Van Vliet and Dr. Walter L. Mason.

The players who lost their games to Scully were Attorney-General Edmund Wilson, Robert Wilbur, Forman Smith, Japhia Clayton, John Bennett, Fred Duncan and Millard F. Tetley.

Had His Chauffeur Arrested.

Atlantic City, April 15.—Declaring that he had forbidden his chauffeur, Frank Berry, to take a touring car out on wild runs with friends, F. C. Gilsey, of Philadelphia, swore out a warrant for Perry's arrest Monday under the new law forbidding chauffeurs to use employers' cars without permission. Perry was out in the car with a girl last night, and while recklessly running near to the ocean, the car overturned on the beach. Perry hurried the girl away in a cab before help arrived.

Gives $100,000 to Princeton.

Secretary McAlpin, of the Princeton board of trustees announced yesterday that since the last meeting $146,000 in gifts has been presented to Princeton University. Cleveland H. Dodge, of New York, was the largest giver. He gave $100,000 for a part of the endowment of Guyot Hall.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to Vacate a Portion of Raymond Avenue," a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., on Monday, the third day of May, Nineteen Hundred and Nine, at eight o'clock p. m., at which time and place, prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.
J. T. MacMURRAY,
City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., April 5, 1909.

AN ORDINANCE

To Vacate a Portion of Raymond Avenue.

WHEREAS, The portion of Raymond Avenue between East Front Street and Midway, as shown on a map entitled "Section 2, City Map of Plainfield, Union Co., N. J., 1870," filed in the office of the City Clerk, September 29, 1879, although never opened or used, was in fact dedicated as a street, and

WHEREAS, The Highland Park Realty Company and Albert I. Drayton are the sole owners of all property abutting anywhere on such portion of said street, and have applied to the Common Council of said city to vacate such portion of said street, pursuant to Chapter CXXXIII, P. L. 1888, and other laws governing the matter, and it is to the interest of the city that such street should be vacated;

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the portion of Raymond Avenue lying between East Front Street and Midway, as shown on map entitled "Section 2, City Map of Plainfield, Union Co., N. J., 1870" be and the same is hereby vacated, pursuant to the Acts of the Legislature in such case made and provided.

Proposals for Coal.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., at a meeting held April 5, 1909, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday, April 19, 1909, at 7:45 p. m., at the Board room in the High School building, corner Ninth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for furnishing seven hundred tons (more or less) of the best anthracite coal for steaming and hot-air purposes; in the different sizes. The quantity required of each size can be obtained at the office of the Secretary of the Board, High School building, Ninth street and Arlington avenue.

Parties bidding will be required to specify in their bids the name of the coal and shippers of same.

All coal to be thoroughly screened over a seive fine enough to take out all dust and small particles of coal, and to be prepared acceptable to the Committee on Fuel, or their agent or representative.

All coal to be placed in the coal bins within the public school buildings without any extra expense to the Board for handling or trimming the coal in the bins, and to be delivered at such time as the Board may direct.

Bids to specify whether long or short tons.

Payment for all coal contracted for to be made after July 1, 1909.

All proposals to be endorsed "Proposals for Coal," and addressed to the Secretary of the Board.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Board will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present; and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

No bids will be received until the day and hour above named, and none thereafter.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

For the Board of Education.
F. B. CLARK,
4-7 10 13 15 19 Clerk of the Board.

POLLY of the CIRCUS

By MARGARET MAYO

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead and Company

"Oh, oh! What did I tell you, Mandy?" Polly pointed reproachfully to the reminder in the little red book. It was a fortunate thing that Willie interrupted the lesson at this point, for Mandy's temper was becoming very uncertain. The children had grown weary waiting for Polly, and Willie had been sent to fetch her. Polly offered to help Mandy with the decorations, but Willie won the day, and she was running away hand in hand with him when Douglas came out of the house.

"Wait a minute!" he called. "My, how fine you look!" He turned Polly about and surveyed the new gown admiringly.

"He did see it! He did see it!" cried Polly gleefully.

"Of course I did. I always notice everything, don't I, Mandy?"

"Yo' suah am improvin' since Miss Polly come," Mandy grunted.

"Come, Willie!" called the girl and ran out laughing through the trees.

"What's this?" Douglas took the small book from Mandy's awkward fingers and began to read "Hens set"—He frowned.

"Oh, dem's jes' Miss Polly's 'don'ts,'" interrupted Mandy disgustedly.

"Her 'don'ts?'"

"She done been set—sit—settin' up nights tryin' ter learn what yo' done tole her," stuttered Mandy.

"Dear little Polly," he murmured, then closed the book and put it into his pocket.

CHAPTER IX.

DOUGLAS was turning toward the house when the Widow Willoughby came through the wicker gate to the left of the parsonage, carrying bunting for the social. She was followed by Miss Perkins with a bucket of pickles, which Mandy promptly placed on top of Mrs. Elverson's ice cream. The women explained that they had come to put the finishing touches to the decorations. If anything was needed to increase Mandy's dislike of the widow it was this announcement.

Mrs. Willoughby was greatly worried because her children had not been home since the afternoon school session. Upon hearing that they were with Polly she plainly showed her displeasure, and Douglas dispatched Mandy for them. She saw that her implied distrust of Polly had annoyed him, and she was about to apologize when two of the deacons arrived on the scene, also carrying baskets and parcels for the social.

Strong led the way. He always led the way and always told Elverson what to think. They had been talking excitedly as they neared the parsonage, for Strong disapproved of the recent changes which the pastor had made in the church service. He and Douglas had clashed more than once since the baseball argument, and the deacon had realized more and more that he had met a will quite as strong as his own. His failure to bend the parson to his way of thinking was making him irritable and taking his mind from his business.

"Can you beat that!" he would exclaim as he turned away from some disagreement with Douglas, his temper ruffled for the day.

Polly was utterly unconscious of the unfriendly glances cast in her direction as she came running into the garden leading the widow's two children.

She nodded gayly to Julia Strong, who was coming through the gate, then hurried to Mrs. Willoughby, begging that the children be allowed to remain a little longer. She was making up a new game, she said, and needed Willie and Jennie for the set.

"My children do not play in promiscuous games," said the widow icily.

"Oh, but this isn't pro-pro-pro"—Polly stammered. "It's a new game. You put two here, and two here, and"—

"I don't care to know." The widow turned away and pretended to talk to Julia.

"Oh!" gasped Polly, stunned by the widow's rebuff.

She stood with bowed head in the center of the circle. The blood flew from her cheeks; then she turned to go.

Douglas stepped quickly to her side. "Wait a minute," he said. She paused. All eyes were turned upon them. "Is this a game that grownups can play?"

"Why, yes, of course."

"Good! Then I'll make up your set. I need a little amusement just now. Excuse me," he added, turning to the deacons. Then he ran with her out through the trees.

The deacons and the women stared at each other, aghast.

"Well, what do you think of that?" said Mrs. Willoughby as the flying skirts of the girl and the black figure of the man disappeared up the path.

"I think it's scandalous, if you are talking to me," said Miss Perkins. "The idea of a full grown parson a-runnin' off to play children's games with a circus ridin' girl!"

"She isn't such a child," sneered Julia.

"It's enough to make folks talk," put in Mrs. Willoughby, with a sly look at the deacons.

"An' me awaitin' to discuss the new church service," bellowed Strong.

"And me awaiting to give him Mrs. Elverson's message," piped Elverson.

"The church bore all this in silence so long as that girl was sick," snapped Miss Perkins. "But now she's perfectly well and still a-hanging on. No wonder folks are talking."

"Who's talkin'?" thundered Strong.

"Didn't you know?" simpered Mrs. Willoughby, not knowing herself nor caring so long as the suspicion grew.

"Know what?" yelled the excited deacon. Mrs. Willoughby floundered. Miss Perkins rushed into the breach.

"Well, if I was deacon of this church it seems to me I'd know something about what's going on in it."

"What is goin' on?" shrieked the now desperate deacon.

The women looked at him pityingly, exchanged knowing glances, then shook their heads at his hopeless stupidity.

"My children do not play in promiscuous games," said the widow icily.

Strong was not accustomed to criticism. He prided himself upon his acuteness and was, above all, vain about his connection with the church. He looked from one woman to the other. He was seething with helpless rage. The little deacon at his side coughed nervously. Strong's pent-up wrath exploded. "Why didn't you tell me, Elverson, that people was a-talkin'?" he roared in the frightened man's ear.

Elverson sputtered and stammered, but nothing definite came of the sounds; so Strong again turned to Miss Perkins:

"What is goin' on?" he demanded.

The spinster shrugged her shoulders and lifted her eyes heavenward, knowing that nothing could so madden the deacon as this mysterious inference of things too terrible to mention. She was right. Strong uttered a desperate "Bah!" and began pacing up and down the garden with reckless strides.

Mrs. Willoughby watched him with secret delight, and when he came to a halt she wriggled to his side with simpering sweetness.

"What could folks say?" she asked. "A minister and a young circus girl living here like this with no one to"—She found no words at this point, and Strong, now thoroughly roused, declared that the congregation should have no further cause for gossip and went out quickly in search of Douglas.

When Strong was gone Elverson looked at the set faces of the women and attempted a weak apology for the pastor. "I dare say the young man was very lonely—very—before she came."

"Lonely!" snapped Miss Perkins. "Well, if he was lonely I didn't know it."

The deacon excused himself nervously and went to join Strong.

The women gathered up their buntings and retired with bland smiles to the Sunday school room, feeling that they had accomplished enough for the time being.

Strong and Elverson crossed the yard, still in search of the pastor. They turned at the sound of fluttering leaves and beheld Douglas, hatless, tearing down the path. Strong called to him, but Douglas darted quickly behind the hedge. The deacons looked at one another in speechless astonishment. Presently the silence was broken by the distant voice of Polly counting from one to a hundred. The secret was out! The pastor, a leader of the church, was playing hide and seek!

"Mr. Douglas!" shouted Strong when his breath had returned.

"Hush, hush!" whispered Douglas, looking over the hedge. He peeped cautiously about him, then came toward the men with a sigh of relief. "It's all right. She has gone the other way."

The Emergency Value

"Certainly, bring Mr. Blank home with you to dinner. It is late, but I can telephone the butcher and grocer and dinner will be ready when you arrive."

The unexpected guest to dinner, the engagement necessarily broken at the last moment, the delayed arrival of household supplies, the the sudden illness of the children—in these and a thousand and one other emergencies of home life the telephone is an ever ready, quick, reliable and efficient assistant. Have you a telephone in your home? If not, you should consider the question today. Rates are reasonable.

BOWLING.

A match game that is causing considerable discussion among local bowling fans, is that arranged to take place at Campbell's alleys on Saturday night, when John Conklin, of this city, and Asa Harris, of Newark, known as the "Boy Wonder," will engage in a best six out of eleven contest.

The bowling team of Newark Council, K. of C., will come here on next Tuesday night to meet the Watchung Council team in a Knights of Columbus series.

Radin and Schaub increased their hold on fourth place in the two-man tourney last night by taking four games.

Car Pulls Wagon Out of Mud.

A two-mule-team wagon belonging to the Phoenix Cheese Company, of New York, got mired on West Fourth street near Madison avenue last night and the mules couldn't budge it. The driver appealed to a trolley motorman for help, and the car pulled the wagon to firm ground again.

Park Commission Meet.

There will be a meeting of the Borough Park Commission at the Council rooms tonight at 8 o'clock for the discussion of what the ad-

The degree team of Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of Golden Eagle, will leave on the 7:29 train for Somerville tonight where it will confer the third degree on seven candidates.

—Mrs. William J. Roome, of Sycamore avenue, will give a luncheon at her home tomorrow.

—An informal dance will be held at the Park Club Saturday night under the auspices of the entertainment committee.

Tax Collector William R. Townsend is spending the day at Trenton.

PARK CLUB TO PRESENT "THE MAGISTRATE" SOON

The Park Comedy Club, of North Plainfield, which has frequently given noteworthy amateur productions at the clubhouse, is planning a more pretentious affair in the presentation of Pinero's successful farce, "The Magistrate," which will be offered at the New Plainfield theatre early in May. Rehearsals are now going on by the members of the club and the complete cast will be announced within a few days.

Owing to the elaborate stage settings required for the production, it was decided to engage the New Plainfield theatre, instead of using the clubhouse.

The cast will include many of the old stars who have appeared before Plainfield audiences and whose success is now a matter of pleasant memory. There will also appear many new members who have so far shown such exceptional ability in rehearsals that they bid fair to rival the older and more experienced members of the cast in popularity.

PERSONAL.

Miss Margaret Leggett, of Madison avenue, is spending the week in Washington.

Mrs. E. F. Able and daughter, of West Front street, have been visiting at Phillipsburg.

Mrs. Virginia Chickering, of Madison avenue, is visiting friends in Washington ths week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith, of Philadephia, have returned home after visiting friends here.

Mrs. George L. Babcock, of this city, will give a luncheon at the Park Cub this afternoon.

Mrs. Daniel Randolph, of Plainfield avenue, is detained at home with a severe attack of pneumonia.

Rev. Charles Townsend, rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, has been sojourning at Atlantic City.

Mrs. J. V. D. MacPherson, of this city, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blackwell, of Pennington.

John and George Patterson, of Netherwood avenue, are spending the week with relatives at Glen Gardner.

J. B. Smith, of West Front street, who has been quite ill for several weeks with heart trouble, is slightly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Sandford, of East Front street, who have been sojourning at Atlantic City, will return home Saturday.

Miss Amy Tapping, assistan secretary of the W. C. T. U., who has been spending her Easter vacation with her parents in Utica, N. Y., returned home last night. Miss Tapping reports that there was over an inch of snow in Utica last week.

A Surprise Party.

Mrs. Lillian Shirley, of Manson place, was given a surprise party by a number of her friends, last night. The evening was spent in dancing, singing and playing of games. Among those to favor the guests with solos were Miss Nellie Gage and Thomas Bonhart. At a late hour refreshments were served. Those present were Misses Agnes Muir, Nellie Gage, Jennie Thomas, Francis Peters and Margaret Eagleton, Messrs. Harry Higgins, Thomas Bonhart, Robert Cussens, Eugene Downs, Edward Honeyman and George Coles.

"Incidents of Office Practise."

The Plainfield Dental Society held its monthly meeting and banquet at the Park Club, last night, the feature being an interesting talk by Dr. J. G. Lane, of the dental department of the University of Pennsylvania, on the topic of "Incidents of Office Practise." This was followed by an informal discussion which proved helpful to all of the dentists present. There were fifteen members and friends of the society at the meeting and banquet.

Funeral of Mrs. Lees.

The funeral of Mrs. Mark Lees, of Harmony street, took place from Warren chapel yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The services were in charge of Rev. J. O. McKelvey. The pall bearers were Abraham King, George Naylor, John Mowrey, and John Mowrey. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery.

Adrian Lyon New Judge.

Governor Fort took a whack at his political enemies last night when he sent to the Senate a partial list of his appointments. He sent in to be confirmed as judge of Middlesex county, "Dory" Strong's county, Adrain Lyon; as county judge, and Theodore B. Booraem, as prosecutor.

Boys Orchestra Tonight.

The boys' orchestra of the Y. M. C. A. will give a free entertainment at the association's auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock. In addition to the musical program H. W. Rankin will perform some slight-of-hand tricks.

Bowling on the Green.

The bowling greens at the Park Club are about completed and will be used this season for the first time. J. B. Betts, who is the chairman of the committee, is arranging for several match games.

CONSIDER ACCEPTANCE OF PUBLIC PARK OFFER

The Councilmanic committee on public affairs and the Shade Tree commission met last night to discuss the proposition of the Plainfield Park Association to deed the city land in the West End of the city for park purposes under certain conditions. The committee went over the map of the proposed improvements, but did not arrive at any conclusion.

In the opinion of the Councilmen and members of the commission such a park as planned would be a good thing. According to the offer of the association it will deed a portion of its eighty acres of land for park purposes and so arrange it that the maintenance will be as inexpensive as possible to the city. The public affairs committee desire to make a full investigation before presenting a final report to the Common Council. The park association has made a similar offer to the borough.

JUSTICE REFUSES TO ISSUE WARRANT.

The Oreole Club, of Dunellen, which was organized by Milton Napp, of Lake Pegment Paint Works, of Dunellen, was disbanded by Mr. Napp last Tuesday night. He claims the boys had disturbed the public peace and ordered that two of them, Raymond Huff and Nelson Snyder, be arrested. When he came to Justice D. S. Campbell for a warrant he was refused. He next sought Justice Rodgers, of New Market, but found he had gone out of his jurisdiction as a warrant could not be issued by the New Market justice. At last he appealed to Justice Sedan, of New Brunswick, who will try the case at 2 o'clock Friday.

—The Muhlenberg Hospital ambulance is off duty for repairs and in the meantime the police patrol is being used in its place.

DISCUSS PUBLIC SCHOOL

Samuel St. John McCutchen Gives an Instructive Talk Before Jr. O. U. A. M.

HE EXPLAINS ITS PROBLEMS.

W. H. Miers, of Trenton, and the Rev. E. E. Roberson, of Passaic, Also Speaks.

For the purpose of a free and informal discussion of State school matters, especially as pertaining to the finances, a largely-attended meeting of members of the Jr. O. U. A. M., of this city, together with State Council officers and S. St. John McCutchen, a member of the State Board of Education, and Rev. E. E. Roberson, formerly of this city, but now of Passaic, was held in Junior Hall, Scheurer building, last night. A. R. Tranchard was chairman of the meeting and introduced the speakers, who were well received. Among others present was Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of the Plainfield Public Schools.

After a brief talk by Rev. Mr. Roberson, in which he supported the work of the order in safe-guarding the State school funds, State Council Secretary W. H. Meiers, of Trenton, gave a short review of what had been accomplished by the order in protecting the interests of the public schools of the State, particularly as regards the distribution of State and railroad tax funds. He spoke in praise of the courtesy treatment accorded by Governor Fort, as well as by officials identified with the State department of education. He said that he believed the Leavitt bill to be an excellent one and would give general satisfaction.

The principal address of the evening was given by Mr. McCutchen, of North Plainfield, who has been a member of the board for twelve years. He gave an interesting talk traeing his connection with school affairs from the time he was first elected a member of the North Plainfield Board of Education in 1892. He said that the Jr. O. U. A. M. of the State had impressed itself upon the State and its great influence is being felt more and more.

"We are not politicians in any sense of the word," continued Mr. McCutchen," and the politicians care nothing for us. However, what we say don't always go. I have a number of good friends in the Legislature, who are always willing to listen to my arguments and suggestions. There is Senator E. R. Ackerman, he is a fine man, and Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen is as fine as can be, while Assemblyman W. W. Smalley is equally so. I never hesitate to go to these men and present ideas or suggestions and I am never rebuffed by them. They are fine representatives of their communities in the Legislature.

"While I have been a member of the State Board for twelve years and there are twenty members, Democrats and Republicans, I could not now sit down and write the names of Democrats and Republicans. This shows that politics does not cut any figure. We have to appoint twenty-one county superintendents and there is often outside political influence that makes this work difficult."

Mr. McCutchen then gave an interesting history of the State school fund, the railroad tax according to the provisions of the Perkins' act of 1906, showing how the money for school purposes is raised and distributed, all of which is more or less familiar. He explained further that the money received from the State in the various school districts is to pay teachers' salaries as well as those of janitors, purchase fuel, but the districts must raise the money to build schools.

He declared the North Plainfield system of holding public school meetings to vote money for school purposes to be hideous, while that of Plainfield to be a model one. He recalled the fact that at the school meeting in North Plainfield last month, twenty-six men voted an appropriation of $30,000 for the schools. This he considered to be all wrong, when it is realized that there are about 1,500 men in the borough entitled to representation. And he did not believe that outside of a vacant lot there is a place in the borough where the 1,500 men could meet.

Then the speaker described Plainfield's system of providing what is known as a Board of School Estimate, comprised of two members of the Board of Education, two members from the Common Council with the Mayor as an umpire. Through such a board the public schools are properly cared for and as a rule receive all the necessary financial support.

The speaker urged the importance of children attending school every day for the districts receive money

COMMITTEES ANNOUNCED FOR PARK GOLF CLUB

At the meeting of the Park Golf Club, last night, President Charles W. McCutchen announced his committees for the coming season. He stated that the course was never in better condition and that Greenkeeper Giddis had worked hard to get everything in readiness for the opening of the course and clubhouse tomorrow. The tennis courts will be ready in a week or two. Everything points to an unusually prosperous season. The regular schedule will be started later.

One of the features at the club this season will be additional tennis courts, which are about completed, and it is believed that the game will add greatly to the interest. At the meeting of the membership committee twelve new members were elected:

President McCutchen announced these committees: Green—Alexander Gilbert, Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux and Leon R. Thurlow; house—the Misses Lydie Loizeaux, May Shreve and James F. Parker; golf—W. R. Faber, W. V. Byard and W. E. Lough; tennis—Dr. H. K. Carroll, Samuel Townsend, R. V. Carpenter and Miss Grace TenEyck; membership—Charles B. Morse, George A. Chapman and S. St. John McCutchen.

FIVE NEW MEMBERS IN MINISTERS ASSOCIATION

Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, the new pastor of the First M. E. church; Rev. G. W. Squires, of the First Church of Christ, and Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, the district superintendent of the Elizabeth district of the Newark Conference, together with Rev. Dr. E. G. Read and Rev. Dr. Richard Campbell, retired clergymen, were elected members of the Plainfield Ministers' Association at its monthly meeting held in Grace church parish house yesterday afternoon. They will be welcomed later.

A communication was received from the local entertainment committee appointed in connection with the plans for the State Christian Endeavor convention to be held here in October, and upon its request, the ministers decided to give up their prayer meetings for that week and merge them with one large service to be held under the auspices of the Endeavorers.

A report was received regarding the church census and it was stated that the names of persons who were not identified with any church had been turned over to the pastors of churches for which a preference was shown. There were a number of inaccuracies in the census and it was not complete in every detail. For this reason the figures were not tabulated. Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, president of the association, presided at yesterday's meeting.

CHARMING LUNCHEON FOR MISS ELIZABETH STILLMAN.

Mrs. George L. Babcock, of Madison avenue, gave a charming luncheon at the Park Club, yesterday, in honor of her sister, Miss Elizabeth Stillman, of Alfred, N. Y., who is visiting her, and a number of friends were invited to meet her at this social function. The table was tastefully decorated with lilies-of-the-valley and white sweet peas.

During the luncheon, which was a delightful one, a feature was music by an orchestra, adding greatly to the pleasure of the guests.

Covers were laid for sixteen, those present being Mrs. George L. Babcock, Miss Elizabeth Stillman, Miss Molly Slocum, Miss Bessie Flanders, the Misses Titus, Mrs. Charles Barlow, Mrs. Edward Hobbie, Miss Louise Hooley, Miss Eva Rogers, Miss Mary Barlow, Miss May Murray, Miss Ethel Murray, Miss Beresford Letcher, of this city, and Miss Helen Berry, of Portsmouth, N. H.

E. E. Parvin to Lecture.

E. E. Parvin, of New York, will give his lecture on Ocean Transportation before the Men's Club of Heavenly Rest church next Thursday night. Mr. Parvin has been heard in Plainfield a number of times recently and his address before the Heavenly Rest Men's club will be listened to with much interest.

Rev. A. S. Lloyd to Preach.

Rev. Arthur S. Lloyd, the general secretary of the Board of Missions, will preach at St. Stephen's church Sunday morning. All will be welcome.

—Neuman Brothers are offering a choice assortment of vegetables for today and tomorrow, including asparagus, cauliflower, green peas, green and wax beans, Florida beets and fancy mushrooms. Make your selection early.

LECTURE ON ASTRONOMY

Professor Mitchell Addresses the Men's Club of First Presbyterian Church.

AS TO THE MARS' "CANALS."

Professor Lowell the Only Man Who Thinks He Has Seen Them—An Illustrated Discourse.

In a lecture under the auspices of the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian church, Professor S. A. Mitchell, of Columbia University, told some interesting facts about the sun, the moon and the planets at the church last night and illustrated his remarks with a series of excellent stereopticon slides. The lecturer was introduced by F. O. Dunning, president of the club.

Professor Mitchell's talk was mainly a resume of the research work by the Government observatory astronomers. At the outset of his remarks, he took occasion to call attention to the vastness of the stellar system. Three thousand stars, he said, are visible to the naked eye, but about two hundred and forty million have been counted through the telescope. Their distance from the earth is vast, and each is many times bigger than the largest planet known to us. The moon is the nearest of the planets, being 240,000 miles from the earth. The lecturer told how the sun was a very small body, despite common belief, being composed mainly of gases and small solid particles, many of which are in a state of fusion. It is supposed to contain all the elements.

In speaking of the planet Mars, Professor Mitchell said that its atmosphere has been shown by spectum analysis to be very nearly like that of the earth. It is believed that we earth dwellers could exist on Mars, although the atmosphere is slighly rarer. In referring to the "canals" on Mars, he said that Professor Lowell is the only astronomer who has observed them, and it is now generally believed that this "discovery" is due to eye trouble on the part of the professor.

The slides, which were about one hundred in number, included a series of views of the eclipse of the sun, taken by a research party of astronomers in Hawaii in 1900. Professor Mitchell was a member of the expedition, which was sent out by the United States government. The equipment of the party, which made the trip on a government cruiser, cost thousands of dollars, and the party only had 3 9-10 minutes' work during the eclipse. Slides made from some of the photographs taken on that expedition were shown by the lecturer. Other views showed the instruments and scenes at the Yerkes observatory, where much of the government research work is carried on. There is constantly at least one astronomer gazing at the heavens through a big telescope there, and life at the observatory was outlined by the lecturer. The talk was well attended and several took occasion to meet the lecturer at the conclusion of his remarks.

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight; Saturday increasing cloudiness, warmer in the interior. Max., 65; Min., 37.

Primary Bill Passed.

The great sensation of the Legislature of 1909 came at 11:30 o'clock last night, in the House, in a red hot fight on the question of reconsideration and passage of the Senate bill providing for the election of county and city committeemen at open primaries. The final result was a great victory for Governor Fort. The bill passed by a vote of 33 to 24.

Young People's Service.

The choir of the First Baptist church will repeat its Easter program of music at the Sunday night service, and William D. Murray will make a short address of interest to the Young People's Association, under whose auspices the service will be held.

Will Give a Song Recital.

W. T. Carleton, the well-known baritone, has arranged to give a song recital early in May for the benefit of the King's Daughters' baby camp. Mr. Carleton's recital last season was much enjoyed when he sang in aid of The Day Nursery, and he announces an entirely new program for the forthcoming recital.

Bicycle Rider Arrested.

Wells Creger, of Watchung avenue, was arrested by Marshal Weiss, of North Plainfield, for riding on the sidewalk. He was summoned to appear before Justice Dolliver tomorrow morning.

CALLED HEWITT INSANE

Alienist Says Man Who Bequeathed Money to Charity was Mentally Unsound.

BATTLE FOR HIS MILLIONS.

Netherwood Fresh Air Home Will Lose $100,000 If Contest is Successful.

During yesterday's proceedings at Owego, N. Y., in the fight to break the will of Frederick C. Hewitt, of Owego, Dr. Carlos F. Macdonald, an alienst of New York city, in answer to a hypothetical question propounded by John B. Stanchfield, the contestants' counsel, stated on direct examination that Mr. Hewitt was insane on the day he executed his will as well as on subsequent days when he affixed his signature to the two codicils. Hewitt bequeathed $100,000 to the Netherwood Fresh Air Home.

The hypothetical question, in the rapid reading of which Mr. Stanchfield occupied fifty-nine minutes, was prepared under the supervision of Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, of New York, chief alienist for the contestant.

Announcement of the finding of new evidence which it is believed will materially strengthen one of the principal contentions of the contestant was made yesterday by Mr. Stanchfield, who stated that the contestant would introduce evidence to prove that large blocks of New York, Ontario and Western Railroad and Western Union Telegraph Company stock which were found in the safe deposit box of Miss Sarah Peck, since Mr. Hewitt's death, had been transferred to her by him. The contestant asserts that Miss Peck exerted undue influence over the testator to the end, that while he bequeathed millions to art, charitable and educational institutions, he left to his relatives amounts not to exceed $100,000 to any one person, and completely cut off the contestant, Mrs. Charlotte H. Arnot, of Elmira, who is his sister and sole surviving near relative.

VICTIM NOW CONSCIOUS CAN'T MAKE STATEMENT

George Elwyn, whose skull was fractured by an unknown assailant, Tuesday night, has regained consciousness, and is now resting comfortably at Muhlenberg Hospital. While the man is conscious, he does not seem to be able to remember anything about the attack, and will not speak of it. Chief Marshal George Weiss, of North Plainfield, was at the hospital today and tried to get a statement from him, but Elwyn only repeated the questions after the officer in a half-dazed sort of way, and nothing could be learned.

Physicians at the hospital say that the man has but a slight chance for recovery. He is being carefully watched so that any statement he may make about his assailant may be recorded.

SON-IN-LAW BATTERS UP COLORED MAN'S FACE.

As the result of an wholesale exchange of epithets followed by a fusillade of battering blows delivered by his son-in-law, Henry Lewis, colored, who lives on Arlington avenue, is a badly injured man today. Henry reached home at an early hour this morning, and people saw he had had something to drink during his absence. Anyway, he had some words with his son-in-law, and after a "call me that again" statement by the younger man, Henry is alleged to have repeated a sentiment which was followed by a stunning biff under the left eye with an iron weight. They do say that there were more blows, for Henry visited Dr. C. B. Lufburrow and Dr. J. C. Anderson this morning, and came away from the latter's office with six stitches in the wound made by the weight. This gash extended from his eye to his chin, and the man's right ear, right eye and right side were also scraped and torn, making more work for the physician.

It seems that Henry takes his battering with a most unrevengeful spirit, for no report of the assault has been made to the police and the sick man is now ministered unto by the assailant.

Augustus Zeller.

Augustus Zeller, fifty years of age, died at the home of George Collins, 31 Harmony street, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Zeller had been ill for a long time, suffering from a complication of diseases. Arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

PLANS FOR CHARTER DAY

Trades Council to Have Nine Hundred Men in Line and May Erect an Arch.

HOPE TO RAISE ABOUT $4,000.

Borough Will Be Unable to Contribute But Mayor Townsend Is In Sympathy.

Plans for the three day celebration to be held by the city in commemoration of the fortieth anniversary of the granting of the city charter were discussed at length at the second meeting of the celebration committee, held last night in the assembly room of the Plainfield Business College. Captain William C. Smith, chairman of the committee presided.

The tentative plan to make the celebration a three-day affair was unanimously adopted at the meeting last night, the motion being made by H. P. Greenwood. It was planned to hold the celebration Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 5, 6 and 7, and there will be a parade each day.

Delegates from the various clubs, lodges and organizations of city and borough were present at the meeting, and have agreed to take part in the parades. As July 5 is to be a holiday, the parade on that day will be in the morning; parades on the other two days of the celebration will be in the afternoon. Representatives of the various organizations reported the willingness on the part of the members to parade and it is probable that there will be a large turn-out. This is borne out by the statement of E. P. T. Smith, reporting for the Building Trades Alliance, who said that the Trades Councils will have about 900 men in line. Each organization will be represented by a float of some sort and the Trades Alliance is planning to build an illuminated archway over one of the main streets, probably at Park and North avenues.

The question as to whether each organization would be caled upon to pay its own expenses, raised by H. P. Greenwood, was referred by the chairman to E. M. Laing, chairman of the finance committee. Mr. Laing said that there was a balance of $24 from a fund of several years ago, and said that he hoped the committee would be able to raise $4,000 for the celebration. If this can be done, he said, a band of music will be furnished for each parading organization. The committee, however, will appreciate co-operation on the part of the various organizations in the supplying of parading music.

President L. B. Woolston, of the North Plainfield Council, said that it is the opinion of Mayor Townsend that there will be no contribution from the borough fund, but he added that he will personally do all he can to get public subscriptions.

E. M. Laing opened the discussion of prizes for the celebration events, and it was decided that the chairman was empowdered to appoint a committee of three to take care of the matter. The matter of games and sports for prizes was brought up and discussed, but no definite action will be taken until the next meeting.

GOVERNOR'S APPOINTMENTS RATIFIED BY THE SENATE.

Before the Legislature adjourned last night Governor Fort transmitted these nominations to the Senate and they were confirmed:

For Chancery Clerk, Samuel D. Robbins, of Burlington, president of the Senate.

For Commissioner of Banking, Vivian M. Lewis, of Passaic.

For Adjutant General, Wilbur F. Sadler, of Mercer.

Senator Thomas Hillery and Robert Williams were appointed as members of the railroad commission.

The reappointment of David Baird, of Camden, as a State assessor, was not made.

Junior Orchestra Musical.

The Y. M. C. A. junior orchestra, assisted by H. Warren Rankin, gave a pleasing entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last night before a large and appreciative audience. All the orchestral numbers were well rendered, the "Flashlight March" by Lincoln being the best received. Raymond Manley sang a couple of vocal solos that received hearty applause.

Two Arrests in Borough.

James Lacy, of Harmony street, was fined $5 and costs this morning for being drunk and disorderly on Somerset street late last night. Lacy it seems got into a quarrel with a young man and struck him in the face.

COMMISSION TO INSPECT PROPOSED PARK TRACT

The proposition from the Plainfield Park Association relative to the deeding of land for park purposes in the West End of the city, has been referred to the Shade Tree Commission by the Councilmanic committee on Public Affairs, and the members will make a thorough inspection of the property either today or tomorrow and will then report back.

The advantage in doing this was recognized when it became known that James G. Greenleaf, a member of the commission, is a landscape artist and is thoroughly conversant with questions pertaining to public and private parks, while A. J. Gavett and Miles Roberts, also members of the commission have considerable knowledge along this line.

A majority of the members of the Common Council are inclined to favor the proposition for the fact that land for park purposes is getting scarcer every year and it is realized that unless the city takes advantages of some such plan in a few years land will have to be purchased for a park if the city desires to have this improvement.

YOUNGSTERS STOLE THE WEDDING FEAST

Because they spoiled the wedding collation at the Gaston-Woodcock nuptials Wednesday night by stealing two big cans of ice cream from the rear of the residence of Clarence Woodcock, father of the bride, of West Seventh street, five West End boys were arrested by Patrolman James A. Saunders on Mr. Woodcock's complaint, yesterday, and were brought before Judge Runyon at the session of city court today. The boys are Richard and Charles Taylor, of Grant avenue; Frank Harding, of John street; William Witterman, of Plainfield avenue, and Joseph Duir, of John street.

Mr. Woodcock appeared at the city court to press the charge. He said that Richard, the older of the Harding boys, had taken the cream, and urged Judge Runyon to "make an example of him." Richard acknowledged having purloined the two big cans, but it developed that the other boys knew he was going to do it, and were waiting for him in the lot with the biggest spoons they could get. Mr. Woodcock said that the cream, supplied by an Elizabeth caterer, was valued at $10.20, so the Judge ruled that each boy bring $2.04 to court this afternoon to pay for the stolen feast. The Judge took occasion to give the quintet a severe lecture, and spoke especially to the Harding boy, who has been on parole from court for past wild performances, and has been reporting to him weekly with a party of his playmates that the court might keep them in the straight and narrow path of mischief-shunners.

NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT AT SALVATION ARMY BARRACKS

Under the auspices of the young people of the Salvation Army, an interesting entertainment was held at the local barracks last night. Captain and Mrs. Hewitt were in charge of the program. Several young people appeared in international costumes, sang the songs of the different countries and recited appropriate selections. The army is carrying on its work in the countries which were represented as follows:

India, Amana Sweeney; Sweden, Sadie Banker; Switzerland, Anna Sharkey; Italy, John Apgar; England, Harry Pierce; Uncle Sam, Ernest Straubel; Norway, Mattie Banker; Japan, Florence Apgar; China, Quintin Sweeney; Liberty, U. S. A., Josephine Sharkey; Salvation Army, Blanche Sharkey.

MISS BUSHNELL A BRIDE

Charming Daughter of John Bushnell Becomes Mrs. David Allen Roberts.

TWO CLERGYMEN OFFICIATE.

Fashionable Throng Witness Ceremony at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Miss Helen Frances Bushnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bushnell, of Central avenue, and David Allen Roberts, of Moorestown, Burlington county, were married at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church at 4 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, in the presence of nearly one thousand guests from New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and this city. It was the first large social function following the Lenten season and the gathering was noteworthy because of the presence of the representatives of so many distinguished families.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, formerly of this city, but now pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York, assisted by the pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie.

Mrs. Henry Davis Bushnell, of Pittsburg, formerly Miss Helen Martin, of this city, was matron-of-honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Allen Roberts, of Moorestown, sister of the groom; Miss Louise Holly, of this city; Mrs. Hayes Q. Trowbridge, of New Haven, Conn., and Miss Emily Pierpont Gould, of New York city. The best man was Herbert Allen Roberts, brother of the groom, while the ushers were Henry Davis Bushnell, of Pittsburg, brother of the bride; David Roberts Richie, of Moorestown; Alexander Cooper Wood, Jr., of Riverton; C. Linn Sieler, of Philadelphia; Richard Mott Gummere and William C. Longstreet, of Haverford, Pa.

The bride was gowned in white satin trimmed with duchesse lace, and she carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. The maron-of-honor's gown was white embroidered batiste. She wore a hat trimmed with lilacs and carried a bouquet of the same flower. The bridesmaids' gowns were also of white embroidered batiste and they wore hats of white straw trimmed with blue ribbon and pink roses and carried bouquets of pink rambler roses.

The ushers led the way for the bridal party as it entered the edifice, followed by the bridesmaids, the matron-of-honor and then the bride, escorted by her father. At the chancel the groom and best man, who had entered from the front of the church, were met and during the impressive ceremony, according to the form of the Episcopal church, the bride was given in marriage by her father.

A noteable feature of the wedding was the music. Archer Gibson, formerly organist at the Brick Presbyterian church, being in charge and presiding at the organ. Prior to the ceremony, while the guests were being seated, he rendered a program of classical selections and as the bridal party proceded up the aisle he played the wedding march from Lohengrin and the Mendelssohn wedding march after the ceremony, while the party was leaving the church. In retiring the bride and groom preceded, followed by the other members of the party.

The church, the interior of which has but recently been changed into one of the handsomest in this part of the country, was even more attractive through the use of numerous palms and flowers.

Following the ceremony a large reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where several hundred guests gathered to congratulate the bride. The home was elaborately decorated for the event, and the hospitality of the bride's parents was greatly enjoyed. After congratulations all took occasion to admire the many handsome and costly gifts. Later Mr. and Mrs. Roberts left on a wedding journey. Upon their return they will reside at Moorestown. The groom is an electrical engineer.

MAGICIANS PLANNING TO BUILD A THEATRE.

To start a fund with which to build in New York a temple of magic fashioned after Egyptian Hall in London, the Society of American Magicians, any one of three hundred and ten members of which can with ridiculous ease take a white rabbit from a silk hat or make roses bloom in a paper cornucopia, will give an entertainment of magic in Berkeley theatre, New York, this evening. The demonstrations of the black art will form the first program which the society has ever offered to the public.

On the bill which the magicians have provided for tonight are telepathists, illusionists, shadowgraph makers, Hindus, sleight of hand performers and a gifted person who makes lifelike portraits with rags.

Oscar S. Teale, formerly of North Plainfield, is president of the Society of American Magacians.

Successful Furnace Fires

PATENTED

makes tending the furnace easy, but best of all it makes a joyous fire. Round fire pots burn strongly through the center with a rim of half dead clinkers at the edge and when you shake the fire the middle drops out. You've noticed it. Fires built in BOYNTON Square Pots are all live coals. A shake down is an even shake. The whole fire settles. There is no waste. The fuel being equal, a square pot will develop almost twice the heat, or the same heat for about half. The square pot is our patent and can be had only in the BOYNTON furnaces. We have a dealer in your town. He will be glad to show you.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

Men's Suits at $15 and $18

We offer the best Suits in Newark at $15.00 and $18.00. This is a bold statement, with perhaps an air of conceit.

Don't believe a word of it until we prove our assertion, and don't buy a new Spring Suit until you are satisfied you know exactly where the best $15.00 or $18.00 Suit can be bought.

Above all COMPARE McGregor-made Suits with others. If you are a good judge of style, quality and correct fit, if you can separate "The Chaff from the Wheat" in clothing, we know it will take but a short time for us to prove that we sell the best suits offered in Newark at $15.00 and $18.00.

FABRICS—Finished and unfinished worsteds, velour, cassimeres, cheviots and silk mixed saxonys.

COLOR COMBINATIONS—Mixtures of black and white, blue shadow effects, olive tones, smoke gray and the new shade "Taupe."

CLOTH DESIGNS—Show single and double weave, also shadow stripes, neat checks, plaids and mixed designs.

Leaves Postoffice to Be Bride.

Trenton, April 16.—Mrs. Marie Kuntze, of 316 Academy street, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss J. M. Blanca Kuntze, to Karl Scrimer, of Breslau, Germany, who is the general ropal technical secretary of the railroads of that country. Miss Kuntze for the last twenty-five years has been in charge of the money order division in the Trenton postoffice. Last Monday Miss Kuntze tendered to Postmaster Yard her resignation, which is to take effect July 1, two days before she sails for Europe to prepare for her wedding, which will take place at the home of the bridegroom. She will be accompanied abroad by her mother. Miss Kuntze was appointed to her position May 1, 1884. Her prospective husband she has known since childhood, both having been born in the same German town.

CONGREGATIONALISTS IN ANNUAL SESSION

The annual meeting of the Congregational church which took place last night showed great progress made during the past year. Before the meeting convened a church supper was given by the Women's Association, which was largely attended and much enjoyed by the members and their friends.

The report of the treasurer, Chas. Steiner, contained these figures: Total receipts, $4,185.87; disbursements, $4,146.35, leaving a balance of $39.52. The total of the benevolent funds amounted to $807.86.

The pastor's report was listened to with much interest as it covered all the departments of the church work. In the first place, said Mr. Goodrich, the work of the church had grown in every department. The meetings had been largely attended, especially the evening services, which had been more or less of an experiment. The smallest attendance during the year was twenty-five and the largest two hundred and twenty-five. The instruction afforded by the men's club, women's association and other church organizations had been helpful.

The church had been loyal to the denomination and had liberally helped all the departments of the mission work, and other organizations. The amounts contributed were: Board of Foreign Missions, $551; Home Missionary Society, $845; American Missionary Association, $225; Education Society, $24; Church Building Society, $77; Sunday-school and Publishing Society, $47; Ministerial Relief, $68; other benevolences, $727. During the year seven new members had been taken in. The congregation had responded most cordially towards the work of building a larger church edifice, and while plans had been drawn it now remains to be seen whether $20,000 can be raised towards the object.

These officers were elected for the ensuing year: Clerk, Charles B. Morse; deacons, L. B. Morgan, re-elected, and Henry C. Normer; official board, Sidney Dunning, Edward L. Suffern and Alonzo W. Weseman.

After the church meeting had adjourned the annual meeting of the Congregational Society took place, and these officers were elected: Moderator, John M. Whiton; clerk, Charles B. Morse; trustees, Everett L. Morgan, Frank A. Weeks and Charles Steiner; auditor, James MacClymont. The trustees chose these officers: President, J. E. Morse; secretary, E. L. Morgan; treasurer, Charles E. Steiner.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY DANCERS HAD IRISH PIPER'S MUSIC.

It was a big night for the members of the Holy Name Society of St. Joseps' church, last night, when they and their friends to the number of about three hundred, attended the society's dance held at Saengerbund Hall. James FritzPatrick, the Irish piper, was there, and he furnished the music for the various sets, breakdowns and Irish dances, which brought two hundred people to the dance floor. Many attended the affair just to hear this New York piper, and he received a big ovation for his playing.

Music was furnished by Paroubeck's orchestra of five pieces, and dancing was continued until 2 o'clock. The committee comprised Robert McCormack, Thomas Meany, Patrick McDonough, William and John McCullough. The affair proved a decided financial success.

Special Meetings at Mt. Zion.

The quarterly meeting of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church will be held at the church on Sunday. Rev. J. T. Diggs, pastor, will be in charge. There will be a love feast at 10 o'clock and preaching by S. P. Kelley at 11 o'clock; Sunday-school at 2:30 o'clock; preaching by Rev. M. A. Alexander, of Shiloh church, at 8 o'clock, followed with a communion service, Presiding Elder J. T. Hammond in charge. The last quarterly conference of the church will be held Monday night. The annual New Jersey Conference of the church will be held in the Oak Street A. M. E. church, Jersey City, for one week, commencing Thursday, April 22.

from the State based on this attendance. This, he believed, should go a long way toward solving the truancy problem, for if parents realize the fact they will be only too anxious to have their children in school every day. Showing what rapid strides the schools have been making during the past few years, Mr. McCutchen said that in 1904 the schools received about $2,800,000 from the State school fund and last year this amount was increased to $4,200,000, made possible through all the additional revenue into that fund. With 50,000 members of the Jr. O. U. A. M. in the State Mr. McCutchen felt sure that State school interests would be watched and protected. He urged the members to educate themselves, not to shoot in the air, but make a steady of the question, get a notion of the administration of public schools. In conclusion Mr. McCutchen said that he would see that the Juniors received copies of the school laws and reports of superintendents if they would promise to study them with a view to keeping posted on the subject.

Following the addresses the Juniors remained to talk with the speakers informally on school matters.

Authorizes Sewage Plant.

State Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen introduced a bill in the Senate last night authorizing any city or one or more cities to unite in construction and maintenance of a sewage disposal plant. The real purpose of the measure is to permit North Plainfield and Plainfield and other municipalities to join in building a sewage disposal plant in North Plainfield township, as proposed by these different towns.

"Chief" MacDuff As Toastmaster.

At the annual banquet of the British Club held in New York city, Tuesday night, "Chief" Alexander MacDuff, of Division street, presided as toastmaster. There were 180 diners. John Mortimer, treasurer of the club, and James Stewart, were the other Plainfielders present.

The choir of Hope chapel will hold its rehearsal in the chapel tomorrow night, on account of the lecture by Rev. L. R. Howard to be given tonight.

The Christian Endeavor extension committee will hold a meeting tonight in the Siloam Presbyterian church, Elizabeth. All the colored societies in that vicinity will attend. The next meeting fill be held in the Seventh-Day Baptist church, this city, on Thursday night, April 22.

Rev. L. R. Howard will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Vacation Experiences in the Rocky Mountains," in Hope chapel, tonight. The lecture will be under the auspices of the Men's Club of Hope chapel, and it is expected that a large number of the chapel people and their friends will be present. A silver offering will be devoted for the chapel bulletin's expense.

FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR MISS ANNIE ALLEN.

In honor of Miss Annie Allen, who will leave for her home in "Bonnie Scotland" within a few days, about thirty friends gathered last night at the home of "Chief" Alexander MacDuff, of Division street, when the traveller was given a royal send-off. Miss Allen will sail on the Anchor liner "Columbia," and will stay at her home until August, when she will leave for New Zealand, to remain there indefinitely.

The gathering of the clans proved a festive occasion, for the Chief, who is honorary sagamore of the Get-together Club, provided a bountiful collation, and there was music and singing of Scottish airs by the company. He was assisted in entertaining by his wife. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. James Cram, Mr. and Mrs. John Mortimer, Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. MacDonald, the Misses Jennie and Agnes Gray, of Brooklyn, Miss Jennie Laurie and James Smith.

LICENSES FROM ALL WEDDING PRINCIPALS.

Trenton, April 16.—If the Brown marriage act revision, which passed the Senate Tuesday, becomes a law, there will be no more marriages in this State after October 1 next without license, whether the principals are residents or not.

Senator Brown said the bill, which came from the State Board of Health, would place New Jersey in line with all other States except South Carolina, where, as in this State, licenses are only required by non-residents.

To Investigate Sewage Evils.

Among the several commissions appointed by President Robbins of the New Jersey Senate, yesterday, was one to investigate sewage evils in cities and he made Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen the head of it. This will no doubt give the Somerset county representative plenty to do this summer for which he will receive no compensation.

State Patrolmen Meet.

Policemen from many parts of the State yesterday gathered in Turner Hall, Trenton, to attend a special meeting of the New Jersey Patrolmen's Benevolent Association. The meeting was called for the purpose of admitting three new locals to membership in the association. The new locals are Plainfield, Weehawken and North Bergen.

Reading Has a Wreck.

"The Queen of the Valley" express, due at Reading, Pa., over the Reading Railway at 10:10 p. m., was wrecked on a high bank in the southern end of that city last night within a minute's ride of the Reading terminal. Two men were killed.

Democrats to Meet.

The Democratic Union County Committee will meet at headquarters in the Lyceum building, Elizabeth, tonight. Standing committees will be named for the coming term.

Jonas H. Ingraham, stroke and captain of the 1907 Naval Academy crew, will coach the Navy crew this season.

Office Hours: From 9 A. M. until 4 P. M.

We manufacture a pair of glasses as low as $1 with a 10-year gold filled frame.

There is no one today in the United States who fits the eyes the same as we do. If you have ever been fitted to glasses by others, you understand what the test is—how you have to read the letters and tell the optician what you want. We do not fit that way, but take the exact measurements of the eye from the pupil without using any drops, nor do we ask any question or use test cards hung on the wall.

Don't Suffer with Headaches.

We have produced astonishing results from brain fag, nervous debility, insomnia, dizziness, nausea, watery eyes, blurry vision and other troubles caused by eye-strain.

We have corrected by the use of glasses cross-eyes and astigmatism by our scientific method.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The phonograph plays a big part in "The Wolf," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre, tomorrow, matinee and night. In the third act it is necessary that the howling of the wolves shall be heard in order to carry out the superstition of the Canadian forest, that when wolves howl in a pack in Indian summer it means death for some man before the moon shall rise and set again. The wolves that howl in this act foretell the death of William MacDonald, the villainous engineer, which occurs in a duel on a dark stage, so dark you can't tell which man is getting the worst of it. Then comes a fall, a deadly silence. One is killer. But which—the engineer or the French-Canadian? A match is struck and you see—what you see. It's the big scene of the play.

PROGRESS OF THE DAY ALL OVER THE WORLD.

British capitalists are arranging to build several railways in Asia Minor.

There is to be a referendum to the people as to local option in British Columbia.

The labor unions and unemployed of New Zealand are protesting against immigration to the colony.

Australian imports in 1908 totalled a value of $239,835,720 (decrease, $9,898,461) and the exports $313,592,394 (decrease, $40,552,145).

Red and green side lights for vessels were first used on the Hudson River in 1862, and they were introduced by General Benjamin F. Butler, who was interested in a factory that made the lights.

The Canadian government has decided to raise the French steamship subsidy from $75,000 to $200,000 a year. The speed is to be increased and the voyages more frequent.

In February for the first time in many months the Canadian customs receipts showed increase. The total was $4,113,645, a gain of $24,900. For the eleven months ended February the decrease was $10,899,955.

Twelve hours, with two hours rest, is the legal laboring day at Odessa, Russia. Workers under 17 must go to school for three hours daily. Christians are not required to work on Sundays or feast days, nor Hebrews and Mohammedans on their religious holidays. Those who have to work on Sundays have the next day for rest.

Australia's State railways had $69,658,681 gross revenue in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1908, an increase over the previous yearof $1,791,248, or about 2.8 per cent. The capital expenditures increased 2 per cent. The States of Victoria and West Australia showed decreases. Working expenditure was $40,435,593, an increase of $2,112,575. The net revenuen fell off $341,249. The mileage is 14,662, an increase of 468. Five gauges are in use on the lines. The capital expenditure to date named totals $678,692,051, an increase in the year of $13,550,100. Australia also has 1,400 miles of privately owned lines which cannot be reported on.

EXPECT NEW LINE-UP IN MIDDLESEX COUNTY.

New Brunswick, April 16.—The appointment of former Judge Theodore B. Boorsem as prosecutor of Middlesex county was a hard blow for the machine Republicans here. It is taken to mean that the county will have a new Republican leader and he, it is thought, will be County Clerk John H. Conger.

Conger opposed the reappointment of Berdine and was backed by Congressman Howell, Robert Carson and County Collector H. R. Groves, all opponents of the Theodore Strong machine.

It looks now as if Mr. Conger would manage his own campaign this fall, when he will run again for county clerk. On his ticket will probably be H. Raymond Groves for Senator, as against A. S. Marsh, the regular Republican selection.

Richard Peltier, of Perth Amboy, is likely to be the new prosecutor's detective, succeeding Frank Hoffman. The assistant prosecutor will probably be Russell Watson, now probation officer and court clerk. [illegible] is fear on the part of many tax[illegible] new prosecutor will stop Sunday [illegible]

To Start Colored Day Nursery.

Elizabeth, April 16.—This city is to have a colored day nursery, according to a decision reached at a meeting of colored women held at 1152 East Elizabeth avenue, Tuesday night. Organization was effected with Mrs. Anna Clark, president; Mrs. Sarah Dean, vice-president; Elnora Jones, secretary; Mrs. Sarah Cameron, treasurer and matron. It was decided to charge five cents a day for the care of each child. The Egenolf Day Nursery does not receive colored children.

W. J. Eagle's Auto Smashed.

Paterson, April 16.—The Rainier touring car of W. John Eagle, of Passaic, was wrecked Wednesday morning when a Haledon trolley car smashed into it at Washington and Market streets. Mr. Eagle and John Acton, who was at the wheel, escaped unhurt. The machine was so badly wrecked that it had to be towed to a nearby garage. The automobile was crossing the trolley tracks on Market street.

Warfare on Dogs.

Arrangements were made last night by the Bayonne Board of Trade for a warfare against unlicensed and homeless dogs that infest that city. Of late a number of persons have been attacked and bitten by the mongrels.

Another Legal Holiday.

The bill to make October 12, Columbus Day, a holiday in New Jersey has passed the Assembly. It had previously been approved in the Senate, and is now up to Governor Fort for his approval.

USE PRESS WANT ADS

WED, DIDN'T KNOW IT, HAS BOUGHT OFF WIFE.

Freehold, April 16.—Jacob B. Maghan, of Marlboro, has filed for record in the county clerk's office an agreement of separation from his wife. Maghan alleges that he was plied with liquor and then duped into marrying Mrs. Sarah B. Grace, at Jersey City, on February 17.

The agreement of separation provides that in consideration of the payment of $500 Mrs. Maghan relinquishes all claim upon him for support, and also for dower rights in his estate.

Mrs. Maghan is now living with her son, George McArthur, 234 Bay street, Jersey City. Maghan declared to a reporter yesterday that he has met Mrs. Grace but twice before his marriage, and that he knew nothing of the ceremony having been performed until told of it the following morning.

The ceremony, he avers, was performed by Rev. George Bennett, in Grace Methodist church, Erie and Second streets, Jersey City.

Maghan says that he returned to Marlboro the next day, and that it was several weeks before he heard anything further from his wife. She appeared unexpectedly at his home at Marlboro about three weeks ago. They then entered into the separation agreement.

POSTPONE INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION MEETING.

Elizabeth, April 16.—The first annual State convention of the League for Industrial Education, to have been held in this city yesterday, has been postponed until the middle of May, at a date yet to be designated. It will be held in the Morrell Street Public School, the use of which was granted last night by the Elizabeth Board of Education.

Dr. A. A. Snowden, of Newark, and Richard T. Clements, superintendent of the local public schools, are the principal leaders in the movement. It was thought best to enlist the co-operation of the local Board of Trade in the matter, but it was found the time was too short for effective action and so the convention will be held at a later date.

The Board of Trade, at a recent special meeting, promised its active support toward helping the convention to success.

"SIMPLE LIFE" IN PARIS.

Out door exercise and the "simple life" are for the moment the fad of the fashionable Parisienne, writes a Paris correspondent. A leading French actress when recently in London so greatly admired the complexions of the English women she saw that she and a number of her friends determined to cultivate, by means of walking and plain living, "English complexions."

The experiment is declared to have had wonderful effects, and now every fine morning one may see quite a number of ladies both of the theatrical and social worlds indulging in "footing," which is French for walking exercise—round the lakes in the Bois de Boulogue. Some of the more athletic have adopted a practical costume resembling that worn by lady mountaineers. Stout square-toed boots are considered necessary for "footing," and veils are discarded.

Together with the morning walk, the morning cold "tub" is an English custom more and more widely practised. If it rains, seekers after a "British complexion" indulge in gymnastics at home. The devotees of the new fad dispense with the now more than ever fashionable corset during their morning exercise.

Don't Like Waiting in the Dark.

Washington, N. J., April 16.—Complaint is being made about alleged lack of facilities at the station of the Lackawanna Railroad. Heretofore the company had operators on duty day and night, and the station was open at all hours. The operators have been removed to the towers, and the station is closed at 9 o'clock each night, and remains so until 6:30 o'clock, the next morning. There are trains at 4:10 west bound, and at 4:35, east bound, and it is necessary for passengers to wait in the dark for them and pay extra fare.

Horse Fatally Hurt by Auto.

Rutherford, April 16.—A horse attached to a delivery wagon owned by Haskins-Loveridge Company, was run into Wednesday night by an automobile owned by W. E. Walter. The auto was driven by Andrew Jacobson. The horse was so badly injured that it had to be shot. The wagon was turning from Franklin place into Chestnut street when the machine, traversing the latter street at a rapid rate, hit the animal broadside. Several ribs and both hind legs of the horse were broken.

Police Find Priest's Vestments.

The Jersey City police have in their possession the vestments of a priest and altar vessels which they think were stolen from Father Albert Olszewski, of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, at Bayside, Long Island. The articles were recovered in a room occupied by a young man whom the police had been watching, but who escaped before the raid.

The Common Fly.

Under the microscope over 100,000 bacteria have been counted on the legs and mouth of a single house fly.

KNOWING ABOUT BEANS.

It appears that the more we come to know beans the more of them we eat. Before the enterprising packing companies undertook to educate the public on the subject of beans, the supply grown in the United States was equal to the demand. We used to eat from five to eight million bushels a year. After we had been told through the magazines and newspapers that beans were "good for food," and the colored pictures of cans open and ready to serve had proved that beans were "pleasant to the sight," we began to eat more beans. Last year we ate twelve million bushels, about a half more than our best previous record, and had to import about three million bushels of beans from southern Europe. Incidentily the average wholesale price has been nearly doubled. Three States, New York, Michigan and California, supply about 90 per cent. of the beans marketed in this country. These figures include only the navybean, which is the variety that is extensively advertised.—Collier's.

Poll Tax.

The poll tax was first levied in England in the year 1377 and repealed in 1380. Its purpose was to assist in defraying the expenses of the French war. Its collection in 1381 led to the celebrated Wat Tyler insurrection.

The English Channel.

The English channel at its east end is twenty-one miles broad, and at its west extermity it is from 100 to 110 miles wide. The greatest breadth is between Sidmouth and St. Malo, 150 miles.

NEWARK The Reliable Store—Established Over 51 Years

Launching New MEN'S AND YOUNG MEN'S Suits at $15

WORTH $25 OF ANY MAN'S MONEY.

Worth $25 compared with suits at $15.00.
Worth $25 compared with suits at $20.00.
Worth $25 compared with suits at $25.00.

We Mean Every Word of It! Worth $25.

After the most painstaking campaign ever undertaken by any store to produce the best clothing to be sold at a price, we announce a triumph that will bring us the approval of every man who cares about the sort of clothes he wears and is prudent in his outlay.

We set a standard far above that in suits sold about town at $25 and more.

We aimed at workmanship found only in custom clothing at $30 to $40. The cloths come from the best mills; trimmings and accessories from most reliable sources. We went to the best tailor in the land and had him make the suits according to our—the most exacting specifications a tailor ever worked under.

The result justifies our painstaking efforts. We have suits out of reach of every other Newark store for the money, or even $10 more.

1.—Hand padded close fitting collar—the aim of many custom tailors—that few attain. You will admire this feature.

2.—We use only best padding—no stuffy wadding—and give a most graceful natural shape to the shoulders.

3.—Open, hand made close fitting English shoulder that so few even high class custom tailors can imitate. A great point.

4.—Hand made button holes—a detail many buyers overlook until too late, when wear tells the story of poor workmanship.

5.—Hair cloth, unbreakable front, together with French shrunk canvas that give never varying perfect hang and shape.

These wonderful suits are for men and young men—hand tailored in every detail; models most graceful that skilled designs can conceive—styles the conservative man desires—styles the ultra young man seeks.

Above you will read of some good points of the coats. We can point to as great superiority in the trousers, and prove that the waist-coat has received more attention than usual, also.

Blue serge, black unfinished worsteds, also black clay diagonal; and all the newest shades, smoke, tan, olive and gray tones; all most refined. Trousers regular and peg top, hand felled waist bands, belt straps and side buckles; sizes 32 to 48 chest; come Saturday and be among the first to enjoy the greatest clothing achievement of the year—come and examine at close range these best suits for the money—$15.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Branin, of Sicklerville, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Tice, of Williamstown, will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage on April 24.

The Gloucester County Teachers' Association will hold an all-day session in the Woodbury Courthouse on Saturday.

The West Jersey Presbytery will meet in Deerfield on April 20, when delegates will be elected to the General Assembly, which meets in Denver in May.

General Stine, proprietor of a large poultry farm near May's Landing, lost 300 young chickens when fire destroyed a large breeding house. An overturned lamp was the cause.

While Claude Payne, of Millville, was cleaning a revolver that he didn't know was loaded the weapon was discharged and the ball shattered one of his fingers, making amputation necessary.

The War Department has notified the Salem County Freeholders that they must provide a tender for the drawbridge over Salem creek at Course's Landing and that lights and fenders must be placed there before the truck season opens.

The Building Commission of Camden Council last night decided to begin at once an investigation of the cause of the collapse of several walls at Eighth and Linden streets, Tuesday. The commission will visit the scene and later hear witnesses. All the victims of the accident were reported out of danger today.

"Joe" Hooker Post, G. A. R., of Atlantic City, was presented with the pen which the Governor used to sign the bill appropriating $25,000 to assist in defraying the expenses of entertaining the national encampment here in 1910. The shore veterans were active in pushing the bill. The Governor sent the pen to the post through Commodore Louis Kuehnle.

The farmhouse of Frank J. Malinofski at Carmantown, with all its contents and a sum of money, was destroyed by fire. Molinofski and his wife were in the field working, when suddenly his wife noticed flames shooting from all parts of the house. With much difficulty the barn and outbuildings were saved. Malinofski is a cripple, having lost both feet in the mines.

Suit was begun in the Camden Circuit Court yesterday by the American Ice Company and John H. Ogg against the West Jersey and Seashore Railroad Company. The ice company sued to recover $60,000 damages, and Ogg wanted $5,000. The plaintiffs allege that on April 13, 1908, sparks from a locomotive set fire to the ice company's icehouses at Kirkwood and the home of Ogg, adjoining.

A burglary that is believed to have been committed three weeks ago has just been discovered at the home in Barnsboro of James Shuster, whose family are at Emaus, Pa. Mrs. Joseph Worst, while gathering dandelions, noticed a rear shutter ajar and notified persons in charge of the house. An investigation revealed that the place had been ransacked from cellar to garret, all the silverware and everything else of value that could be carried away having been taken.

Because the Vineland Board of Education refused to allow the junior class of the High School to hold a dance under the name of "The Junior Class," great interest centered in the gathering of the pupils last evening under the name of "Easter Class Dance." Mystic Chain Hall was filled to overflowing with pretty lads and lasses, who danced with great enthusiasm. The patronesses were Mrs. Alpheus McCracken, Mrs. Albert P. Hall, Mrs. Charles M. Gray, Mrs. Edward W. Ruegg, Mrs. Everett Drew, Mrs. James Morrow, Mrs. Frank C. Bray and Mrs. Edwin F. Miller.

Jersey Auto Bill Passes.

The House and Senate Wednesday accepted the conference report on the Bradley Automobile bill, and it will be signed by the Governor. The speed limit is raised to twenty-five miles an hour; tourists can go into the State for ten days on payment of $1 for a tag; can obtain licenses without personal application. The fees for Justices of the Peace are so materially decreased that there will be no more profit in the game of holding up autoists.

Funeral of Miss McDonald.

The funeral service of Miss Mary McDonald, of West Third street, took place at St. Mary's church at 9 yesterday morning, Father Bogan officiating. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery. The pall bearers were Frank Cullen, Patrick Cullinan, Patrick Driscoll, Daniel Sullivan, Daniel Fritzpatrick and John Crowley.

The Glue Bottle Cork.

After a bottle of glue or cement has been opened rub mutton tallow on a sound cork before inserting it, and the cork will not stick fast to the neck of the bottle and break when an attempt is made to draw it. Moreover, the glue will remain in a liquid state.

POLLY of the CIRCUS

By MARGARET MAYO

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead and Company

"It'll be a good thing for you if she never comes back," said Strong, and Douglas' quick ear caught an unpleasant meaning in his tone.

"What's that?" the pastor asked in a low steady voice.

"We don't like some of the things that are goin' on here, and I want to talk to you about 'em."

"Very well, but see if you can't talk in a lower key."

"Never mind about the key!" shouted Strong angrily.

"But I do mind." Something in his eyes made the deacon lower his voice.

"We want to know how much longer that girl is goin' to stay here."

"Indeed! And why?" The color was leaving Douglas' face and his jaw was becoming very square.

"Because she's been here long enough."

"I don't agree with you there."

"Well, it don't make no difference whether you do or not. She's got to go."

"Go?" echoed Douglas.

"Yes, sir-e-bob. We've made up our minds to that."

"And who do you mean by 'we?'"

"The members of this congregation," replied Strong impatiently.

"Am I to understand that you are speaking for them?" There was a deep frown between the young pastor's eyes. He was beginning to be perplexed.

"Yes, and as deacon of this church."

"Then as deacon of this church you tell the congregation for me that that is my affair."

"Your affair," shouted Strong, "when that girl is livin' under the church's roof, eatin' the church's bread!"

"Just one moment! You don't quite understand. I am minister of this church, and for that position I receive or am supposed to receive a salary to live on and this parsonage, rent free, to live in. Any guests that I may have here are my guests and not guests of the church. Remember that, please."

There was an embarrassing silence. The deacons recalled that the pastor's salary was slightly in arrears. Elverson coughed meekly. Strong started.

"You keep out of this, Elverson!" he cried. "I'm runnin' this affair, and I ain't forgettin' my duty nor the parson's."

"I shall endeavor to do my duty as I see it," answered Douglas, turning away and dismissing the matter.

"Your duty is to your church," thundered Strong.

"You're right about that, Deacon Strong," answered Douglas, wheeling about sharply, "and my duty to the church is reason enough for my acting exactly as I am doing in this case."

"Is your duty to the church the only reason you keep that girl here?"

"No; there are other reasons."

"I thought so."

"You've heard her story—you must have heard. She was left with me by an old clown who belonged in the circus where she worked. Before he died he asked me to look after her. She has no one else. I shall certainly do so."

"That was when she was hurt. She's well now and able to go back where she came from. Do you expect us to have our young folks associatin' with a circus ridin' girl?"

"So, that's it!" cried the pastor, with a pitying look. "You think this child is unfit for your homes because she was once in a circus. For some reason circus to you spells crime. You call yourself a Christian, Deacon Strong, and yet you insist that I send a good, innocent girl back to a life which you say is sinful. I'm ashamed of you, Strong—I'm ashamed of you!"

"That talk don't do no good with me!" roared Strong. He was desperate at being accused of an un-Christian attitude.

"I ain't askin' you to send her back to the circus. I don't care where you send her. Get her away from here; that's all."

"Not so long as she wishes to stay."

"You won't?" Strong saw that he must try a new attack. He came close to Douglas and spoke with a marked insinuation. "If you was a friend to the girl, you wouldn't want the whole congregation a-pointin' fingers at her."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that you're livin' here alone with her and it looks bad—bad for the girl and bad for you—and folks is talkin'."

"Are you trying to tell me that my people are evil minded enough to think that I"— Douglas stopped. He could not frame the question. "I don't believe it," he concluded shortly.

"You'll be made to believe it if you don't get rid of that girl."

"Do you believe it?" He turned upon the little man at his side. "Do you believe it, Elverson?"

Elverson had been so accustomed to Strong monopolizing the conversation that he had become hopelessly lost as the discussion went on, and the sudden appeal to him all but paralyzed his power of speech. He was still gurgling and sputtering when Strong interrupted impatiently.

"It makes no difference whether we believe it or not. We're goin' to do our duty by the church, and that girl must leave or"—

"Or I must." Douglas pieced out Strong's phrase for himself. "That threat doesn't frighten me at all, deacon. After what you have said I should refuse to remain in this church"—the deacon stepped forward eagerly—"were it not that I realize more than ever before how much you need me, how much you ignorant, narrow minded creatures need to be taught the meaning of true Christianity." The deacon was plainly disappointed.

"Your affair," shouted Strong, "when that girl is eatin' the church's bread!"

"Is it possible?" gasped Elverson weakly.

"Well, what are you goin' to do about it?" asked Strong when he could trust himself to speak again.

"I shall do what is best for Miss Polly," said the pastor quietly, but firmly.

He turned away to show that the interview was at an end. Strong followed him. Douglas pointed to the gate with a meaning not to be mistaken. "Good afternoon, deacon."

Strong hesitated. He looked at the pastor, then at the gate, then at the pastor again. "I'll go," he shouted, "but it ain't the end!" He slammed the gate behind him.

"Quite so, quite so," chirped Elverson, not having the slightest idea of what he was saying. He saw the frigid expression on the pastor's face; he coughed behind his hat and followed Strong.

DISPUTE OVER REWARD.

Claimed By Detective and Liveryman, Both of Newark.

At the meeting of the Somerset Board of Freeholders yesterday Sergeant John Harter, of the Newark police force, put in a claim for the reward of $250 for the arrest and conviction of Edgar Sypherd and Raymond Smith, who were convicted and sentenced February 13 for the theft of a horse and buggy from Newton O. Dunster, a liveryman of Somerville.

Julius Glazier, a Newark liveryman, also claimed the reward. The rig was driven to his stables and he purchased it for a small figure and notified the police, who made the arrest. The matter was referred to the auditing committee of the board for investigation and report.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning April 18, 1909.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Why we observe the Lord's day.—Mark xvi, 1-6; Acts xx, 7; I Cor. xvi, 2; Rev. i, 10.

A question perhaps more pertinent than the one before us might be, Why do we not observe the Lord's day? Sabbath desecration is one of our great modern evils. But this fact alone is sufficient for us to study the reasons for observing the Lord's day, with the prayerful hope that it may lead us, even as Christians, to a better observance of the day and for truer and loftier purposes.

The Lord's day is used with discrimination. The Sabbath of the Jews was the seventh day of the week. The Sabbath of Christians is the first day of the week, commonly called in the New Testament "the Lord's day."

1. The Lord's day is observed as a memorial of the resurrection of Christ. The change in days was undoubtedly made to commemorate this crowning event in Christ's life. He arose on the first day of the week and met his disciples. He appeared to them eight days later, which was again the first day of the week. He ascended the fortieth day after His resurrection, which was also the first day of the week. The apostles continued to meet on this day and called it "the Lord's day." Though with no recorded command to change the days, yet in practice they did do so as recorded from Acts to Revelation, where John in i, 10, declares that he "was in the spirit on the Lord's day." Christ's resurrection was an event of such vast importance that it made even such a signal change a most worthy one. Let us think of the Sabbath as the Lord's day and give it to Him as the Jews gave the seventh day to God.

2. The Lord's day is to be observed as a day of public and private worship. On this day, at Philippi, Peter preached the gospel to a multitude of people, and Paul urged the Corinthians to lay aside offerings for God's work. "Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him." Here are two acts of public worship—preaching and giving—and no doubt they took place in the public congregation with the other parts of public worship, such as prayer and singing. The Lord's day should be a day of worship. The house of God should not be neglected. Private worship cannot take its place, and much less the worship of nature or of nothing. Churchgoing may seem to some an insignificant thing, but it is of vital importance. Few souls are saved or grow in grace outside the church. It is next to impossible. We say, "It is the only day we have for recreation, for visiting friends, for getting out in the air," etc. The fact is it is the only day of the week which we have not got. It is "the Lord's day" instead of ours, and we should give unto Him what belongs to Him, "not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is."

3. John was in the spirit on the Lord's day and had a wonderful vision. The Lord's day is our day for spiritual uplift and spiritual vision. But to have it so we must yield ourselves unto the Holy Spirit and let Him pervade us. The spirit of sin, of worldliness and of indifference will give us no heavenly vision on the Lord's day.

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. ii, 1, 2; Ex. xx, 2-11; Lev. xxv, 1-7; Num. xv, 32-36; Neh. x, 31; Isa. lviii, 13, 14; Jer. xvii, 21-27; Luke iv, 16; John xx, 19-23; Rom. xiv, 5-12.

"St. Paul, 1909," Rally Song.

Minnesota's vigorous field secretary, Walter D. Howell, has written the following stirring song, which is being sung everywhere to arouse interest in the coming great international convention at St. Paul. The tune is "The Battle Cry of Freedom:"

We are marching in the southland, we're marching in the north,
Shouting the message of Endeavor!
In the east and in the west see the army going forth
Shouting the message of Endeavor!

CHORUS.

For Christian Endeavor we sing as we march,
True to our motto, "For Christ and the church,"
And in nineteen hundred nine then we'll rally in St. Paul,
Shouting the message of Endeavor!

See, the starry flag is waving beside the union jack,
Leading the army of Endeavor.
And our march is ever onward, no thought of turning back,
Shouting the message of Endeavor!

We are marching for Immanuel, our Captain and our King,
Shouting the message of Endeavor!
From Quebec to California we make his praises ring,
Shouting the message of Endeavor!

Let us rally in convention, full thirty thousand strong,
Rally the army of Endeavor!
And we'll win a mighty conflict against the power of wrong,
Shouting the message of Endeavor!

Start of Two Foreign Societies.

Most of the Christian Endeavor societies in Persia originated from the mission school where Fidelia Fiske taught. The pupils, going home for their vacations, spend the time in starting new Endeavor societies. In the same way in Spain many of the societies were started by the girls of the American mission school as they went home for their vacations.

Large African Society.

There is a large Christian Endeavor society, numbering 200, on the west coast of Africa. They do all the teaching in the large Sunday school. They divide themselves into bands, one for each day of the week, and take turns going out to preach Christ to those who do not know Him.

CONSIDER DOG ORDINANCE

After Some Changes are Made Measure is Passed to Third Reading.

THE LICENSE FEE IS HIGH.

Anyone Who Owns a Bow-wow Will Have to Pay City $2.50 for the Concession.

After making several important changes in the new dog ordinance, it was adopted on second reading, at an adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, and it was ordered engrossed and advertised preparatory to passing it on its final reading in May. In the main, the ordinance as drafted by Councilman Holt, Clay and Montgomery, with the advice of Corporation Counsel C. A. Marsh, was passed, but not until there was considerable argument. As a matter of fact the whole evening was devoted to a discussion of dogs and the ordinance.

Among the important features of the ordinance are that the license for every dog shall be $2.50, except that $10 shall be charged for a kennel license, where five or more dogs are kept. If the ordinance is finally passed no muzzles will be required, it being amended in that respect so that the Mayor may at his discretion issue a proclamation ordering that all dogs be kept off the streets, except when accompanied on a leash by a person 12 years of age or over.

Still another important feature of the ordinance provides that while dogs must be kept in the pound for at least seventy-two hours, the city clerk will be required to notify the owners of all dogs picked up, if known, of the fact, as soon as possible, giving them a chance to redeem them. The clerk will also keep a full and complete description of all dogs, the name and address of the owner, and this must be furnished to the chief of police, who in turn will be required to acquaint his men with the list. In the first place every owner of a dog must get a license for which he will pay $2.50 and then he will receive a tag for each dog from the city clerk who will receive a fee of 25 cents.

Relative to the changes made in the ordinance, A. Clinton Wilmerding, president of the Plainfield Kennel Club, was present and given the privileges of the floor. He said that the club favored the ordinance, except as to the license fee of $2.50, and compulsion of muzzling. He said that the license fee in New York is only $2, while in most other cities it averages about $1. In his opinion $1.50 or even $2 would be more satisfactory. While the members of the club would be able and willing to pay $2.50, he believed that there are a number of persons who cannot afford it.

In referring to so-called rabies, Mr. Wilmerding said that he had been a breeder of dogs for twenty-nine years, and during that time had seen but two cases. He said that as a rule the newspapers are rsponsible for most of the cases. Speaking of mad dogs or rabies, he said that a dog is as likely to be affected with the disease in winter as in summer.

Replying to Mr. Wilmerding, Mr. Holt said that he could not agree with him in all that he said, especially as to the license fee. He then quoted the fees charged in other nearby cities, showing that in most cases and fee averages from $1 to $5, the latter being charged for female dogs in some places, and it was thought that $2.50 would be a fair charge.

It was Mr. Clay who offered the amendment to the ordinance to abolish muzzles, substituting the feature already referred to. This met with general satisfaction, because it was the opinion that as a rule a muzzle tends to irritate a dog more than anything else.

The city is to establish a pound in May of each year and appoint a dog catcher and pound-keeper. For each canine taken to the pound the catcher receives 50 cents and the keeper will receive 25 cents a day for the keep of the dog aad 50 cents for killing it. The usual provisions are made for redeeming the dog within seventy-two hours. For violations of the ordinance a fine not to exceed $20 may be imposed. No license will be required for dogs brought here for show purposes or dogs being taken through the city.

When a vote was taken on the ordinance, Councilman C. C. Randolph voted in the affirmative but with the understanding that he could change his vote when it comes up for final passage. Mr. Buxton voted against the ordinance. A final provision was made that a public hearing be granted on Monday night, May 3, at 8 o'clock, Councilmen Montgomery, Clay and Holt voting in the negative and Councilmen Buxton, Taylor, Mysatt, Wilson and C. C. Rndolph in the affirmative.

RECEPTION IS GIVEN REV. ORA J. SHOOP

Rev. Ora Shoop, pastor of Grace M. E. church, was given a hearty reception by the Ladies' Aid Society, last night. The return of the popular pastor for another year was greeted with much enthusiasm by all the friends and members of the congregation. It was a great evening for Mr. Shoop, and by his hearty welcoming, the results of good that will be accomplished by him this year should be many fold

There were addresses of welcome by Dr. H. K. Carroll and Rev. Chas. S. Kemble, while an orchestra under the direction of Dyckman Winckler, rendered several musical numbers that added to the mirth and enjoyment of the evening. At the conclusion of the entertainment the women served ice cream, cake and coffee.

DUTCH ARMS ENJOYS EXCEPTIONAL PROGRAM

After a ten minutes' devotional service, which was conducted by Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, the Dutch Arms, of Trinity Reformed church, was entertained last night by Walter David, an impersonator, and Annie Louise David, pianist and harpist. It was "ladies' night" and there was a large attendance. The primary department room had been attractively arranged for the occasion.

F. S. Cutter, as president of the Dutch Arms, welcomed the guests and extended a cordial invitation to candidates for membership. He introduced the entertainers, whose delightful and well varied program proved most enjoyable. In all about twelve numbers were contributed. Mr. David's impersonations were splendidly done, while Mrs. David's performance on the harp gave evidence of conscientious work and exceptional artistic ability. Among the best numbers were "An Old Sweetheart of Mine," " DAisciple of Deiheart of Mine," "A Disciple of Detsarte," "Driftin'," "The Hero of Watterloo," "Annie Laurie" and "An

TO PUBLISH THE LAWS IN PAMPHLET FORM

Believing that everyone, so far as possible, should be fully acquainted with the work of the Legislature during its past session, and should be correctly informed as to how it will affect them, the Union County Democratic Committee at a meeting in Elizabeth, last night, took steps to have this information published in pamphlet form for distribution. Chairman W. E. Tuttle, Jr., of Westfield; James Connolly, of Newark; LeRoy J. Ellis, and James E. Martine, of this city, were named as a committee for this purpose. Mr. Martine and Mr. Ellis were the only two Plainfielders at the meeting.

One of the purposes for which the meeting was held was that all vacancies existing should be filled. One was filled in the Tenth ward, Elizabeth; one in New Providence and one at Kenilworth. During the general discussion the Democrats expressed their displeasure over the work of the Republicans in the Legislature this year.

Extension Committee to Meet.

The Union County Christian Endeavor extension committee will hold its next meeting at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, Thursday night. At this time, Miss Nellie K. Foote, of Elizabeth, district secretary of Union county, will speak, and there will be a ten-minute address by Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church.

Mrs. W. J. Roome Entertains.

Mrs. William J. Roome, of Sycamore avenue, gave a luncheon yesterday afternoon in honor of her guest, Miss Florence Ayers, of Philadelphia. Covers were laid for twelve. Afterward bridge whist was played, thirty guests taking part in the game. Refreshments were served after the play.

New Home of Catholic Club.

The opening of the new home of the Catholic Club of St. Michael's church, Elizabeth, will take place April 26. The club's quarters are located in the new parish hall of St. Michael's church, at East Jersey and Jaques streets, and which has cost $35,000.

Dr. Zwemer at Trinity.

Rev. Dr. S. M. Zwemer, representing the "Forward Movement," will be at Trinity Reformed church all day tomorrow, and will also address the Sunday-school in the afternoon.

TAXICABS' REGULATIONS

Amendment to Hack Ordinance Provides for Reasonable Charge for Service.

POWER VESTED IN MAYOR.

Rate of Fare 30 Cents a Mile For One or Four Persons —Additional Charges.

At the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, the amendment to the hack ordinance was called up on second reading by Mr. Clay, chairman of the license committee, and passed. It will now be advertised and come up for final reading in May. This ordinance was amended to include the operation of motor vehicles or taxicabs in the city, and the provisions are now quite familiar to all interested.

There was a lengthy discussion over the provision requiring drivers of taxicabs as well as hackmen in general to display their license numbers and rates of fare even more conspicuously than at present, and it was finally decided not to change the present ruling in that respect. The ordinance covering taxicabs refers to the issuance of a license to a person or corporation by the Mayor, who can use his discretion and also has the power to revoke a license for violations.

Taxicabs may charge thirty cents a mile for one or four passengers and ten cents for each additional quarter mile. A taxicab may be ordered up to the distance of a mile and a half without extra charge, but beyond that distance a charge of 25 cents may be made, provided, however, that children under ten years of age shall be carried free. The license fee for each taxicab will be $10 and in addition each driver must pay $1 for a license. In making application for a drivers' license the application must be accompanied by the names of three responsible citizens.

The only other business of the evening was the adoption of a resolution by Mr. Gloak, approving the bonds of Smalley Brothers, who have the contract for furnishing the city with crushed stone this year.

TO PRESENT "MR. BOB" IN AID OF MISSIONS.

Under the auspices of the Teachers' Training Class, of Grace church, of which Mrs. Adele Cory Hansen is the teacher, "Mr. Bob" will be presented at the parish house Friday afternoon and evening, April 23, the proceeds of which will be sent to Bishop Van Buren in Porto Rico.

An excellent cast has been selected for the play and under the coaching of Mrs. Hansen, promises a fine performance. The cast follows:

"Mr. Philip Royson," Thomas Leggett; "Mr. Brown," law clerk for Benson & Benson, Thomas Jewell; "Jenkins," Miss Rebecca's butler, John Jewett; "Miss Rebecca Luke," maiden lady, Miss Constance Pittis; "Katherine," her niece, Miss Mary Dickinson; "Marion," Miss Frances Iredell; "Pattie," Rebecca's maid, Miss Nan Johnson.

The Women Will Assist.

At the next meeting of the Women's Relief Corps on Friday, April 23, committees will be appointed to join with those from Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., in the observance of Memorial Day. The women will have charge of the dinner to be served at post headquarters at noon on Memorial Day and will also supervise the musical program to be given by the children's chorus at the exercises in the afternoon.

Street Work Progressing.

Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett's men are now busy repairing East Front street, that thoroughfare being sadly in need of attention. When this work is completed the street committee will begin operations on West Front street. The new steam roller is kept busy on the streets and is giving satisfaction.

Ice Plant Ready In May.

The work on the hygeia ice plant, owned by the Plainfield Ice and Supply Company, is progressing rapidly and the concern believes that it will be ready for operation by the middle of May. The capacity of the plant will be about forty tons a day.

Smallpox Patients Improving.

Two of the smallpox patients have recovered and been discharged from the Isolation Hospital and the other two patients are convalescing and will be able to go home within a short time. In each case the attack was mild.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF JAMES T. CLOSSON

The funeral service of James T. Closson was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the late home on East Front street, and was private. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, of which Mr. Closson was a communicant member, officiated. The remains were placed in a vault at Hillside cemetery.

Mr. Closson was a member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, during the pastorate of Rev. Dr. John Collins Bliss, but after the latter went to New York, Mr. Closson identified himself with Grace church, wher he was a liberal contributor to the work of the parish. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. M. E. Edgerton, with whom he lived.

UNION COUNTY GETS HALF OF ITS R.R. TAX

A warrant for one half of Union county's share of the State railroad tax which was assessed in 1907 and paid in by railroads in 1908, has been received by Collector N. R. Leavitt. The warrant amounts to $69,636.65. The other half will be turned over on June 15. The whole amount due Union county from the main stem tax collected in 1908 is $140,121.50. If there was no reduction the present installment for Union would be $70,065.75. It will be seen that with a payment of $69,636.65 the county loses only $429.10 on the present division.

If the half payment of $70,065.75 had been made in full Elizabeth's share of the money would be $30,565.89, and when it is taken into consideration that the $429 less is distributed proportionately over the county, Elizabeth's share will be reduced but little. This apportionment bears out the figures presented by Superintendent Clement to the Elizabeth Board of Education Wednesday night, his estimate of the money which would be received under the present division being even more conservative than the actual apportionment which has been made.

MRS. MARSH EXPLAINS NEW THOUGHT HEALING.

Mrs. Caroline S. F. Marsh, director of the New Thought church, Brooklyn, addressed an audience in Weber's studio in the Babcock building, last night, it being the first lecture here on "New Thought Healing" by the speaker. The audience appeared to be greatly interested in the science of right living as set forth and time was given for questions and answers. Mrs. Marsh was acompanied by her secretary, Mrs. E. Timmerman, of Brooklyn.

Mrs. Marsh will give another talk at the same place on Friday night, April 23, at 8 o'clock and will be at Truell Inn the following Saturday morning. At the meeting Mrs. Marsh will sing the New Thought hymn, "Fulfillment," the music being by Adelaide Stevens.

Class Visited Ellis Island.

Accompanied by their teacher, Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, nineteen members of the church mission study class visited Ellis Island yesterday afternoon and were conducted through the government immigrant offices. There was a big delegation of new-comers to this country yesterday, and the government officials passed 6,480 immigrants, who have come over to begin life in "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

As to Castle Morgan.

William I. Chettenden, patriotic instructor of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., possesses an excellent picture of Castle Morgan, a Confederate prison at Cahaba, Alabama, which he is willing to loan to any public school in the city or vicinity for exhibition purposes, and if requested to do so, Mr. Chettenden will be glad to give a brief talk on his experience as a prisoner of war. His address is 320 Park avenue.

"A Blue Stocking Tea."

Under the auspices of the City Union of The King's Daughters "A Blue Stocking Tea" will be held at the Park Club Friday afternoon, April 23, from three until 6 o'clock. Candy, cake and lemonade will be sold. Admission will be by blue stocking or silver offering.

Dean Robbins to Preach.

Rev. Dr. Wilford L. Robbins, dean of the General Theological Seminary, New York, will preach at Grace church tomorrow morning.

TO CONSIDER PARK OFFER

Borough Commission to Inspect Site of Proposed Pleasure Ground.

TO HOLD JOINT MEETING SOON.

City Shade Tree Commision Also Debating Advisability of Acquiring Big Tract.

George T. Rogers, Robert Clark, Jr., and H. A. Bonn, park commissioners appointed by Mayor Samuel Townsend of the borough to examine and inquire into the feasibility and advisability of accepting the offer of the Park Association, whereby it agrees to deed certain lands in the western end of the borough for park purposes, met last night. The plans for the proposed park, together with those showing the situation of the land and other improvements suggested, were examined in detail.

The commissioners decided to meet Mayor Townsend tomorrow for a trip of inspection of the property offered to the borough. J. Lawrence Davis, of the Plainfield Park Association, also attended last night's meeting to render any assistance within his power.

Mayor Townsend is anxious that some decision be reached so that a report can be made by the commissioners at the next regular meeting of the Borough Council. As yet nothing has been done toward holding a joint meeting with the Shade Tree commission of this city, to whom the proposition was referred by the public affairs committee of the Common Council, the association having made a similar offer to the city. This will probably be arranged within a short time. The borough authorities are inclined to favor the park idea and from present indications are likely to accept the offer, provided the expense attached to maintenance is not found to be too great.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR SOUTH PLAINFIELD BOY.

A birthday surprise party was tendered to Edward Norman at his home in South Plainfield last night, when twenty-four of his young friends came unexpectedly to his house to congratulate him on having rounded his thirteenth annual mile post. The affair was arranged by Elwood Johnson and Victor Attlee, and the time was passed with games and music. Refreshments were served at midnight.

These were the guests: The Misses Myrtle and Elma Randolph, Elizabeth Geary, Marjorie Maguire, Grace and Lillian Norman, Laura Shrope, Irene Miller, Annie Bohl, Marjorie Bigley, Loretta Sofield and Florence Bunting; John Miller, Andrew McDonough, Victor Attlee, Edward Hannon, Neil O'Hearn, Howard Norman, John Ball, William Ball, Paul Geary, Frank Phillips, Elwood Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Randolph and David Bigley.

Will Sing "Elijah."

The choir of Grace church, under the direction of William E. MacClymont, organist and choirmaster, will give the oratorio, "Elijah," at the church, Thursday night, April 22. Mr. MacClymont will be the director and Dion W. Kennedy will be at the organ. There will be a full choir and orchestra and the soloists will be Mrs. Theodore Mantz, soprano; Miss Grace Carroll, contralto; William J. Tallamy, tenor; Arthur H. Chamberlain, bass. No admission will be charged, but an offering will be received.

Rahway Firm Gets Contract.

The Weldon Construction Company, of Rahway, was awarded the contract yesterday by the Union County Board of Freeholders to build wing walls on the Church street bridge, Rahway, its bids being the lowest. The company's bid was $172.50 for the concrete work and 47½ cents per cubic yard for filling. Arthur E. Smith, of this city, was second lowest, his bid being $227.50 for the concrete work and forty cents a cubic yard for filling.

Merchants' Association Smoker.

The Merchants' Association will hold its annual smoker and entertainment in the rooms in the Coward building Monday night. The speaker of the evening will be James E. Martine, and Mr. Floyd, of the Masters Institution, of Rahway. Another feature of the evening will be a number of rag-time selections by Marcus Hoyt.

To Be Buried Sunday.

The funeral of Augustus Cellars, who died at the home of George Collins, 31 Harmony street, Thursday morning, will take place from the undertaking room of George Cole tomorrow at 3 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Methodist cemetery.

LOCAL INSURANCE MEN ENTERTAIN AT DINNER

The Assistant Superintendents' Association of the Plainfield district of the Prudential Insurance Company gave a dinner at the Hotel Waldorf, last night, when the members had as their guests members of the staffs of various nearby cities and towns. There were thirteen diners, including men from Somerville, Clinton and Westfield. Superintendent D. O. Evans acted as toastmaster.

At the conclusion of the dinner a business meeting of the association was held at the company's offices here. The diners were G. W. Hope and D. Haley, of Somerville; G. W. Bien and R. J. Brown, of Clinton; G. W. and A. B. Lunger, of Westfield; D. O. Evans, H. W. Farley, W. D. Wright, O. L. Adriance, H. H. Shepherd, F. W. Smith and W. C. Smith, from the local office.

DANCE CONDUCTED BY CLINTON AVE.'S TEAM

The Clinton Avenue Baseball Club gave a successful dance in Saengerbund Hall, last night. About two hundred persons attended and dancing was continued up to an early hour this morning. The hall was attractively decorated with the club colors, gray and black, as well as American flags. Charles M. Suhr's orchestra furnished the music.

The McNulty Brothers' baseball team, of New York, was the guest of the local club. Among the visitors from New York were Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Durkin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Schott, Mr. and Mrs. William Masterson, the Misses Tessie and Mamie Farrell and Lillian Norris; Messrs. A. Farricker, J. J. McGrath, Mrs. T. N. Durkin, of Rye, N. Y., and Leeds Tudsborg, of Sacramento, Cal.

The committee in charge of the dance comprised Richard Scott, chairman; D. B. Martin, Ernest Dorflinger, John Martin, James Emery, Allen Enyder, Adam Schott, Charles Gillman, James Steele, Norman Barnes, William O'Loughlin, John Emery and Clifford Randolph.

PATENT FOR A SAFE CAUSE OF LITIGATION

A suit involving patents to a new safe which has proved a great success in the market is now pending before the Patent Office at Washington. The suit has developed out of rival claims to the patents made by Captain Samuel Rodman and Sumner A. Ely. These men were formerly partners in the old Hibbard Rodman-Ely Safe Company, of this city, which is now the Manganese Steel Safe Company. Mr. Ely is now at the head of a safe works at Perth Amboy and Captain Rodman has since organized the Rodman Engineering Company, of Washington, D. C.

The case is a particularly involved one, because the patents are alleged to have been granted to the men when they were in partnership, and the claim to manufacture has been maintained by each of the individuals in the subsequently organized firms. George Ball, of this city, has been retained as one of Captain Rodman's counsel, and testimony is now being received in the Washington court, where the case of the rival claimants to the patent is creating considerable attention.

DESCRIBES TRIP THROUGH THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS.

"Vacation Experiences in the Rocky Mountains" was the subject of an illustrated lecture given in Hope chapel, last night, by Rev. L. R. Howard. The affair was largely attended and all thoroughly enjoyed the seventy five beautiful views, as well as the entertaining talk by Mr. Howard, describing his trip through that part of the country.

The lecture was under the auspices of the Men's Club of the chapel, and it was a success in every way. An offering was received during the evening for the benefit of the club's work at the chapel.

A Lodge Vesper Service.

A delegation of nearly two hundred members of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, will go to Raritan, tomorrow night, where a vesper service is to be held, in charge of Father Zimmer. The full choir of St. Mary's church will accompany the lodgemen, and the fourth degree members will also attend. The trip will be made in special trolley cars, starting from this city at 6 o'clock.

PROSECUTOR SEES ELWYN

Somerset Authorities Can Get No Clue to Assailant from Victim in Hospital.

HE RECOGNIZES MR. DEMLER.

Aged Recluse Passes a Comfortable Night But There's Little Hope For Recovery.

Accompanied by Freeholder William Demler, of Watchung, County Prosecutor John F. Reger, of Somerville, visited Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday afternoon and spent some time with George Elwyn, the aged Warrenville junkman, who lies near death as the result of a murderous attack by an unknown assailant, Tuesday night, when his skull was fractured by a blow from an axe. The old man has regained consciousness, but would make no statement to the Prosecutor.

"Elwyn recognized Freeholder Demler, whom he has known for some time, and talked to him," said Mr. Reger today, "but he would not answer any of the questions we put to him about the crime. The man either doesn't know who struck him, or else his mind is not yet clear enough to tell about it. It is my opinion that he has no idea who the assailant was.

"The case is a baffling one, and the county authorities have as yet made no report. Detective Totten, of Somerville, is being assisted by the North Plainfield Township Committee, and they are running down every possible clue."

At the hospital today, it was said that Mr. Elwyn passed a comfortable night, resting better than any night since he was taken to the hospital. He has had no more hemorrhages, but it is understood that there is but a slight hope for his recovery.

BROOKLYN COURT JUDGE ADDRESSES MEN'S CLUB.

"The Seamy Side of Life" was the topic of an interesting talk by Hon. Charles E. Teale, of Brooklyn, before the Men's Club of the Congregational church, last night. It was "ladies' night" and there was a large attendance. The speaker's remarks included many instances which have come to Mr. Teale's notice as city magistrate in Brooklyn, and he spoke of those people who are living or, in the simile of a garment, "wearing" their lives, "wrong side out." The incidents related combined the humor and pathos of the lives of those who face a city magistrate from day to day, and their rehearsal held the keenest interest of the speaker's listeners.

Mrs. W. K. Swartz, of Brooklyn, a daughter of the speaker, rendered four violin selections during the evening, and her playing was of exceptional merit.

TO MAKE ADDRESSES AT THE Y. M. C. A. TOMORROW.

A service in the interest of negro education in the South will be held in Y. M. C. A. hall tomorrow afternoon. Prof. V. N. Carney, of Walker Institute, Augusta, Georgia, will discuss this topic and present the work which his institution, an important industrial school, is doing. He will be assisted by a number of students of the school who will sing. All men are welcome.

Following this meeting, at five o'clock, William McIntosh, superintendent of motive power of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, will address the members of Mr. Herrman's class in the social problems serves on "Railroad Operation."

Special Musical Service.

The session at the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-school tomorrow afternoon will be of unusual interest. A special musical service will take the place of the lesson, and the program includes the Easter carols, repeated by the school; solos by Miss Nora Schenck; selections by an orchestra of fourteen pieces under the direction of Arthur Mosher; also cornet and trombone solos with orchestral accompaniment. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend this service.

Bicycle Rider Fined.

Wells Creger, of Watchung avenue, who was arrested by Marshal Weiss yesterday for riding on the sidewalks in the borough, was fined $1 and costs by Justice Dolliver this morning.

Miss DeMott Engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry DeMott, of Somerset street, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jennie DeMott, to Henry Hillson Jones. No date for the wedding has been set.

The Laurel A. C. defeated the Shamrocks this morning by a score of 9 to 6.

WESTFIELD.

Petitions are being circulated in Garwood asking the Borough Council to retire the entire Board of Health. President of the board, W. T. Froat will be given an opportunity to explain the working of the board at a public meeting to be called next week.

Westfield Board of Trade held its April meeting Thursday night. It was announced that the date of the first dinner to be given by the board would be fixed as soon as a date agreeable to the invited guests could be arranged.

The State Board of Health declines to approve the sewer filtrature system adopted by Garwood, and as a result nearly all of the sewer plans as at present adopted, will have to be changed.

Tag day for the benefit of the Children's Country Home at Mountainside has been set for a week from today, Saturday, April 24.

Ran Away as Far as Paterson.

Princeton, April 17.—Frank Sinisi, thirteen years old, son of John Sinisi, residing at 108 West Sixty-third street, New York, ran away from his home four days ago because his father wanted him to go to school. The lad was arrested in this city Thursday. He was in the Market street station of the Erie Railroad, and when questioned by Detective John Klee, could give no satisfactory explanation of why he was there. Sinisi's parents were notified to come for their wandering boy.

Newarkers Bid in Elizabeth.

Bids were received by the Elizabeth Council Thursday night for the repaving of First avenue, from Third street to High street, and for the construction of a two-story steel shed on the recently finished recreation pier. The A. E. Sanford Company and John Knox & Son, of Newark, were among the bidders for the pier contract. The shed will cost about $10,000. The bids were referred to committees.

Alfred Taylor, proprietor of a store and pool parlor at Stanwick, was held under $500 bail for court by Justice of the Peace Aaron E. Burr on a charge of keeping and operating a gambling den. A dozen witnesses testified at a hearing in the Town Hall, and William Gleason was held under $100 bail as a witness.

Following an inspection of the ruins of the house which collapsed at Eighth and Linden streets, Camden, on Tuesday, at which time nine persons were injured, the Building Commission yesterday directed that work on the operation be stopped until the walls are reinforced and the foundations strengthened. Geo. Dixon, the only victim yet in the hospital, will be discharged in a day or two.

Atlantic City's City Council probably will practically abolish the work of the overseer of the poor by taking advantage of the new State law under which cities are enabled to delegate the work of relieving the poor to private organizations. Wealthy leaders in charitable work have formed a society to disburse charity funds, and a movement is on foot to secure for their control the funds annually provided for the poor by the city.

Hurrying into the barroom of her saloon, at 1230 Chestnut street, Camden, on hearing the cash register ring, Mrs. Mary Burzynski caught a man, who gave the name of Henry Sudrow, of Rockford, Conn., tapping the till. She seized the thief, and, despite the fact that the man was much the heavier, she held him until the arrival of Policeman Golden. Pleading guilty to attempted larceny, Sudrow was sentenced to three months in the county jail by Recorder Stackhouse.

The mystery surrounding the identity of the strange man found on the meadow in Lower Alloway Creek Township, near Delaware Bay, last November, remains unsolved, and the freeholders have decided to send him to the county hospital. When found the man was almost nude, and from continued exposure was paralyzed on the right side and almost frozen. Since November he has been in the county jail, unable to talk or write and apparently in a dazen condition all the time.

GOLF.

The Park Golf Club will open its course today for the first this season for informal play. The golf committee is now at work on the season's schedule and it will be announced soon, also the date for beginning active play.

There will be general play on the golf course at the Plainfield Country Club, today. The golf committee will soon announce the schedule for the season. The improvements on the clubhouse are now underway, Alexander Milne being the contractor.

At the annual meeting of the Richmond County Country Club on Staten Island a few days ago, the following officers were elected: President, Stacy C. Richmond; vice president, George Cromwell; treasurer, Kintzing P. Emmons, and secretary, Herbert R. Woods.

Waldron P. Belknap, A. G. Bruinier, Austin P. Kelly and Dr. Alvah H. Doty were elected directors for the term of two years. The other members of the board are Ernest Flagg, William I. Seaman and Edward S. Stettinius.

The interest of the members in the affairs of the club is shown by the success which has attended the plans for the purchase by the club of the property now used by it, including a golf course with a playing length of more than six thousand yards. The number of houses which have been built around the club and the advance in the value of real estate have made it necessary, in order to secure the club's permanency in its present location, that steps should be taken for acquiring the club property.

A number of the members formed a real estate company, which has either purchased or obtained options on the land. This in time will be turned over to the club at its cost price. When this is finally accomplished the club will be in the position of owning its own property, including turf lawn tennis courts and an eighteen-hole golf course situated in the city of New York.

The golf championship of Staten Island will be decided over the links in the fall.

So much outside encouragement has been offered the Women's Eastern Golf Association for its fourth annual championship tournament, to be held over the Baltusrol links on June 8 and 9, that it promises to be the best in the history of the organization. The encouragement consists in extra prizes donated by the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association and the Baltusrol club.

According to the program the championship proper will consist of thirty-six holes medal play, eighteen holes on the afternoon of June 8 and a like number the following afternoon. The name of the winner will be inscribed on the championship cup, which must be held for the ensuing year by the club from which the successful player enters. The winner will receive a gold medal for her personal property, while the woman finishing second will receive a silver medal.

The Metropolitan Association has offered prizes for the player making the lowest eighteen hole score each day. Players will be paired by the executive committee of the Eastern body.

The side attractions will consist of a driving competition on the morning of the first day, an approaching and putting contest the following morning and an eighteen-hole handicap in the afternoon. There is also a chance of the Baltusrol club running off a special contest of some kind for the entertainment of the visitors. Miss Fanny C. Osgood, of Brookline, winner of the Eastern championship a year ago at Oakley, will not be able to defend her title because of a recent illness.

Immediately following the Eastern tournament the tri-city team matches for the Griscom trophy will be played over the same course. The Boston team, holder of the cup, will, in accordance with the custom, stand out on the first day while the Philadelphia and Metropolitan forces battle for the right to challenge.

Dates have been fixed for two one-day tournaments open to members of clubs in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association. On May 4 the women will gather at the Morris County Golf Club, and on May 18 they will spend the day on the Salisbury links, at Garden City. These one day affairs will be a feature this season.

NEW YORK ALDERMAN WOULD TAX N. J. AUTOS.

New York, April 17.—Repaving New York streets with New Jersey money was a plan suggested by Patrick H. McGowan, president of the Board of Aldermen, at a dinner of the Men's Club of Holy Trinity church, 122d street and Lexington avenue, Thursday night. He also appeared as a champion of the new city charter.

"The greatest trouble with New York," he said, "is that its people take such little active interest in its government. Streets which lasted twenty years without repaving before the day of the automobile are now worn out in two years. We could repave these streets every two years if we compelled every New Jersey automobilist to pay a license for operating his machine in New York, as New Jersey compels New York automobilists to do when they go to that State."

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

Sun sets 6:37, rises 5:12; moon rises 4:45 a. m.

Plainfield, N. J., April 17, 1909.

It is not every executive who can wisely use a big stick.

Having no more weighty matter upon which to sacrifice its valuable time, the Common Council has ordained that he who owns a dog owes the city $2.50 for such has it been decreed shall be the license fee. Of course that is more than is paid for the right to possess a horse, but with its taxing and licensing habit in full blast there is reason to suppose that he who happens to have a tom-cat, canary bird or bumble bee will be assessed accordingly.

Of course the Governor could not conscientiously reappoint Mr. Baird though he did not discover that fact when he was a nominee for the high office he now fills. No matter how well qualified the Camden man is for the position, he will not do for he is not a "reformer." It is so different, however, when it comes to a social secretary whose ambition spurs him on for the most coveted position in the National Guard. What counts seniority, experience and such trifles when the advancement of a parlor-soldier is concerned? Consistency, thou are a jewel!

It did not require his election as floor leader of his party in the upper house of the State Legislature to make Ernest R. Ackerman a prominent and powerful figure in New Jersey politics. His claim to fame was firmly established when, despite great opposition, he succeeded in having placed on the statute books a civil service law, the destroyer of that odious political slogan "to the victor belongs the spoils." It was set on even more solid foundation during the present session when the Union county man triumphed in his effort to have an employers' liability bill become a part of the law of this State. There is a greater honor in store for Mr. Ackerman than leader of lawmakers unless the people fail to recognize and reward true merit and achievement.

RAILROAD TAX PAYMENT PLAN WAS THROTTLED.

Trenton, April 17.—The Blauvelt bill, House 454, went down to defeat in the House yesterday morning. The bill was intended to amend the act of 1888, providing for the taxation of railroads and canal property by providing that the taxes payable by each railroad company as certified to by the State Board of Assessors shall be due and payable into the State treasury on December 20 of each year, and was intended to repeal that portion of the act which permits the railroad companies to pay the taxes in four equal instalments on or before the first days of February, May and August and the fifteenth day of October in each year. Assuming the passage of the bill, Mr. Blauvelt figured out that the State would always be provided with a working balance of $3,000,000.

Majority Leader Lewis opposed the measure, reading a lengthy legal brief prepared for him, in which he said the railroads are now paying taxes for a year in advance. The bill was beaten by a vote of 29 to 27.

COMFORTABLE WALKING RIGS FOR COMING HOT WEATHER.

Walking gowns, speaking generally, will be of the simplest description possible, arranged with short skirts, considerably fuller at the hem than they were last season, but fitting closely around the hips. The pinafore form of dress will still prevail, but with variations, and in many instances what are known as "three-piece" garments will be provided, or, in other words, a princess, complete in itself and making together quite a nice frock for home wear, and then a coat, to match the skirt, for wearing out of doors.

One such costume is provided with a three-quarter length coat, cut in a very simple shape. For this frock Shantung silk is the fabric suggested, chosen in a new and very beautiful shade known as Rousen blue. The skirt fits quite smoothly round the hips, but widens out afterward with a number of full pleats as it nears the feet. These pleats are most ingeniously held in place by a wide strap of the same Shantung silk, fastened with three buttons in oxidized silver.

Sweet simplicity characterizes the bodice part, which is arranged with flat folds of Shantung silk, passing in fichu fashion over both shoulders, and held in place there by three oxidized silver buttons, in a larger size than those which are used upon the skirt. The under blouse is of soft cream net, tucked, made with long close-fitting sleeves, and left perfectly plain, except for a row of crystal buttons down the centre of the front. The coat is quite simply made, fastened with large oxidized silver buttons, and finished with a collar and cuffs of velvet in a darker shade of blue.

The hat, which is carried out in one of the newest French shapes, is covered with blue Shantung silk, and arranged round the crown with a closely-gathered band of cream-colored satin. On one side there are some curiously shaped antennae, the stems held by oxidized silver buttons, and the long ends tipped with tiny pieces of blue and green peacock's fathrs.

HOME CLEANING YOU KNOW IS A BIG SAVING.

French chalk is much utilized by dry cleaners, and is to a great extent responsible for the success which constitutes the difference between the professional and the amateur treated article. This treatment is usually carried out in the case of blouses of Irish crochet or white lace which are but slightly soiled, the whole of the lace being carefully and minutely gone over with powdered French chalk, while the blouse is laid on a large towel.

When the chalk has been shaken into all the interstices of the pattern the blouse is rolled up in the towel and laid one one side for two or three days, when the chalk should be shaken out until no vestige of powder remains. The same treatment can also be applied to lace collars and jabots.

Either turpentine or alcohol may be used with success in cleaning panne or velvet. A sponge should be employed with which to apply it, the surface being gone over evenly. Several methods exist of raising the pile, the best known being that of holding the wrong side of the velvet or panne over a hot iron, the rising steam effectually restoring the pile, other authorities recommending that the material should be held over a basinful of boiling water.

Alum mixed with pipeclay will be found successful as a means of cleaning waist belts of leather in white and uale shades. An old handkerchief should be dipped in the mixture and worked over the kid, the soiled lines and marks being rubbed in a rotary direction until the dirt disappears. The same procedure may be followed with regard to opera glass cases or purse bags of soft kid, the treatment being repeated until the original color is restored.

CHAIRBACK TOWEL.

The careful housewife who religiously adorns the backs of the porch chairs with white crash towels may unpin these articles and transfer them to more useful ends. There is now in the shope a special little chair-back towel to protect the back of the chair from leaning heads—or the back of the head from backs of chairs, however you put it. It is a small oblong of Turkish toweling, a serviceable dark brown in color, with a gay bit of border, all finished and ready to put on the chair. They're inexpensive and so practical that even the summer boarding house row of piazza chairs might afford to equip themselves therewith.

The Laziest Bird.

The laziest bird on earth is the Cuban trogan, a feathered idler of true Spanish-American instincts. He will sit patiently under the bough waiting for the ripe fruit to fall into his beak instead of plucking it for himself.

When the case of the American Ice Company and John H. Ogg against the West Jersey and Seashore Railroad Company was continued before Circuit Court Judge Endicott and a jury in Camden yesterday, the defense produced in court a miniature locomotive. It is the contention of the plaintiffs that a spark from one of the company's engines set fire to their buildings at Kirkwood. An ice-house of the American Ice Company was destroyed, together with Ogg's dwelling. The first wants $60,000 and the latter $5,000. The model of the engine was shown in an effort to demonstrate that the railroad company was not negligent and not responsible for the fire.

We manufacture a pair of glasses as low as $1 with a 10-year gold filled frame.

There is no one today in the United States who fits the eyes the same as we do. If you have ever been fitted to glasses by others, you understand what the test is—how you have to read the letters and tell the optician what you want. We do not fit that way, but take the exact measurements of the eye from the pupil without using any drops, nor do we ask any question or use test cards hung on the wall.

Don't Suffer with Headaches.

We have produced astonishing results from brain fag, nervous debility, insomnia, dizziness, nausea, watery eyes, blurry vision and other troubles caused by eye-strain.

We have corrected by the use of glasses cross-eyes and astigmatism by our scientific method.

BIG MEN RUN PORTAUPECK.

Portaupeck is being developed near Long Branch, N. J., by a company in which are William H. Cooper, vice president of the Siegel-Cooper Co.; John A. Young, president of the Windsor Trust Co.; C. J. Van Slyke, treasurer of the New York Central Realty Co.; George W. Young, of George W. Young & Co., bankers; Ernest Sharp, president of the Central Park Realty Co.; James C. Young, of Young & Myer, insurance brokers. The Portaupeck Hotel on the property has been there for 160 years. It is celebrated for its shore dinners. The tract of 460 acres is almost surrounded by the Shrewsbury River, yet high and dry, within five to fifteen minutes by trolley from the celebrated resorts of Long Branch, Monmouth Beach and Asbury Park. It is restricted against all nuisances. It has deep-well artesian water for every bungalow, a sandy sloping beach, fishing, boating, crabbing, an abundance of building material on the ground. A clubhouse is being erected for the exclusive use of residents. Charles Matt, of this city, is sales manager of the company.

PAYING WOMEN LESS THAN MEN

In deploring the fact that women are usually paid less than men for the same work, many writers overlook certain points which are necessary to a just consideration of the question. As no one individual or corporation more than another is to blame, is the world in general that must be blamed or justified. With many notable exceptions, the world tends to frame its customs so as to work out the greatest good to the greatest number. The individual must be forever secondary to the common good. The question may then be stated thus: Can we blame the world for not encouraging women to give up the proper feminine ideals of home-making by making them even-handed competitors with men and independent of them? The world especially needs two things, more and better homes and more and better people. Is it to be blamed for not framing its customs to attain those ends? If it be denied that this general result is good, then it may be denied that the means to gain it are good. But if it be admitted that the general result is the right one, then the world is justified in not encouraging too great a divergence from whatever will conduce to that end. The world is justified in saying to women: "For you business is but a preparatory school, a stepping stone to partial service. Your real work is to be wife and mother. Be employed at any useful work so long as that seems best for you individually, but remember that you are endowed with a higher capacity for service, and there is need for your work in the home." To give emphasis to this dictum, and to keep it hourly fresh in mind, the world, perhaps wisely and kindly, declines to encourage woman overmuch to prefer an independent life.

It is difficult, if not impossible, to speak in general terms of the problem of women in business without seeming to countenance many flagrant wrongs. In presenting this view it is not to justify any known injustice the reader may have in mind, but to afford a perspective which may enable us to consider universal tendencies.—Collier's April Fiction Number.

Uncanny.

"Did that lady think she would like the flat?" asked the landlord.

"Yes," replied his assistant, "but there's one thing rather strange about her case."

"Her references appear to be all right. What's the matter with her?"

"She didn't say anything about the horrible taste the woman had who lived there before or hint that the place would have to be entirely repapered and redecorated before she would take it."—Chicago Record Herald.

AN INTERRUPTED BATH IN JAPAN.

One of the most interesting articles in the April Wide World Magazine is entitled "Two Girls in Japan," by Irene Lyon. After six weeks of conventional sightseeing in the land of the chrysanthemum, the authoress and her friend decided to spend a few days off the heathen track and live as far as possible the life of the natives. They had many amusing experiences, the most amusing perhaps being their attempt to take a bath a la Japanese. Here is Miss Lyon's account:

"The bath itself—which looked like a large box—was a wooden structure built into a corner, and all around the inside ran a convenient ledge for sitting on. The water being little short of boiling, our movements were decidedly cautious, and, curling ourselves upon the ledge, we tried to grow accustomed to the temperature by degrees before plunging right in. When, thinking to remove the traces of our journey by a vigorous application of soap, we began to scrub ourselves, it suddenly occurred to us that such a proceeding was not 'etiquette,' out of consideration for the other bathers. So we stepped out, soaped ourselves well, and rinsed our bodies with the wooden ladies supplied for the purpose, before getting back into the water again.

"We were sitting on the edge, chattoing peacefully, when a sudden promonition of danger made me look up, and the spectacle which greeted my eyes caused me to utter one agonized gasp and then sink rapidly out of sight. The pains we had taken to block up the gap at the entrance had all been in vain, for the various garments which we had used for the purpose lay scattered on the floor, and the opening was occupied by a line of little heads, one above the other, whilst ten gleaming eyes were interestedly fixed upon us!"

MISS ANNETTE KELLERMAN, A SWIMMER AND DIVER.

To see Annette Kellerman is to increase one's faith in the human form divine. Unaided by corsets and high heels, in trustful reliance on daily exercise, clean cold water and all the open air that a busy life will permit, she has made herself into the likeness of Greek sculpture—the long flowing lines, the strength and definiteness of outline, the touch of austerity that clothes in chasitity those ladies of the marble past. She has become this creature of vigor and beauty by ardent and unbroken pursuit of the noble art of swimming. The posters call Miss Kellerman "the Diving Venus." Now, there is distinct evidence that Venus emerged from the unplumed salt, but there lives no record that the Lady Aphrodite ever cut the sounding furrows with a "dolphin plunge," as Miss Kellerman's little herald at the right wing labels one of her stirring "numbers." She dives twelve times for the audience—twelve kinds of dive—each with the perfect posture attained just at the instant of touchring the water. The curve of her descent would make the lasting fame of the draftsman who could catch it. All lovers of the water, all lovers of the beautiful, should see this refreshing young woman playing around like a nymph or Rhine-maiden in the younger days of creation.—Editorial in Collier's April Fiction Number.

IT COST $680. TO PRAY FOR THE LEGISLATURE

New Jersey's Legislature for this year will cost some $4,000 more than that of last year if the incidental bill covering legislative expenses introduced in the House last night by Assemblyman Radcliffe, chairman of the incidental expense committee, shall be enacted unamended. The bill this year carries a total of about $25,000, the exact amount being unknown because some of the items cannot be finally computed until the Legislature adjourns.

The bill, when analyzed, gives an interesting insight into the running of the two houses of the Legislature. The largest item in the appropriations is that for salaries of the officers, which foots up $16,420.

In this connection it may be pointed out that besides all the general officers, doorkeepers and pages the two houses have employed eighteen committee clerks, whose pay aggregates $5,850, besides traveling expenses of all the legislative officers as appropriated is $1,855.09.

Another interesting item in the bill is that showing how much is to be paid for opening the houses with prayer each day they were in session. A minister is paid $10 for offering a prayer at the opening of either House, and the total appropriation this year is $680.

The other main items in the bill are $4,715.25, for stationery and supplies; $481.21, for postage; $43, for flowers and music at the Lincoln celebration, and $40 for flowers sent to the funeral of Assemblyman H. D. Moon, of Warren county. A few other miscelaneous items carry the total up to about $25,000.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"The Wolf," undoubtedly the greatest success of that now famous author, Eugene Walters, who also gave "Paid In Full" to an appreciative theatre-going public, will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre tonight. "The Wolf" is a melodrama of the Canadian-Hudson Bay country, in three acts. The first act takes place in front of the home of Andrew MacTavish, a Scotch trader, on the banks of the Wind river; the second act is the interior of the same home, and the third is in the woods at the portage of Little Bear river. The action takes place in a single day. Years before the story of "The Wolf" begins, a half-sister of Jules Beaublen has been betrayed by an American adventurer, and on his deathbed Jules' father tells him to find his step-sister, Annette, and care for her. Jules goes North on the search, but finds that his sister volunteered death in a storm, after her betrayal. He determines to find the man, and avenge his step-sister's wrongs, enlisting with his Ba'tiste Le Grand, a northwestern nomad. In the first act, William MacDonald and his assistant, George Huntley, are found stopping at the MacTavish home, while promoting the construction of a far-northern railroad. MacDonald has been making love to MacTavish's daughter, Hilde—a child hated by her father because he wished for a son, and because her mother deserted him on account of his abuse. Jules and Ba'tiste arrive. Jules is Hilde's admirer, but has never spoken his love. To him, MacDonald boasts that, although he is married, he is going to take Hilde away with him. In his boasting he admits that it was he who drove Annette to her death in the storm.

ANOTHER BOY GONE FROM ELIZABETH HOME.

Mrs. Michael Burns, wife of a driver for the Elizabeth Hardware Company, has reported to the police in Elizabeth that her son, Arthur, 14 years old, had been missing from his home, 164 Grove street, since Monday morning. It is believed he is a runaway. His mother believes he might have gone to her former home in Niagara Falls. He played truant from the truant school on the day he disappeared and it is thought, fearing that punishment for this would be severe, he is afraid to come home. A general alarm has been sent out.

Arthur is described as small for his age, with blue eyes and brown hair. The first joint of the first finger on the left hand is off, and there is a scar under his right eye. This is the first time he has ever slept away from his home at night except once. He formerly went to the Cherry Street School, but his record was so bad that it was found necessary to transfer him to the Truant School.

Tea at Cranford Golf Club.

Society in Cranford is looking forward with much pleasure to the tea to be given by the women at the Cranford Golf Club this afternoon from 4 until 6. Those of Cranford who will receive the guests and help make the occasion a social success will be: Mrs. Frank P. Sloan, Mrs. Wasson, Mrs. Wetherill, Mrs. R. C. Smith, Mrs. Frank Harriett, Miss Enid Coade, Miss Abbie Bourne, Mrs. George Bates and Miss Laura Cochran. Mrs. L. A. Matthey will serve coffee, and Mrs. F. P. Ryan, lemonade.

Martha Washington Council, No. 23, D. A. R., will hold a regular meeting tonight and receive several applications.

REAPING BENEFIT.

From the Experience of Plainfield People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Plainfield residents on the following subject will interest and benefit thousands of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had.

R. H. Day, 108 Somerset street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on different occasions for twelve years and do not know how I would get along without them. At times I was seized with severe pains in my back, brought on no doubt by over-work. A kidney disorder generally accompanied such attacks. Doan's Kidney Pills was the first remedy that ever took effect on my trouble and whenever I have appealed to them, they have always banished my suffering. Plenty more local proof like the above can be had at Rondolph's Pharmacy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Go see it, it's a beauty. It stands out among all its neighbors, because the coloring is so bright and clear. Mr. Ericson painted with L. & M. Paint and says it costs 1-3 less than ever before. He bought only 12 gallons of L. & M. Paint and 9 gallons of Linseed Oil to mix with it. This made 2 gallons of pure paint, and cost only $1.20 per gallon. It's as handsome as the finest in town. The L. & M. is sold by Woolston & Buckle, Plainfield; H. C. Meyer, Scotch Plains; Edw. Pennock, Dunellen.

EXECUTOR'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

The subscriber, executor of the last will and testament of Catharine R. Webster deceased, will expose for sale at Public Vendue on Monday, the 10th day of May A. D. 1909, at 2 p. m., on the premises, all that certain tract of vacant land of which Catharine R. Webster died seized, situated on the southwesterly side of Watchung Avenue, between East Fourth Street and East Fifth Street, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., Beginning forty (40) feet from the corner of East Fourth Street and Watchung Avenue, and adjoining the southeasterly side line of property of Harry W. Marshall, said lands have a frontage of about 202 feet, and a depth of about 123 feet, and are especially desirable for building purposes. Said premises will be exposed for sale as an entirety or in parcels as may be considered most advantageous.

Conditions made known on day of sale.

Miss Vesta Tilley begins her third and last week at the Colonial where phenomenal business has been the rule throughout her engagement. Miss Tilley will again change her repertoire of songs, including, however, the "Sidney" song which has made such an emphatic success for the clever little English artiste. Howard & North will present their newest skit which is a sequel to their former success and is entitled "Back In Wellington." They will appear in their familiar roles—the two schoolboy friends now grown to manhood and exchanging reminiscences of their old home town. The Pianophiends will be seen in their lively musical comedy and Charles Leonard Fletcher will give his impersonations of famous men. The Charles Ahearn troupe of comedy cyclists will offer their novel specialty and Tomson's Mystery, an English illusion act is also a feature. The Basque Quartette will be heard in vocal selections and the Juggling Jordans will offer their clean and lively specialty. Sunday concerts will be given as usual.

The "Frances Starr Lingerie Dress" is the latest in smart modes and is becoming very popular in New York. The dress is an exact replica of the dainty lingerie gown worn by Frances Starr in the first act of Walter's play, "The Easiest Way," now on view at the beautiful Belasco Stuyvesant theatre, New York. The costuming of a cast plays such an important part in the mounting of a theatrical offering that a detailed word regarding the gowns worn by Frances Starr, in David Belasco's latest production, "The Easiest Way," may not be amiss. The gowns in this play are more than clothes, for they express the natures of the characters represented in a very subtle manner. The appealing sweetness of Laura, which blinds one at first to the fatal streak of weakness underlying her character, is well defined in her costumes, which are refined to a degree, while the more robust and outspoken Elfie is clothed in more striking raiment.

Professor Alfons Mucha, the famous Bohemian artist, the creator of the celebrated poster panels and portraits of Madame Sarah Bernhardt in all her principal parts, is at work upon a life sized portrait of Miss Maude Adams in the character of Joan of Arc. The canvas, when finished, will represent Joan as a peasant of Doremy, listening to the voice of St. Michael, bidding her to assume the leadership of the French army.

Over in London, the prettiest of tributes has just been paid Charles Frohman by "Carados," of The London Referee, who sees in Mr. Frohman's lease of The Haymarket theatre, where the American manager is to do H. H. Davies' new comedy "Bevis," the last step in the gradual invasion that will eventually Americanize the theatrical traffic of all England. "Carados" speaks of Mr. Frohman as "a man of his word, to his finger tips;" and while regretting that the control of English theatres must pass from the hands of the English to those of an American, comforts himself with the thought that, "if our theatres must be managed by an outsider, we could not turn them over to a more delightful invader than Charles Frohman."

TAG DAY IN WESTFIELD FOR CHILDREN'S HOME.

Westfield is to have a Tag Day on April 24. Circulars announcing the fact were given out yesterday. The circular states that "Everybody Who Is Touched Will Be It." It also says that there are all sorts of ways to separate people from their money, and that Tag Day is intended to boost up the finances of the Children's Country Home at Mountainside.

Nobody will be missed on Tag Day by 150 children, who will do the touching by pinning a tag on any person who does not already display one, and each tag will be worth 10 cents. Residences will also be visited, and if 25 cents is not forthcoming, the house will not be tagged, and, of course, this will mean a visit from 149 other children, or until the 25 cents is given up and the tag displayed. Tag Day has worked successfully in Jersey City and other places, and as the object at Westfield is a worthy one, no one will have any objection to being tagged.

JUDGE W. W. LANNING ON "CALL OF CHURCH."

Judge William M. Lanning, of the United States District Court, talked on "The Call of the Church for Men," Thursday night at the supper given in the Second Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, by the men of the parish. There were 200 persons present.

The Rev. Dr. John McDowell, pastor of the Park Presbyterian church, Newark, discussed "The Kind of Men to Answer the Call."

"The Worth of the Church to Men," by the Rev. Robert Scott Inglis, of the Third Presbyterian church, Newark, was another topic discussed. A dainty menu was served.

Calvin B. Orcutt, one of the church officials and president of the Y. M. C. A., presided. The Rev. Eben B. Cobb is pastor of the church. The dinner was purely social in character, and the only formal features were the addresses.

POLLY of the CIRCUS

CHAPTER X.

DOUGLAS dropped wearily on to the rustic bench. He sat with drooped head and unseeing eyes. He did not hear Polly as she scurried down the path, her arms filled with autumn leaves. She glanced at him, dropped the bright colored foliage and slipped quickly to the nearest tree. "One, two, three for Mr. John!" she cried as she patted the huge brown trunk.

"Is that you, Polly?" he asked absently.

"Now it's your turn to catch me," she said, lingering near the tree. The pastor was again lost in thought. "Aren't you going to play any more?" There was a shade of disappointment in her voice. She came slowly to his side.

"Sit here, Polly," he answered gravely, pointing to a place on the bench. "I want to talk to you."

"Now I've done something wrong," she pouted. She gathered up her garlands and brought them to a place near his feet, ignoring the seat at his side. "You might just as well tell me and get it over."

"You couldn't do anything wrong," he answered, looking down at her.

"Oh, yes, I could, and I've done it. I can see it in your face. What is it?"

"What have you there?" he asked, trying to gain time and not knowing

"Now I've done something wrong," she pouted.

how to broach the subject that in justice to her must be discussed.

"Some leaves to make garlands for the social," Polly answered more cheerfully. "Would you mind holding this?" She gave him one end of a string of leaves.

"Where are the children?"

"Gone home."

"You like the children very much, don't you, Polly?" Douglas was striving for a path that might lead them to the subject that was troubling him.

"Oh, no, I don't like them; I love them." She looked at him with tender eyes.

"You're the greatest baby of all." A puzzled line came between his eyes as he studied her more closely. "And yet you're not such a child, are you, Polly? You're quite grown up—almost a young lady." He looked at her from a strange, unwelcome point of view. She was all of that as she sat at his feet, yearning and slender and fair, at the turning of her seventeenth year.

"I wonder how you would like to go away"—her eyes met his in terror—"away to a great school," he added quickly, flinching from the very first hurt that he had inflicted, "where there are a lot of other young ladies."

"Is it a place where you would be?" She looked up at him anxiously. She wondered if his "show" was about to "move on."

"I'm afraid not," Douglas answered, smiling in spite of his heavy heart.

"I wouldn't like any place without you," she said decidedly and seemed to consider the subject dismissed.

"But if it was for your good," Douglas persisted.

"It could never be for my good to leave you."

"But just for a little while," he pleaded. How was she ever to understand? How could he take from her the sense of security that he had purposely taught her to feel in his house?

"Not even for a moment," Polly answered, with a decided shake of her head.

"But you must get ahead in your studies," he argued.

She looked at him anxiously. She was beginning to be alarmed at his persistence.

"Maybe I've been playing too many periscuous games."

"Not periscuous, Polly, promiscuous."

"Pro-mis-cuous," she repeated haltingly. "What does that mean?"

"Indiscriminate." He rubbed his forehead as he saw the puzzled look on her face. "Mixed up," he explained, more simply.

"Our game wasn't mixed up." She was thinking of the one to which the widow had objected. "Is it promiscuous to catch somebody?"

"It depends upon whom you catch," he answered, with a dry, whimsical smile.

"Well, I don't catch anybody but the children." She looked up at him with serious, inquiring eyes.

"Never mind, Polly. Your games aren't promiscuous." She did not hear him. She was searching for her book.

"Is this what you are looking for?" he asked, drawing the missing article from his pocket.

"Oh!" cried Polly, with a flush of embarrassment. "Mandy told you."

"You've been working a long time on that."

"I thought I might help you if I learned everything you told me," she answered timidly. "But I don't suppose I could."

"I can never tell you how much you help me, Polly."

"Do I?" she cried eagerly. "I can help more if you will only let me. I can teach a bigger class in Sunday school now. I got to the book of Ruth today."

"You did?" He pretended to be astonished. He was anxious to encourage her enthusiasm.

"Um—hum!" she answered solemnly. A dreamy look came into her eyes. "Do you remember the part that you read to me the first day I came?" He nodded. He was thinking how care free they were that day. How impossible such problems as the present one would have seemed then! "I know every bit of what you read by heart. It's our next Sunday school lesson."

"So it is."

"Do you think now that it would be best for me to go away?" She looked up into his troubled face.

"We'll see, we'll see," he murmured, then tried to turn her mind toward other things. "Come, now; let's find out whether you do know your Sunday school lesson. How does it begin?" There was no answer. She had turned away with trembling lips. "And Ruth said"— He took her two small hands and drew her face toward him, meaning to prompt her.

"'Entreat me not to leave thee,'" she pleaded. Her eyes met his. His face was close to hers. The small features before him were quivering with emotion. She was so frail, so helpless, so easily within his grasp. His muscles grew tense, and his lips closed firmly. He was battling with an impulse to draw her toward him and comfort her in the shelter of his strong, brave arms. "They shan't!" he cried, starting toward her.

Polly drew back, overawed. Her soul had heard and seen the things revealed to each of us only once. She would never again be a child.

Douglas braced himself against the back of the bench.

"What was the rest of the lesson?" he asked in a firm, hard voice.

"I can't say it now," Polly murmured. Her face was averted; her white lids fluttered and closed.

"Nonsense! Of course you can. Come, come; I'll help you." Douglas spoke sharply. He was almost vexed with her and with himself for the weakness that was so near overcoming them. "And Ruth said, 'Entreat me not to leave thee'"—

"'Or to return from following after thee'"—she was struggling to keep back the tears—"'for whither thou goest I will go, and where thou lodgest I will lodge. Thy people shall be my people and thy God my'"— She stopped.

"That's right; go on," said Douglas, striving to control the unsteadiness in his own voice.

"'Where thou diest will I die.'" Her arms went out blindly.

"Oh, you won't send me away, will you?" she sobbed. "I don't want to learn anything else just—except—from you." She covered her face and slipped, a little broken heap, at his feet.

In an instant the pastor's strong arms were about her; his stalwart body was supporting her. "You shan't go away. I won't let you—I won't! Do you hear me, Polly? I won't!"

Her breath was warm against his cheek. He could feel her tears, her arms about him, as she clung to him helplessly, sobbing and quivering in the shelter of his strong embrace. "You are never going to leave me—never!"

A new purpose had come into his life, the realization of a new necessity, and he knew that the fight which he must henceforth make for this child was the same that he must make for himself.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an ordinance, entitled "An Ordinance Concerning Dogs," a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at the hour of eight o'clock p. m., on Monday, the third day of May, A. D., nineteen hundred and nine, at which time and place prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY,
City Clerk.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., April 16, 1909.

AN ORDINANCE

CONCERNING DOGS.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That hereafter no person shall keep, harbor or maintain any dog, or suffer one to be kept, harbored or maintained within the City of Plainfield, unless a license to keep such dog has first been obtained from the City of Plainfield in the manner hereinafter provided, and any person keeping, harboring or maintaining, or suffering to be kept, harbored or maintained any dog within the City of Plainfield without having obtained such license shall be guilty of a violation of this ordinance.

Sec. 2. The City Clerk of the City of Plainfield is hereby authorized to issue such license in the name of the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield to any person applying therefor in writing and paying a license fee of two dollars and fifty cents, which license when so issued shall be valid and remain in force only until the 20th day of May next following the issuing thereof.

Sec. 3. The written application for a license as hereinbefore provided, shall be signed by the owner or person having the custody of such dog, shall set forth the place of residence of the applicant and the owner shall state the place where such dog is to be kept, and shall contain a description of such dog, including its name, color, breed and sex. All licenses issued pursuant to such application shall be consecutively numbered, and shall among other things contain a brief description of the dog to keep which such license is issued, including its name, color, breed and sex, the name of the owner, and shall state the place at which such dog is to be kept.

Sec. 4. Any person or association in the City of Plainfield owning five or more dogs which are kept for breeding, show or sporting purposes may obtain a kennel license, which shall entitle the holder thereof to establish and maintain within said City a kennel for the purpose of keeping dogs for breeding, show and sporting purposes. Such license shall be issued by the City Clerk upon a written application signed by such person or association which shall set forth the place of residence of the applicant, the place where such dogs are to be kept and the breed of such dogs. All licenses issued pursuant to such applications shall have plainly written or printed upon them the words "Kennel License" and shall set forth the facts stated in the application. Kennel licenses shall be valid and remain in force only until the 20th day of May next following the issuing thereof. There shall be attached to the collar of each dog kept pursuant to a kennel license, the tag required by this ordinance, each of which tags shall bear the number of such license. Such license shall be issued upon the payment of a license fee of ten dollars and in addition thereto there shall be paid to the City Clerk for each tag provided by him the sum of twenty-five cents. All provisions of other sections of this ordinance not in conflict with the provisions of this section shall apply to any and all dogs kept pursuant to a kennel license. The license fee of ten dollars required by this section shall be in lieu of any license fee otherwise provided for by this ordinance.

Sec. 5. Every dog to keep which a license is issued shall wear a collar to which shall be attached a metal tag bearing the number of such license; such tag to be furnished by the City Clerk at the expense of the City. The tags used for each year shall be different in size, shape or color from the tags used the preceding year that the appearance of the tag will differentiate with sufficient certainty the year for which the tag is issued, and three full years shall elapse before a tag of the same size, shape or color is again provided. If a tag is lost a new one may be obtained from the City Clerk upon satisfactory proof being furnished that a license to keep the dog for which tag is desired had been previously issued for the then current year and upon payment therefor of the sum of fifty cents.

Sec. 6. Any person who shall substitute or use any tag in place of the one furnished by the City, or shall allow any dog owned, kept, harbored or maintained by him to leave the premises occupied by such person without having a proper tag attached to the collar of such dog shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this ordinance.

Sec. 7. The City Clerk shall on or before the 1st day of June in each year transmit to the chief of police a statement showing all licenses to keep dogs issued as aforesaid. The chief of police upon receipt of such statement shall ascertain by the officers upon their respective beats, what persons have failed to comply with this ordinance, and all such persons shall thereupon be proceeded against before the City Judge of the City of Plainfield.

Sec. 8. The Mayor of the City of Plainfield may at any time when in his judgment the public safety demands it, order and direct by public notice that no dog shall be allowed to leave the premises of the person owning or entitled to the custody of such dog unless securely confined upon a leash and accompanied by a person over the age of twelve years. Such notice shall be published at least three consecutive times in the official newspapers of the City, and shall state how long the said order is to remain in force. Any person who shall, after the issuing of such order, and during the time same shall remain in force, suffer, allow or permit any dog owned, kept or harbored by him to go upon any of the streets or public places of the City of Plainfield, or upon any premises other than those owned or occupied by him unless securely confined upon a leash and accompanied by a person over the age of twelve years, shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this ordinance.

Sec. 9. The Common Council at its first regular meeting in May of each year, shall establish a pound and the Mayor shall prior to such meeting appoint a pound-keeper, subject to confirmation of the Common Council, who shall hold office at the pleasure of the Common Council. The said pound-keeper, any police officer, or any person specially appointed by the Mayor for that purpose, may seize and convey to the pound any dog found upon any of the streets or public places of the City of Plainfield without the tag provided for by this ordinance, as well as any dog found upon any of the streets or public places of said city not confined upon a leash as provided for by this ordinance, during the time that any order issued by the Mayor, as hereinafter provided, shall remain in force. The owner, if known, of any dog so seized and impounded shall be notified thereof by the City Clerk as soon as possible thereafter. The said pound-keeper and any person specially appointed by the Mayor as aforesaid, shall wear a suitable badge to be provided by the City Clerk indicating his authority. Any person authorized to seize any such dog shall be entitled to receive as compensation for his services the sum of fifty cents for each dog delivered by him at the pound, to be paid to him by the pound-keeper who shall be re-imbursed by the City. Should any person appointed as aforesaid seize any dog other than such as is without a tag, or during the period within which dogs are required to be confined upon a leash, any dog other than such as is not so confined he shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this ordinance.

Sec. 10. Every dog so seized and impounded, shall be kept, fed and kindly treated by the said pound-keeper for a period of not less than seventy-two hours from the time of impounding, and the owner or person entitled to the custody of any dog so seized and impounded may within said period redeem said dog upon paying the sum of three dollars to the said pound-keeper, one-half of which shall be for the use of the said pound-keeper and the other half for the use of the City. No dog so seized and impounded shall be redeemed by the owner thereof or released by the pound-keeper unless a proper license and a tag are procured for said dog previous to such release.

Sec. 11. After the expiration of such period of seventy-two hours any dog remaining in the pound and not redeemed shall be killed in a humane manner by the said pound-keeper. For every dog received by the pound-keeper at the pound and subsequently killed, the pound-keeper shall receive the sum of fifty cents to be paid by the City. The pound-keeper shall also receive the sum of twenty-five cents per day for each unredeemed dog during the said period of seventy-two hours.

Sec. 12. The expense of furnishing the licenses and tags herein provided for, the fees paid for seizing and impounding any dog, the expense of keeping all dogs while in the pound and the fee paid to the pound-keeper for each dog killed shall be borne and paid by the City and shall be paid out of its general fund. All sums received for licenses and tags, and one-half of the amount received for the redemption of any dog, shall belong to the City and shall be paid into its general fund. Out of the license fees received as aforesaid the City Clerk shall be paid the sum of twenty-five cents for each license issued by him. The amounts so paid and received by the pound-keeper shall be reported by him in writing to the City Clerk on the last Friday of each month, which said report shall be presented to the Common Council at its next regular meeting.

Sec. 13. The word "dog" whenever used in this ordinance, shall include all dogs, male and female.

Sec. 14. Any person found guilty of violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall upon conviction be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars for each offense. Conviction for any violation of this ordinance shall not be a bar to prosecution for any other or further violation thereof, and a failure to comply with any of the provisions of this ordinance after such conviction shall constitute a new violation thereof and shall be punishable as herein provided.

Sec. 15. No license shall be required for any dog brought into the City of Plainfield for the purpose of being exhibited at a bench, kennel or dog show, provided such dog is not allowed to leave the building or enclosure where exhibited unless in the custody of an adult person and confined by a leash and does not remain within the City limits for a period exceeding fifteen days.

Sec. 16. An ordinance entitled "An Ordinance Concerning Dogs," approved July 6, 1887, and the various amendments thereof approved respectively June 1, 1891, May 4, 1892, January 3, 1895, and September 1, 1898, and all other ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance, are hereby repealed.

AN ORDINANCE

to Amend an Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance to Provide for the Licensing and Regulation of Peddlers, Hawkers, Cartmen, Hack, Omnibus, Stage and Truck Owners and Drivers," approved March 24, 1882, (as amended).

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the title of the Ordinance to which this is an amendment be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"An Ordinance to Provide for the Licensing and Regulation of Peddlers, Hawkers, Cartmen, Motor Vehicle Hack, Omnibus, Stage and Truck Owners, and Drivers."

Sec. 2. That Section 1 of said Ordinance (as amended) be and the same is hereby further amended by inserting in said section after the words, "to drive or keep for use for hire a hack, omnibus, stage, truck," the words "motor vehicle."

Sec. 3. That Section 4 of said Ordinance be and the same is hereby amended as follows: By inserting after the words "used for hire or wages, any cart, truck, hack, omnibus, stage," the words, "motor vehicle;" and that said Section be and the same is hereby further amended by striking out the last sentence of said Section beginning with the words "One license and only one shall be required," and substituting in the place of said sentence so stricken out, the following words, that is to say: "One license and only one shall be required for each cart, truck, hack, omnibus, stage, motor vehicle or other vehicle, and such license shall suffice for the owner of such cart, truck, hack, omnibus, stage, motor vehicle or other vehicle, but for each driver other than the owner of such licensed cart, truck, hack, omnibus, stage, motor vehicle or other vehicle, a separate license shall be required."

Sec. 4. That Section 6 of said Ordinance be and the same is hereby amended as follows, that is to say, by interlining in said Section after the words, "pay therefor the sum of five dollars for each license," the following words, that is to say, "except that in the case of motor vehicles the license fee shall be the sum of ten dollars for each license, and except that in case of each Driver other than the owner of such licensed cart, truck, hack, omnibus, stage, motor vehicle or other vehicle, the license fee shall be the sum of one dollar for each license. Every application for such driver's license shall be in writing, and the applicant shall endorse thereon the names of three reputable citizens to whom reference is made as to the character of the applicant, and the granting of any such driver's license shall be in the discretion of the Mayor. In every application for a license for a motor vehicle the applicant shall be required to set forth that his motor vehicle has seating capacity for at least four passengers and that he has equipped his said motor vehicle with a taximeter of standard make, affixed to the front axle of said motor vehicle, and so constructed and adjusted as to indicate automatically on the dial of said taximeter the charges for distance in accordance with the charges fixed by the Ordinances of this City.

Sec. 5. That Section 8 of said ordinance as amended be and the same is hereby amended by inserting the words "or corporation" after the word "person" in the first line of said Section 8; and the words "or corporation" after the word "person" in the last sentence of said Section 8.

Sec. 6. That Section 9 of said Ordinance be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"Sec. 9. That any license granted under this Ordinance may be suspended or revoked by the Mayor or City Judge upon proof to the satisfaction of either that any such licensed person has been guilty of fraud with respect to making charges against any passenger or passengers, or that the owner or driver of any motor vehicle has practiced fraud with respect to the recording by his taximeter of the distance travelled, or the charges for distance, or for other satisfactory cause not included in the offenses elsewhere specially provided for in this Ordinance; provided, that no license shall be so suspended or revoked without reasonable opportunity first afforded to the licensed person or corporation to be heard on his or its own behalf; and every person or corporation who or which shall during the suspension or after the revocation of his or its license, carry on the business for which such license was granted, shall, on conviction, be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars for each offense.

Sec. 7. That Section 10 of the said Ordinance (as amended) be and the same is hereby further amended as follows: By inserting after the words "use for hire or wages, any hack, omnibus, stage," the words, "motor vehicle;" also by inserting after the words "may charge therefor the following rates, but no more, that is to say: where they occur in said section, the following, namely:

"(a) As to all vehicles except 'motor vehicles' as defined in Chapter 113 of the Laws of New Jersey for the year 1906;"

and that said section be and is hereby further amended by adding at the end of said section hereby amended, the following, namely:

"(b) As to all 'motor vehicles' as defined in Chapter 113 of the Laws of New Jersey for the year 1906: For any number of passengers from one to four inclusive, for the first half mile or fraction thereof, thirty cents; and for each quarter mile thereafter, ten cents; and for each six minutes waiting, ten cents; and for ordering such motor vehicle within one mile and a half from any stand or station to the point ordered at which the passenger or passengers enter said motor vehicle no charge shall be made; and for ordering such motor vehicle more than a mile and a half from any stand or station to the point at which the passenger or passengers enter said motor vehicle a charge may be made at the rate of twenty cents for each mile or fraction thereof in excess of one mile and a half; provided, that children under ten years of age shall not be counted as passengers if accompanied by older persons."

THE SIDE-LACED SHOE.

It is new.

It will be worn.

It laces on the outside.

The laces run up over the ankle.

In front over the instep it is perfectly plain.

It is practically the only boot novelty this season.

But it is so novel as to be well-nigh startling—yet it is chic.

It is made of soft suede that fits closely and quite gracefully to the ankle.

The model seen in a shop window is pearl gray, with silk laces to match.

The Woman's Missionary Circle of the Roselle First Baptist church began preparations at a meeting Thursdty for the entertainment of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the East Association of Baptist churches, which will convene in Roselle May 6. The association is composed of societies from thirty-three churches in the eastern part of the State. Committees for the convention were appointed as follows: Reception, Mrs. George Vaughan, Mrs. E. W. T. Faint and Mrs. Christine Henderson; social, Mrs. Frederick Veghte, Mrs. Charles Foster and Mrs. Arthur Churchill; enrolment, Mrs. E. E. Hanion, Mrs. Florence Thorn; music, Mrs. John Hill; ushers, Mrs. E. W. Moses. The meeting Thursday was devoted to a study of "Burmah" from the text book, "Nearer and Farther East." Mrs. Elizabeth Van Brunt presided. Papers were read by Mrs. E. W. Moses, Mrs. J. L. Benedict, Mrs. J. W. Higgins, Miss Florence Bogart, Mrs. E. A. Lowden and Miss Florence Thorn.

PERSONAL.

Miss Emily Pierpont Gould, of New York, who has been visiting friends here this week, has returned home.

The Misses Margaret and Julia Meaney, of East Sixth street, have been spending the week at High Bridge.

Miss Elizabeth Allen Roberts, of Moorestown, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Bushnell, of Central avenue.

Richard Mott Gummere and William C. Longstreth, of Haverford, Pa., who have been guests of Plainfield friends, have returned home.

Rev. Dr. A. C. McCrea, of Central avenue, who returned this week from a trip to Vermont and Maine, spent yesterday in Philadelphia on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sandford, of this city, were among the passengers sailing today on the North German Lloyd Liner "Prinzess Irene," from New York for Naples and Genoa.

Miss Vera Rockwell, of Brooklyn, who has been visiting at the home of Miss Blanche Heidloff, of East Front street, during Easter week, left Plainfield yesterday for a short visit with friends at Westfield before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Cutter, of Sandford avenue, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Walter Davis, impersonator, pianist and harpist, at dinner last night. Afterward they furnished the entertainment at the "ladies' night" affair at Trinity Reformed church, under the auspices of the "Dutch Arms" association of the church.

The Modern Heart.

"Monster, your heart is of stone!" shrieked the leady lady in "Tillie, the Tearful Threshing Machine Girl."

"No, indeed," scoffed the cold, cruel villian. "It is of reenforced concrete, which is just twenty-nine times as hard as common stone."

Then the Scene-in-a-Bavarian-Village curtain went down.

Changes in Rentals.

Edmund Rushmore, real estate broker, has made these rentals: W. L. Perrin, of Grove street, has taken the dwelling at 31 Mercer avenue. Mrs. W. C. Ashwell, of New York, has leased for two years the Isaac W. Rushmore property on West Seventh street, and John J. Swan, of Kenwood, Pa., has rented 1208 Watchung avenue.

Giving a Hint.

"Hallo, old chap, where are you off to?" said one man to another.

"I'm going over to the postoffice to make a complaint about the dilatory delivery."

"What's the trouble?"

"Why, that check you promised to send me ten days ago hasn't reached me yet."—Tit-Bits.

Facetious.

The office boy looked at the typewriter girl. She was quite pale.

"What's th' matter?" he asked.

"I've just had a bad spell," she answered.

"You ought to go to night school for that," said the horrid boy.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

TRINITY'S GRAND EFFORT

The Congregation Subscribes $1,013. for Support of Missionary in Arabia.

REV. DR. ZWEMER'S APPEAL.

Dr. Paul Wilberforce Harrison to Consecrate His Life For Christian Work Among the Pagans.

The members of Trinity Reformed church believing that they should assume a large share of responsibility for the evangelization of the world, especially in the foreign field, decided at the morning service yesterday to undertake the support of its own missionary in Arabia, by raising $700 for the first year. This action followed long and prayerful consideration. The plan was so successfully carried out that in all $1,013.00 was raised and pledged at the morning service. Of this amount $490 was pledged before the service, and the balance was announced at the close of a spirited and interesting sermon by Rev. Dr. S. M. Zwemer, representing the "Forward Movement."

The missionary who will be supported by Trinity church is Dr. Paul Wilberforce Harrison. He is a son of a Congregational minister, a graduate of Nebraska University, '05, and Johns Hopkins' Medical, '08. He is now in the Massachusetts General Hospital at Boston. He possesses an excellent knowledge of German and French and has a musical training. Although a member of the Congregational church, he approves the doctrine of the Reformed church. He is said to be one of the best candidates the Arabian Mission has ever received. He was appointed by the Board of Foreign Missions on January 26, 1909, and expects to leave for Arabia January, 1910, or November, 1909, if possible.

Prior to the morning service Dr. Zwemer met members of the Consistory and others in the church parlor and held a short conference of prayer over the matter to be presented. There was a unanimity on the part of all that it was the duty of the church to undertake this work.

Dr. Zwemer occupied the pulpit for the morning, preaching a strong missionary sermon, basing his remarks on Paul as a great missionary. "Our missionaries are not trying to convert the world," said Dr. Zwemer, "but their aim is to establish churches, lighthouses and centres of light. When they do that their work is finished; that's the end of foreign missions and at that point home mission work begins.

"The day for supporting mission work through mite-box contributions is past. You cannot evangelize the world that way. Paul's method was to contribute fifty-two weeks in the year. I am glad that this church has caught the vision of the forward movement. You have already seen its effect on the home church. It is now time for us to undertake this missionary enterprise as a man's work.

"We all know that the light that shines farthest shines the brightest at home and the more we do in the foreign field the more we will have to do with at home."

In closing his remarks, Dr. Zwemer took occasion to speak personally of Dr. Harrison, the candidate for support on the part of Trinity church.

"Dr. Paul Wilberforce Harrison has not won his spurs in the mission field," said Dr. Zwemer. "He is of a quiet, unassuming disposition, a splendid athlete and it was not until he found the hardest foreign mission field to work in that he announced his purpose. The Presbyterian and Congregational Boards had their eyes on him, but we succeeded in getting him and he has decided to go to Arabia. Dr. Harrison is not looking for a job, but a life work. I believe he could make more money by staying home and hanging out his shingle, but he is a Christian missionary and wants to

SAVES SMALL BOY FROM BEING DROWNED

Snatching four-year-old Levi Sherbeck struggling in a deep pit filled with water on South avenue Saturday afternoon, John G. Bickwell, of South avenue, saved the boy's life by dragging him from the water as he was going down for the last time. Levi was with a party of playmates of about his own age, but had it not been that Mr. Bicknell saw the little fellow fall in the water, he would have undoubtedly have been drowned. Those with him seemed to think his wetting a joke and stood cheering and clapping their hands on the bank of the pool while he was struggling for his life in the water.

The hole in which the little boy fell is one of two dug at the orders of Charles Hyde, who owns the lot at South avenue and Central street, and had taken that means of draining the property. Mr. Bicknell saw the children playing there Saturday afternoon and warned them to keep away from the holes, which are six feet across and about seven feet deep. The recent rains had filled them with water.

From his shop across the street, Mr. Bicknell saw the Sherbeck boy fall into the water shortly after he had warned the children. He rushed to his assistance and succeeded in dragging him out by the coat collar. After working over him for a short time, Mr. Bicknell succeeded in reviving the boy, and carried him home. The holes have been filled in

MISS F. E. SMALLEY BRIDE OF JOS. WINISKI

Miss Florence Edna Smalley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hoppock, of Scotch Plains, and Joseph Winiski, of this city, were married at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, pastor of the Baptist church, Scotch Plains, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white satin, trimmed with lace and carried a bouquet of roses. Her bridesmaid was Miss Helen Winiski, sister of the groom, who was also gowned in white. She carried a bouquet of white sweet peas. Edward Smalley, brother of the bride, was best man and Miss Blanche Smalley and Miss Lila Skillman, of Garwood, were maids of honor. They wore gowns of white material and carried bouquets of white sweet peas.

A reception followed the ceremony, during which congratulations were offered and supper was served. The home was attractively decorated in white and blue, favorite colors of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Winiski received a number of handsome and useful gifts. After a short wedding trip the couple will reside in this city.

MANY ATTEND INFORMAL DANCE AT PARK CLUB.

An informal dance was held at the Park Club, Saturday night, under the direction of the entertainment committee. There was a large gathering of young people and all enjoyed dancing until nearly midnight. Music was furnished by Mueller, of Brooklyn.

These informal dances will be a feature of the club life until early summer, following out the program planned by the committee in charge of the club entertainments.

Will Endow a Bed at Hospital.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., a May tea will be given at the home of Mrs. James P. Buckle, 59 Westervelt avenue, Saturday afternoon, May 1, from 3 to 6 o'clock. There will be a sale of useful articles, cake and home-made candy and a silver offering will be received. The proceeds will go toward a fund to endow a bed at Muhlenberg Hospital.

Major Casler to Lecture.

Major Casler, who has the oversight of the Salvation Army work in the State of New Jersey, will deliver an illustrated lecture entitled "Forty-four Years' Work of the Salvation Army." This will include the spiritual, rescue, slum and social work in this and other countries. The lecture will take place at the hall on East Second street on Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

Another Organ Recital.

William P. Dunn, organist at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will give an organ recital at the church, Friday night, assisted by James Stanley, of the church quartet. Cards of admission may be obtained by applying to members of the choir.

MOHAMMEDAN STRENGTH

Dr. Zwemer Addresses Trinity Congregation on Religion of Mahomet.

HAS 230,000,000 FOLLOWERS.

Mohammedanism Must Fall Before Christianity, Minister Declares.

Characterizing foreign mission work as Christian warfare and declaring that the Mohammedans are the strongest enemies of the Christian church today, Rev. Dr. S. M. Zwemer preached a powerful mission sermon in connection with the evening service at Trinity Reformed church, last night. Dr. Zwemer, who was for seven years a missionary of the Reformed church, Arabia, is a representative of the forward movement for missions.

The address dealt primarily with the efforts being made to convert the Mohammedan countries to Christ, after the powerful pagan religion has been built up, practically undisturbed by the influences of Christianity for thirteen centuries. Dr. Zwemer's text was taken from Luke 11:21-22: "When a strong man armed keepeth his palace, his goods are in peace; but when a stronger than he shall come upon him, and overcome him, he taketh from him all his armor wherein he trusteth, and divideth his spoils." The "strong man" is Mohammedanism, a religion stronger and of greater extent than any pagan religion. Its followers number 230,000,000, firmly established in Central Asia, Persia, Arabia, Siberia, Russia, India and Africa, and this immense force comprises the enemy's army, against which "The Church Militant" is now in conflict. So powerful is this pagan religion that its followers in these countries have wiped out Christianity, turned out Christ, and given many countries to the religion of Mahomet.

The speaker told how the Oriental countries in particular are steeped in the religion of Mahomet; the people's religion is carried out in its art, literature, politics and education, and is symbolized in the position of the buildings, (all facing Mecca), the coins, and the designs of rugs and tapestry. Its strength is accounted for by the fact that among Mohammedans there is no caste, no color line, but all worship together one god, believe in a life hereafter and in many of the Old Testament saints. "Both Catholics and Protestants have made no attempts to invade Mohammedan countries with the Christian doctrine," said Dr. Zwemer, "and it is only in recent years that Protestant missionaries have gone into these lands." Outlining its strength, the speaker went on to tell of the weak points of the religion—flaws in the Mohammedan doctrine which made Christianity welcome to the thinking Easterner. "Mohammedanism," he said, "is anti-Christian, and it is essentially militant. It is made strong by the sword, and we can see its power today in Turkey, where the Armenian Christians are being massacred by the Turks for their religion. Mohammedanism is hopeless, for although its followers believe in a life to come, they make no progress. Ninety-seven per cent. of the Mohammedans cannot even write their names. The people have no regard for the truth, and rights of womanhood and the liberties of the home are not tolerated in Mohammedan countries.

"It is a dirty religion, sensual and devilish," he continued, "for there are parts of the Koran that no decent man will read, and the literature of Mohammedan countries is, as a whole, unprintable, so vile and sensual is it. The religion holds up no ideals; its followers acknowledge that Mahomet sinned, and they cannot turn to the Koran for strength in times of temptation. It is a religion without spirituality."

Dr. Zwemer concluded his remarks with a powerful exhortation for volunteers for the mission field and for support of the missionaries. "The Mohammedan power is weakening," he said, "for God has divided the people and has given a piece of the great Mohammedan countries to each of the Christian nations. The warfare now on the part of missionaries uses the powerful weapon of love. The medical missions are a great help, and the Bible, printed in the various languages, is being freely distributed. The average Mohammedan cannot read his Koran, but welcomes the doctrines of the Bible and the education it brings. The European countries have been Christianized, and I believe that what God has done, God will do. You have sent reinforcements to the battle today, by your generous donations, and I tell you that Mohammedanism will fall before Christianity, 'the stronger man,' even though it be the last re-

CHILD LOSES ITS LIFE

Little Marcus Fitzgerald's Body Found in Cesspool Near Parents' Home.

WANDERED FROM THE HOUSE.

Searchers Discover the Body on Premises of John M. Hull—To Hold Funeral Tomorrow.

Head downward in the bottom of the cesspool in the rear of John M. Hull's house, 327 Clinton avenue, three-year-old Marcus A. Fitzgerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzgerald, of Clinton place, was found dead yesterday afternoon at about 5 o'clock, after being missing from his home since 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The child's body was discovered by Edward Marshall and Eugene Hess, neighbors of the Fitzgeralds. County Physician Westcott was summoned and it was declared that death was caused by suffocation.

The little boy was missed by his parents at about noon, and his absence was reported to the police. A search was instituted after the boy had been gone for several hours, and Edward Marshall and Eugene Hess, two of the searchers, saw that some boards had been taken from the cesspool in the rear of John M. Hull's house, and on looking down, discovered the missing child, head downward, at the bottom. The cesspool is about eight feet deep, but is narrow at the bottom. It was filled for about two feet. It is believed that the child had been dead for several hours when the body was discovered.

The funeral service will be held at the home of the parents, 1214 Clinton avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The interment will be at St. Mary's cemetery.

MISS AIMEE L. EMMONS BRIDE OF R. T. PHILLIPS

Miss Aimee Louise Emmons, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Emmons, of Prospect place, the borough, and Royal T. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy F. Phillips, of Madison avenue, were married Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, of which the bride is a member, performed the ceremony in the presence of about seventy-five relatives and friends.

The bride, who was unattended, was gowned in white messaline, with pearl and bugle trimmings, and she carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. She was given in marriage by her father. The best man was Herbert Margerum, of Trenton.

As the bridal party entered the parlor, where the ceremony was performed, the Mendelssohn Wedding March was played on the piano by Miss Myra Emmons, a sister of the bride. Music for the reception which followed the ceremony was furnished by Miss Mabel Maxson, pianist, and Arthur Mosher, violinist.

The home was attractively decorated for the affair, wisteria being used generally throughout the rooms, while in addition there was a pleasing arrangement of palms and Easter lilies in a large bay window.

After the ceremony congratulations were received and supper was served. Later in the evening the couple left the city for a two weeks' wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside at West Front street and West End avenue. The bride is well and favorably known here and enjoys a large acquaintance, as does also the groom. The latter is employed by Minott, Hooper & Co., commission merchants of New York.

Among the guests presents were friends from New York, Asbury Park, Trenton and this city.

All Drivers Must Have a License.

The amended hack ordinance passed on second reading by the Common Council last Friday night, provides that all drivers of cabs, motors or otherwise shall pay a license fee of $1, in addition to the license required by the owners, which in the case of taxicabs is $10 and $5 for horse-drawn vehicles.

Dr. Zelie at Amherst.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, preached at Amherst College, yesterday, and his pulpit was occupied by Rev. Dr. George W. Knox, a professor at Union Theological Seminary.

JERSEY CENTRAL WRECK

Many are Injured in Rear-end Passenger Collision at Communipaw.

CAUSED BY THE HEAVY FOG.

Engineer Says He Could Not See Signals—No Fatalities Are Expected.

A heavy fog obscuring the signals was responsible for a rear-end collision of two passenger trains at the Communipaw station of the New Jersey Central at 6:30 o'clock this morning. The trains were damaged to some extent and several passengers were slightly injured. No fatalities resulted. A report gained circulation that five passengers were killed and that the accident was one of the worst in the history of the road, but later this was found to be incorrect.

The trains figuring in the wreck were the Roselle local, westbound, which had stopped at the Communipaw station, and a Newark local, also westbound. At the time the fog was very heavy, the engineer being unable to see the signals. The Newark train was travelling at a fair rate of speed when it crashed into the rear of the train bound for Roselle.

The engine of the Newark train was disabled, and the rear car of the Roselle train was put out of commission. Fortunately, no passengers were in the rear of the last car, but those in the front end, as well as those in other parts of the train were given a lively shaking up for a few minutes.

The following are the injured now in the hospitals in Jersey City:

Charles Echtman, 674 Humboldt avenue, Brooklyn, severe cuts about head and body.

William Donnelly, conductor, injuries not yet known.

O. Hance, 227 Whiton street, Jersey City, fireman, bruises and lacerations, face, hands and body.

C. Paolello, 144 Classon avenue, Brooklyn, injuries unknown.

C. H. Behrens, scalp wounds, possible injury to skull, now unconscious.

Stanley Godfrey, West Fifteenth street, Manhattan, fractured leg, possible fractured skull, lacerated scalp.

About the same time an empty passenger train standing near Communipaw, was struck by the engine attached to a pay car and the rear coach was damaged considerable. No one was severely injured.

EAST END ITALIAN FIGHTER GETS TWENTY-DAY SENTENCE.

Joe Paredizo, mauled and scratched as the result of a street encounter, last night, was given a twenty-day sentence by City Judge Runyon today as the instigator of trouble which led to a rough and tumble fight on Richmond street with an Italian from Milburn. He took the "days" rather than pay the five-dollar fine imposed.

Paredizo tried to put the blame for a slight stab wound in the arm on Joe Vinciguina, of East Third street, who was arrested with him by Patrolman Kelley. Joe V.'s brother, however, proved that the man had taken no part in the fight, and said that Joe P. was too drunk at the time to know that the Milburn man, who went away on a trolley car, was the one who had stabbed him. The fight is alleged to have started when the Milburn man told Joe V. that Joe P. was a "bad man."

Repeated Easter Music.

The choir of the First Baptist church repeated its Easter music, last night, before a large congregation. The program included four anthems, all of which were well rendered, the solo parts by Miss Louella C. Harris, soprano; Miss Gertrude Hinz, contralto; William Holmes, bass, and George Smith, tenor, being especially effective. A feature was a duet part by Mr. Holmes and Mr. Smith. Howard M. Case presided at the organ.

Attending D. A. R. Congress.

Miss Anna C. Todd, of Dunellen, accompanied by Mrs. W. J. Taylor, of Orange, is representing Middlebrook Chapter, D. A. R., at the sessions of the National Congress being held in Washington. Saturday afternoon she attended a reception at the Hotel Willard given by Mrs. J. S. Sherman, wife of the Vice President and she also attended a reception at the same place in the evening given for Congress officers.

Announce Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving A. Crandall, of Leonardsville, N. Y., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Blanche Margaret Crandall, to Charles P. Cumberson, of this city. No date has been set for the wedding.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY ON SPEAK-EASY CHARGE

Raiding the Plainfield Dairy Lunch, of East Front street, Saturday night at about 8 o'clock, the police found a man and a woman drinking beer in the back room of the place and arrested the proprietors, Gifford and LeGrande Beers, in the restaurant. The men were taken to police headquarters. They waived examination before Mayor Fisk and County Prosecutor Walter L. Heafield, Jr., and were held for the grand jury on $200 bail apiece, which was furnished. The lunch-room was reopened at about 9:30 o'clock. Robert N. Crane represents the defendants.

The man and the woman found drinking in the back room were not held, but will probably appear as witnesses at the trial. The police refuse to give out their names.

Planned by Chief Kiely, the raid was conducted without a hitch. Sergeant Overbaugh, with Patrolman Maurice Higgins went to the restaurant at about 8 o'clock, and the patrolman entered the back door as the sergeant went into the restaurant. Having bagged their prisoners, the officers summoned the patrol wagon and took the Beers (men), to the police station, along with the beers (booze), found in a case in the back room. A thorough search of the lunch room failed to reveal any other liquor in the place.

The appearance of the patrol wagon caused a crowd of several thousand Saturday night pedestrians to gather and the street was blocked by the crowd.

ALLEGED THAT BOYS HAD ANNOYED HIM

Upon the complaint of Charles Remsen, of Manning avenue, five members of a "town gang" of boys in their 'teens were at police court today, when Remsen declared that they make a practise of jeering at him and calling him names while he is on his way to and from church. The boys were John Stewart, aged 18, of East Third street; Theodore Mandell, 17, of Manson place; Louis Cahill, 17, of West Second street; George Hook, 16, and Michael Comisky, 16, of Walnut street. The culprits were arrested by Patrolmen Nolan and Vanderweg.

Judge Runyon learned that Remsen had been annoyed by the boys Sunday night on his way to church and therefore had caused their arrest. Each of the defendants declared that he was "not guilty." Several said that they had never seen Remsen before. The Judge could prove nothing by his questioning, but took occasion to give the boys a severe lecture about respect due their elders. He said that any more complaints would result in fines.

STONE-THROWER WRECKS SURVEYING INSTRUMENT.

Arrested for damaging a transit instrument belonging to the city by a luck shot with a stone, a South Plainfield boy was sentenced by City Judge Runyon to pay the cost of repairing the instrument at the city court today. The complaint was made by Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett.

Ray Bouham, one of the city surveyors, told the court that the boy had struck the instrument with a piece of macadam stone, hurled from the wagon in which he was riding at Park and Belleview avenues, Friday afternoon. He telephoned to Thomas Brantingham's stables and had the boy arrested. The culprit said that he had been throwing stones at various objects along the road, and took a long shot on the transit instrument, which was standing some distance from the road.

The transit is valued at $250, and it is said will need a thorough readjustment.

Ignored Summons.

Charles Halloway, colored, who drives an ash cart in the borough for Spencer Conway, also colored, was summoned by Marshal Weiss to appear before Recorder Dolliver on Saturday. Conway, it was found, had never obtained a license for his driver, and besides his cart was not in fit condition for such work. As neither Conway nor Halloway paid any attention to the summons, Marshal Weiss has taken steps to insure their appearance tonight.

Business Prospects Bright.

Thomas Moore, of Millville, has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. Charles F. Dayton, of East Sixth street. Mr. Moore is connected with one of the large glass factories at Millville, and he says that the outlook for his business is bright and believes that in a short time the factories there will resume with a full force of men on the regular schedule.

ELWYN MAKES STATEMENT

Victim Still in Precarious Condition Cannot Describe His Assailant.

STRUCK TWICE WITH AN AXE.

Aged Junkman Says $26 Was Taken From His Person—Working On Clues.

George Elwyn, the aged Watchung junkman whose skull was fractured with an axe by an unknown assailant last Tuesday night, spoke yesterday about the attack for the first time since his removal to the hospital. He said that $26 was taken from him by the assailant, of whom he can give no description. Questioned patiently, he seemed to become less dazed and said that he had been struck twice with the axe before he lost consciousness. The tool, he said, belonged to him, and was always kept hanging just inside the stable door.

When asked how he reached the Bartle home, where he was found unconscious at the door, the old man said that he did not know, for he had no memory of anything after the second blow with the axe. He said that he had made a large bank deposit in the afternoon, but had taken the $26 home with him the night he was attacked. Questioned about further details, the old man refused to talk, and seemed to become dazed again. The injured man could make no statement to Somerset County Prosecutor Reger, of Somerville, who went to the hospital Saturday afternoon with Freeholder William Demler, of Watchung.

The finding of a canvas money pouch, a pocketbook and a fur cap yesterday afternoon by Edward Canning and John Gunn, two neighbors of Elwyn, may furnish a clue to the Somerset county detectives who are at work on the mystery. The two men started out in an effort to find some clue to the assailant's identity or his course after making the assault. On a path leading to Elwyn's shack from the new county road now in course of construction between Watchung and Stirling, the two found a heavy stake, and a little further along they discovered the canvas money pouch. Further up the road, a pocketbook was found, near the Underhill farm. It is believed that these two articles were discarded by the assailant, and bears out the story that Elwyn was robbed of considerable money. A fur cap, found by the two near the ice pond, is generally believed to be in no way connected with the case.

At the hospital today, it was said that the injured man's condition was about the same as on Saturday. There is but slight hope for his recovery. He is in a stupor much of the time.

PARK COMMISSIONERS VIEW PROPOSED SITE.

The borough park commissioners, George T. Rogers, Robert Clark, Jr., and H. A. Bonn, together with Mayor Samuel Townsend and J. Lawrence Davis, of the Plainfield Park Association, met yesterday afternoon to look over the site where the proposed park may be located. The commissioners expressed themselves as well pleased with the project and said that at the next meeting they would have a favorable report to make the Council.

The commissioners were interested in the artificial lake scheme, and upon being shown what the prospects were for such a neat body of water, where boating could be had, they were more than pleased.

Minstrel Show at Hope Chapel.

A minstrel entertainment will be held at Hope chapel, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights, April 27, 28 and 30, under the direction of Judge William N. Runyon. The entertainment will be held in the old part of the chapel. Rehearsals are being held frequently and the minstrels promise to be equally as successful as those of the past.

TO BUILD $1,000,000. THEATRE IN NEWARK

F. F. Proctor, who has for many years been a familiar figure in the theatrical world, has completed arrangements for the construction of a million dollar theatre in Newark, which, according to the plans, will be one of the finest in the country. Mr. Proctor has purchased a large plot of ground at 114-116 Market street, Newark, where the new playhouse will be erected.

The new theatre will have for one of its features a roof garden, which can be used in either clear or stormy weather, and the main floor will seat one thousand persons. In the centre of the roof garden there will be a real lake of water. In the construction of the building heavy steel girders will be used to support the various tiers, doing away entirely with columns, posts and all usual obstacles. There will be used 2,500 electric lights to illuminate the theatre.

The stage will be of unusual capacity, making it possible to present anything from vaudeville to grand opera. Large commodious elevators will be installed to carry patrons from the first floor to any part of the building, which will be five stories in height. The general architecture will follow the ideas originally incorporated at Proctor's theatre, Fifty-eighth street and Lexington avenue, New York, which, when built seven years ago, was pronounced to be at least twenty years ahead of the times.

Mr. Proctor was born in Baxter, Maine, fifty-seven years ago, and at the age of sixteen entered the theatrical field. His success is well-known as he prospered almost from the beginning, and today is one of the most formidable factors in the theatrical world, controlling personally over twenty of the best vaudeville theatres in the East and having a booking affiliation with over 200 theatres located both East and West.

Rahway to Have Eagle Aerie.

Rahway Aerie of Eagles will be instituted on Wednesday night, April 28, in Silver's Opera House. Invitations have been sent to the various aeries of the State, and it is expected that over 500 members of the order will attend, among whom will be a delegation from Plainfield aerie.

Grace Mission Supper.

The congregation of Grace Mission will hold its first annual supper in Grace church parish house tomorrow evening. There will be an apron sale during the afternoon. Friends of the mission are welcome.

ON GENUINE CHRISTIANITY

Deeds, not Words, Seven Days in the Week Count Says William D. Murray.

GOOD EXAMPLE IMPORTANT.

Every Man's Life Is a Plan of God, He Reiterates at Y. P. A. Meeting.

"A Christian Seven Days in the Week," was the subject of an interesting talk given by Wiliam D. Murray at the First Baptist church last night, under the auspices of the Young People's Association, and during the course of his remarks, he presented some pointed facts, with a view to showing that, not words, but acts count. He said that a man's example must be above reproach not only on Sunday, but every day in the week.

"The other day while in New York I went into a restaurant for lunch," said Mr. Murray, "and I had just taken a seat when another Plainfield man, a Sunday-school teacher, walked in for lunch. The first thing he did was to order a whiskey. Now, I do not think that was a good example.

"I remember hearing a good Bishop say 'I believe if God has any further revelation to make to the world it will be through a bishop,' but I know of a number of instances where God has spoken to the world through others than bishops. There were Moody, Gypsy Smith and other evangelists.

"I am one of those that believe that the Christian ministry is a little higher than the throne and I wish that the strongest men in our colleges could be induced to go into the ministry. I firmly believe in the words of Horace Bushnell, who said 'every man's life is a plan of God.' Two Christian business men told me the other day that according to present day methods a man cannot do business and be honest, and when I took exception to the statement they declared that I was looking at the question from the outside. It is just this sort of thing that hurts religion and the cause of Christ as well as His church.

"When I was asked to speak on the topic assigned me I was inclined to hesitate, because for forty-two years I have been walking up and down the streets of the city and I realize that it is not what a man says but does that count. Acts are always remembered and it is our first duty to see that our lives are like an open book."

For Joint Celebration.

A movement is on foot in the borough for a joint celebration of both city and borough to take place in July when Plainfield celebrates the fortieth anniversary of the granting of the city charter. At the time North Plainfield will have been a borough twenty-five years and it is believed that an observance of that event will add greatly to the interest of the one undertaken in the city. This is the suggestion of Mayor Townsend, who greatly favors such celebration. The matter will be referred to the Borough Council at its next meeting.

Frederick N. Brown.

Frederick N. Brown died at his home in Elizabeth Saturday. For a number of years he lived in Duer street, North Plainfield. During the time the borough owned its electric plant, Mr. Brown was the chief engineer. He went to Elizabeth about five years ago. The funeral will take place from the parlors of A. M. Runyon and Son at 8 o'clock tonight. Rev. O. J. Shoop will officiate. Interment will take place in Hillside cemetery.

Blaney Weds Miss Spooner.

It became known Saturday that Charles E. Blaney, the well-known producer of thrilling melodramas, has been married to Miss Cecil Spooner, star of the Spooner Stock Company, which has been touring the South. The couple were married in January at Bowling Green, Ky. Mr. Blaney was divorced several months ago by a New York court.

Locked in the Wrong Place.

In the hall there was paint that was fresh, and when through
The passage Belle walked, her white dress changed to blue.
"Why didn't," she cried, in a voice of complaint,
"That sign read, 'Look in!' not, 'Look out for the paint!'"

Mrs. Sarah Angleman.

Mrs. Sarah Angleman, of 103 Central avenue, died this morning after a lingering illness. Funeral arrangements have not been completed as yet. Mrs. Angleman was the mother of Rev. George Angleman, pastor of the Browne Memorial M. E. church, Jersey City.

—The foundation for F. A. Martin's bungalow on Johnston's drive is completed and the structure will be finished within a few weeks.

undertake that work.

"I am told that he has mastered German and French to such an extent that he translated those languages into English for the faculty in college. I am sure you will love him for his quiet, unassuming manner. In looking for a possible weakness we did find one and that is that he will work so hard and burn the candle at both ends that he is likely to work himself to death. Give Dr. Harrison twenty years in Arabia and I am sure we will show you a missionary worthy of a great work.

"It is a great thing for this Plainfield church to have its own representative on the mission field and if the 700 churches in our denomination should take up a similar work we could treble our effort for the forward movement. I congratulate you on your decision and plan of work. Dr. Harrison has appointed himself to a pioneer work in Arabia and being a medical missionary will be able to do it. There is something significant in his name, that being the name of men prominent in the world's affairs. Dr. Harrison was asked if he could write the Gospel of Christ in four words and he said he could. He did so by writing down the words, "Admit, Submit, Commit and Transmit.'

"Don't support Dr. Harrison merely with your gifts. Write him a loving letter at least once a year and always remember him in your prayers."

Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of the church, then supplimented Dr. Zwemer's remarks, by giving a brief review of the history of the movement to send Dr. Harrison to the mission field, which started with a sermon preached in the church last January by Dr. Zwemer, and later was presented to the Consistory by himself. He said that the decision to support Dr. Harrison only obligated the church for one year and if it did not want to continue the work it could then be dropped.

However, judging by the response the chances are strongly in favor of a continuance. Pastor Broek then caled for the pledges of the different societies, the responses being as follows:

Robert Clark, Jr., for the Consistory, $125; Superintendent F. E. Smith for the Sunday-school, $200; Mrs. Henry Van Name for the Home department of the Sunday-school, $75; Christian Endeavor Society, $50; Junior C. E. Society, $15; Boys' Mission Band, $25; Young Women's Mission Band, $40; Marconnier chapel, $10; making a total of $490, and leaving a balance of $210 to be raised. Dr. Zwemer then announced that he would give the last $10 of the amount to be raised. Slips distributed in the pews afforded all present an opportunity to subscribe to the fund and when these were collected it was found that a total of $1,013.00 had been pledged, while only $700 was needed. The announcement by Pastor Broek visibly affected Dr. Zwemer and brought tears of joy to his eyes. At the suggestion of Mr. Broek the congregation all joined heartily in singing "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow." At the close of the service there was evidenced great rejoicing on the part of pastor, people and Dr. Zwemer for the noble demonstration of self-sacrifice, making it possible to accomplish the proposed object.

ligion in the world to hold out against the teachings of Christ."

At the conclusion of Dr. Zwemer's address, Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of the church, spoke of the liberal donation for missions by the congregation at the morning service, and conveyed a statement of gratification from the pastor-emeritus of the church, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, upon the large amount pledged.

The subject will be "Women's Work for the Alien Women." The leaders will be Mrs. B. F. Hadley, Miss Marion Hull, while Mrs. Lewis C. Meeker will have charge of the devotional exercises.

Celebrates Tenth Anniversary.

The East Trenton Presbyterian church, of which Rev. Fred B. Newman, formerly of this city, is pastor, celebrated its tenth anniversary as an independent church yesterday and special services were held in celebration of the event. During Pastor Newman's time at the church there has been raised over $20,000 for the support of the church and over $3,000 for benevolence. There is a Sunday-school of over 500 and a church congregation of about 400.

Office Hours: From 9 A. M. until 4 P. M.

We manufacture a pair of glasses as low as $1 with a 10-year gold filled frame.

There is no one today in the United States who fits the eyes the same as we do. If you have ever been fitted to glasses by others, you understand what the test is—how you have to read the letters and tell the optician what you want. We do not fit that way, but take the exact measurements of the eye from the pupil without using any drops, nor do we ask any question or use test cards hung on the wall.

Don't Suffer with Headaches.

We have produced astonishing results from brain fag, nervous debility, insomnia, dizziness, nausea, watery eyes, blurry vision and other troubles caused by eye-strain.

We have corrected by the use of glasses cross-eyes and astigmatism by our scientific method.

GOVERNOR TO SIGN ALL AUTOMOBILE MEASURES

What is expected to be a new era in automobile driving in New Jersey will be inaugurated this week when Governor John F. Fort expects to sign the various measures introduced by Senator Frelinghuysen, of Somerset county, passed by the Legislature.

"If the measures are what I think they are," said Governor Fort at his East Orange home, No. 51 Arlington avenue, north, yesterday afternoon, "they will all be signed."

The Governor said he had signed sixty-three bills altogether of the 150 measures which were hurried through on the last official day of the session and he will examine with particular care the last hour legislation which went through under unusual conditions.

The automobile laws will compel road driving requirements which the police of the Governor's home city have enforced for several years, that requiring all vehicles to carry a light of reasonable size after dark. While there has been complaint of frequent accidents at night, the automobilists who figured in collisions frequently asserted that the absence of an illumination on horse propelled vehicles caused confusion and led to damaging collisions.

Another measure which the Governor says he will make law by signing is the act calling for an interstate touring privilege. This measure will be held over until Wednesday, however, to give J. B. R. Smith, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles of the State, time to prepare needed stationery. This question of touring has been of more than usual intrest, as the proximity of the Oranges to New York ferries resulted in many automobile parties traveling frequently to New York and the Oranges and cities to the west every day. The police have often been compelled to stop travelers who failed to make hasty changes of number signs as their cars left one State to enter another.

Other measures that will affect seriously the old laws regulaing automobiles include bills making it a misdemeanor to drive a car without getting first the owner's consent; to drive while intoxicated, or for a bet, or to break a speed record, or to propel a vehicle after having a license revoked; for failure to display registration numbers or falsity in using such numbers. In addition non-residents may go into New Jersey for eight consecutive days or four periods of two days each within a year, for a one dollar certificate. Numbers are to be no longer required on lamps at night. Cars may go twenty-five miles an hour in the country and justice of the peace fees are reduced from the figures that made the arrest of automobilists lucrative pastime for country constables.

Additional assistants are also to be allowed the Commissioner of Roads and another measure releases $300,000 collected for fines, licenses, fees, &c., for use in road work. The laws to into effect when signed.

UNION'S VETERAN EDITOR FOUR SCORE AND TEN

Josephus Shann yesterday celebrated his ninetieth birthday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Apollas Potter, in Rahway. The members of the Rahway Common Council and many city officials, besides scores of Mr. Shann's personal friends, visited him and paid their respects to the "Grand Old Man," who is greatly respected by all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance. Mr. Shann, notwithstanding his age, has a remarkable faculty for remembering names and places, and is thoroughly familiar with current topics and politics of the day. He is a brilliant conversationalist.

Mr. Shann was born at Bloomfield, Essex county, April 18, 1818. He spent several years respectively at North Branch, Rocky Hill, Somerville, Philadelphia and Flemington, at which latter place he founded the Hunterdon Democrat. In 1840 Mr. Shann went to Rahway and started the Democrat Republican, which he conducted until 1865, when he sold it to the present owner, Lewis S. Hyer. It is now the Union Democrat.

Under President Tyler Mr. Shann was made postmaster of Rahway, and was reappointed by President James K. Polk. He resigned the position in 1850. He was elected a member of the Legislature in 1851 and re-elected in 1852. In 1859 he was elected a member of the Rahway Common Council and several years. He also served as member of the Board of Chosen Freeholders and as justice of the peace. In fact, he has held almost every office in Rahway.

Small Fire in Borough.

A small fire occurred in the barn in the rear of the borough police headquarters about 11:45 this morning. It is thought the blaze was started by sparks from a bonfire. It took the fire department but a few minutes to extinguish the flames. The barn was used as a stable by Thomas McGann, of Lincoln place.

Washington Rock

By Oliver B. Leonard

Just after the memorial battles of Trenton and Princeton the American forces marched into Somerset county and rested a few days at Pluckamin. The seventh of January, 1777, they moved on and encamped in the hills about Morristown. Here the little army remained till the latter part of the spring of that year.

The British had occupied New Brunswick in December of '76, making that city and Amboy their headquarters till July of '77.

To effectually check their movements towards Pennsylvania, Washington transferred his camp from Morristown, May 24, 1777, and pitched his tents on the Middlebrook Heights near Bound Brook. This was a stragetic site overlooking the country for many miles and commanding the road from New York via New Brunswick to Philadelphia, where Congress was in session and which the enemy desired to capture.

The British in several skirmishes and extended feints during the latter half of June, '77, failing to bring the Americans to a general action, retired from his encampments along the Raritan river and withdrew from Jersey. Outgeneralled by Washington, the intruders embarked and started around by sea to reach the Quaker City. As soon as they sailed out of Sandy Hook, which Washington could see from the mountain heights, the American forces were put in motion for the defence of Philadelphia by way of Coriell's ferry over the Delaware river.

During the various manoeuverings of the British, our commander-in-chief is said to have made his first memorable visit to the famous rock which bears his name. The far-reaching view from this eminence has always been the most extended along the brow of the mountain. A distance of about fifty miles was within the range of observation, reaching from New York bay on the northeast to the high land on the southeast in the direction of Princeton.

Cantonments of our army had been judiciously formed in the Watchung mountains immediately following the disaster to our forces at White Plains. At certain intervals between Peekskill on the Hudson and Trenton on the Delaware these encampments were established. The chain of hills afforded secure retreat to the Americans, and rendered difficult and dangerous any approach which the British might think of making from the seacoast.

Washington and his officers frequently traveled these highways and tradition assures us that very often the great general visited the Rock for purposes of reconnoitering the enemy and watching his own skirmishing parties sent out to harass the invaders.

After the battle of Monmouth, June 28, 1778, Washington again betook his little army to the hills and re-occupied his secure retreat and old fortified camping ground at Middlebrook. He was here during the winter of 1778 and '79, at which time he made the Wallace house his headquarters, not finding any other building in the vicinity of the camp large enough for the purpose of entertaining his officers and their wives.

On the different occasions mentioned and probably many other times the rocky prominence was visited by the commander-in-chief for observation of his own and the enemies forces.

To memorialize and localize these historical events there was organized in Plainfield in 1867 the "Washington Rock Monument and Historical Association." A plot of ground on the brow of the mountain consisting of several acres and including the distinguished rock was deeded to the society. From some flaw in the title or incumbrance on the property satisfactory possession was not obtained. The land at that time, as the writer remembers, was owned by Mr. James M. Frazee. In examining the title it was found that the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company held a mortgage on quite an extensive mountain tract including the famous rock. The mortgagees could not be induced to give a release of the plot deeded and in this way no reliable title was obtained.

The association was publicly organized in the old First Baptist church, February 22, 1867. Through the efforts of Hon. Enos W. Runyon, our member of the State Legislature, an act of incorporation was passed April 11, 1867. On the Fourth of July following the cornerstone of a projected monument was laid a few feet from the rock, and about $500 had been subscribed towards expenses.

The first annual meeting of the Historical Association was held Feb. 22, 1868, and a full list of officers elected, all of whom are now deceased except the corresponding secretary, John H. Van Winkle, Esq.

A poem of about one hundred lines was written by Mr. Ellis Ayres at the time, the first three stanzas of which are here transcribed:

Washington Rock.

I have climbed the mountain summit,
I am standing on its brow;
On this hallowed spot and sacred
Which my feet are pressing now
Stood a warrior and chieftain—
One whose proudly honored name,
Is the brightest jewel gleaming
In the coronal of fame.

Here, in years long since departed
To the mist-realms of the past,
Stood the Hero, noble hearted,
Mailed in armor, girded fast;
Watching here when danger threatened
From this cliff-tower mantling high
He upon his country's foeman
Calmly bent his eagle eye.

Here, when clouds of war and carnage
Densely shrouded freedom's morn,
Stood the patriotic Father
Of a nation newly born,
He whose faith could never falter,
He the brave, the true and good,
Consecrated this Rock-altar,
In this mountain solitude.

Don't Be A Furnace Slave

The BOYNTON Square Fire-Pot FURNACE

PATENTED

reverses the usual order of furnace facts. It requires the least amount of fuel and the least amount of care. In return it gives the biggest, hottest fire you ever knew; a clean, clinkerless fire. It burns all the coal and when you shake it all the dust goes up the chimney. BOYNTON furnaces are clean. They give the maximum of heat for a minimum of expense. We will gladly give you the name of the nearest BOYNTON dealer, so that you may investigate.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

POLLY of the CIRCUS

By MARGARET MAYO

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead and Company

CHAPTER XI.

"I'S goin' into de Sunday school room to take off dat 'ere widow's finishin' touches," said Mandy as she came down the steps.

"All right!" called Douglas. "Take these with you. Perhaps they may help." He gathered up the garlands which Polly had left on the ground. His eyes were shining. He looked younger than Mandy had ever seen him.

Polly had turned her back at the sound of Mandy's voice and crossed to the elm tree, drying her tears of happiness and trying to control her newly awakened emotions. Douglas felt intuitively that she needed this moment for recovery, so he piled the leaves and garlands high in Mandy's arms, then ran into the house with the light step of a boy.

"I got the set—sit—settin' room all tidied up," said Mandy as she shot a sly glance at Polly.

"That's good," Polly answered, facing Mandy at last and dimpling and blushing guiltily.

"Mos' de sociable folks will mos' likely be hangin' roun' de parsonage tonight, 'stead ob stayin' in de Sunday school room, whar dey belongs. Las' time dat 'ere Widow Willoughby done set roun' all ebenin' a-tellin' de parson as how folks could jes' eat off'n her kitchen floor, an' I ups an' tells her as how folks could pick up a good squar' meal off'n Mandy's floor too. Guess she'll be mighty careful what she says afore Mandy tonight." She chuckled as she disappeared down the walk to the Sunday school room.

Polly stood motionless where Mandy had left her. She hardly knew which way to turn. She was happy, yet afraid. She felt like sinking upon her knees and begging God to be good to her, to help her. She who had once been so independent, so self reliant, now felt the need of direction from above. She was no longer master of her own soul. Something had gone from her, something that would never, never come again. While she hesitated Hasty came through the gate, looking anxiously over his shoulder.

"Well, Hasty?" she said, for it was apparent that Hasty had something important on his mind.

"It's de big one from de circus," he whispered excitedly.

"The big one?"

"You know—de one what brung you."

"You don't mean"— Polly's question was answered by Jim himself, who had followed Hasty quickly through the gate. Their arms were instantly about each other. Jim forgot Hasty and every one in the world except Polly, and neither of them noticed the horrified Miss Perkins and the Widow Willoughby, who had been crossing the yard on their way from the Sunday school room with Julia.

"You're just as big as ever," said Polly when she could let go of Jim long enough to look at him. "You haven't changed a bit."

"You've changed enough for both of us." He looked at the unfamiliar long skirts and the new way of doing her hair. "You're bigger, Poll, more grown-up like."

"Oh, Jim!" She glanced admiringly at the new brown suit, the rather startling tie and the neat little posy in Jim's buttonhole.

"The fellows said I'd have to slick up a bit if I was a-comin' to see you, so as not to make you ashamed of me. Do you like 'em?" he asked, looking down approvingly at his new brown clothes.

"Very much." For the first time Jim noticed the unfamiliar manner of her speech. He began to feel self conscious. A year ago she would have said "You bet!" He looked at her awkwardly. She hurried on: "Hasty told me you were showing in Wakefield. I knew you'd come to see me. How's Barker and all the boys?" She stopped with a catch in her throat and added more slowly, "I suppose everything's different now that Toby is gone."

"He'd 'a' liked to seen you afore he cashed in," Jim answered, "but maybe it was just as well he didn't. You'd hardly 'a' knowed him toward the last, he got so thin an' peeked like. He wasn't the same after we lost you—nobody was, not even Bingo."

"Have you still got Bingo?" she asked, through her tears.

"Yep, we got him," drawled Jim, "but he ain't much good no more. None of the other riders can get used to his gait like you was. There ain't nobody with the show what can touch you ridin'; there never will be. Say, mebbe you think Barker won't let out a yell when he sees you comin' back." Jim was jubilant now, and he let out a little yell of his own at the mere thought of her return. He was too excited to notice the look on Polly's face. "Toby had a notion before he died that you was never a-comin' back, but I told him I'd change all that once I seen you, an' when Barker sent me over here today to look arter the advertisin' he said he guessed you'd had all you wanted o' church folks. 'Jes' you bring her along to Wakefield,' he said, 'an' tell her that her place is waitin' for her,' an' I will too." He turned upon Polly with sudden decision, "Why, I feel jes' like pickin' you up in my arms an' carryin' you right off now."

"Wait, Jim!" She put one tiny hand on his arm to restrain him.

"I don't mean—not—today—mebbe," he stammered uncertainly, "but we'll be back here a-showin' next month."

"Don't look at me now," Polly answered as the doglike eyes searched her face, "because I have to say something that is going to hurt you, Jim."

"You're comin', ain't you, Poll?" The big face was wrinkled and careworn with trouble.

"No, Jim," she replied in a tone so low that he could scarcely hear her.

"You mean that you ain't never comin' back?" He tried to realize what such a decision might mean to him.

"No, Jim," she answered tenderly, for she dreaded the pain that she must cause the great, good hearted fellow. "You mustn't care like that," she pleaded, seeing the blank desolation that had come into his face. "It isn't because I don't love you just the same, and it was good of Barker to keep my place for me, but I can't go back."

He turned away. She clung to the rough brown sleeve. "Why, Jim, when I lie in my little room up there at night"—she glanced toward the window above them—"and everything is peaceful and still I think how it used to be in the old days, the awful noise and the rush of it all, the cheerless wagons, the mob in the tent, the ring with its blazing lights, the whirling round and round on Bingo and the hoops, always the hoops, till my head got dizzy and my eyes all dim, and then the hurry after the show, and the heat and the dust or the mud and the rain, and the rumble of the wheels in the plains at night, and the shrieks of the animals, and then the parade, the awful, awful parade, and I riding through the streets in tights, Jim—tights!" She covered her face to shut out the memory. "I couldn't go back to it, Jim! I just couldn't!" She turned away, her face still hidden in her hands. He looked at her a long while in silence.

"I didn't know how you'd come to feel about it," he said doggedly.

"You aren't angry, Jim?" She turned to him anxiously, her eyes pleading for his forgiveness.

"Angry?" he echoed, almost bitterly. "I guess it couldn't ever come to that atween you an' me. I'll be all right." He shrugged his great shoulders. "It's just kinder sudden, that's all. You see, I never figured on givin' you up, an' when you said you wasn't comin' back it kinder seemed as though I couldn't see nothin' all my life but long, dusty roads an' nobody in 'em. But it's all right now, an' I'll just be gettin' along to the wagon."

"But, Jim, you haven't seen Mr. Douglas," Polly protested, trying to keep him with her until she could think of some way to comfort him.

"I'll look in on him comin' back," said Jim, anxious to be alone with his disappointment. He was out of the gate before she could stop him.

"Hurry back, won't you, Jim? I'll be waiting for you." She watched him going quickly down the road, his fists thrust into his brown coat pockets and his hat pulled over his eyes. He did not look back, as he used to do, to wave a parting farewell, and she turned toward the house with a troubled heart. She had reached the lower step when Strong and Elverson approached her from the direction of the church.

"Was that feller here to take you back to the circus?" demanded Strong.

She opened her lips to reply, but before she could speak Strong assured her that the congregation wouldn't do anything to stop her if she wished to go. He saw the blank look on her face. "We ain't tryin' to pry into none of your private affairs," he explained, "but my daughter saw you and that there feller a-makin' up to each other. If you're calculatin' to run away with him you'll save a heap of trouble for the parson by doin' it quick."

"The parson!"

"You can't blame the congregation for not wantin' him to keep you here. You got sense enough to see how it looks. He'd see it, too, if he wasn't just plain bullheaded. Well, he'd better get over his stubbornness right now. If he don't we'll get another minister: that's all."

Superb Sterling Silver

In a Sale at Cost and Less.

We all know that sterling silver is intrinsically as good one day as another and that its value is permanently established with very slight fluctuations in the cost of raw material. But there are times when makers have good and sufficient reasons for selling their product for less than it is actually worth, often for less than it costs them to make, in order to keep their stock moving or convert the manufactured article into cash, for it takes cash to pay wages and to keep the wheels oiled.

So, while an unusual thing, it is not extraordinary that we should be able to sell this splendid sterling silver at the price we usually have to pay for it, and in some cases less than the usual cost.

If you are anticipating wedding presentations this opportunity will prove timely for you. If you want to add to your store of silver at home the advantages of buying now will surely appeal to you.

Bowling and General Sports

BOWLING.

In the match series between John Conklin, the local bowler, and Asa Harris, the "boy wonder," the latter gained an easy victory and gave a splendid exhibition, averaging 194 for his games, while Conklin averaged but 164. Conklin missed no less than fourteen spares and this cost him at least three games.

The scores:

Harris, 140, 195, 208, 215, 196, 221, 188.

Conklin, 164, 156, 128, 185, 193, 147, 176.

After the Conklin-Harris series, Johnny Campbell and Harris engaged in a match and the local crack was returned the winner. The scores:

Campbell	223	183	217
Harris	193	200	182

Skelly and Miller are still to the front in the two-man tourney with a slight advantage. Nash and Skelly are in second place. Meyer and Meyer have jumped into third place, displacing Matthews and Brown, who hit the toboggan in their series last week and are now fifth. The standing is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.
Skelly and Miller	20	4
Nash and Blatz	17	4
Meyer and Meyer	16	8
Laing and Stout	10	8
Matthews and Brown	20	10

The teams scheduled to meet this week are as follows: Tonight, Reville and Connelly, Campbell and Herbert, Ortleb and Ortleb; Wednesday, Meyer and Meyer, Conklin and Britton, Skelly and Miller; Thursday, Vanderbilt and Eller, Vail and Ackor, Boyle and Owens; Friday, Ortleb and Ortleb, Laing and Stout, Shannon and O'Keefe.

PLAINFIELD DEFEATS TRINITY BALL TEAM.

The Plainfield A. C. opened its season Saturday afternoon at the Cricket field by defeating the Trinity team by a score of 17 to 11. Both teams had on their batting clothes and clouted the ball for home runs, three baggers and singles in a manner that made both pitchers feel they were not likely to reach the big league this season.

The work of Pope, for the Plainfield A. C., and Schenck, for Trinity, was marked by brilliant playing.

The scores:

Trinity A. C.

NORTH PLAINFIELD DEFEATS WESTFIELD.

The North Plainfield High School team, by bunching their hits in the sixth and seventh innings, defeated the Westfield nine on the latter's grounds Saturday afternoon by a score of 4 to 3. The borough lads put up a fine exhibition after the first inning. Day seemed to get more settled, his control becoming excellent. At all times he was master of the situation and with confidence in the team behind him pitched a pretty and steady game. Although he allowed eight hits and passed three batters, there were eight strike outs to his credit.

Due credit must be given Greene, the home team's twirler, who is credited with nine strike outs and six hits, but five bases on balls, the latter proving the deciding score against him. Both teams played an excellent fielding game. Their batting being about even.

The line up of the teams:

MUSICAL PROGRAM AT PARK AVE. S. S.

The session at the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday-school, yesterday afternoon, was one of exceptional interest. The lesson study was omitted and the entire program devoted to music as follows:

Opening selection ,"The Melody of Love," orchestra; carol, school; Scripture reading and prayer, Rev. A. E. Finn; cornet solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," Whitney Frazee; vocal solo, "Triumphant Morn," Miss Nora Schenck; carol, school; solo and quartet, "In Joseph's Tomb," Mrs. Ada Cuming, soloist; Miss Florence G. Hawkins, Charles F. Dayton, R. Coles Treadwell; trombone solo, "Nazareth," G. T. Dunham; solo, "Easter Dawn," Miss Nora Schenck; carol, school; duet, "Easter's Bright Glow," Mrs. Ada Cuming and Miss Florence G. Hawkins; carol, school; benediction, pastor; selection, "March de Concert," orchestra.

The orchestra, under the leadership of Arthur S. Mosher, comprised the following: Violins, Dyckman Winckler, Miss Arline Brown, Miss Marjorie Brown, Charles Wheeler, Arthur S. Mosher; viola, G. W. V. Moy; 'cello, Dr. J. F. Berg; cornet, Whitney Frazee; flute, Elmer Wheeler; trombone, G. T. Dunham; bass, Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan; pianist, Miss Mary E. Clark.

Superintendent George E. Hall was in charge of the program and the attendance was unusually large. During the exercises Mr. Hall presented the pastor, Rev. A. E. Finn, a framed certificate of membership in the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-school. A similar certificate was also presented to the associate superintendent.

PERSONAL.

Former Mayor Charles Place, of Grove street, is detained at home for a few days with the grip.

John Gray, of Elizabeth, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, of East Front street.

Mrs. Albert B. Darby, of 75 Grove street, and Mrs. Carman Parse, of 46 Grove street, are stopping for a time at Atlantic City.

G. H. Whyte and daughters, Marian and Dorothy, of Orchard place, have returned from a visit with relatives at Lambertville.

H. C. Krebs, superintendent of North Plainfield schools, accompanied by his wife, spent the Easter vacation at Atlantic City.

Miss Anna Fischer and Master Reginald Adams, of West Third street, returned home last night after a brief visit with friends in Yonkers, N. Y.

Miss Emma Wersing, of this city, and Miss Josephine Bruggemare, of Westfield, have just returned from Daytona, Fla., where they have spent several months.

Rev. Dr. S. M. Zwemer, who preached at Trinity Reformed church, yesterday, was entertained while in town by Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Bowers, of Franklin place, were among the American tourists who registered their names at the week-end in the Paris office of the New York Herald.

Among the large number of guests present at the dinner and dance at the Contential Hotel Friday night, introducing Miss Vivian K. Cooke, daughter of Louis E. Cooke, to Newark society, was Lyon Sullivan, of this city.

PROF. CARNEY SPEAKS ON NEGRO PROBLEM

A large audience of men was interested in the talk given by Prof. V. N. Carney, of Walker Institute, Augusta, Ga., at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium yesterday afternoon. Prof. Carney, who has been studying the social problem of the negro for a number of years, is one of those broad minded men who after living in the South has come to the conclusion that the advancement and uplift of the colored man is an industrial problem.

The Southern States have endeavored to provide mechanical and agricultural institutions for the benefit of the negro, Dr. Carney said, and the remarkable showing made by the colored students during the last ten years has been phenominal. Since such institutions have been established the wages of the colored man has increased over a hundred per cent., while the results of his labors have proportionately increased the plantation owner's profits.

CONGREGATIONALISTS CONVENE TOMORROW

Delegates from New Jersey, Maryland, the District of Columbia and Virginia will attend the forty-first annual convention of the Congregational Association of New Jersey in Baltimore tomorrow and Wednesday. Each church is entitled to representation by its pastor and two other delegates, so that about 150 delegates are expected to be present.

The sessions will be held in the Associate Congregational church, of which Rev. Dr. Oliver Huckel is pastor. He is also chairman of the entertainment committee.

The convention will open Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Dr. Huckel will welcome the delegates and will be followed by the moderator, Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Woodrow, of Washington, D. C., who will preside at the conference.

The feature of the evening session will be an address by Rev. Dr. John L. Scudder, of Jersey City, on "Genuine Substitute for the Saloon." He is chief of the People's Palace. Among the other speakers of the day will be Rev. Dr. Amory H. Bradford, of Montclair, and Rev. T. Aird Moffat, of Newark. Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, of Plainfield, secretary of the association, will also make an address. A visit of the delegates to either Johns Hopkins University or the Woman's College will occupy part of the afternoon.

At the evening session Rev. Henry E. Jackson, of Upper Montclair, will speak on "Arresting the Drift." The devotional services will be conducted by President Wilbur P. Thirkield, of Washington.

Among the speakers at the Wednesday morning session will be Rev. F. Q. Blanchard, of East Orange, and Rev. Dr. Thomas Travis, of Montclair; Rev. David B. Eddy, of the American board, will discuss "The Other Column." Thomas A. Watson, of Boston, will outline "A Feasible Solution of Industrial Democracy." There will be a number of additional addresses and in the afternoon the delegates will visit the new Walters Art Gallery, a private collection.

Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5:30 o'clock, prominent speakers from New York and Boston will address the conference. Supper will be served by the women of the church at 6:30 o'clock. The evening session will be devoted to an open missionary massmeeting.

The entertainment committee has planned excursions to Druid Hill Park, to Fort McHenry and to the graves of Sidney Lanier and Edgar Allan Poe. There will also be opportunity for the delegates to visit Annapolis, Washington and Mt. Vernon following the close of the convention.

On Chinese Missions.

Owing to the impossibility of the Rev. A. S. Lloyd, to attend the service at St. Stephen's Episcopal church yesterday morning, Rev. Edmund J. Lee, of the Auking Mission, China, gave a short and interesting address on the evangelistic movement in that country. Mr. Lee has spent seven years in the work, being connected with what is known as the Shanghai and Auking districts, in whose fields of operations there are 60,000,000 people, which he says are among the brightest and most enlightened of all classes of the race.

Cooley Was Scrappy.

Morris Cooley acquired an idea of pugilistic ability along with some booze Saturday night and was arrested by Patrolman Vanderweg late in the evening. The charge was drunkenness and fighting. Cooley told Judge Runyon today that the three men with him had tried to beat him up and that he had "held his ground." This was his first appearance at the city court and sentence was suspended with suggestions that he quit drinking and live peaceably.

OUR BUSINESS PROBLEM

Former Mayor Gilbert Talks on the Conditions in the Business World Today.

AT HARTRIDGE AUDITORIUM.

Bank President Says That Wrong Business Deals Have Caused the Recent Troubles.

The business theories of practical business men are always worth the hearing, and few men have the ability to speak with more authority on modern business conditions than former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, of this city, a life-long banker, president of the Market and Fulton Bank, New York, and president of the New York Clearing House.

Mr. Gilbert, in addressing the Monday Afternoon Club yesterday at the Hartridge auditorium changed the lecture named in the calendar, "Modern Business Methods," to "Modern Business Conditions." The age and the country he characterized as remarkable and said that the ease with which great fortunes are made stimulates the energy, the ambition, the pride, extravagance, selfishness and cupidity of our people and explains the growth of various methods which have provoked much discussion during the past seven years.

Farming or agriculture, he said, lies at the foundation of commercial prosperity and he contrasted the limited production of our virgin soil with the larger yield of older European countries. Improved methods in farming and a larger knowledge of the use of fertilizers were given by the lecturer as the cause of the country's wonderful growth in the last decade. He estimated the value of last year's farm products at $7,500,000,000. If this value should be doubled by improved and intelligent methods, he argued, in addition to other products from coal, mineral ores, oil, gas and our manufactured products, the grand total of our yearly products would amount to more than 25,000 million dollars.

Mr. Gilbert said further the distribution of these products throughout the land and over the seas requires the construction of great railway systems, steamship lines and the establishment of banking houses, insurance companies and mercantile establishments, and it is the administration of these that develops business methods.

The influence of large corporations in closing the door of business opportunity which should be kept open to all the people on a basis of equality was dwelt upon by the speaker, who accorded to President Roosevelt the honor of focussing the attention of the people upon the fact that great corporations were bidding defiance to our courts and violating the laws of our country. He quoted from President Roosevelt's speech at Indianapolis that "in connection with all the great social and industrial problems confronting the United States today, that of preserving the rights of property, was the principal one, and these were in less jeopardy from the socialist and anarchist than the predatory man of wealth."

The credit system, on which basis most of the business of the country is done, was next treated by Mr. Gilbert, who denominated credit as the child of faith, which moves mountains and works miracles. Credit and debt he termed twin-brothers. The visible signs of debt, he said, were promissory notes, open book accounts, railroad bonds and stocks, bills of exchange, &c. Banking and Clearing House methods in the handling of checks and drafts and the requirement by government of the strong, lawful money reserves, the basis upon which the great superstructure of credit rests, were next discussed by Mr. Gilbert.

In closing, the speaker dwelt on the fallacy of the idea that the accumulation of excessive fortunes was harmful to society. He contrasted the hoarding of feudal times which inflicted grevious injury on society with the princely fortunes of the present day, which are invested for income and help build our railroads, ocean steamships, factories, our great buildings, public and private, and where there is a philanthropic spirit, enables the possessor of wealth, to advance the cause of education, religion, science, invention, discovery and all forms of charitable work. The rich men of the country, he said, were really necessary to its progress, and this should be taught the masses, rather than to put in operation reform laws which only serve to intensify the prevailing spirit of antagonism between labor and capital.

At the conclusion of the delightful lecture, a rising vote of thanks was given Mr. Gilbert, who is an honorary member of the club.

TWO SALVATION ARMY DRIVERS IN A FIGHT

Thomas Kiely and Charles Malone, who are employed by the Salvation Army as collectors of papers and magazines, forgot their Christian training yesterday afternoon so far as to engage in an exchange of epithets and blows. Kiely excelled in the vocabulary, but Malone, who is twice his age, was most beligerent, pursuing him from the Industrial Home stable on East Fourth street with a pitch-fork. Patrolman Dobson made the arrests, and while the officer and two prisoners were waiting for the patrol wagon, the two Army employes tried to renew hostilities.

City Judge Runyon learned from their stories in court today that jealousy between the two was the fundamental cause of the fight. Kiely, who is 20 years of age, declares that Malone has been trying to take his job on the wagon, and wants to crib his cash. It developed that Kiely's salary varies from seventy-five cents to $1.25 a week, so that Malone didn't have much to be jealous of in the younger man's success. Words in the stable yesterday afternoon started the fight and Kiely applied a vile epithet to the older man. "I didn't call him dat name, Judge, 'till he come at me wid de pitchfork, see? He was goin' ter run me troo, 'stead 'er fightin' like an American," explained Kiely, who was born in "Ne' Yawk." The Judge ruled both to be at fault and suspended sentence after the pair had agreed to suspend further hostilities.

DEATH TAKES WIFE OF POSTMASTER E. H. BIRD

Mrs. Ella Staats Bird, wife of Postmaster Elias H. Bird, of Sandford avenue, died last night from pneumonia, with which she had been ill but a day. About two weeks ago she suffered a severe attack of grip from which she did not recover. Yesterday pneumonia developed and having a weak heart, she was unable to withstand the attack. Her death was a severe shock to a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

Mrs. Bird was born in Somerville and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Staats, who were well-known in Somerville and Flemington. She came to this city about twenty-five years ago. Soon afterward she united with Trinity Reformed church, where she was an active member for nearly a quarter of a century.

For many years she was the contralto soloist in the church quartet, resigning her position several years ago. She was also an honorary member of the Ladies' Christian Work Society. Her death is a distinct loss to the church, while in the home, where she was a loving and faithful wife, she will be greatly missed. She had a host of friends who had learned to love and admire her for her many estimable qualities. She leaves a husband and one sister, Mrs. E. T. Van Winkle, also of Sandford avenue.

The funeral services will be held at the late home on Sandford avenue, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. It is expected that Rev. T. E. Vassar, of Elizabeth, an intimate friend of the family, will assist Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, in conducting the services.

HOME BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION HOLDS ELECTION

The regular monthly meeting of the Home Building and Loan Association was held last night in the association's rooms in the Coward building on Park avenue. President George H. Batchelor was in charge, while Arthur E. Crone as secretary, presented the forty-second semi-annual statement for six months ending April 19, 1909, showing the association to be in its usual good condition. A large number of new shares were subscribed to last night.

The officers re-elected are: President, George H. Batchelor; vice-president, George E. Stillman; secretary, Arthur E. Crone; treasurer, W. F. Arnold, and John H. VanWinkle, attorney. The directors are: E. H. Bird, William A. Craig, George L. Eager, William L. Gloak, George M. Griffin, Thomas MacDonald, M. D. O'Keefe, Fred R. Phillips, Henry R. Phillips, William H. Sampson, John C. Traynor and Ira N. West. William E. Day and Asa F. Randolph are the auditors.

Sermon For Men.

The service at Hope chapel, Sunday morning, will be of special interest to men, and the pastor, Rev. L. R. Howard, has extended an invitation to the Judge W. N. Runyon Bible Class, the Men's Club, John Leal's Bible Class and all men in the West End. The sermon will be for men.

MANY BIDDERS FIGURED

Close Estimating for Furniture and Coal for the City Schools.

NO BIDS ARE YET AWARDED.

Darrow Avenue Primary School Furnishing Bids Received by the Board of Education.

Bids for furniture and fixtures for the new Darrow avenue school for school supplies and for furnishing seven hundred and eighty tons of coal for the city schools, together with miscellaneous bids for steel lockers and manual training benches for the High School, were received at a special meeting of the city Board of Education held at the Plainfield High School, last night. The board room was filled with those who submitted proposals, or their representatives and the figures were unusually close. In each case the bids were opened and read and then referred to the various committees of the board. They will be voted on at a subsequent meeting of the school fathers.

These were the bids for electric fixtures for the new school: Cassidy & Son, New York, $702; Whitall Electric Co., Westerly, R. I., $980; The Broome Co., Newark, $819; Allen B. Laing Co., Plainfield, $675. These bids were referred to the building committee.

Proposals to furnish 780 tons of coal for the city schools were opened at the meeting and announced as follows: C. T. Rogers & Co., $3,740; Wadley & Goodenough, $3,707.50, Joseph Harrigan, $4,141.25; Consumers' Coal Co., $3,698.75; Dunellen Coal and Supply Co., $3,885.75. These bids were referred to the fuel committee.

Bids for a lot of miscellaneous furniture for the new school were submitted by John Wanamaker, The Siegel-Cooper Company, Heywood Bros., The Wakefield Company, Shirley & Johnston and W. B. Wood Company, of Newark. These were referred to the building committee.

The following proposals for 614 steel lockers were received: Merritt & Co., Philadelphia, $1,349.26; Pennsylvania Darr Company, Philadelphia, $1,619.26; Narragansett Machine Company, Westerly, R. I., $1,889.35. Bids were referred to the building committee.

The Hammacher-Schlemmer Company, of New York, submitted a bid of $432 for the supplying of twenty-four benches for the manual training department of the High School.

Bids for school desks, chairs and assembly hall chairs for the Darrow avenue school were submitted as follows: A. H. Andrews & Co., New York; American Seating Co., New York; Kenney Bros. & Walkins, Boston; New Jersey School-Church Furniture Co., Trenton; Heywood Bros., New York; The Wakefield Company, New York. Prices ranged from $3.60 to $5.25 per desk and chair, complete, but no total amount was given for quantity required. The figures were referred to the building committee.

WILL HOLD A HOME DEPARTMENT COUNCIL.

What is known as a Home Department Council will be held at the Park Avenue Baptist church, tonight, for those interested in home department work. At 8 o'clock a song service will be led by Charles F. Dayton, temperance secretary of the school; followed by devotional exercises led by Mrs. David M. Runyon.

Words of welcome will be given by Superintendent George E. Hall, of the State Sunday-school Association; roll coll of home department superintendents, home department address by Elmer E. Eagon, of Trenton; address by Rev. A. E. Finn on "Our Part in the State Work;" round table and practical questions by Mrs. A. W. Karnell, Union county home department secretary; prayer and adjournment.

Dunellen Resident in Trouble.

John Mavolick, a Polish resident of Dunellen, who was arrested at that place Saturday night on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, was fined $3 and costs by Recorder David S. Campbell. At the time of his arrest, Mavolick was accompanied by two small children, one of which he dropped out of his arms. The man's condition was pitiable and Recorder Campbell took occasion to "read the riot act" to him in a way he won't forget.

The Only Medium.

A young woman residing on West Ninth street, lost a garnet and pearl breastpin on Sunday and advertised in The Daily Press. The pin was found yesterday by a reader of this newspaper and returned to the owner, receiving a reward.

G.O.P. TO HOLD BANQUET

"Hale - Fellows - Well - Met" Will Gather at Bender's Hotel Tomorrow Night.

FRANK H. SMITH TOASTMASTER.

Politicians Prominent in State and County Will Speak On Various Topics.

Union County Republicans have planned for a great gathering of "The Hale-Fellows-Well-Met" at Bender's Hotel, Lorraine, tomorrow night, and the speakers will include many prominent in the affairs of State and county. The toastmaster will be County Chairman F. H. Smith and he has prepared a list of speakers that are sure to be heard with more than ordinary interest. All of the big fellows and many of the little ones are expected and the affair promises to be a memorable one. The speakers will be as follows:

Vivian M. Lewis, superintendent of Banking and Insurance; State Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of Somerset; State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, of Union; State Senator Thomas J. Hillery, of Morris; Assemblyman Carlton B. Pierce, of Cranford; Assemblyman James Baker, of Hudson; City Judge William N. Runyon, of this city; Mayor Victor Mravlag, of Elizabeth, and Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, of this city.

Sheriff Robert J. Kirkland is chairman of the general committee, Edward Bauer secretary and James White treasurer. The dinner committee comprises James White, Edward Bauer and William A. Bembridge, while the committee on arrangements consists of George Stewart, Andrew McCardell, William H. Randolph, William H. Hall and Henry S. Fullerton. The other committees follow:

Printing—Herbert Buxton, John W. Cliff, William H. Wright. Reception—William H. Wright, Herbert Buxton, William H. Hall, Fred C. Decker, James White and James C. Calvert. Speakers—Hamilton F. Kean, Frank H. Smith and Ernest R. Ackerman.

CHARLES B. BATCHELOR RESIGNS FROM Y.M.C.A.

Charles B. Batchelor, boys' work director, of the Young Men's Christian Association, has tendered his resignation to the Board of Directors to take effect June 1. Mr. Batchelor will take a position as director of physical training in the New York public schools next fall.

As his successor, the executive committee of the board has called C. William Bingeman, a member of the Springfield Training School. Mr. Bingeman will come to Plainfield, it is said, with an excellent record, both as a student and as an assistant secretary of the Kingston and Buffalo associations. He will take charge of his new duties about July 1.

ITALIAN STOLE $10; HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Theodore Zeller, a West End carpenter, appeared in the city court today against Anthony Viollo, an employe, whom he charges with having stolen a ten-dollar bill from his vest, left in the toolhouse of a building in course of construction at West Third street and Spooner avenue yesterday afternoon. Viollo, who is but twenty years of age, stubbornly denied his guilt, even after the money was found tucked in his sock when he was searched in the tool house by Zeller. Finally the young Italian broke down and confessed that he had "lifted" the tenspot. "I dunno why I done it, Judge," he said, "I guess I was crazy yesterday." The prisoner was held under $100 bond to await the action of the grand jury. In default of the bond, he was committed to the county jail at Elizabeth this afternoon.

Viollo's flat denial of the theft to his "boss" and to Chief Kiely after his arrest got him "in wrong" with the court, and he stoutly affirmed that a fellow-employe had taken the money when he was questioned. Viollo's declarations of innocence yesterday won him freedom immediately after the money was missed, but he was followed up and brought back to the tool-house a second time for a search by Zeller when the man he had blamed, a new carpenter, proved his innocence. The Italian was ordered to strip and failed in his efforts to palm the bill as he took off his clothes.

MERCHANTS HOLD SMOKER

Business Men Provide an Evening of Pleasure for Members and Friends.

TWO INTERESTING SPEECHES.

James E. Martine and A. S. Floyd Discuss Live Topics—Plenty of Cigars and Refreshments.

The Plainfield Merchants' Association combined its monthly meeting, last night, with a "smoker," and the occasion was enlivened with two good speeches, one by James E. Martine and the other by A. S. Floyd, founder of what is known as the Self-Masters' Association, of Rahway. President A. E. Force was in the chair, and in introducing Mr. Floyd, the first speaker, explained the work the latter is doing among a class of men that are almost the outcast of society. Mr. Force and a committee from the association recently visited the association's quarters at Rahway.

Mr. Floyd said that the association is an institution without rules or regulations. It has no laws that compell a man to do anything against his will, neither is he looked upon as a charity object. The principal object is to help the "down and out" man, no matter what the conditions.

"We do not believe if a man is addicted to the use of liquor to take it from him immediately, but gradually. In this way we try to make the man a self-master. In addition to a factory, where the men are employed, we have a large farm under cultivation and in every way possible we try to start the men on the road to prosperity by getting them positions, where they will feel their responsibility." In response to an invitation, Hyman Adelberg, of East Front street, offered the use of a room for the reception of suitable articles for the home at Rahway. A collection of $19.75 was received for the work.

The next speaker, James E. Martine, after praising the work being done by Mr. Floyd, said that it mattered not to him what a man's creed was, he never saw a creed so bad that it didn't contain some good. He saw good in all men and believed that they should be given an opportunity to be lifted up.

"I have seen Plainfield grow from a town of 1,200 to its present size," continued Mr. Martine, "and I know from its great growth that it has always had wise and prudent men at the head of its government. When I come to look at Plainfield and what she is today there is not a city in the State so well equipped. There is the hack service, unequalled anywhere, to look after the stranger as he arrives here and they are so well kept that the person is at a loss to know if he is not mistaken and riding in a private carriage.

"Then our department stores compare favorably with those in the larger cities. Nowhere in the country is there a better road system and our highways are used to such a large extent by out-of-town corporations that I think it is no more than right that they should pay a license for the use of these roads."

Among the other points of interest touched upon by the speaker was the fire department. He gave the firemen due praise and said that the equipment was equal to any in the country in proportion to its size. At the close of the speeches, the association extended a vote of thanks to Mr. Floyd and Mr. Martine. During a social hour refreshments were served and Edward Knight, of Elizabeth, entertained with sleight-of-hand.

MUSICAL PROGRAM AT "THE BLUE STOCKING TEA."

In connection with "The Blue Stocking Tea" and sale to be held at the Park Club, Friday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, under the auspices of The City Union of The King's Daughters, there will be a musical program at 4:30 o'clock, when Miss Carla Dagmar will sing Swedish melodies; Miss Louise Saunders will appear in monologues and William T. Carleton, the English baritone, will sing several selections.

There will also be a sale of candy, cake and lemonade. Admission will be by a filled blue stocking or silver offering. The committee in charge has sent out over two thousand blue stockings and is looking for large financial returns to help carry on the work.

Frederick N. Brown.

The funeral of Frederick N. Brown, who died at Elizabeth, Saturday, took place last night from the undertaking parlors of A. M. Runyon & Son. The Rev. O. J. Shoop, of the Grace M. E. church, officiated. Interment was made this morning in Hillside cemetery.

CHILD RUN DOWN; CABMAN DRIVES AWAY

Run down by a cab driven by Charles Carr, a local cabman, ten-year-old Stephen Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy, of North avenue, was thrown down and badly bruised almost in front of his home at about 6 o'clock last night. Carr showed no interest in the accident, according to the police, and his "fare," E. H. Hudson, got out of the rig and carried the boy in his arms to Cadmus' drug store, where he telephoned for Dr. Albert H. Pittis. Carr is said to have waited a few minutes in the cab and then turned around and gone back to the cab-stand. He was arrested there by Patrolman Maurice Higgins.

City Judge Runyon scored the cabman heavily for his negligence in following up the accident, and ordered Carr to appear at court a week from today, when several witnesses will testify as to whether or not the accident was the fault of the driver. Carr was ordered not to work as a cabman during the week. He is employed by Edward Martin.

An examination by Dr. Pittis in the drug store showed that the boy was not badly hurt. He sustained a severe scalp wound and painful abrasions of the left leg and hands, but was able to go home. Mr. Hudson was very much incensed over the cabman's unconcern over the accident, and it is said that he will be a witness at the postponed hearing. There is a possibility that Carr's license may be revoked.

MISS H. M. HEWLETT BRIDE OF H. H. COWARD

Miss Hilda Marguerite Hewlett, fourth daughter of Mrs. William H. Hewlett, of Toronto, Canada, and Harry Holmes Coward, son of the late Joseph B. Coward, of this city, were married this afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, on Wheeler avenue, Toronto, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. Rev. W. L. Baines Reed, of Toronto, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was unattended wore a gown of white messaline with a veil and orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of marguerites and maiden-hair fern. She was given in marriage by her brother, W. H. Hewlett, of Hamilton, Ontario. The wedding march was played by Miss Doris Hewlett, sister of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held, during which the couple received congratulations and a wedding luncheon was served. The house was attractively decorated with marguerites, palms and ferns, the arrangement in the parlors and dining-room being very effective. A pleasing feature of the reception was a vocal solo by H. E. Elliott, brother-in-law of the bride.

Later in the afternoon, the couple left for a wedding trip and upon their return to Plainfield will reside at 941 Union street, in a home provided by the groom. The couple received a great many handsome gifts.

The bride, who is a graduate of the Muhlenberg Hospital Training School, has a host of friends here, while the groom, who holds a responsible position at the City National Bank, is also well-known and enjoys a large acquaintance.

Mrs. Angleman's Funeral Tomorrow.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Angleman, widow of the late George W. Angleman, who died Monday at her home on Central avenue, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at her late home, and will be in charge of Rev. Charles S. Kemble. The interment will be in Bound Brook. Mrs. Angleman was the mother of Rev. George Angleman, of Jersey City, and another son is W. H. Angleman, of Flemington. George Watts, of West Second street, and Clarkson Watts, of Newark, are brothers of the dead woman. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Andrew Huff, and Mrs. James C. Schenck. Mrs. Angleman was sixty-eight years of age, and had been ill but a short time.

McIntyre Concert at Orange.

The first of two chamber music mornings given by Joseph McIntyre, of Watchung avenue, was given at the Women's Club of Orange, yesterday, before a large audience composed of lovers of music. The artists included Joseph McIntyre, pianist; Hans Letz, violinist, and Vladimir Dubinsky, 'cellist, assisted by Francis Rogers, baritone. The program was given with spirit and intelligent understanding. Especially pleasing was the "elegia" and the finale of "Trio in De minor, op. 32," by Arensky, for piano, violin and 'cello. The second concert will be given on Tuesday, April 27.

ILLEGAL LIQUOR SALES?

Drivers for Siegel-Cooper and Macy Arrested While Delivering Liquor C.O.D.

CHIEF KIELY MAKES CHARGES.

Police Head Says That Sales by New York Department Stores Violate Liquor Ordinance.

Because they delivered whisky and beer to residents of this city "C. O. D." from New York department stores, Louis Wexler, of Newark, a driver for R. H. Macy, and Edward Coleman, of Cranford, a driver for the Siegel-Cooper Company, were arrested yesterday afternoon without a license. The arrests were made by Detective-Sergeant Flynn and Patrolman Maurice Higgins, Wexler being taken on Washington street and Coleman on Front street.

The drivers were brought before City Judge Runyon at police court immediately after their arrest, and were held under $200 bond each for apeparance in the city court Monday morning. George Barton, of Westfield, supplied Wexler's bond, and Edward Sharp was Coleman's bondsman. County Prosecutor C. Addison Swift and Mayor C. J. Fisk were at the hearing.

Chief Kiely today refused to say to whom the liquor was being delivered when the arrests were made, and said that deliveries of liquor, sent "C. O. D." from New York department stores was frequent and that he had made the complaint of unlicensed selling to protect the local liquor dealers.

The State Excise Commission, of which Mayor Fisk was chairman, incorporated in its report to Governor Fort, measures restricting the sale of liquor, and a provision forbidding department stores selling in the suburbs was incorporated as a clause. It never became a law. While Chief Kiely declares that the arrests here were made for violation of the liquor ordinance, the case will furnish an excellent test case in this matter of New York liquor delivery.

MERCHANTS HASTEN BUSINESS TO ENJOY A JOLLY SMOKER.

The monthly business meeting of the Plainfield Merchants' Association was held last night, and was largely attended, although there was little business transacted, owing to the social time that followed. Four new members were added to the list, A. C. Lohrman, A. M. Griffin, H. A. Bonn and D. O. Evans.

A communication was received from the Stave Electric Company telling of the quality of its new arc lights. The concern hopes within the next ten days to place a number of their lights along Front street for demonstration purposes. It is claimed by the company that its light is not only cheaper, but much brighter than any light on the market today.

A committee of five was appointed to arrange for the Merchants' Association float display to be used in the charter day parade. Those appointed were H. P. Greenwood, F. Linke, H. J. Martin, Herman Schwed and Harry Dreier.

Rushing Work On Ice Plant.

Much interest is being shown in the rapidity of the work of constructing the Crystal Ice Company's new plant on Madison avenue, for Arthur E. Smith, the general contractor, has a force of fifty men working on the new building, for which the excavation was started but a week ago. The foundations are already completed and the side walls well under way. The ice making machinery is en route by rail from the F. W. Wolf Company, of Chicago, and will be immediately installed upon its arrival within a few days. The Liende system is to be installed and the contractors say that the plant will be ready to manufacture ice by the middle of June.

"Ladies' Night Affair.

The Men's Club of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will hold a "Ladies' Night" affair in the church parlors tomorrow night. Emerson M. Parvin will deliver his lecture on "Ocean Transportation." Mr. Parvin is well qualified to speak on the subject, being secretary of International Mercantile Marine. Music will be another feature of the evening. Refreshments will be served.

More Fire Precaution.

New Eastman fire extinguishers are being put at entrance of all the stair cases and hall of the Plainfield High School.

WESTFIELD.

There was a disturbance at the Italian clubroom in North street Saturday night that resulted in John Long, Jr., and Patsy Boni being before the recorder's court yesterday morning, charged with carrying concealed weapons. Both had revolvers. When policemen went to the clubroom to quiet the disturbance the first thing they did was to look for revolvers, finding two. Both prisoners gave bail to appear before the grand jury.

The last of the Saturday evening cotillions was given at the Westfield Casino Saturday. The cotillions have been very popular and have been planned for next winter.

Work will be commenced next week on the addition to the Carnegie Public Library here.

SOMERVILLE.

The debate by the High Schools of Somerville and Branch Brook took place on Saturday evening, in the assembly room of the High School building at Bound Brook. The subject, "Should the Philippines Be Retained by the United States?" was debated. The Bound Brook school had the affirmative, and came off victorious, but Somerville stood up for the negative in good style. The Somerville debaters were William Hamilton, Caleb Brokaw and Margaret McWilliam. About two cars filled with pupils went to Bound Brook for the debate.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The Plainfield Cycle Club made a fast run to Vailsburg, Saturday. The Plainfield riders are making the trips in better time than ever before.

Joe Fozler, the Brooklyn cyclist, defeated Frank Kramer, the Jersey champion, in the one-mile open professional, at Vailsburg track, Sunday. It was Kramer's first defeat of the season.

John Svanberg, the Swedish Maraton runner, who made his debut against Indian Simpson, at Celtic Park, last week, is now hot on the trail of St. Yves, the French flyer.

The Y. M. C. A. boys are still signing their names to the Marathon entry blanks. The boys are not satisfied with the showing they made a few weeks ago, and believe they can lower the record made by Stryker Hoagland.

Golf and tennis are the games that will lead the society set in Plainfield this summer. The latter game will be played on a large scale.

GOLF.

Word comes from Boston that Hub golfers are restive over the scheme, practically consummated, to admit Pittsburg players to the Philadelphia team for the next annual tri-city match, although they will not oppose the change. They will, however, ask that a fourth team, representing New Jersey, be permitted to enter the list. There is doubt about the Jersey team becoming an actuality, and certainly such a plan cannot be put through before next season. It took a year and a-half for the Pittsburg bud to bear fruit.

The bald suggestion of a Jersey team was made last fall, but the scheme is now taking a definite form and all that is needed to set off the fuse is another strong victory for the Metropolitan players.

The modern Athenians are getting in their objections in negative fashion. They began by saying if the New Yorkers can draw upon all New Jersey it is only fair that Massachusetts should be allowed to annex Rhode Island, but that they did not care to do so. The fact is that while Providence has several fairly good players, none of them would cut much figure among the stars in the tri-city contest. That is why the Beaneaters haven't proposed taking on the Rhode Islanders before.

The truth is that Jerome D. Travers, national champion, and two or three other strong Jerseyites are sharp thorns in the flesh of the Bostonians, and the only way they can be eliminated from the Metropolitan forces is by creating an all Jersey team, for practically all the New Jersey golfers chosen for the New York team are living within fifty miles of Manhattan, the boundary of the Metropolitan district. With a fourth team all four associations would have to play the first day, winners meeting winners the second day. Then suppose New York should be obliged to meet New Jersey, it would be like a home match.

As it stands today the tri-city is more a tri-State event, with all Massachusetts and Pennsylvania drawn upon. The Metropolitan district includes parts of New York and Connecticut, and in effect, at least, only part of New Jersey. It is a much smaller territory than either of the States mentioned, the difference being offset by its population. Up to three years ago the struggle was confined to Metropolitan and Philadelphia teams.

Saturday was Van Zandt's Jonah day, but he has much time to redeem himself.

Looks as if the N. P. H. S. was going to do something before the season closed. The game they put up against Westfield, Saturday, shows the team is well organized.

When Day, of the N. P. H. S. team, gets more steady, he and Van Zandt wil put up a great battle when the two high schools play.

Perhaps Green, the Westfield twirler, isn't going to make good. The boy has the right kind of stuff that makes a pitcher.

Schenck, of the Trinity A. C., is doing the Wagner act with his bat. In the game against Plainfield he cracked out two hits that were corkers, one being a three bagger.

Holy Cross begins to show signs of improvement. The church boys will soon be able to give any team a chase for their runs.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Church Attendance Band of Hope chapel will hold a banquet soon after the presentation of the minstrel entertainment.

The Presbytery of Elizabeth is holding its regular stated session at Metuchen today. There are several representatives present from the local Presbyterian churches.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church will hold its April "Conquest" Mission study service Friday night. Mrs. Charles F. Dayton will lead.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church has decided to give up the plans for holding a lawn fete this summer and raise its money in other ways.

Since the inauguration of a Chinese Sunday-school at the Temple Baptist church, there has been steady increase in membership and interest. The Chinese are very anxious to learn and they acquire knowledge of English and the Bible reading.

There will be initiation at the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., Thursday night.

TOMMY TIMBO GOT "THE REAL LIVE BABY"

The inauguration of a supplementary season of high-class vaudeville at the New Plainfield theatre, last night, attracted a capacity audience and the several big acts were considered the best ever presented at the playhouse at such low prices. The program was one big laugh from beginning to end, with not a dull moment.

The announcement that a real live babe would be given away to the person holding the lucky coupon, only served to increase the interest. "The real live baby" proved to be a live baby pig, but a few weeks old, and it was learned that Tommy Timbo held the lucky coupon, No. 13. The fact was announced by Miss Maudie Lambert, singing and dance artist, who appeared as a nurse girl. At first Tommy refused to accept the gift, but was finally persuaded to do so.

Included in the acts were "The Great Musical Vinos," in a screaming farce, "Fun In a Barn Yard;" Mary Hart, change artist; Maudie Lambert, singing and dance artist; Eddie Gardner, comic singer, dancer and hat juggler; Grace Hazzard, soubrette. Tonight another big double act will be added and Miss Lighton will sing illustrated songs.

FAGAN TO DECLINE RIPARIAN BERTH.

Friends Say He Will Not Accept the Appointment Made By Governor Fort.

Jersey City, April 20.—Friends of former Mayor M. M. Fagan said yesterday that he would in a day or two send to Governor Fort his declination of the appointment as member of the State Board of Riparian Commissioners. Mr. Fagan himself declines to discuss the matter.

It is understood that the former Mayor would gladly have accepted an appointment as a member of the State Board of Assessors and that he was in no wise a candidate for the office to which Governor Fort named him. According to one of the Mayor's political advisers he has not abandoned hope of getting on the State Board of Assessors. The impression prevails here that Governor Fort will next month call the Senate in special session and will submit the names of successors to David Baird and the members of the County Board of Taxation whose terms expire.

MODERN PROCTOR THEATRE

Local Playhouse to Be Equipped for Presentation of Drama and Vaudeville.

NEW CURTAIN AND SETTINGS.

Extensive Improvements Include New System of Ventilation, Water Sprinklers and Furnishings.

A large force of mechanics started work at Proctor's theatre, yesterday, on a number of important changes in the popular playhouse, it being the intention of the management to equip the house complete for the presentation of drama or vaudeville of the advanced class, and next season may see some great productions here. In the meantime, the house will be continued on the present popular plan. In view of the important changes to be made the open-air garden plan has been abandoned and instead Messrs. Proctor & Sanderson have decided upon some innovations in the line of comforts for their patrons.

Stage architects and artisans are now busy preparing an up-to-date modern stage with all appliances for dramatic work and advanced vaudeville. An extensive ventilating apparatus is being installed, sixteen large flues being opened from dome to roof to carry off the heated air, while twenty electric fans will draw in fresh air by the windows and other apertures. A. B. Laing is doing the electrical work. The Bruno Sternel Company, of New York, has the contract for the iron work on the stage, while the Lee Lash Company, of New York, will furnish a huge asbestos curtain measuring 1,600 square feet to be hung by such delicate mechanism that it may be lowered by the slight pressure of a single finger on the balance lever, insuring the instantaneous separation of stage and auditorium in case of fire.

The furnishings and the awnings, especially designed for excluding light, permitting free entrance of fresh air, will be provided by Shirley & Johnston. Handsome scenery is in preparation at the studios of Edward Simmons, Jersey City. An elaborate system of automatic sprinklers is being installed by Charles Dutcher, of this city, while John H. Cose, of this city, will install the automatic metal windows. Walter Apgar, of Plainfield, has the carpenter work.

All of this work will be pushed rapidly to completion without interrupting the performances a single day, and as previously announced the theatre will remain open all summer.

ANONYMOUS CIRCULARS AROUSE BOROUGH BACKERS

The citizens of Somerville received their first information of a secret organized movement against the proposed borough form of government for the town, through a Newark paper, on April 14, but the anonymous circulars, of which the paper published extracts, were nowhere in evidence until last Saturday evening, when a bushel of them which had been mailed in New York city were received and distributed by the local postoffice to hundreds of voters in Somerville. The effect was not that of a thunderbolt from a clear sky, as the borough matter has been pretty thoroughly threshed out at town meetings and in the local press.

The progressive element of the town is known to be strongly in favor of borough or city government, as the present antiquated form of administration with its limited powers has proved itself wholly inadequate to the present needs of the town. This was the sense of the citizens' annual meeting held in April, 1908. As the result of the meeting, at which there was not a dissenting voice for a change from the present form of government, a committee was appointed, composed of the leading citizens of the town, to formulate plans for a change, and to decide whether a city or borough form of government was best adapted to the town, after which the matter was to be put to the vote of the people.

After wrestling with the problem for nearly a year the citizens' committee settled on a borough form of government, and Assemblyman Smalley, at the request of the committee, introduced bill 268, which was passed by the Legislature, and will now enable the town to adopt the borough form of government, if the people so desire. The anonymous circulars distributed through the mails have had the effect to incense the advocates of borough government, who declare that the circular is the work of persons who have not the courage to fight in the open. The act of carrying the anonymous circulars to the New York City Postoffice for the purpose of mailing them is characterized by the borough advocates as timid person's act, to avoid detection that would have been sure to follow had the sender mailed them at the local postoffice.

It is the intention of the citizens' committee to at once give public notice that an election will be held April 30, to determine whether the town shall adopt a borough government.

DRIVEN FROM HIS TRUCK AND ROBBED

Gang of Striking Teamsters Believed to Have Mistaken Man for Strikebreaker.

Jersey City, April 20.—Charles McGovern, of 61 Jackson street, Manhattan, driving a truck carrying eight barrels and fifty jars of mustard for Peter Reardon, of 237 South street, Manhattan, was attacked by twenty-five or thirty men at Hudson and York streets, this city, last night and threatened with having his "head knocked off." He was forced to abandon the truck and return to Manhattan. Four of the men, at Montgomery and Greene streets, took from his pockets some money he had collected for Reardon. When he reached Manhattan McGovern notified the police there and the local police were communicated with.

The truck was located at Bay and Greene streets. Twenty-seven jars of mustard are missing. The truck was damaged and a set of harness was cut into shreds. The horse was standing at the side of the truck uninjured. The police have a description of the men, but so far have been unable to arrest any of them. It is said McGovern was mistaken for a man employed by a strikebreaker.

Stock of Fireworks In Garret Goes Off On Own Hook.

Samuel Rosenberg, of Hudson street, Hackensack, will have to purchase a fresh supply of fireworks for the Fourth, for his entire stock was destroyed Sunday night in a mysterious manner, and caused $700 damage to his building and stock. He kept the explosives in the garret. No one knows what caused the explosions. Neighbors saw sky rockets shooting out of the windows, and sent in the fire alarm. Chief Sacheleben and his men had succeeded in quenching the first flames when a second explosion of the fireworks drove them out of the room. The fireworks were valued at $300. Mice are blamed for the fire.

COUNTY TAX BOARD PUZZLE CROPS UP.

Trenton Thinks Members Whose Terms Expire May 1 Will Not Hold Over.

Trenton, April 20.—When Governor Fort failed to send in nominations to fill vacancies in the various county tax boards, which will arise when the terms of one member each will expire on May 1, it was generally believed that the members would hold over until their successors are named. This is now said not to be the case as their term, under the law creating the boards, is three years only.

One member in each county board is due to retire, in every case a Democrat. When Governor Stokes made the original appointments he saw to that, for political reasons.

It is stated, on the other hand, that an interim appointments are quite possible, as Charles W. Herbert, of Monmouth, was so named last year. It is, however, a mooted point about the State House whether or not after May 1 the twenty-one boards will consist of two members each. The situation has revived talk about a special session of the Senate for confirmation purposes.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The new Dunellen baseball club, of which James Coffee is president, and William Piddington is manager and captain, will open its season with the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. Saturday. The club will furnish first-class ball and will be composed only of the best players in the town. They will hire a semi-professional battery and will book games with only teams that are well known. The new grounds which are on Madison avenue are having erected both a new grandstand and back stop. The team will hold a fair in the Jr. O. U. A. M. hall in about two weeks. The proceeds will go towards purchasing new uniforms.

The case of Raymond Huff and Nelson Snyder, who were arrested last week on a charge brought against them by Milton Knapp for disorderly conduct in the rooms of the Oriole club, was tried before Justice Suydam, of New Brunswick, last Friday. Upon examining the witnesses Justice Suydam dismissed the case upon the grounds there was not enough evidence to hold the boys.

Two large congregations attended the New Market Baptist church services Sunday. Rev. G. H. Gardner, the pastor, preached two special sermons which were listened to with great interest.

Misses Meta and Purcella Pennock, who have been spending a few days in Philadelphia with friends, returned home yesterday afternoon.

All possible haste is being made to have the Runyon building finished in time to move the postoffice by May 1.

Raymond Huff spent Sunday with friends in New York city.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Baptist church will meet at Mrs. Melvin Teeple's home, tomorrow.

Thomas Johnson has returned to work, having recovered the use of his hand which was recently injured.

Joseph Cole, of Brooklyn, has returned home after a few days' visit with his daughter, W. A. Norman.

Miss Evona Henry, of Plainfield, has returned home after a visit with friends at South Plainfield.

Mrs. Rufus Delafield, of Plainfield avenue, is much improved from a severe illness.

Mrs. Melvin Teeple has returned from a visit with friends at Perth Amboy.

Fred Attlee is slightly improved from a severe attack of grip.

William Voorhees, of Brooklyn, has been visiting in town.

Mrs. Conger, of Samptown, visited friends here yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pace are visiting friends in Newark.

William Pace will remove to his new house on Monday.

BEER FOR PARTY HELD UP.

Carrier Explains and Elizabeth Police Let Him Go.

Sergeant Healy and Detective Brogan saw Pietra De Rosa, of Third avenue and John street, Elizabeth, with a keg of beer on his shoulder Sunday. The patrol wagon was summoned and De Rosa and the keg were taken to headquarters. The prisoner told Chief of Police Tenney that a party was in progress at the home of Thomas Viscount, the engagement of whose son was announced.

He declared that the beer was not purchased on Sunday, but had been on ice at a friend's home. He was released and the beer was returned to him.

SAVES BOY FROM RIVER.

Man Rushes to Aid with Rope When Lad Falls Into Water.

Alexander Picaretti, of 624 South street, Elizabeth, who is employed at the Breidt brewery, was on one of the upper floors yesterday morning when he saw Henry Kaiser, 14 years old, fall into the Elizabeth River. He dashed downstairs and ran at top speed to the river, carrying a piece of rope.

The lad was floundering about near a skiff when Picaretti arrived and threw him the rope, which the boy grabbed, and he was pulled out and taken to the home of his father, Charles Kaiser, who applied the parental corrector.

Supreme Court to Adjourn.

Washington, April 20.—The Supreme Court of the United States will adjourn for the present term on May 31. The call of the docket will be suspended on April 30. After the latter date the court will hold sittings to announce decisions and to hear motions on May 3, 17 and 31.

Reggy Sapp—Aw, are you interested in the "Coming Young Man," Miss Rose?

Miss Rose (with yawn)—No; I am more interested in the going young man.—Chicago News.

MR. AND MRS. S. E. HULL MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Hull, of Duer street, quietly observed the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on Sunday, and entertained a company of relatives in honor of the event. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Bogert, son-in-law and daughter; also a daughter, Mrs. Morse, of Brooklyn, and grandchildren, Masters G. Benson, C. Benson and the Misses Blanche Benson and Grace Bogert. The couple received the congratulations of their relatives and friends; also a number of gifts, appropriate to the occasion.

The observance was a quiet one because of the recent death of Mrs. Hull's sister, who lived at Andover, this State. Mr. and Mrs. Hull have been residents of the borough for many years and enjoy a wide acquaintance.

5,000 NOW REPORTED DEAD IN MASSACRE.

London, April 20.—A telegram from Constantinople estimates the dead in the massacre at Adana so far at 2,000 and the number massacred in the village of Adana at 5,000. The telegram states that the attacks on the Christians were renewed today and that the situation at Aleppo is precarious.

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Louis Shoemer, near Swedesboro, says he has attended 125 funerals in the past ten years.

Missing from his home for three days, fifteen-year-old John Dorety, of Trenton, has returned, with the declaration that he was only looking for a job.

Mrs. Ruth Justice, of Pedricktown, has an African lily in bloom. It is a very rare plant, so is the odor—so rare, in fact, that the plant is necessarily kept out of doors.

The South Jersey delegates to the annual convention of the Foresters of America, to be held at Bayonne, on May 11, will meet in the rooms of Court Washington, Gloucester, next Sunday.

Lieutenant Colonel Hicks, treasurer of the Salvation Army, gave an address Sunday evening in the First Reformed church, Bayonne. He told of the work of the army in converting criminals, and was accompanied by several ex-convicts.

Judge Berry, at Toms River, granted five licenses out of seven that were laid over from the first day of court, one of the successful applicants being John Knecht, to whom a license for the Ocean House, at Beach Haven, was denied last year.

Garret L. Post, of Bayonne, has announced himself a candidate for the Republican nomination for Mayor next fall. He has carried the city twice as a candidate for president of the Council. Comptroller Charles E. Annett, T. Morris Ten Broeck and Councilmen Albert H. Phillips and Charles E. Collier are also mentioned as likely candidates.

William Kirkman risked his life in the Thoroughfare at Atlantic City to save the life of Angelo Piotti, a nine-year-old Italian lad who had fallen overboard from the Florida avenue bridge. Cars filled with returning golfers and visitors who had been to the mainland saw the deed and assisted in resuscitating the rescued youngster.

In a rear-end collision between two trolley cars at Ninth and Van Hook streets, Camden, two women were hurt. They were Ida Risley and Sarah Smith, 1440 Etting street, Philadelphia. Both sustained slight body injuries and after these were dressed at Cooper Hospital they were taken to their homes. The cause of the collision is believed to be due to a defective brake.

James Smith, of 37 Straight street, Paterson, was taken in charge by Policeman Frank Perry, after a call was received at headquarters concerning an alleged stabbing affray which took place in the vicinity. Smith had a stab wound on the hand dressed at the German Hosptal and later related his story to Captain Taylor. Smith had some trouble with Eleanor Benson, colored. The latter attacked Smith with a pair of scissors.

MORE POWER GIVEN TO STATE RAILROAD BOARD.

After Governor Fort yesterday signed Senate bill 252, by Mrs. Frelinghuysen, amending the act of 1907, creating the State Railroad Commission, he announced his intention of signing today a companion measure, Senate 250, also by Mr. Frelinghuysen, which is a supplement to the same act. The reason given for this course was that the supplement is based upon the amended bill; therefore, it was regarded desirable that the amendment should antedate the supplement in becoming a law.

The two acts in conjunction will, it is claimed, materially strengthen the railroad commission in its power to deal wth railroad corporations. The measure signed yesterday makes orders of the board become effective when issued. Within thirty days from the date of service an appeal may be taken to the Supreme Court, but this does not act as a stay unless by specific order of the court. Under the present law when an appeal is taken the order is not effective until the court decision is handed down.

The amendment also simplifies the method of enforcing orders and imposes a penalty of not exceeding $100 a day for violation. It further defines the powers of the board as to subpoenaeing witnesses and compelling testimony.

The supplement, which is to be signed today, contains a proviso that upon complaint of a municipality on or petition of citizens the board may compel the protection of grade crossings.

This power is now vested in the Court of Chancery and the procedure for its enforcement is cumbersome. The supplement provides that no railroad station may be abandoned without thirty days' notice to the board and upon complaint the board may compel a railroad to continue its service without interruption.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

The Legislature's Record.

The record of the one hundred and thirty-third session of the Legislature has now been made up and the lawmakers have gone home to face their constitutents. The Republican members can "point with pride" to certain of their actions. They can tell the people that they passed:

A bill for the valuation of railroad property.

A moderate employers' liability bill.

A bill requiring that members of party committees be chosen at the regular primaries held under State auspices.

But right there they must stop recounting the good things they did, for that completes the list. They cannot boast that they settled the State's financial difficulties, for that would require them to admit, also that they failed to provide for economics by cutting off useless offices and eliminating salaries for political workers. But the people will not forget this fact, nor will they fail to remember that the record of the Legislature includes the slaughtering of measures calling for:

A public utilities commission.

Direct reform.

Grand jury reform.

The abolition of county board of taxation and other useless commsisions.

The removal of delinquent officials by the Governor.

A board of control for State institutions.

The repeal of the Hillery maximum tax law.

Appeals from assessments levied by the State Board of Assessors.

Equitable bank stock taxation.

The prohibition of child labor at night.

The prevention of minors from visiting, unaccompanied, theatres and dance halls.

The Bradley civil damage bill.

There are other measures that might be added to this list of sins of omission, but those named are sufficient to give the people an excellent idea of how their representatives as a whole shirked their duties during the fourteen weeks of the session just closed.

The reason for this almost barren legislative session is known. The Guardians must accept the responsibility. The blame cannot be placed upon the shoulders of Governor Fort. The Chief Executive of the State fought manfully to bring about the redemption of the pledges made by his party platform and by himself upon the stump. But he made the mistake of believing that he could secure eventually the support of the Guardians for a considerable part of his program of reform. He did not surrender that belief until the very last hours of the session, continuing to hope against hope that the "real leaders" of the party would see the error of their ways and the danger in which they were placing their political organization. Had the Governor from the first allied himself with the independent members of the Legislature, those who had shown by their actions that they were favorable to his program, the outcome might have been different. Still, if it had not, the Governor would have been spared his present humiliation.

The close of the legislative session indicated just how much interest was taken in real reform by the lawmakers. The last act of the Assembly was to regulate the shooting of rabbits, and the final work of the Senate dealt with the growing of oysters.—Newark News.

NEW JOB FOR BERDINE.

Rumored That He Will Be Placed On County Tax Board.

It is reported at New Brunswick that Governor Fort will name George Berdine, who failed to get a reappointment as county prosecutor, a member of the County Board of Taxation, for the ad interim. The term of William Schlesinger, the president of the board, expires this year. As he is one of Theodore Strong's lieutenants, it is thought that he will not be renamed.

Berdine is also a Strong man, but it is thought that the lesser position will be enough punishment for him for the boss's activity against the Governor.

Post-Prandial.

Lucullus was participating in the wit at one of his famous dinners.

"I'll make you a paradox," he said.

"Hear—hear!" they cried. "Lucullus makes us a paradox."

The host quieted them with a lifted hand, and said:

"When I was a poor liver I had a good liver; but now that I am a good liver, I have a poor liver."

They all thought it over in silence a moment, and then fell to beating one another on the back in the Roman fashion.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

POLLY of the CIRCUS

By MARGARET MAYO

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead and Company

"Another minister? You don't mean"—It was clear enough now. She recalled Douglas' troubled look of an hour ago. She remembered how he had asked if she couldn't go away. It was this that he meant when he promised not to give her up, no matter what happened. In an instant she was at the deacon's side pleading and terrified. "You wouldn't get another minister! Oh, please, Deacon Strong, listen to me, listen! You were right about Jim. He did come to get me, and I am going back to the circus—only you won't send Mr. Douglas away, you won't! Say you won't!" She was searching his eyes for mercy. "It wasn't his fault that I kept staying on. He didn't know how to get rid of me. He did try. He tried only today."

"So he's comin' round," sneered Strong.

"Yes, yes, and you won't blame him any more, will you?" she hurried on anxiously. "You'll let him stay, no matter what he does, if I promise to go away and never, never come back again?"

"I ain't holdin' no grudge agin him," Strong grumbled. "He talks pretty rough sometimes, but he's been a good enough minister. I ain't forgettin' that."

"Oh, thank you, Mr. Strong, thank you. I'll get my things. It won't take a minute." She was running up the steps when a sudden thought stopped her. She returned quickly to Strong. "We'd better not let him know just yet. You can tell him afterward. Tell him that I ran away. Tell him that"—

She was interrupted by Douglas, who came from the house. "Hello, Strong! Back again?" he asked, in some surprise. Polly remained with her eyes fixed upon the deacon, searching for some way of escape. The pastor approached. She burst into nervous laughter. "What's the joke?" Douglas asked.

"It's only a little surprise that the deacon and I are planning." She tried to control the catch in her voice. "You'll know about it soon, won't he, deacon? Good afternoon, Mr. Strong!" She flew into the house, laughing hysterically.

Douglas followed her to the steps with a puzzled frown. It was unlike Polly to give way to her moods before others. "Have you gentlemen changed your minds about the little girl staying on?" he asked uneasily.

"You'll save a heap of trouble for the parson by doin' it quick."

"It's all right now," said Strong, seating himself with a complacent air.

"All right? How so?" questioned Douglas, more and more puzzled by the deacon's evident satisfaction.

"Because," said Strong, rising and facing the pastor—"because your circus ridin' gal is goin' to leave you of her own accord."

"Have you been talking to that girl?" asked Douglas sternly.

"I have," said Strong, holding his ground.

"See here, deacon, if you've been browbeating that child I may forget that I'm a minister." The knuckles on Douglas' large fists grew whiter.

"She's goin', I tell you, and it ain't because of what I said either. She's goin' back to the circus."

"I don't believe you."

"You would 'a' believed me if you'd seen the fellow that was just a-callin' on her and her a-huggin' and a-kissin' of him and a-promisin' that she'd be a-waitin' for him here when he come back."

"You lie!" cried Douglas, taking a step toward the retreating deacon.

"There's the fellow now!" cried Strong as he pointed to the gate. "Suppose you ask him afore you call me a liar."

Douglas turned quickly and saw Jim approaching. His face lighted up with relief at the sight of the big, lumbering fellow.

"How are you, Mr. Douglas?" said Jim awkwardly.

"You've seen Polly?" asked Douglas, shaking Jim cordially by the hand.

"Yes, I've seen her."

"The deacon here has an idea that Polly is going back to the circus with you." He nodded toward Strong, almost laughing at the surprise in store for him.

"Back to the circus?" asked Jim.

"Did she say anything to you about it?" He was worried by the bewilderment in Jim's manner.

Before Jim could reply Polly, who had reached the steps in time to catch the last few words, slipped quickly between them. She wore her coat and hat and carried a small brown satchel.

"Of course I did, didn't I, Jim?" she said, turning her back upon the pastor and motioning to Jim not to answer. Douglas gazed at her in astonishment.

"What do you mean?" he asked in a hoarse, strained voice. He glanced at the coat and hat. "Where are you going?"

Polly avoided his eyes and continued nervously to Jim:

"What made you come back? Why didn't you wait for me down the street? Now you've spoiled everything." She pretended to be very vexed with him. The big fellow looked puzzled. He tried to protest, but she put a warning finger to her lips and pressed the little brown satchel into his hand. "It's no use," she went on hurriedly. "We might as well tell them everything now." She turned to Douglas and pretended to laugh. "You have found us out."

The deacons were slightly uneasy. The frown on Douglas' forehead was deepening.

"Oh, see how serious he looks!" she teased, with a toss of her head toward the grim visaged pastor.

"Is this some trick?" he demanded sternly.

"Don't be angry," she pleaded. "Wish me luck."

She held out one small hand. He did not take it. She wavered; then she felt the eyes of the deacons upon her. Courage returned, and she spoke in a firm, clear voice. "I am going to run away."

Douglas stepped before her and studied her keenly.

"Run away?" he exclaimed incredulously.

"Yes—to the circus with Jim."

"You couldn't do such a thing," he answered excitedly. "Why, only a moment ago you told me you would never leave me."

"Oh, but that was a moment ago," she cried in a strained high voice. "That was before Jim came. You see, I didn't know how I felt until I saw Jim and heard all about my old friends—how Barber is keeping my place for me and how they all want to see me. And I want to see them and to hear the music and the laughter and the clown songs— Oh, the clown songs!" She waltzed about, humming the snatch of melody that Mandy had heard the morning that Polly first woke in the parsonage:

Ting, ling—
That's how the bells ring.
Ting, ling, pretty young thing.

She paused, her hands clasped behind her head, and gazed at them with a brave little smile. "Oh, it's going to be fine—fine!"

"You don't know what you're doing!" said Douglas. He seized her roughly by the arm. Pain was making him brutal. "I won't let you go! Do you hear me? I won't—not until you've thought it over."

"I have thought it over," Polly answered, meeting his eyes and trying to speak lightly. Her lips trembled. She could not bear for him to think her so ungrateful. She remembered his great kindness, the many thoughtful acts that had made the past year so precious to her.

"You've been awfully good to me, Mr. John." She tried to choke back a sob. "I'll never forget it—never! I'll always feel the same toward you. But you mustn't ask me to stay. I want to get back to them that knew me first—to my own. Circus folks aren't cut out for parsons' homes, and I was born in the circus. I love it—I love it!" She felt her strength going and cried out wildly: "I want Bingo! I want to go round and round the ring! I want the lights and the music and the hoops! I want the shrieks of the animals and the rumble of the wheels in the plains at night! I want to ride in the big parade! I want to live and die—just die—as circus folks die! I want to go back! I want to go back!"

She put out one trembling hand to Jim and rushed quickly through the gate, laughing and sobbing hysterically and calling to him to follow.

TO INTRODUCE THE NEW SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSONS

The New Jersey Sunday-school Association expects to conduct a campaign of education during the next few months, looking toward the introduction of the new graded international lessons in many of the Sunday-schools in the State. Plans for the spring conferences in Gloucester and Cumberland counties are now under way.

The committee on the next State convention to be held in the Munn Avenue Presbyterian church of East Orange, November 17 to 19, has already drafter the program, secured a number of speakers and are working with the local committee of arrangements to make the convention surpass all others.

"New Jersey Sunday-school Day" will be observed in many of the Sunday-schools of the State during the month of May. The committee in charge is urging the superintendents and the teachers to set apart one Sunday for special consideration of the needs and progress of the work. A special program prepared by Secretary Rev. E. Morris Ferguson, is being prepared. In Trenton and Mercer county, Sunday, May 9, has been set apart for the special observance.

What bids fair to be an attraction in the work of the association is the summer school which will be held at Asbury Park from July 7 to July 14. — Miss Elizabeth D. Paxton, chairman of the elementary committee, says the program as arranged will be the best ever given at the summer school. Professor C. R. Erdman, of Princeton, will conduct a course of devotional Bible studies. Miss Margaret Slatterly will give four lectures on the following subjects: "The Social Aspect of the Sunday-school," "Missions in the Sunday-school," "Temperance Teaching" and "Decision Day." The section work will be conducted as last year for the beginners, primary, junior and intermediate teachers. To this will be added a section on home department visitation and another for supervisors of Sunday-school instruction, to include superintendents and others who plan for graded work. The program for the summer school will be ready about June 1.

MEDICO ESCAPES PRISON.

Sentence Suspended on Student Who Saved Bowen's Life.

Judge Cross, in the United States Court at Trenton yesterday suspended sentence in the case of John Wilson, the Boston medical student, who a week ago applied "first aid" treatment and saved the life of Deputy United States Marshal George D. Bower when the latter was stricken with vertigo and fell unconscious in front of a line of Federal prisoners. Wilson is charged with raising money orders. He has already served a five-year term on one count for the offense and promised to lead a new life if shown clemency.

MISS AMY TODD BRIDE OF EDWARD E. SLINGLAND

Miss Amy Todd, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Todd, of West Second street, and Edward E. Slingland, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Slingland, of East Front street, were married last night at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, by the Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church. The wedding, which was a quiet one, was attended by only a few relatives and friends.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Norman Laughlin, and wore a gown of white silk, trimmed with old lace. Mrs. Laughlin was gowned in white mull over lavender. The best man was Norman Laughlin, brother-in-law of the bride.

After the ceremony and many congratulations bestowed upon the young couple, a wedding supper was served. The bride is well known in Plainfield and Manasquan, where she has a large circle of friends. Mr. Slingland is employed as chauffeur in this city. The couple will make their home at 227 West Front street.

THEIR EFFORT TO SLAY BABY BOY WAS BLOCKED

Rutherford, April 20.—It became known yesterday that a party of children trustrated an attempt to murder a baby by burying it alive in the woods near here Saturday afternoon. When a fashionably dressed man, near a hole in the ground, and a pretty young woman who was watching him, saw the children they picked up a flour sack bundle from the ground, hastily jumped into an automobile and dashed away.

Shortly after Mrs. Charles Dean was attracted by the barking of her Newfoundland dog and his efforts to reach a bundle wrapped in a flour sack which was lying on the roof of his doghouse. Mrs. Dean opened the package and found that it contained a living baby boy asleep, apparently under the influence of an opiate. Rushing into her house with the infant in her arms she revived it and sent for the police.

An hour later the three children of Frederick Dean, nieces of Mrs. Charles Dean, came to her house to see the baby, and as soon as they beheld the package in which it was wrapped told a strange story.

They said that while they were playing in the woods a few blocks away early in the afternoon they had come unexpectedly upon a well-dressed man and a pretty woman. The man was digging a hole in the ground and the woman was standing by watching. At the edge of the hole lay the very package in which Mrs. Dean found the baby on top of the doghouse. The Dean children said they recognized it at once by the flour sack wrapping.

They declared that as soon as the man and woman saw them approaching they stopped digging and grabbing up the bundle ran to a big touring car nearby, into which they sprang and drove away. The little Deans thought nothing of it until they heard that the package had contained a living baby.

The police have been furnished with descriptions of the automobile and of the mysterious man and woman. In the meantime Mrs. Dean has been caring for the baby, which is a bouncing baby boy several weeks old, and seems in perfect health.

SEEK TO INTEREST MORE IN CHARTER DAY.

Feeling that several local organizations have been unintentionally overlooked by the Organization Committee of the Charter Day celebration, Chairman Warren B. Travell, of the committee, through its secretary, Herbert N. Holder, who was elected last night, wishes to extend a cordial invitation to all organizations of both city and borough which have not received invitations to co-operate with the committee to communicate with the committee at once. This was decided at a meeting of the committee held last night in the office of Secretary A. S. Herr.

Up to the present time, there are forty-two local organizations which have signified their wilingness to co-operate with the Board of Trade in the arrangements new well under way for the Charter Day celebration to be held in this city July 5, 6 and 7. The representatives of these organizations have been made members of the various sub-committees in charge of the affair.

Miss Mary E. Johnson.

Miss Mary E. Johnson, aged 24 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Johnson, colored, of Muhlenberg place, died last night, from pulmonary trouble. She had been ill a long time. The funeral service will be held from the late home tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock and at 8:30 o'clock from St. Mary's church, where a solemn mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of the soul.

Danish Lutheran services will be held tomorrow night in the W. C. T. U. rooms at 8 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Beck will preach.

FATHERED MANY BILLS

Senator Ernest R. Ackerman Responsible for Ten Important New Laws.

NEVER LOST A MEASURE.

The Legislative's Best Parliamentarian, Local Senator Has Won Many Honors During Past Session.

In all the strife and turmoil of the session of the New Jersey Legislature just ended many reputations have been harmed. Many statesmen or near statesmen have been put into oblivion and but few of the 61 Senators and Assemblymen have passed through the skirmish without a spot or blemish of some sort. One of the few who finished stronger than he began and who now seems to be on the wave that may carry him to bigger things is Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city.

Senator Ackerman is recognized as one of the heavy-weights of the Senate. By their action in the last few minutes of the session the Senators showed that in all probability Senator Ackerman will be chosen as the leader of the majority of the Senate next year and in the last year of his present term there is not the least doubt but that he will be the president of that body. And after that, who knows, perhaps the Governorship.

Last Thursday morning when the President resigned as the presiding officer of the Senate he called to the chair to take his place temporarily Senator Ackerman who presided while the election for president was conducted. Senator Frelinghuysen, the majority leader, was selected and for the balance of the session Senator Ackerman acted as the leader of the majority.

The Union member is regarded as one of the best parliamentarians in the whole Legislature and he is a stickler for courtesy and form, which does not at all weaken him. Shrewd, resourceful and observing he has been one of the most useful members in the body and what counts perhaps more than anything else he is taken seriously by his fellow members. He keeps himself thoroughly informed about existing legislation and during the term just ended he introduced many of the administration measures besides having a watchful eye for everything that pertained to Union county. He fathered some of the most important legislation and one of his bills, the employer's liability act, is regarded as the best measure passed during the term.

This bill, known as Senate No. 1, was introduced by Senator Ackerman January 18, the first day of the session, and on April 13 it was approved by Governor Fort without an amendment of any purport having been tacked on. It was passed practically in its original form. The bill extends and regulates the liability of employers for injury or death to employes in certain cases. Senator Ackerman's bill is a safe and sane measure and as explained by him is a step along the right direction. He informed the Senators that if a more advanced or radical measure was introduced and passed the result would be to drive many of the manufacturers and their employes from the State. The Senator's closing words in behalf of this bill were: "Let us build for the future and so dispense justice that our institutions will firmly stand the final test of a crowded and dense population."

The second bill introduced by the Union member was No. 53, which related to the organization and management of the boards of chosen freeholders in all counties but those of the first class. This bill was approved by the Governor March 17. Its object is to straighten the confusion caused by the change in the date of the beginning of the fiscal year from May 1 to January 1.

One of the most useful bills introduced by Senator Ackerman and one that will appeal to hundreds of poor families is Senate No. 183, which was approved by the Governor April 7. Under its provisions it will be lawful for any employer in the State to pay to the wife, children, father, mother or brother (preference given in the order named), all wages due to a deceased employe where such wages do not exceed $75 in amount without requiring letters of administration. In hundreds of cases the small amounts left by poor workmen have been eaten up by the expense of getting letters of administration.

Another measure of merit is Senator Ackerman's bill amending the genral school law of 1903 by authorizing the appointment of physicians to examine school children for any physical defects. This bill, known as Senate No. 115, was signed by the Governor on April 13.

A law that will mean an increase of between $200,000 and $300,000 in the revenue of the State annually

ELIZABETH PRESBYTERY MEETS AT METUCHEN

The Presbytery of Elizabeth held its quarterly session at Metuchen yesterday. The Rev. C. F. Shaw, pastor of the First Church of Rahway, was elected moderator to succeed the Rev. Dr. William Force Whitaker, of Elizabeth, and the Rev. William B. Hamilton, of Elizabeth, was elected clerk.

The Elizabeth clergymen present were the Revs. Dr. E. B. Cobb, Dr. William Force Whitaker, Joseph B. Ferguson, John T. Kerr, Samuel G. Snowden, Herman G. Blaschke, Aurelio Cantafio and William B. Hamilton. There were also present from Elizabeth Elder E. D. Smith, Greystone church; Elder A. S. Crane, First church; Elder Darby, Westminster church; Elder Dodson, Second church; Elder Angus, Madison Avenue church.

Commissioners to the general assembly in Denver next month are the Rev. Dr. John S. Zelie, of this city, and the Rev. A. W. Karnell, of Union, with J. S. Roland and the Rev. Ezra Mundy alternates. To represent the laymen there were elected Elder C. L. Robert, Basking Ridge, and J. W. Clark, of Metuchen, with J. W. Philip, of Cranford, and Mr. Neighbor, of Lower Valley, alternates.

COUNTY ENDEAVORERS TO HOLD CONFERENCE

Under the auspices of the Union County Christian Endeavor extension committee a mass-meeting will be held at the Seventh-Day Baptist church tomorrow night. Miss Nellie K. Foote, of Elizabeth, will be in charge of the meeting as district secretary.

These societies will participate in the meeting: Seventh-Day Baptist, Park Avenue Baptist, First Presbyterian, Hope and Warren chapels. The chairmen of the various committes are as follows: Missionary, Miss Marie Jacobson; social, Miss Belle Chapman and Harold Riley; Sunday-school, Miss Emily Marsh, all of Elizabeth; prayer-meeting, Purdy F. Benedict; good citizenship, Robert J. McNair, both of Roselle; lookout, Charles F. Windham; on officers, Clarence B. La Rue, both of Plainfield.

This will be the ninth meeting in the series held in various parts of the county. Similar meetings will be held on April 30 at Springfield and on May 7 at the Central Baptist church, Elizabeth. The program for tomorrow night will be as follows:

8-8:10, song service, Scripture reading and prayer; 8:10-8:20, inspiring address, Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church; 8:20-8:50, group conferences on committee work; 8:50-9, open parliament; 9-10, social hour.

A STAINED GLASS WINDOW AS JACKSON MEMORIAL.

In memory of his parents, James W. Jackson, of Crescent avenue, has presented a beautiful stained glass window to the First M. E. church, and it was put in position in time for Sunday's service. The window represents Christ on the cross and the twelve disciples about to leave Him. From an artistic point of view the memorial is a fine piece of work and has been greatly admired by the worshippers at this church.

Below the figures is this inscription: "To the Glory of God and in Loving Memory of James Jackson, died December 19, 1882, and Susan Jackson, died April 5, 1887." At the service Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, took occasion to speak of the handsome and appropriate gift and the spirit which prompted it. The window is on the north side of the church.

Will Use Liquid Asphalt.

Although there are any number of patented preparations guaranteed to prevent the kicking up of dust on roadways, the Councilmanic street committee believes that the liquid asphalt will fill the bill in Plainfield and will give it a good trial. As previously stated it is the intention of the committee to thoroughly repair West Front street from Madison avenue to Clinton avenue, and it is likely that the liquid asphalt will be used in that work. The committee is not at all satisfied with the preparation used on North avenue, last year, and will probably not order any more of it for local street work.

Offenders Get Off Easy.

Samuel Jones, negro ash-carter, and Max Michaelson, a junk dealer, were arrested by Chief Marshal Weiss in the borough, last night, for carrying on business without a license. When arraigned before Recorder Dolliver sentence was suspended.

HORSE KILLED BY CAR

Netherwood Trolley Strikes G. O. Keller's Horse at Kensington Avenue.

DRIVER MORTON'S CLOSE CALL.

Passengers Say That the Car Was Going at High Speed, and the Driver Heard No Warning.

Struck by an eastbound Netherwood car at Kensington avenue shortly before 10 o'clock today, a horse belonging to G. O. Keller, the Park avenue cleaner and dyer, was so badly hurt that it had to be shot. John Morton, the driver, was thrown heavily, but escaped with slight bruises. The wagon was badly damaged, the front of the car bent and the glass vestibule shattered.

The trolley car, which was in charge of William Drake, motorman, and Patrick Fay, conductor, was moving at a fast rate toward Woodland avenue, the passengers affirm, when the collision occurred. Morton was driving toward Watchung avenue, and as he crossed Putnam avenue the car struck the horse squarely in the side. Morton said he heard no warning bell. The force of the collision broke the shafts and harness from the wagon, which was upset and hurled to one side. The horse, which is valued at $175, was horribly mangled and was shot by the police. The damage to the wagon is estimated at $100. There were no arrests.

The sufferings of the horse caused police headquarters to be beseiged with telephone calls for an officer to end its miseries. Four messages came in within a few minutes after the collision and in one case the speaker seemed quite incensed by the delay. As a matter of fact, an officer was dispatched by Chief Kiely to the scene within a minute after the first notification of the accident.

WILL UNVEIL OIL PAINTING OF CHRIST ON THE CROSS.

A beautiful life-size oil painting of Christ on the cross will be unveiled at Salvation Army headquarters on East Second street, tomorrow night, with interesting services. Major Casler, of Newark, who has charge of the Salvation Army work in New Jersey, will unveil the painting, during the course of his lecture on "Forty-four Years Salvation Army Work." While the hall is dark the lantern will be turned on the painting so that all may see it to the best advantage.

The painting is a gift to the army from Christopher Thorp, of West Front street, who has had it in his possession for a long time. He desired to place it where it would do the most good and decided to present the picture to the army. Admission to the lecture will be free and the public is invited.

Mt. Zion's Successful Year.

Rev. J. T. Diggs, pastor of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, in company with Rev. Edward Maynard, assistant pastor, leave tomorrow morning for Jersey City, where the annual conference of the denomination will be held in the Oak Tree Street M. E. church. The past year has been a successful one at the local church. In all $2,000 has been raised, the mortgage has been provided for and the salaries of the pastor and presiding elder paid. The church has extended a unanimous call to Pastor Diggs to return for another year.

Plainfield's Annual Horse Show.

Plainfield's sixth annual horse show to be held at the show grounds Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 10, 11 and 12, promises to be the best in the history of the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club. As in the past the show will follow the one to be held in Philadelphia, but a few days intervening, which will allow sufficient time for the exhibitors to bring their stock to Plainfield. All of the exhibitors who were here last year have promised to return.

Dr. M. W. Gilbert to Speak.

Rev. Dr. M. W. Gilbert, of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, New York, will speak at Reform Hall tomorrow night on the request of a number of colored citizens. At that time an effort will be made to raise funds for the Walker Institute of Augusta, Ga. The school is badly in need of funds. The help of white people is desired. Anyone wishing to contribute to the cause can send the same to Rev. F.D. Tilden, 825 Richmond street.

At Fire Chiefs' Convention.

Chief T. O. Doane, of the city fire department, and Chief Howard Woolston, head of the borough fire fighters, are in Newark today attending the annual convention of the New Jersey State Association of Fire Chiefs.

SURPRISED ON TWELFTH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Wikoff, of West Fourth street, were pleasantly surprised last night, when a large company of friends called to spend the evening in honor of the twelfth anniversary of their marriage. The couple did not have the slightest hint of the affair and were completely surprised.

There were about thirty-five guests and the evening was spent in playing progressive games, including euchre and pinochle, while vocal and instrumental music added to the pleasure of the occasion. The music was furnished by Mrs. W. B. Heidloff and Mrs. Charles Fritts, of New York. After the program, refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Wikoff received a large number of gifts, including cut-glass and linen. The affair was planned by Mrs. W. B. Heidloff.

MRS. BOICE TELLS OF THE JAPANESE WOMEN

A paper on "The Japanese in this Country" full of interesting facts and incidents was presented by Mrs. Calvin Boice at the meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room.

Mrs. Boice described the Japanese as an interesting people, quick to learn, ambitious, courageous, courteous and sensitive. The condition of the women seemed less hopeless than in other heathen nations, she said, for they were clean and the lives of the children were bright and happy.

Reference was made to the courage and loyalty exhibited by the Japanese in their struggle with Russia and Japan's gratitude that in her hour of stress, she had not looked in vain to this great republic for sympathy. She referred also to the large number of Japanese students in our colleges and the testimony of their teachers to their uniform courtesy and adaptability.

Mrs. Boice told of the agitation in California last winter over the exclusion of Japanese children from the public schools and the firm but polite protest of the Japanese government with which the best opinion in the United States was in sympathy for this discrimination against Japanese pupils was in violation of our agreement with Japan.

The work of the Home Missionary Society in Sacramento was spoken of as well as Miss Fife's success in Seattle, Washington, a foreign missionary laborer in Japan where she learned to know the language and the people. Miss Fife became a valuable worker in the Woman's Home Missionary Society when broken health prevented her return to the Orient.

MISS MARGARET CASEY NOW MRS. E. A. HORTON.

Miss Margaret Katherine Casey, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Casey, of East Third street, and Edward A. Horton, were married this morning at 9 o'clock in St. Mary's church by Rev. B. M. Bogan. Miss Casey was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Casey. The bridegroom's attendant was Stephen McCarthy, of Somerville.

Both the young people are well known here and are very popular among their friends. Mr. Horton, who is a native of London, has been in this city for nearly five years, where he is employed by the Central Railroad of New Jersey. They will make their home in Plainfield.

MISS MARY RUDDY BRIDE OF JOHN P. M'DONOUGH.

Miss Mary Ruddy, of Corning, N. Y., and John P. McDonough, of the firm of McDonough Brothers, were married at St. Mary's church, this afternoon by Father Hogan, curate, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The only attendant was Miss Mary McDonough, sister of the groom, who was bridesmaid.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's brother, Peter McDonough, at South Plainfield. Following a short wedding trip, the couple will reside in this city.

The Result Always the Same.

A gold bead necklace advertised in The Daily Press as lost, was found yesterday by Alva Brownlee, of 926 Putnam avenue, and promptly returned to the owner who gave a reward.

PROMOTION FOR HIGGINS

Police Roundsman Elevated to Be Detective-Sergeant by the Police Board.

POLICE REVIEW ON MAY 22.

Board Shows Leniency With Three Patrolmen "On the Carpet" —"Finest" to Have New Caps.

By action of the police board at a postponed meeting held last night, Roundsman Maurice Higgins was elevated to the rank of detective-sergeant. The promotion will be formally ratified at the meeting of the Common Countil to be held May 3. This appointment fills the detective-sergeant vacancy on the local force made when Sergeant Herbert Overbaugh's appointment as desk sergeant was ratified several months ago.

A member of the police force since February 1, 1897, Roundsman Higgins has made some important captures during his term as an officer. After his appointment, he served as a regular policeman until February 25, 1907, when he was made a roundsman. He is thirty-seven years of age and has an excellent record.

Saturday, May 22, was decided upon last night as the day for the annual police inspection, when "the finest" will parade with the firemen and will be reviewed by Mayor Fisk. It was decided that the police summer helmets be discarded and that the force be fitted with the regulation summer caps, instead. These caps are like the French army caps, and similar to those worn by the metropolitan police.

The board showed a tendencey to be lenient with the "black mark" men, brought "on the carpet" last night. Patrolman Cornelius McCarthy, brought up on charges preferred by the captain for violation of a police department rule in an unexcused absence from duty on February 3, was before the board, but action was suspended with a warning. A similar disposition was made of Patrolman Jos. Dunlap, charged with neglect of duty. A general review of the record of Patrick McNamara who is charged with eight violations of the department rules was given to the board. McNamara has only been a member of the force for a short time. It was decided, that, inasmuch as several of the offenders were of a minor character, the man be given a final chance to "make good." He was summoned before the board and told that such a chance would be given him and that his record would be closely watched in future.

Steps were taken for the stricter enforcement of the city ordinance pertaining to waste paper, fruit skins and rubbish at last night's meeting, when a resolution directing the Chief of Police to strictly enforce the law in this particular, was introduced.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN MEN'S CLUB SELECT OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian church was held last night, when these officers were chosen for the coming year: President, Frank K. Dunning; vice-president, Eugene M. Cave; treasurer, Joseph C. Allen; secretary, George Ballantyne; executive committee, C. M. Hummer and William J. Hamilton.

The reports presented showed that the club had a prosperous year, the best in its history and the prospects for the coming year are bright. At the next meeting of the club plans for the future will be discussed.

Will Serve as Waitresses.

The names of the young women requested to act as waitresses at the luncheons to be served to the delegates at the conference of the American McAll Association, on May 5 and 6, are as follows. The Misses Mead Van Vliet, Mellick, Fisk, Timpson, Fox, Titus, Booth, Hooley, Joy, Carpenter, Brown, Grescom, Cahoone, Brandegee, Waldo, Ana May Campbell, Marguerite Campbell, Martin, Ramsay, Moody, Flanders, Stevens, Harman, Miller, Sullivant, Letcher and Ross.

Fire-House Nearing Completion.

Work on the new East End firehouse is progressing favorably and the contractor, Alexander Milne, expects to complete the building within a few weeks. James Boyd & Brothers, of Philadelphia, who have the contract for furnishing the combination chemical engine and hose wagon for the house, guaranteed delivery in ninety days, but it is said that it will be here in less time than that.

Jerome Pack Oldest Member.

Since the death of Mrs. Mehala Sims, who was the oldest member of the First Baptist church, Jerome Pack, of Park avenue, has that honor. He was baptized a member of the church on July 14, 1837.

E. S. HOOLEY ALLIED WITH BIG CONCERN

Edwin S. Hooley, of North Plainfield, a member of the firm of Hooley, Learned & Co., of New York, announced yesterday that the United States Light and Heating Company has entered into possession of sundry merged properties under a perfected plan of re-organization and consolidation. These properties comprise the Bliss system of electric car lighting, the National Battery Company, of Buffalo, and the United States Lighting and Heating Company, of New Jersey, which controls the Moskowitz system for transmitting power from the car axle to the generator. The company is also looking toward the acquisition of other companies.

The new concerns it is understood are controlled by Mr. Hooley, C. A. Starbuck, president of the New York Air Brake Company, and by Edwin Hawley, who has very large holdings and will take an active interest in the management with the intention of making a general consolidation wherever possible of railway lighting, heating and power systems. The company is capitalized at $17,500,000, of which $2,500,000 is 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock. There are no bonds.

PLAINFIELD DRIVING ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

The Fair Acres Driving and Riding Club which acquired the property where the driving park is located on Park avenue, met at the Hotel Iroquois Monday night and reorganized under the name of the Plainfield Driving Association, and elected these officers:

President, Harry W. Evans; vice-president, Thomas Brantingham, secretary, Thomas Quinn; treasurer, Nelson Giles.

The meeting, which was a lengthy one, was given up to a general discussion of rules and plans for the coming season. It was decided to hold a race-meet at the driving park on Monday afternoon, July 5, following the one to be held at Westfield on Saturday, July 3. Assurances were received that horses from the Westfield meet would appear here and furnish a good program. The reorganized association will start with a membership of about thirty horsemen.

The association in acquiring the driving park property has one of the best tracks in the State for racing purposes and plans are now under consideration for holding several matinee events here during the summer. There will be entries from New Brunswick, Metuchen, Somerville, Westfield, Elizabeth, Flemington, Trenton and Three Bridges. The association will hold another meeting on Tuesday night, May 4, when it is expected that all of the details relative to the purchase of the driving park as well as other important business will be reported.

MR. AND MRS. C. A. REED LEAVE TODAY FOR JAPAN.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arthur Reed leave today for Japan for an extended trip, which will combine business and pleasure. Mr. Reed has been engaged to transact some important business in Japan for a wealthy client, and the work will necessitate his remaining abroad for several months.

Prior to making final arrangements for their trip, Mr. and Mrs. Reed disposed of their residential property in North Plainfield and Mr. Reed resigned his position as counsel for the borough, after an efficient service of about twenty years.

Foresters Plan a Euchre Party.

At the regular meeting of Court Watchung, No. 3871, Independent Order Foresters, last night, in Knights of Columbus Hall, one candidate was initiated and three propositions were received. The good and welfare committee reported that the Court would hold another euchre on Tuesday night, May 4, in the lodge room at the close of the meeting. Last night the members enjoyed several games of quoits and pinochle.

Tickets For Organ Recital.

Persons desiring tickets for the organ recital to be given at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Friday night, can get them at the home of the organist, William P. Dunn, 320 Park avenue.

Attending Spring Classis.

Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor, and Elder H. E. Gayle, of Trinity Reformed church, are representing that church at the Spring meeting of Classis being held in Newark today.

THIRD DRIVER ARRESTED

Alvah Dunham, Employed by Acker, Merrill and Condit, Taken on Chief's Complaint.

DELIVERED LIQUOR C. O. D.

Local Driver Held Under $200 Bail to Appear With Others for a Hearing Monday.

The third arrest for alleged violation of the local liquor ordinance was made yesterday afternoon, when Alvah Dunham, a driver for the suburban delivery of Acker, Merrill & Condit, New York grocers, was arrested on Park avenue, as he was delivering liquor C. O. D. He was given a hearing before City Judge Runyon last night and was held under $200 bond for appearance at the city court Monday morning. William J. Hudson is his bondsman.

Dunham, who lives at 2 Mercer avenue, is the third driver in the suburban delivery service to be arrested for the alleged violations. Louis Wexler, a driver for R. H. Macy, and Edward Coleman, a driver for the Siegel-Cooper Company, were arrested yesterday. The charges are preferred by Chief Kiely.

Monday morning the three are to be brought before City Judge Runyon and will be granted a hearing together. Assistant County Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield and Mayor C. J. Fisk, who were present at last night's hearing as well as when bond was imposed for the other two drivers, will be at the postponed hearing. Chief Kiely, who has made the complaint of unlicensed selling, says that the action of the police is in order to protect the local liquor dealers, who pay a license of $1,000 a year.

Chief Kiely claims that when a collection is made in this city for liquor ordered in New York, the liquor is sold here and as the firms are unlicensed here, the action is in violation of the local ordinance. The driver in each case is being held, because it is claimed that he gives up the package in exchange for the money, and therefore makes the sale. It is said that the firms whose drivers have been arrested, advertise the liquor in the newspapers and catalogues and make special arrangements for suburban deliveries C. O. D. It is also said that the New York department stores do a large trade in liquor in this city. Chief Kiely claims that to carry on this C. O. D. business is to violate the ordinance and the trade has reached such proportions that it is necessary for the licensed liquor dealers to be protected.

BOROUGH COUPLE MARRIED FOR FIFTEEN YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Darby, of Watchung avenue, celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage, Monday night, when they entertained about thirty relatives and friends. The evening was spent in singing and dancing and playing games of all kinds. The couple received the congratulations of their guests; also a number of useful and handsome gifts. During the evening supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Darby have been residents of the borough for several years and they have a host of friends and acquaintances with whom they are popular. Mrs. Darby was Miss Ida Schuck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schuck, of Vine street.

William Bird Arrested Again.

William Bird, of Summit avenue, the borough, who has been in charge of Probation Officer John B. Osborn for several months, following conviction on a charge of stealing a horse blanket belonging to William Coddington, was re-arrested last night because he has failed to report to the probation officer for several months, and pay $1 a month as ordered. The monthly payment was to offset a nominal fine imposed at the time Bird was arraigned last January. Bird was taken to Somerville this afternoon, where he will again be arraigned before Judge Schenck.

Miss Katherine Nielson to Wed.

Miss Katherine Nielson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Nielssen, of East Front street, will be married at 5 o'clock this afternoon to Robert Van Horn, of East Third street. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, will perform the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. A reception will follow.

Arthur Hochman to Play Here.

Under the same patronage as the Beebe-Dethier sonata recitals, which were so successful here during the past two winters, Arthur Hochman, of New York, will give a piano recital, assisted by five other artists, at the home of Mrs. J. P. Stevens, on Hillside avenue, Tuesday, May 25.

Trolley Car Ills Are Quickly Cured

HOW the trolley car which conveys you to and from your home and your business is kept in good repair, is the subject of this talk by PUBLIC SERVICE.

It stands to reason that the vehicle which travels hundreds of miles and carries thousands of passengers is subjected to much wear and tear, and the best of materials which enter into the construction of the car give way, at times, under the strain.

The large, modern trolley car is an expensive piece of equipment. Its cost is more than a dozen times the cost of the horse-car of twenty years ago, and to prolong the usefulness of the carrier and enable it to give service commensurate with its cost, PUBLIC SERVICE finds it necessary to maintain a number of repair shops.

EVERY CAR OVERHAULED.

Largest and most important of these shops is the group on the Plank Road, Newark. Here about 400 men are constantly employed overhauling and painting cars. The capacity of these shops is sufficient to care for the general repairs of the entire northern division of the PUBLIC SERVICE system, and it is a rule of the company that every car shall go to the repair shops at least once in the year for a thorough going-over and to be painted. The paint shop is equipped to handle 150 cars a month.

For the cars of the southern division there is another general repair shop, as thoroughly equipped, although not so large as the Plank Road plant. This is located in Camden, and here the cars operated by PUBLIC SERVICE in Southern Jersey are cared for.

SHOP AT EVERY TERMINAL.

But the two general repair shops are only a part of the system PUBLIC SERVICE maintains for the care and maintenance of its rolling stock. There are twenty-five operating terminals in the street railway department, and every terminal is equipped with facilities for the making of minor repairs. At three places, viz.: South Orange avenue, Newark; Montgomery street, Jersey City, and West Hoboken, there are what might be termed auxiliary general repair shops—places where more than minor repairs are made.

As soon as a car goes crippled it is taken off the line and if the trouble cannot be attended to at one of the operating terminals the vehicle goes to the repair shop. The old maxim of "The Stitch in Time" is followed.

Same thing applies in case of flat wheels. Plants have been established at different points for the grinding of wheels so that the remedy may be applied and the cars put back in service with minimum loss of time.

FOR BETTERMENT OF SERVICE.

All these shops and plants are expensive to maintain, but they add to the efficiency of the service and the comfort of the riders. PUBLIC SERVICE is spending money liberally to improve its service and satisfy its patrons. Fair-minded persons admit its efforts are meeting with success.

MILLINERY TRADE SALE

Beautiful Hats for Women, Misses and Children at Prices Much Less Than Asked by Wholesalers.

A tremendous lot of hats will be involved in the great trade sale we begin tomorrow morning and continue throughout the week. Many of these hats come from our own workrooms and are fine specimens of the milliner's art. Many others come from high-class New York houses, bringing together a variety of models almost unprecedented and enabling us to name prices that will astonish everybody.

We call this a trade sale because we invite those having smaller millinery shops to participate in the buying, knowing that the hats are offered for less than wholesale houses would charge for equal worth and beauty. It is a fine opportunity for tradesmen to sort up their stocks, avoid freight charges, and be able to buy just as many hats as they wish.

Needless to go into the details of our big purchase, which brings prices down so, for the interesting fact to the public is that these hats are strictly up-to-the-hour in fashion, are full of individuality and beauty, and are offered frequently at less than half what they should sell for.

Sale of Spring and Summer Underwear

MEN'S AND WOMEN'S UNDERGARMENTS OFTEN AT LESS THAN HALF.

Economical folks will be glad that we have decided upon this sale so early in the season, just when so many are buying their lighter weight underwear. Far more to the point is a saving on goods bought at the beginning of a season than at the end—and men and women alike will profit by this movement. Some of the lots are small, some of the garments are slightly soiled, but all of them are wonderful values at the prices we name.

EASY TO PICK SUITS HERE

The Styles Are so Good, the Variety so Large, the Prices so Easy to Pay,

We'd like you to see these Two-Piece Street Suits of Chiffon Panama just added to our great collection; some also of Fancy Mixtures just as nice, in the fashionable hipless coat styles of medium length with slashed back and sides, gored pockets; trimmed with silk cord; bengaline collar and cuffs; enhancing the beauty of the garment; buttons galore; may be had in gray, taupe, Conenhagen and black. They will rank with the $19 suits you will see about town, but we are going to make a big feature of these at $9.98

These Tailored Suits of fine Fancy Novelty Mixtures in light Spring weights are bound to win great favor with the better class of dressers. There are suits, also, of French Serge at the same price that will appeal to many; they have hipless straight coats in three-quarter or medium length, semi-fitted or seamless backs, notched or satin collars; high empire or round length skirts with panel front; and there are suits trimmed with 118 buttons—suits we count splendid value at $42 which we are offering at only $29.98

Misses' Three-Piece Suits of Chiffon Panama in fashionable empire effect with full braided bodice, panel front, deep full embroidered cutaway coat in all this season's best shades—suits that would be good value at $29, priced here at only $19.98

Misses and Small Women will like these Linen Jumper Dresses, we are sure, coming as they do in all the popular plain colors and in striped effects; embroidered or full button trimmed with buttons; should retail at $6.98, which we have priced at $3.98

Women's Lingerie Dresses are a great feature of our stock and this lot is bound to attract many buyers—the price alone would win favor for them even if they were not so pretty. These are in light blue, white and all the season's fashionable shades. They are full lace trimmed with panel front; long line Empire bodice effect; full trimmed skirts with tucks and embroidery; also of all-over embroidery; dresses that would sell in many stores for as much as $16; featured here at $5.98

Pretty Striped Washable Princess Dresses in Empire effect with lace yoke, combination trimming of pipings, folds and buttons; all sizes, that should sell at $5 are bidding for your trade at only $2.98

Women's Natty Serge Dress Skirts, circular or semi-gored, with or without buttons, and lapped seams; made with novelty folds; full button trimmed; medium or extra sizes; skirts that should fetch $10, marked $7.98

Panama Dress Skirt—Semi-circular or gored; sides slashed; skirt with or without buttons; also rows of satin trimming; any size you wish; would be cheap at $4.98; special priced at only $2.98

building for use as a dining-room is now complete, and two weeks hence, May 1, the alteration of the old garage into a locker house will be completed.

The opening day of the Cranford Golf Club for 1909 will be Saturday. Considerable work has been done on the links, and the nine-hole course is better than ever. Extensive alterations have also been made to the clubhouse. The program for the first half of the season will be as follows:

May 1, class competition handicap, qualifying round at medal play; competitors to be divided in three classes, eight to qualify in each class; eighteen holes. The first round at match play will be played on May 8, semi-final round on May 15 and final round May 22.

On May 29 and 31 the vice president's prize will be contested for. This will be a medal play handicap, 36 holes. Competitors may turn in one 18-hole score on the 29th, and two 18-hole scores on the 31st; best 36 holes to be the player's score. Prizes will be given for the best net scores for each of the three 18-hole rounds. There will also be a putting competition for the women on May 31. The event will be an 18-hole handicap.

Play will begin for the president's prize on June 5. The qualifying round will be an 18-hole medal play handicap. Thirty-two competitors to qualify and continue at match play (18 holes). The first round in this contest will be played on June 12, second round on June 19, third round on June 26, semi-final round on July 3. The first round must be played before August 1.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

St. Yves and Shrubb are finishing their training. Both runners express therselves as being in first-class condition.

Poor Princeton is certainly having her share of hard luck. The Tigers will not have any crew this year. Of course it means much discouragement to all the college boys of Nassau, who wanted to see what sort of oarsmen the college had.

Never in the history of horse racing has the American owners had such hard luck in Europe.

BIG JIM JEFFRIES TAKES TITLE BACK.

He Says He'll Defend It, Too, and Prefers a Bout with Jack Johnson.

James J. Jeffries made the long-expected announcement last night, that he had decided to reclaim his title of heavyweight champion of the world, and that he would return to the ring prepared to defend the title against all comers, Jack Johnson preferred.

But Jeffries made it clear that he would not be ready to fight Johnson or anybody else for at least ten months, or possibly one year. Jeffries stated to a crowded house in the American Music Hall, in New York, that he would fight the big black man before the club offering the largest purse, if, of course, the negro succeeds in whipping Stanley Ketchel, the world's middle-weight champion, with whom Johnson is matched to box twenty rounds in Colma, Cal., on October 12.

Jeffries said: "I am now in fine condition and believe that with seven more weeks training I will be ready to fight Jack Johnson."

WHAT JOHNSON SAYS.

Will Fight Jeffries When Latter Puts His Money Up.

Pittsburg, April 21.—When asked today for an answer to Jim Jeffries' offer to fight him for the world's championship, Jack Johnson had the following to say:

"Jeffries has got to show that he means business by posting $5,000 before I will talk fight with him. If he puts up his money I will cancel all other fights and take him on. Otherwise I will pay no more attention to him than to Sam Langford, who failed to put up his money.

"The instant this money is up Jeffries can consider the match on.

"His claim that he regains his old title by returning to the ring is all rot and won't hold water. He knows I am champion or he would never agree to box me."

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

"Personal Work" will be the topic of the mid-week prayer-meeting at Hope chapel tonight.

The offering received at the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday for the repair fund, amounted to $142.40.

"Meditations on the Ascension of Jesus" will be the subject of the mid-week prayer-meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church tonight.

The Intermediate, Junior Endeavor and Boys' Club will hold a meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The mid-week prayer-meeting at the First Baptist church tonight will be in charge of the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss. The topic will be "Saints in Caesar's Household, Then Why Not Anywhere?"

The Men's Association of the Church of the Heavenly Rest will hold a regular meeting tomorrow night, when E. E. Parvin, of this city, will speak on "Ocean Transportation." Friends of the association are invited.

A half-dozen horse-sheds will soon be erected on the property adjoining the First Baptist church, to take the place of the old ones. When the present church was built there was scarcely enough space on the premises for wagon accommodation. Now less than a half-dozen stalls will meet the demands.

The American McAll Association will hold its twenty-sixth annual meeting in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Wednesday and Thursday, May 5 and 6. The local branch is requesting that persons who can entertain delegates send their names to Mrs. John Gray Foster, 91 Mercer avenue, North Plainfield, as soon as possible.

New Specialties at Proctor's.

Grandon & Wilson, famous as leaders of the band in "Old Kentucky," musical artists, and Fay Leslie, commedienne, will appear at Proctor's theatre today with these life motion pictures: "Caught in a Trap," "When We Were Boys," "Boxing Matches in England," "Tale of the West," "Lure of the Gown," "Mamma I Did It," "Kiss of Judas" and "Plantation Scenes."

FATHERED MANY BILLS

was created when the Governor signed Mr. Ackerman's bill, No. 233, relative to the taxing of interstate estates, held in trust by foreign executors. This bill will to a great extent help solve the future financial problems of the State. Bill No. 247 is a companion bill to this measure.

Other bills introduced by Senator Ackerman which are now laws follow:

Senate No. 103, gives surrogates of counties in which a non-resident decedent has real estate to that of a surrogate where the decedent may have a residence but no real property. Filed by the Governor.

Senate No. 148, provides that where the congregation of any Methodist Episcopal conference becomes extinct the property of the same may be sold by the Newark M. E. conference. Approved by the Governor.

Senate No. 156, amends the act of April 25, 1907, providing for additional bonds for private bankers doing business with foreign countries. Approved by the Governor.

Senate No. 322, supplements the act of March 15, 1899, relative to two or more municipalities joining in constructing outlet sewers, relating to additional bond issues. Not yet signed.

Senate No. 334, limits the rights of local boards of education to appoint supervisors without State Board consent. Approved by the Governor.

Senator Ackerman has the unique record of not having lost a measure during the entire term and this no doubt is due to the fact that every bill introduced by him has been of commendable purposes. He also gives great credit to the three assemblymen from Union county, Messrs. Schwartz Kirstein and Pierce, and says that without their help it would have been impossible for him to have attained the success which he did.

In return Senator Ackerman can say that he did not lose one of the measures which he fathered in the Senate for the Union Assemblymen and which were introduced in the House.

Union was well served.

East Orange Man Missing.

The police have been asked to aid in the search for John Edwards, an East Orange man, who has been missing from his home, 331 Walnut street, since Friday. Mr. Edwards is 65 years of age, five feet seven inches tall, and weighs 190 pounds. When he left home he wore a black suit, striped with white, a black derby hat and a dark, light-weight overcoat.

GOVERNOR FORT MAKES MORE LAWS

Trenton, April 21.—The following bills were signed yesterday by Governor Fort:

Senate 159, by Senator Osborne, providing for three peremptory challenges to defendant and State in any case tried before a struck jury.

Senate 250, by Senator Frelinghuysen, supplementing the railroad commission act of May 15, 1907, requiring notices to be posted when a railroad station is to be abandoned.

Senate 227, by Senator Wakelee, authorizing the Board of Fish and Game Commissioners to lease a farm and propagate thereon fowl and rabbits for stocking purposes, with game keeper, salaried at $1,200 a year.

Senate 159—Mr. Osborne, amending the crimes act by authorizing the court within sixty days after judgment is rendered to reopen the same.

Senate 314—Mr. Osborne, amending the act relative to life insurance companies so as to authorize the issuance of policies to lodge members on the "industrial plan."

Senate 377—Mr. Hillery, incorporating the first judicial district of Morris county, consisting of the boroughs of Chatham, Madison and Florham Park, the townships of Morris and Chatham and the town of Morristown.

Senate 336, Mr. Wakelee, making it unlawful to kill or have in possession any rabbit between November 15 and December 31.

Senate 271, Mr. Osborne, extending chancery powers for the recovery of interstate estates.

Senate 40, Mr. Frelinghuysen, making it unlawful to hunt for wild deer except with a rifle or a shotgun of a smaller calibre than twelve guage, or to hunt deer except in daylight.

Senate 366, Mr. Fielder, authorizing any municipality connected by tunnel with another municipality to expend not more than $5,000 for a celebration commemorating the tunnel opening. Applies to Jersey City.

House 227, Mr. Stille, puts the commissioner of inland waterways and chief of the bureau of shell fisheries on the free railroad pass list.

House 296, Mr. Bedle, making it a misdemeanor to wilfully destroy any gas-meter.

House 345, Mr. Potter, the Camden police bill, authorizing a bond issue of $100,000 for the extension of the police telegraph.

House 226, Mr. Crosby, providing that oyster superintendents shall hold office until their successors have been appointed and qualified.

House 300, Mr. Voorhees, amending the "Strong act," which reduced the number of freeholders in the county adopting it.

House 103, Mr. Miller, relating to the repaving of streets in first-class cities and the method of assessing the costs and expenses thereof.

House 116, Mr. Potter, amending the act relative to securing authority from owners and municipalities for permission to erect telegraph poles and to lay conduits.

House 353, Mr. Keffer, changing the name of South Atlantic City to Margate City.

House 395, Mr. Clark, gives additional powers as to vacating and closing streets to town councils.

House 392, Mr. Pierce, referring to damages by forest fires.

Comptroller Patterson to Lecture.

The Brotherhood of the First M. E. church is planning a "ladies' night" for Friday evening, April 30, instead of April 23, as announced, when Charles E. Patterson, comptroller of the American Locomotive Company, will give his illustrated lecture on "A Business Man's Impressions of the Holy Land." Mr. Patterson is one of the prominent laymen of his denomination and a lecturer of exceptional ability. The views shown by him are not the usual "stock" slides but are made from photographs made under his personal direction. The members of all the Men's Clubs of the city and their lady friends are invited to this lecture.

High-Class Vaudeville Pleases.

Another capacity audience was attracted to the New Plainfield theatre, last night, when a first-class vaudeville program was presented. An added feature was the appearance of Lottie and Ed. Harrington, comedy ring artists, who delighted and pleased everyone with their clever work on the rings. Eddie Gardner, comic singer, dancer, hat juggler; Grace Hazzard, the soubrette and "The Great Musical Vinos," "In Fun in a Barn Yard," together with Miss Leighton in illustrated songs, comprised the strong bill and every artist was recalled. There will be an entire change of bill tomorrow.

CONFERENCE OF HOME DEPARTMENT WORKERS

The Home Department Council held at the Park Avenue Baptist church, last night, was largely attended by Sunday-school workers throughout the city. The Home department is now a strong feature in Sunday-school work in the State and its influence is widespread. Similar conferences have been held in Jersey City, Newark, Trenton, Camden and Westfield.

At last night's conference every Sunday-school in the city was represented and reports of the work were presented. These showed that the department in Trinity Reformed church had made the greatest progress. Since January 1 of this year more than one hundred new members have been received and the superintendent, Mrs. Henry Van Name, said she looked for even greater progress in the next six months.

After the song service and devotional exercises, in charge of George E. Hall, president of the State Sunday-school Association, he welcomed the delegates to the church and expressed the hope that the work so well begun would go on with continued success. He said that it is the duty of every Sunday-school worker to see that the Home department prospers.

The speaker of the evening was Elmer E. Eagon, of Trenton, who is the field secretary for the State Home department work. During his remarks Mr. Eagon outlined the methods of organization and the benefits of this kind of home mission work. He said that it marked the beginning of Bible study on the part of the members and the subsequent building up of Sunday-school Bible classes. Following the conference there was a social hour. Those present were so much pleased with the success of the meeting that another one will probably be held here soon.

HERMAN H. SCHULZE DIES SUDDENLY.

Popular Elizabeth Elk and Eagle Succumbs to Heart Failure at His Home.

Herman H. Schulze, one of the best known lodgemen in the county, who was well known in Plainfield, is dead at his home, 42 Prospect street, Elizabeth. He passed away early yesterday morning, after a lingering illness, heart failure being the direct cause of death. Funeral services will be held tonight from the home of his parents, the Rev. C. G. Fischer, of the German Lutheran church, officiating. The funeral will take place tomorrow. The local aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, of which Mr. Schulze was treasurer, will perform the lodge rites at the grave, and Elizabeth City Lodge of Elks will also officiate.

Mr. Schulze was formerly secretary of the Elks and was a charter member of the Eagles. He was associated for some time with his father in the liquor business and had been employed later as a clerk by the Central Railroad Company. He was born in Newark thirty-nine years ago, and was the son of Herman E. and Marie Schulze. He is survived by his parents, a widow, one daughter and a brother.

Mr. Schulze had resided in Elizabeth since childhood and had an unusually large number of friends and acquaintances, with whom he was popular. He was outdoors as late as Monday and met several of his friends. His death came as a surprise to them.

LEWIS SWORN IN AS BANKING HEAD

Trenton, April 21.—Vivian M. Lewis was out of a political job for forty-five minutes Monday after noon. The hiatus in Mr. Lewis' office-holding career commenced at 3:30 p. m., when former Senator Samuel K. Robbins appeared before Chancellor Mahlon Pitney, in the latter's office, and took the oath of office as clerk of the Court of Chancery. At 4:15 p. m. Justice Reed, of the Supreme Court, arrived at the State House and immediately administered the oath of office to Mr. Lewis as Commissioner of Banking and Insurance.

The induction of Mr. Robbins into the new official place automatically removed him as a member of the Legislature, so that a formal resignation from the Senatorial office will not be required. The ceremonies of administering the oaths of office to Messrs. Robbins and Lewis were very simple. Immediately after Mr. Robbins became chancery clerk he was escorted through the department by his predecessor and introduced to the staff of clerks engaged there. Few of them had a personal acquaintance with the new clerk, although he has been a member of the Legislature for several years.

As soon of Mr. Lewis had taken the oath he went to his new office. His predecessor, David O. Watkins, was not on hand to greet him. Mr. Watkins is very much piqued over his failure to secure reappointment, and was in no mood to indulge in official courtesies incident to his retirement from the $6,000 a year job. Commissioner Lewis remained in his office an hour, during which there was a constant stream of friends entering to extend congratulations. The new commissioner said he would make no immediate changes, if any at all, in the office.

Contrary to the general understanding when Governor Fort first submitted Mr. Robbins' nomination to the Senate, he is appointed for the full term of five years. Under the Constitution, when a chancery clerk retires from office, whether or not it is the midst of the term for which he was originally named, his successor is appointed for another full term of five years. With the exception of the deputy clerk, all the employes of the chancery office are under civil service, and cannot be removed except for misconduct or inefficiency. The present deputy clerk is E. M. Applegate, former Mayor of Bridgeton, Cumberland County. Mr. Robbins will continue Mr. Applegate as his deputy.

DEATHS ACCIDENTAL.

Death through accidental causes was the verdict of the jury at the inquest yesterday afternoon into the circumstances surrounding the death of Anna Dowska, 17 years old, and the infant son of B. Sherman, who were killed by a trolley car on First street, Elizabeth, Friday night. The inquest was held in the Court House. Prosecutor C. Addison Swift represented the State and Adolph Degenring, the coroner, presided. Morgue Keeper John J. Engel told of the conditions of the two bodies. Fred Braun and Otto Beyer, the crew of the car, also testified. Officials of the Public Service Corporation and police officials also were witnesses. The bodies were viewed by Mr. Degenring and the jurors yesterday morning.

The Dowska girl and the infant were killed while crossing the street near the Sherman home. The girl was carrying the child, and, it is said, was endeavoring to save the youngster when both of them met death. Their bodies were badly mangled. It was reported at the time that the car was overspeeding. The members of the jury were: Henry Ahrens, foreman; John P. Weber, Edward Hersh, William Hilgendorf, William H. Dixon and Samuel J. Holland.

BOLT DESTROYS HOUSE.

Electrical Storm Does Much Damage About Elizabeth.

The electrical storm Monday night did considerable damage in and about Elizabeth. A bolt struck the new residence of John Smith, in Saybrook, and it was completely destroyed. A house in course of construction in Brunswick avenue, Bayway, owned by Max Fern, of Elizabeth, was blown over, causing a loss of about $1,000.

Lightning struck the trolley wires in Broad street, Elizabeth, and stalled a string of cars. When the bolt struck here was a brilliant electrical display near the arch. Traffic was tied up for several minutes.

The wind which preceded the storm put the boatmen along the shore front on their guard. The smaller craft hugged the shore and kept under cover until the storm passed over. The tows coming through the sound suffered delay.

VOORHEES IS HUMBLE.

Middlesex Man Looking for Only One Tiny Job.

Trenton, April 21.—Assemblyman William C. Voorhees, of Middlesex county, Theodore Strong's mouthpiece in the House, who lined up against Governor Fort's every desire in legislative matters during the recent session, hung around the executive offices for some time Monday, trying to secure an interview with Governor Fort in order to urge the re-appointment of John Scully as a pilot commissioner at South Amboy.

"It is the only thing I am asking for," declared Voorhees, "and I think the Governor ought to favor me to this extent anyway."

Mr. Voorhees asserted that so far as his serving again in the Legislature is concerned, he is in the hands of his friends.

"If they make a fight for me, I may run again next fall," he said.

Middlesex Democrats Dine.

About 200 prominent Democrats of Middlesex county gathered at Graham & McCormick's Hall, New Brunswick, last night, and enjoyed the third annual banquet of the Young Men's Democratic Club. Freeman Woodbridge, of New Brunswick, acted as toastmaster, and speeches were made by Congressman Eugene F. Kinkead, Mayor Otto Wittpenn and Assemblyman Mark A. Sullivan, of Jersey City, and Senator George S. Silzer, of Metuchen. Mr. Silzer was boomed for a renomination for Senator and George A. Viehmann, former Mayor of New Brunswick, as a Gubernatorial candidate.

$500 More for Library.

At a meeting of the Westfield Town Council Monday night it was voted to appropriate $500 additional for the support of the Free Public Library, in order to get the sum of $5,000 more from Andrew Carnegie for the enlargement of the library building. The town agreed to appropriate $1,000 for the support of the institution at the time Mr. Carnegie gave $10,000 for the erection of the building.

SENATOR TILLMAN CALLS AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington, April 21.—"I waited until a gentleman got in," was the comment of Senator Tillman, of South Carolina yesterday, as he departed from the White House, where he went to make his first call on President Taft and where he had not been for sevn years.

Senator Tillman has been in Washington little since March 4. He called on the President yesterday, he said, to pay his respects. Owing to the feud between him and Roosevelt he never went to the White House during that administration.

Asked about the object of his visit, he said:

"I just came down here to see if the office seekers had fried any of the fat off Taft. I found they hadn't, and that he is well and happy.

"It's not necessary to make a nine days' wonder of my visit to President Taft," said Mr. Tillman after his return to the Capitol. "We have always been good friends, and I have frequently gone to see him when he was Secretary of War. Whether he has inherited his office from Roosevelt or been elected by the people, there is no reason for any one to suppose that he has inherited Roosevelt's meanness.

"I have no favors to ask of the President and no advice to offer," said Mr. Tillman. "I would have gone to see him sooner had it not been for the fact that I have been out of the city. I have taken the first convenient opportunity to call upon him."

While at the White House Senator Tillman saw Booker T. Washington for the first time.

"I was very curious to see him," said Mr. Tillman, "because it enabled me to draw my own conclusion as to the percentage of white blood there is in him. It is over one-half."

Asked what impression he formed of Washington, Mr. Tillman replied: "Booker Washington is considered a great negro and he has great intellectual powers. He has a Jesuitical face. If he had not been engaged with a lot of people about him I should have gone up to him and chatted with him. I would like to discuss the race question with Booker Washington. I would like to ask him a lot of questions."

NEW $150,000 STRUCTURE PLANNED FOR SETON HALL.

Plans have been adopted for the new college building at Seton Hall, South Orange, to replace the structure recently destroyed by fire. The plans, which were prepared by John T. Rowland, Jr., and Frank Eurich, Jr., of Jersey City, call for a brick and steel fireproof building, to cost $125,000. This, with the heating plant and interior furnishing, will bring the cost up to $150,000. The new building, which will be four stories high, with a basement its entire length, will have a frontage of 180 feet and a depth of eighty-two feet.

It will be in the form of an arc, and will be situated on the old athletic ground east of the library building, facing South Orange avenue. The classrooms and study halls will be on the first floor, with the other floors taken up with dormitories and one hundred private rooms. The heating and electric light plants, with storage, locker and dining-rooms, will be in the basement.

With the enlarged accommodations it will be possible to devote one wing to the use of the grammar pupils, who are at present housed in Bayley Hall. A few minor changes are to be made, but these will not change the appearance of the building. Work will probably be begun in a few weeks.

Because of the heavy burden that will be placed on the college authorities, a call will probably be sent out to the alumni for subscriptions.

The plans were accepted in competition with many architects.

PERSONAL.

ANSWERS EVERY CALL.

Plainfield People Have Found that This Is True.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench,
A little cause may hurt the kidneys.
Spells of backache often follow,
Or some irregularity.
A certain remedy for such attacks,
A medicine that answers every call,
Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a true specific.
Many Plainfield people rely on it.

Mrs. A. K. Mattis, 127 West Fourth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Mr. Mattis suffered from severe pains in his back, caused by a fall which injured his kidneys. He consulted a doctor and took several kinds of medicine but found no relief whatever. Finally he obtained a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Pharmacy and found them to be just what he needed. They drove away the pains in a short time and strengthened his kidneys. On one or two occasions since he has had slight backaches, but at such times Doan's Kidney Pills have been used with the very best of results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Samuel Hunt was thrown from his wagon by a runaway horse and severely hurt at Wrightstown.

The bids for the erection of the $48,000 school building in Milville were opened before a special session of the Board of Education last evening.

Lewis Sparks, a Woodbury veteran of the Civil War, after years of search, has come into possession again of the drum he played while in the army.

While at play, Louis Schefker, five years old, of 867 Fairview street, Camden, fell and fractured a leg. He was cared for at the Cooper Hospital.

General Howell Post, G. A. R., of Woodbury, is making extensive preparations for Memorial Day. Former Governor Stokes will deliver the oration in the courthouse.

While repairing an umbrella Henry McClosey, sixty-six years old, of 516 Federal street, Camden, slashed an artery in his right hand. He was attended at Cooper Hospital.

Arrested in a moving picture show on a charge of stealing $13 from John Pettjcone, of 710 South Third street, and handing it to a confederate, who escaped, Joseph Goldberg, of Philadelphia, was held in $800 bail in the Camden Police Court.

Howard T. Rothchild, a New York banker, paid a fine of $10 in Atlantic City because he ran a machine without a New Jersey license. He declared that he had made an effort to secure a visitor's license under the new law, but could not find an official who could issue it.

Carroll, the three-year-old son of Mrs. Martha Hickman, of Bridgeton, turned on an oven burner of a gas stove. When Mrs. Hickman later opened the oven door the gas poured out and was ignited by the top burners. The mother and son were badly burned about the head and face. The child's condition is serious, while Mrs. Hickman suffers greatly.

Because Joseph Giordano, of East Twenty-seventh street, Paterson, went to a silk mill in that city to remonstrate with a man who assaulted the former's son, he was set upon and beaten. Giordano was found in the office, bleeding from a wound on the head and several wounds on the left side and breast. The wounds on the body were inflicted with a small pair of scissors, while the scalp wound was caused probably by a blow with a club. Sebastian, Severino and Luigi Marino, brothers, were arrested as the assailants.

Announcing his candidacy for Mayor on a platform of civic progress, Charles P. Earner, Republican in Burlington politics prior to six years ago, has stirred political circles by re-entering the arena, from which he retired in 1903, following his defeat at the Republican primaries for the Mayoralty candidacy. Mr. Farner made his official announcement yesterday of his intention of getting into the fight this year. He is a veteran of the Civil War. He has done much to advance the public interests of the city and his campaign is to be made on a basis of greater civic progress.

Decoyed in the middle of the night by a telephone call to attend a sick horse over in West Millville, Dr. William Bentley, of Millville, a veterinary surgeon, was held up at the point of a revolver by two highwaymen and robbed of $2.65, all the cash which he had with him. When the robbers left the doctor he called to them, "I'll see you later." The surgeon recognized the men and intended to have a warrant issued for their arrest in the morning. Before he went to a magistrate, however, one of the men appeared at the office, and on promise of the doctor not to prosecute the case the money was returned.

Judgeship for Beekman.

Trenton, April 21.—Governor Fort appointed John W. Beekman judge of the District Court of Perth Amboy. He succeeds Judge Adrain Lyon, who was appointed last week judge of the Court of Common Pleas. Mr. Beekman's appointment is ad interim. During the administration of President Cleveland, Mr. Beekman was appointed United States district attorney, a position which he held for only a short time, resigning to make way for former Judge J. Kearny Rice.

POLLY of the CIRCUS

By MARGARET MAYO

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead and Company

CHAPTER XII.

LONELY days followed Polly's desertion of the parsonage. Mandy went about her duties very quietly, feeling that the little comments which once amused the pastor had now become an interruption to thoughts in which she had no part. He would sit for hours with his head in his hands, taking no notice of what passed before him. She tried to think of new dishes to tempt his appetite and shook her head sadly as she bore the untasted food back to the kitchen.

She sometimes found a portfolio of drawings lying open upon his study table. She remembered the zeal with which he had planned to remodel the church and parsonage when he first came to them, how his enthusiasm had gradually died for lack of encouragement and how he had at last put his books in a cupboard, where they grew dusty from long neglect. She marveled at their reappearance now, but something in his set, faraway look made her afraid to inquire. Thus she went on from day to day, growing more impatient with Hasty and more silent with the pastor.

Mandy needed humor and companionship to oil the wheels of her humdrum life. There was no more laughter in the house, and she began to droop.

Polly had been away from the parsonage a month when the complacency of the village was again upset by the arrival of the "Great American Circus."

There were many callers at the parsonage that day, for speculation was now at fever heat about the pastor. "Will he try to see her?" "Has he forgotten her?" and "What did he ever find in her?" were a few of the many questions that the women were asking each other. Now that the cause of their envy was removed they would gladly have reinstated the pastor as their idol, for, like all truly feminine souls, they could not bear to see a man unhappy without wishing to comfort him, nor happy unless they were the direct cause of his state. "How dare any man be happy without me?" has been the cry of each woman since Eve was created to mate with Adam.

Douglas had held himself more and more aloof from the day of Polly's disappearance. He expressed no opinion about the deacons or their recent disapproval of him. He avoided meeting them oftener than duty required, and Strong felt so uncomfortable and tongue tied in his presence that he, too, was glad to make their talks as few as possible.

Nothing was said about the pastor's plans for the future or about his continued connection with the church, and the inquisitive sisterhood was on the point of exploding from an overaccumulation of unanswered questions.

He delivered his sermons conscientiously, called upon his poor, listened to the sorrows, real and fancied, of his parishioners and shut himself up with his books or walked alone on the hill behind the church.

He had been absent all day when Mandy looked out on the circus lot for the dozenth time and saw that the afternoon performance was closing. It had driven her to desperation to learn that Miss Polly was not in the parade that morning and to know that the pastor had made no effort to find out about her. For weeks both she and Hasty had hoped that the return of the circus might bring Polly back to them, but now it was nearly night and there had been no word from her. Why didn't she come running in to see them, as Mandy had felt so sure she would? Why had the pastor stayed away on the hills all day?

Unanswered questions were always an abomination to Mandy, so finally she drew a quarter from the knotted gingham rag that held her small wad of savings and told Hasty to "go 'long to de show an' find out 'bout Miss Polly."

She was anxiously waiting for him when Deacon Strong knocked at the door for the second time that afternoon.

"Is Mr. Douglas back yet?" he asked.

"No, sah, he ain't," said Mandy very shortly. She felt that Strong and Elverson had been "a-tryin' to spy on de parson all day," and she resented their visits more than she usually did.

"What time are you expectin' him?"

"I don't nebber spec' Massa Douglas till I sees him."

Strong grunted uncivilly and went down the steps. She saw from the window that he met Elverson in front of the church.

"Dey sure am a-meanin' trouble," she mumbled.

The band had stopped playing; the last of the audience had straggled down the street. She opened the door and stood on the porch; the house seemed to suffocate her. What was keeping Hasty?

He came at last, but Mandy could tell from his gait that he brought unwelcome knews.

"Ain't she dar?"

"She's a-trabbelin' wid 'em, Mandy, but she didn't done ride."

"See heah, Hasty Jones, is dat ere chile sick?"

"I don' rightly know," said Hasty. "A great big man, what wored clothes like a gemmen, comed out wid a whip in his hand an' says as how he's [illegible] to 'member de udder gal in Miss Polly's place. An' den he says as how de udder gal was jes' as good, an' den ever'body look disappointed like, an' den out comes de udder gal on a hoss an' do tricks, an' I ain't heard no more 'bout Miss Polly."

"She's sick, dat's what I says," Mandy declared excitedly, "an' somebody's got to do somethin'!"

"I done all I knowed," drawled Hasty, fearing that Mandy was regretting her twenty-five cent investment.

"Go 'long out an' fix up dat 'ere kitchen fire," was Mandy's impatient reply. "I got to keep dem vittels warm for Massa John."

She wished to be alone, so that she could think of some way to get hold of Polly. "Dat baby faced mornin' glory done got Mandy all wobbly 'bout de heart," she declared to herself as she crossed to the window for a sight of the pastor.

TAFT AND SHERMAN AT A BALL GAME.

President and Vice-President, Side by Side, Enjoy Boston-Washington Contest.

Washington, D. C., April 21.—For the first time in many years, and for all that anybody seems to know, the first time in the history of the country, the President and the Vice-President of the United States attended a baseball game together Monday. Mr. Taft and Mr. Sherman sat side by side in one of the boxes in American League Park and witnessed the game between the Boston and the Washington teams. They did not root very hard because there was nothing in particular for partisans of the home team to root about.

It was a one-sided contest from beginning to end, although there were one or two occasions when it seemed remotely possible that the Washingtons would make enough runs to render the clash somewhat more interesting toward the close of the game. The desired base hits, however, were not forthcoming, and President Taft really looked a little less cheerful than usual when the last man was out in the ninth inning, and the home team had only half as many runs as the visitors.

SMITH NO LONGER TO ACT AS JUDGE.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Will Refer Violations to State Inspectors.

Trenton, April 21.—Commissioner of Motor Vehicles J. B. R. Smith has determined to hereafter refer all complaints of violations of automobile laws to Chief Inspector Johnson and his assistants, instead of attempting to gather evidence in such cases himself.

In the past Mr. Smith has frequently gathered evidence of violations by personal effort, and then, under the law, disposed of cases, sitting as a quasi judge. He now has come to the conclusion that it is not right for him to act in this dual capacity. The inspectors will make reports to Mr. Smith and he will then dispose of the cases as the circumstances seem to warrant.

Mr. Smith Monday assigned Inspector Johnson to make an investigation of the circumstances of the accident resulting from a wild ride of a party of Trenton young men in a taxicab Sunday, when they ran into and wrecked a farmer's rig near White Horse Tavern.

LOBSTERS STIR UP SMALL PANIC

Hundred Live Ones Invade Dining-room and Scare Women Eating Broiled Ones.

Hoboken, April 21.—While about fifty persons, many of them women, were enjoying boiled lobster in Voll's Restaurant, 82 River street, Sunday night, about 100 crustaceans which had escaped the tortures of the iron broke out of a box, crawled into the dining room and created a panic among the guests which lasted an hour. Only half the lobsters were recaptured alive, while half the guests continued their meal in half that condition.

One young woman started the commotion by leaping to a table and shouting, "Rats!" This case of mistaken identity only caused the intruders to advance at more rapid speed and the other women to seek places of a high elevation. Many leaps for places of supposed safety were miscalculated, which added to the confusion.

At Voll's call for volunteers the men, armed with clubs, forks, mallets, brooms and any weapons they could gain possession of, started in pursuit, and after an hour reported the last one captured. All treated the matter philosophically and resumed their seats, while Voll treated the crowd.

Bowling and General Sports

NEWARK BOWLERS EASILY DEFEAT WATCHUNG COUNCIL.

The Newark Knights of Columbus bowling team easily defeated the Watchung Council five on Campbell's alleys, last night, in two straight games. The home team was no match for the visitors, who bowled a steady game throughout. In the first game Conners put up the highest score of the evening, a 199, and Connolly, of the Watchung team, was a close second with a 198. The second game was a cinch for the Newark bowlers. The scores:

NEWARK.

Foran	155	187
Connors	199	178
Sullivan	136	169
Murphy	182	153

Reville and Connolly Win.

In a postponed series of the Two Man Tourney, held at Johnny Campbell's last night, Reville and Connolly defeated Nash and Blatz in the best two out of three games. The defeat came almost as a surprise to the losers, who are looked upon as two of the best bowlers in the city. The highest score made by the winning team was 387 in the first game, while the best the losers could do was 362. Connolly was the only man to make over two hundred.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The subject for the meeting of the W. C. T. U. tomorrow afternoon will be "Systematic Giving," and Mrs. Ramsay Blair, the superintendent of that department will have charge.

The annual business and congregational meeting of Warren chapel will be held tonight. Reports will be presented covering all the activities of the church and Sunday-school work for the year.

At the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, will present the work of the chapels and the annual offering will be made for their support. The sum of $5,000 is required.

ANNUAL P. H. S. TRACK MEET FRIDAY, APRIL 30.

The annual track meet of the Plainfield High School will be held at the Driving Park, Friday afternoon, April 30. Manager Edward Sampter announces that all entries for the events will be closed Friday, April 23. There will be two handsome prizes given, the first being a solid gold medal by The Daily Press, for the individual championship, and the second a silver cup by the Courier-News, for the class scoring the highest number of points.

Among the events that will take place will be three dashes, consisting of a 50, 100 and 220 yard runs. There will also be three hurdles, consisting of 220, 440 and 880 yards. The longest running event will be the one mile run. The running high and broad jumps will also be among the features, while the twelve pound shot-put is creating considerable interest.

FIREMEN GRUMBLE.

Hook and Ladder Men of Cranford Want Horses.

There is considerable dissatisfaction in the Cranford fire department, particularly among the members of Hook and Ladder Truck No. 1, because the apparatus has no horses to pull the machine to fires. The truck is up-to-date in every respect and well equipped. For the last five alarms the machine has failed to respond.

On Sunday the apparatus was badly needed at a fire in the Union News Company's stand at the depot, where an awning was in flames and a ladder was needed to reach the roof. The township bought three horses some time ago, and two are used on the hose wagon. The firemen who respond to alarms ride on this machine to the scene of action, and oft-times there are as many as a dozen men riding on the hos wagon.

Mrs. Bruggy Asks $500 Damages for Alleged Assault.

Through James P. Kelly, her attorney, Mrs. Ida F. Bruggy, of 123 Elizabeth avenue, Elizabeth, has begun suit in the District Court for $500 damages against Patrolman William McCracken, of the police force. She alleges in her declaration that McCracken came to her home one night in September last and demanded admittance, saying he had a warrant for the arrest of her son. Admittance being denied, the officer broke down the door and entered the apartment. Then followed an attack, during wihch the plaintiff alleges that she was knocked down, sustaining an injury to her back that has broken her health.

Lightning Destroys Barns.

In the severe thunderstorm Monday night, the large barn belonging to Alexander Brokaw, near Neshanic station, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground, with its contents, including a large quantity of hay, grain and farming machinery. The flames spread to several other valuable outbuildings, which were also destroyed with contents. The livestock was rescued with much difficulty. The loss may reach $8,000, largely covered by insurance. The barn belonging to Sylvester Horner, near Baptiststown, was struck by lightning during the same storm and destroyed. The livestock was rescued. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

To Dedicate New Church.

The new St. Luke's Episcopal church at Roselle will be formally dedicated Sunday, May 2. The Right Rev. John Scarborough, bishop of the Diocese of New Jersey, will preach the dedicatory sermon and administer confirmation. The new church is on Fifth avenue, in the fashionable section of the borough. There will be no services in the old church Sunday on account of the removal of the church paraphernalia to the new structure.

Denies Call Was Made.

Dr. Edward B. Voorhees, chairman of the pulpit committee of the Second Reformed church, New Brunswick, yesterday denied the report set out from Hackensack that a call has been extended by the Second Reformed church to the Rev. Dr. Herman Vanderwart, of Hackensack.

PASTOR WRITES CANTATA.

Aldene Station Agent Paints Scenery For Its Production.

The Rev. L. L. Lever, pastor of Aldene M. E. church, has written a cantata entitled "The Prodigal Son," which contains many dramatic parts and is to be presented in three acts and eight scenes by seventeen young people. The cantata will be given early next month under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society.

The scenery has been painted by Christian Gothsheben, station agent at the Aldene station of the Central Railroad.

Successful Entertainment at Trinity.

The entertainment given by the athletic committee of the Trinity Reformed church, last night, for the benefit of the Athletic Association of the Sunday-school, netted about $15. The principal entertainer was Frank Reynolds, of Boston, who gave a number of humorous and dramatic recitations. Mr. Reynolds proved himself a treat to those present and received hearty applause. Among the other features were the tenor solos rendered by E. D. Young. Miss Lillian Force presided at the piano.

POLITICIANS JOLLY TIME

Hale-Fellows-Well-Met, 200 Strong, Hold Their Annual Feast.

F. H. SMITH TOASTMASTER.

Frelinghuysen, Runyon, Pierce, Loomis and Fisk Respond to the Toasts.

Good fellowship, good speeches and a fine dinner combined to make the annual gathering of the "Hale-Fellows-Well-Met" at Bender's Hotel, Lorraine, last night, a success. There were about two hundred guests, including ten Plainfielders. Although some of the important speakers found it impossible to attend, there were others to take their places and there was no lack of wit, humor and oratory.

County Chairman Frank H. Smith was the toastmaster and the speakers were City Judge William N. Runyon, of this city; State Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of Somerset; Assemblyman James Parker, of Hudson; Assemblyman Carleton B. Pierce, of Union; Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, of this city, and Charles Battell Loomis, the humorous. Telegrams were received from State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, Vivian M. Lewis, State Senator Thomas J. Hillery and Mayor Victor Mravlag, of Elizabeth, expressing their regrets because they were unable to be present.

James White, who was chairman of the dinner committee, and one of the most popular Republicans in the county, was given a surprise, when Toastmaster Smith presented him with a gold watch, chain and charm. It was entirely unexpected and Mr. White found it difficult to express his feelings for a few minutes. Afterwards he thanked all for the appropriate gift and he said that he would always remember the occasion with the greatest pleasure.

The first speaker of the evening was Judge William N. Runyon, who, after referring to the excellent thought expressed in the name, "Hale-Fellows-Well-Met," explaining that it was a world-wide organization, with members in every clime, entertained the assemblage with a number of good stories which put everyone in the best of humor. He was given a hearty reception by his fellow G. O. P. friends.

Senator Frelinghuysen was introduced as "the next Governor" and this announcement was greeted with enthusiastic cheers. "Uncle Joe" touched mainly on State issues in his speech, giving a brief resume of the work of the Legislature during the past session. He showed in a convincing manner that he was in touch with every detail of the work at Trenton and in his opinion much good legislatiotn had been enacted this year.

The remarks made by Assemblyman Pierce largely supplimented those of Senator Frelinghuysen, the representative in the lower house taking occasion to refer to a few matters not touched upon the man from Somerset. Assemblyman Baker's speech was in the main humorous. While the Legislature has passed a number of measures he thought it had made one great mistake in not passing an act to prevent toastmasters from roasting people.

Local issues and muncipal governments were the chief points touched upon by Mayor Charles Joel Fisk. He emphasized the importance of selecting the best men as candidates. Referring to excise matters, Mr. Fisk said that while many persons were inclined to laugh at the excise measures, it behooved them to go cautiously as some morning they would wake up and find that the State had gone Prohibition. Senator Frelinghuysen had referred to the excise matters as a "hot potato," but the Mayor thought that there were other "hot potatoes" that had to be handled carefully. The great trouble, said Mr. Fisk, is that the legislators are afraid of losing votes and for that reason they hedge when it comes to voting on some measures. There are enough laws, the thing is to have them enforced.

Mr. Fisk said that next fall, among the officers to be filled would be that of county clerk and register of deeds, now held by two efficient and faithful officials, James C. Calvert and Frank H. Smith. He felt sure that they would be renominated and re-elected. This statement again called forth loud cheers.

The introduction of Charles Battell Loomis was greeted with much applause and for a half-hour, the humorous kept everyone roaring with laughter. He gave the first chapter of his "Experience in an English Bathtub," which was described at length sometime ago in the metropolitan newspapers.

While the affair was announced as

DR. BEVIER SPEAKS ON "HIGH SCHOOL LIFE"

Dr. Louis Bevier, professor of Greek at Rutgers College and one of the State inspectors of schools, addressed the pupils of the Plainfield High School, this morning, taking for his topic "High School Life." During the course of his remarks Dr. Bevier took occasion to answer the criticisms of foreign critics who have said that the school system in this country aims at something and ends in nothing.

Dr. Bevier took exception to this criticism, declaring that time had showed such a statement to be false in every particular. He recalled many instances to prove that the public schools have made substantial progress and accomplished great things in the education of the young people of this country. Dr. Bevier also pointed out some of the dangers that are likely to creep into the school system. His talk was listened to with unusual interest and was greatly appreciated.

STATE FIRE CHIEFS HOLD BUSY SESSION AT NEWARK

Chief T. O. Doane and Chief Howard Woolston, of the city and borough fire departments, respectively, attended the semi-annual meeting of the New Jersey State Fire Chiefs' Association held in Newark, yesterday. The session, which began at 10 o'clock in the morning, was held in the Newark fire commissioner's room in the City Hall building and the chiefs did not adjourn until about 4 o'clock. Fire chiefs were present from about thirty cities and towns throughout the State, and fourteen new members were received.

A discussion of automobile fire apparatus occupied considerable time at the session. The fire chiefs also talked over gas shut-off at the street curbs, considering them of especial value as protection to the firemen in fighting fires and in preventing the spread of flames and damage from explosions.

BOROUGH BANK HOLDS FIRST EXECUTIVE MEETING.

The first meeting of the executive committee of the Borough National Bank was held this morning. The committee reported they were more than pleased with the showing the bank had made during its first week's opening as there had been a number of new and large accounts placed with the institution. It was decided that the executive committee would meet every Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock, and the Board of Directors the first Wednesday night of every month.

The committee also decided that an electric sign be placed in front of the building with the word "Bank" upon it.

Celebrating Birthday Anniversaries.

S. C. Peck, the West Front street merchant, and Charles H. Schermerhorn, the veteran telegrapher, are today celebrating the seventy-sixth anniversary of their birthdays, and while the event is not being observed in any especial manner, the two popular citizens are receiving the congratulations of a host of friends. Mr. Peck is one of the oldest merchants of the city and one of the most successful. Mr. Schermerhorn is now filling a useful position as an assistant at the Y. M. C. A.

Charter-Day Committee to Meet.

The finance committee of the Charter-Day celebration to be held on July 5, 6 and 7, will meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the offices of Leifke & Laing on Park avenue, to further consider matters pertaining to the financial end of the affair. The committee has decided that $5,000 will be needed to carry the celebration through successfully and at the meeting tomorrow night ways and means for raising the money will be discussed.

Entertainment Postponed.

The musical and literary entertainment under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church, announced for Thursday night, April 29, in the lecture room of the church has been postponed on account of the death of Mrs. E. H. Bird one of its members. A date in May, to be selected, will be announced.

Who Wants to Play?

Musicians desiring to assist in the formation of a Plainfield band are invited to attend a meeting tonight in the Y. M. C. A. Hall to discuss the matter.

—Attend the concert and dance to be given by the pupils of Mr. Harry W. Weber this evening, at the Park Club. Admission 35c. ***

CRACK SHOTS AT WORK

Martin, Dabb and Apgar of America's Team of Fifty Complete Test.

Sergeant George L. Apgar Shows Exceptional Proficiency—The Official Results.

Major W. B. Martin and Sergeant James Dabb, of Elizabeth, and Sergeant George Apgar, of Co. K, of this city, three of the fifty men picked to represent the United States in the International shoot, conducted by the National Rifle Association, appeared at the local armory Tuesday night for the test. Picked men from England, France, Australia, Canada and this county are engaged in the shoot which must be completed this week.

The shoot in this city was in charge of Captain Conard Hall, of Elizabeth, range officer appointed for the occasion. Although Major Martin's score, 287, was the highest, it did not represent the best work score for score. Sergeant Apgar put up a total score of 283 and not once during the contest did he fail to get below a nine or outside the black. Sergeant Dabb's total score was 274.

Each man was compelled to shoot six cards of five shots, continuously without any rest. On his last card Sergeant Apgar made a perfect score, and on several others came close to duplicating that record. On the first card he had four nines and he repeated that on the second card. The scores of all had four men were considered to be far above the average. The scores by card are as follows:

Martin ..46, 49, 47, 47, 49, 49—287
Apgar ...46, 47, 47, 47, 46, 50—283
Dabb ....46, 47, 46, 41, 47, 47—274

These scores have been forwarded to Albert Jones, of Passaic, secretary of the National Rifle Association, and will be held for comparison with the scores of the other forty-seven men who are engaged in the contest.

MALCOM & COOMBE TO OPEN OFFICE HERE.

The firm of Malcom & Coombe, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 100 Broadway, New York, will open a branch office in this city on May 1, under the management of W. de la R. Anderson, of this city, who is at present representing Eisele & King, of Newark. The firm has taken a lease on offices in the Babcock building, on West Front street, which will be equipped with private wire service direct to New York, and every facility will be provided for the prompt execution of orders on all exchanges.

The firm of Malcom & Coombe is composed of George I. Malcom, T. Gorton Coombe and H. B. Coombe, the former two partners residing in New York city, while the latter is a resident of this city. The firm is well known in New York and in the New England States, where they maintain their own branch offices in the following cities: Hartford, Conn.; Springfield, Holyoke, Pittsfield and Lenox, Mass., all of which are connected by private wire service with the main office. They also have a branch office in Brooklyn, N. Y., and 125th street, Harlem, as well as private wire connections with Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago.

Mr. Anderson is well and favorably known in our community.

Drunkards' Commission.

Mayor Fisk is considering the appointment of a habitual drunkards' commission, the recent Legislature having authorized mayors in the respective cities to appoint such bodies. Not until he sees the new law, however, will he take any action, as he has some doubt as to the necessity of such a commission.

Rev. Mr. Barchwitz to Speak.

Rev. Mr. Barchwitz, of Albany, N. Y., will address the meeting of the Christian and Missionary Alliance tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at 100 Madison avenue. He will also speak at the Rescue Mission tomorrow and Saturday nights. Mr. Barchwitz is a forceful and convincing speaker.

Will Inspect Roads.

The road committee of the Union county Board of Freeholders, of which S. P. T. Wilbur, of this city, is a member, will make a tour of inspection of several roads between this city and Elizabeth today.

Bicycle Rider Fined.

Harold Lester, of 230 Watchung avenue, was arrested yesterday by Chief Marshal Weiss, of the borough, for riding his bicycle on the sidewalks. He was fined $1 by Justice Dolliver.

ANOTHER EXCISE ARREST

Express Company Driver Must Answer for Delivering Liquor Here C.O.D.

WAS RELEASED IN $200 BAIL.

Thomas Meehan, of Newark, Latest to Fall in Police Chief Kiely's Drag-Net.

A new feature has developed in the liquor ordinance enforcement crusade by the arrest of Thomas Meehan, driver for the Merchants' Express Company, of New York, by Detective Sergeant Flynn, who charged him with delivering liquor C. O. D. The fact that the company is a common carrier of merchandise for the suburban deliveries of eighteen New York department stores gives the broadest scope to the charges made by Police Chief Kiely, for the New York firm practically acts in the capacity of an express company, carrying on its business by wagon, instead of by rail as do the other similar concerns.

Meehan, who lives in Newark, was arraigned before Judge Runyon at the city court today, and was held under $200 bond to appear for a hearing a week from today. Edward F. Connolly, of New York, general manager of the express company, was his bondsman. William A. Coldington has been retained by the company as his counsel. Meehan is the fourth driver to be arrested; the other three, Alvah Dunham, of Acker, Merrall & Condit; Louis Wexler, of R. H. Macy & Company, and Edward Coleman, of the Siegel-Cooper Company, are each released under $200 bond for a hearing Monday morning before Judge Runyon. It is probable that these three cases will be postponed until Thursday, so that all four cases may be heard together. The charge against Meehan is specifically delivering liquor for the Simpson-Crawford Company, one of the eighteen firms for which the Merchants' Express Co. makes suburban deliveries.

Assistant County Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., was present at the city court for the hearing today. With Mr. Connolly, who furnished the bond, was J. F. McCarthy, manager of the Newark distributing station of the company.

Speaking of the arrest to a Daily Press reporter at court, Mr. Connolly said: "The company has never been held up for these C. O. D. deliveries of liquor in any other city, and the arrest was a big surprise to me. The Merchants' Express Co. is incorporated in New York as a common carrier, and has various distributing stations in this State. The company sells no goods of any kind; it is simply a corportion for carrying on a suburban express business by wagon delivery."

TO INSTALL DR. BROWN AS DUNELLEN PASTOR

Rev. Ernest R. Brown, of Cartaret, has accepted the call recently tendered to him by the First Presbyterian church, of Dunellen, and arrangements were made by the Presbytery of Elizabeth at its meeting in Metuchen, Tuesday, for his installation on Thursday night, May 6, at 8 o'clock, at the Dunellen church.

Rev. C. F. Shaw, of Rahway, moderator of the Presbytery, will preside at the installation and preach the sermon, and Rev. Lawrence R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, will deliver the charge to the people. Rev. Dr. Pfanstiel, of Somerville, will deliver the charge to the pastor. Appropriate music will be rendered by the church choir.

Mr. Brown will enter upon his new pastorate under most favorable conditions and the congregation is looking forward to a spiritual and temporal uplift in its affairs.

Plainfield Rector Will Officiate.

Rev. Dr. William H. Neilson, of East Ninth street, will officiate at the marriage on Saturday, April 24, in the Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, of Miss Labina Wood Watts, daughter of Mrs. George R. Watts, to Captain Douglass C. McDongal, of the United States Marine Corps. Dr. Neilson is a cousin of the bride, who also officiated at the marriage of Mrs. Watts and other members of the family.

Rain Stops Game.

The North Plainfield High School and Cranford High School nines played but two innings of their baseball game yesterday afternoon. When the game was called by the umpire the score stood 10 to 2 in favor of the North Plainfield nine. The next game will be with the Rahway High School on Saturday on the latter's grounds.

PLAN ANOTHER CHAPEL

Newark Classis to Supervise the Formation of Reformed Congregation in East End.

FUNDS PARTLY SUBSCRIBED.

Members of Classis Contribute $2,875—Committee to Decide on Site Tomorrow.

At the spring session of the Newark classis of the Reformed Church in America, held in Newark, yesterday, upon the recommendation of the church extension committee, it was decided to purchase a plot of ground on Leland avenue, between Front street and Midway avenue, in a rapidly-growing section of the city and to erect a chapel there. The attention of the classis was called to the importance of this undertaking by Rev. J. Brownlee Voorhees, who by the way spoke in Trinity Reformed church the last Sunday in February.

During Mr. Voorhees' visit here he inspected the East End of the city and was greatly impressed with the need of another house of worship there. He discussed the matter with the church extension committee and as a result the proposition was presented at the meeting of the classis yesterday.

It was decided by the classis that $3,000 would be needed to purchase the land and to erect a suitable chapel. Before the meeting adjourned $2,875 was subscribed for the object. The North Reformed church, Newark, of which Rev. Dr. J. I. Vance is the pastor, contributed $1,000 and the Clinton Avenue Reformed church, Newark, of which Rev. Alburtus Broek, brother of Rev. John Y. Broek, is pastor, pledged $775. The remainder of the amount to be raised will be apportioned among the churches of the demoination in the classis of Newark.

The committee of which Rev. Dr. Vance is chairman and J. H. Mundy and H. Ogden, all of Newark, are members, will visit Plainfield tomorrow for the purpose of selecting and purchasing a site for the proposed chapel. Plans will also be made at that time for its construction.

A. O. U. W. LODGEMEN WILL ENTERTAIN OFFICIALS.

A joint meeting of Central Lodge, No. 48, and Columbus Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., will be held tonight, when Grand Master Workman Daniel B. Pastorious, of Elizabeth, will be the guest of the local lodges. He will be accompanied by several of the officials from the Elizabeth lodge and there will be speeches by the visitors. Following the business session, a supper will be served, and the evening will terminate with a smoker.

Tomorrow night the Plainfield lodges will send representatives to the reception to be tendered Grand Master Pastorious at Elizabeth Lodge, No. 29. Lodgemen from Newark will also be present.

W. G. BESLER ADDRESSES THE REAL ESTATE MEN.

William G. Besler, of this city, vice president and general manager of the Jersey Central, was the chief speaker at the banquet held by the New Jersey and New York Real Estate Exchange Association at the Hotel Plaza, in New York, last night. His remarks, which were devoted to an outline of the marked progress in development along the railroad company's lines, particularly in this direction and the desirability of residential property in this section, were well received.

Among the 200 diners were Charles H. Hand, William Jeffery, Edmund Rushmore and Milton Mendill, all of this city.

Mrs. Sarah Angleman.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Angleman took place from her late residencse, 103 Central avenue, yesterday afternoon. There were a large number of relatives present from both this city and out of town. The services were conducted by the Rev. Charles S. Kimball, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church. The pall bearers were Rev. George W. Angleman, Herbert McVoy, Raymond McVoy, Percy McVoy, Harry Bowden and W. H. Angleman. Interment was at Bound Brook.

May Report Favorably.

It is expected that at the next meeting of the Common Council, the Shade Tree Commission to whom was referred the proposition from the Plainfield Park Association for a city park, will present a report, and it is understood that favorable action will be recommended. Similar action anticipated in the borough, where Mayor Samuel Townsend appointed a special park commission to look into the subject.

AUTOISTS MILL MEET ON SATURDAY NIGHT

Automobile owners and enthusiasts are invited to attend a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium at 8:15 on Saturday night when speeches of marked interest will be made concerning the auto. It is expected that at least 200 from this city and the vicinity will be present.

Among the many subjects to be discussed will be the amendments made by the recent Legislature to the Frelinghuysen automobile law. These amendments have been signed by Governor Fort and as a great majority of autoists are not familiar with their provisions it has been arranged to have them explained briefly in detail.

Secretary Elliott, of the American Automobile Association, has promised to make an address. His subject has not been announced and neither has that of Secretary Bonnell, of the Association Automobile Clubs of New Jersey, who has also agreed to address a Plainfield audience.

ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE BY FORMER PLAINFIELDER

Standing at the foot of the Sir Francis Drake Memorial, in Golden Gate Park, at San Francisco, yesterday, Eugene Moore, formerly of this city, a brother of Walter J. Moore, of Pavey & Moore, New York, shot himself in the temple. He was taken to a hospital, where he lies in a critical condition today. No reason is known for his attempt to commit suicide.

Mrs. David Moore, the man's mother, resides in Watchung avenue, but a maid at the house said today that no member of the family was at home. Moore was born in this city and had resided here until about six years ago. His wife was formerly Miss Annie Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stewart, of West Seventh street. The marriage took place about ten years ago. For several years Mrs. Annie Moore has been residing with her parents at their West Seventh street home. Inquiry there today brought forth the statement from a maid that the family was in New York for the day.

MISS KATHERINE NEIELSEN NOW MRS. ROBERT VAN HORN.

Miss Katherine Nielsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Nielsen, of East Front street, and Robert Van Horn, of East Third street, were married at the home of the bride's parents at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large company of relatives and friends. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, performed the ceremony.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Anna Nielsen, as bridesmaid, while Niels Nielsen, a brother of the bride, was the best man. A reception followed the ceremony, during which supper was served. The couple will reside at 322 West Front street.

Smith—Connelly.

Miss Mary A. Connelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Connelly, of East Fifth street, and Joseph F. Smith, of New York city, were married at St. Mary's church, at 5 o'clock, last night. The ceremony was performed by Father Smith, of Nesbit, Pa., a brother of the groom. The bride, dressed in a traveling suit, was attended by Miss Theresa McGinley. The best man was Joseph Noell, of Wilkesbarre, Pa. After a wedding supper had been served at the bride's home, the young couple left for a short trip. Upon their return they will make their home in New York city.

A Birthday Party.

Miss Gilberta Van Nest, of Whitewood avenue, gave a number of her friends a pleasant time in honor of her twelfth birthday yesterday from 4 until 7 o'clock. Games and music were played, after which refreshments were served. She received many remembering and useful gifts. Those present were the Misses Verna Stewart, Helen Meyers, Jennette Scott, Josephine and Anna Sharkey, Bertha Boylan, Louise and Adel Demarest, Laura and Sylvia Smith, Ella Robson, Edwin Windham, Edward Waldron, William Victorson, Loran Giddis and Harold Woolston.

Mrs. Julia A. Keiderling.

Mrs. Julia A. Keiderling, aged 27 years, died at her home on Elm place, this morning, following a long illness with pulmonary trouble. The funeral services will be held from the late residence Saturday morning at 8:15 o'clock and from St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock, where solemn mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of the soul. The burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

CAPT. BREEM DROPS DEAD

Well Known Resident Succumbs to Heart Failure at His Borough Home.

WAS A NATIVE OF HOLLAND.

After Abandoning Life at Sea, Aged Man Became a Painter and Decorator.

Captain Paul Breem, of Somerset street, a well-known resident, aged seventy years, dropped dead in front of his home at noon today, from heart failure. At the time he was stricken he was coming down stairs to meet a carriage which his son had sent for him to make a call. He had just reached the bottom of the stairs, when he gave a short gasp and fell on the sidewalk, which is close to the door. Passers-by were attracted and they hastened to assist the aged man.

In the meantime calls were sent out for a physician and Dr. C. A. Gesswein was the first to respond. An examination showed that the man was dead and beyond help. He pronounced death due to heart failure.

Captain Breem was a native of Holland and came to this country when eleven years of age. For a number of years he followed the sea as a sailor, later becoming captain of a sailing vessel. Later he learned the painting trade and followed it for many years.

During Captain Breem's residence in Ulainfield, about fifteen years, he was engaged at his trade for himself and local firms. He was an expert decorator as well and some of the finest work in that line in the city was executed by him. Captain Breem's wife died about six years ago and since that time he has lived alone in a few rooms at 30 Somerset street. He is survived by two sons, Frederick Breem, who for many years was employed in the fire department as a driver, and William Breem, also of this city. Announcement of funeral will be made later.

Will Sing "Elijah."

The choir of Grace church, under the direction of W. E. MacClymont, organist, will sing the oratorio, "Elijah," at the church, tonight, assisted by a full orchestra. The soloists will be Mrs. Theodore Mantz, soprano; Miss Grace Carroll, contralto; William J. Tallamy, tenor; Arthur H. Chamberlain, bass. Dion W. Kennedy will be at the organ and Mr. MacClymont will direct. Admission will be free.

Blue Stocking Tea and Musicale.

"The Blue Stocking Tea," to be held at the Park Club, tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, under the auspices of the City Union of The King's Daughters, promises to be an event of much interest. At 4:30 o'clock there will be a musical program, comprising vocal solos by Miss Carla Dagmar, of Sweden; William T. Carleton, baritone, of New York, and original monologues by Miss Louise Saunders.

Trolley Junction Shelter.

Mayor Pierre Garven, of Bayonne, has requested the officials of the Public Service Corporation to provide shelter at the junction, Jersey City, for passengers who are transferred at that point. The Mayor's action has received hearty indorsement from thousands of patrons of the Bayonne line.

Young Friends to Meet.

The Young Friends Association of New York and Brooklyn will hold a meeting in the Friends' meeting house, corner of Watchung avenue and Third street, on First-day, Fourth month, at 3 o'clock. The subject of the ptaper will be "Sin and Salvation." All are cordially invited.

Talk On Transportation.

"Ladies' night" at the Men's Club of the Seventh-Day Baptist church was well attended last night. The feature of the evening was the address on "Ocean Trnasportation," by E. E. Parvin. At the conclusion of Mr. Parvin's speech refreshments were served and a social hour spent.

Mrs. Isabella Thompson.

Mrs. Isabella Thompson, widow of James Thompson, died at her home on Grant avenue, last night, following a long illness. The funeral service will be held from the undertaking parlors of A. M. Runyon & Son, on Park avenue tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Union Lodge, No. 340, United Order Independent Odd Fellows, colored, will have a special program after the business meeting, tonight. Degrees will be conferred on two candidates.

Mrs. Joseph B. Clarkson, of East Fourth street, is seriously ill.

WESTFIELD.

The sewer work on Harrison and Dudley avenues is being held up on account of the wet weather. The contractor has beeen put to considerable expense on account of the trench caving in.

A hearing on the Broad street paving assessment will be held by Westfield Council on May 17. Many of the property owners object to the amount of their assessments.

Several caved-in spots over the sewer on First street make the traveling on that street at night dangerous.

Westfield Council proposes soon to discuss freight carrying with the street railroad officials.

Councilman Hohenstein is ill at his home with a severe cold.

OCEAN GROVE MUST PAY TAX.

Jersey Tax Board Decides Test Case Against Camp Meeting Association.

Trenton, April 22.—The State Board of Equalization of Taxes decided yesterday that for the purposes of taxation Samuel A. Reeves, of Ocean Grove, is not an owner of property in Ocean Grove.

Should the courts now uphold the State Board the fight for home rule in Ocean Grove, which created so much stir in Methodist ranks during the last Legislature, will likely be won.

The Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association does not sell land outright, but leases it on a ground rent for ninety-nine years, but the association has contended that the township tax falls on the property of the lessee. That contention brought 95 per cent. of the lessees of property to the Legislature declaring they were taxed without representation.

Now the State Board declares that taxes must be assessed against the owner of the land, which is the Methodist caoncern.

To put this burden on the Methodist Association, it was declared at the late legislative hearing, was to put the Camp Meeting Association into bankruptcy. This the lessees said they did not wish to do, and that they would be willing taxpayers if they had a vote in the government.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., conferred the second degree on two candidates, last night.

At the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., tonight, amendments to the bylaws will be offered and a large attendance of members is desired.

Charles E. Brown, of Cambridge, Mass., who has been visiting relatives here, has returned home.

Meade, Jr., of 8 High street, and Charles D. Cavanaugh, of 149 Lexington avenue.

FIGHT OVER SEWERS.

Rahway Council Hears Protests Against Proposed Plans.

The Rahway Common Council met Tuesday night as a committee of the whole to hear protests against installing sewers in the First, Third and Fourth wards. The lobby was filled with prominent citizens. A score of petitions protesting, and one asking for the installing of sewers, was read. Among those who addressed the Council were ex-Councilmen James C. Mellick, Isaac L. Hunt and Joseph Woster; former county Clerk John L. Crowell, Fred C. Hyer, Mayor C. B. Holmes, President of the Health Board J. G. Smith, Dr. Fred W. Selt, A. B. Wilson and F. Hoblitzel.

Those living in Pierce street, headed by Misses Maggie and Lizzie Bunn, asked that the sewers be put down, and that the ditch in which dozens of houses drain be abolished. Council will take the matter under consideration.

ONLY WOMAN SOLDIER RUN DOWN BY STREET CAR.

Female Veteran of the Civil War Probably Mortally Injured in Washington at Age of 71.

Washington, April 22.—Mrs. Sarah E. Thompson, seventy-one years old, the only officially recognized woman soldier of the Civil War, was struck by a street car here yesterday and probably mortally hurt.

Mrs. Thompson is employed in the Post Office Department, and is credited there as a veteran of the war. She is said to be the only woman soldier on the pension rolls.

Mrs. Thompson's first husband was Col. Scott, of Tennessee, who organized a regiment of the mountaineers of that State for service in the Union Army. Mrs. Scott, as she was then, became a spy, and her work was highly commended by Gens. Grant, Sherman and Rosecrans.

SAYS WILL IS A FORGERY.

Appeal Taken from Probate of Mrs. Sisson's Alleged Testament.

"We will prove to the satisfaction of the Court that the will of Carrie O. Sisson, already probated by Surrogate Hester, of Hackensack, is a forgery," said Lawyer McBurney, of No. 302 Broadway, New York, yesterday when asked concerning an appeal filed at Hackensack.

Carrie O. Sisson was the wife of Charles H. Sisson, now living at No. 326 West One Hundred and Thirteenth street, New York. The couple lived at Bogota, N. J., at the time of her death, on Sept. 19, 1908.

The will, which was probated on Oct. 7, 1908, gave all the property, valued at $10,000, to Sisson.

Julia Forrest, of New York, a sister of the dead woman, brought the suit to appeal.

The case will be heard at Hackensack before Judge Milton Demarest on May 5.

EVERY MAN SHOULD HAVE A

Blue Serge Suit.

Pretty nearly every clothing store believes or pretends to believe that it has the best blue serge suit in the country. We also believe it.

But we want to prove our claim.

We want you to see our blue serge suits.

We want you to see what the other fellows have.

By your comparison you will be able to judge who really has the best blue serge suit.

The one we sell at $12 is a true blue serge that will stand the sun's rags without giving way to them. The color is fast, the fabrics are excellent, the make all that careful tailoring can bring to bear, the styles up to the hour—pleasing alike to swell dressers and the conservatices, finished faultlessly.

We invite your attention at the same time to our other suits at $12, made of full weight, pure worsted, in the new olive green, smoke, stone and tan shades, and in pretty stripes; also in black and blue grounds, plain and in mixtures and stripes; hand-tailored suits which we are sure are unsurpassed at the price.

Other suits for men, $6 to $30.

Our boys' $4 and $5 suits are unequaled at the price.

BABY MAY WANT A BOW-WOW, BUT

He'll Want a Go-Cart

OR A PULLMAN SLEEPER AS WELL

Baby's mama or papa will be very glad that we are orering such a splendid chance as this one to buy the Go-Cart or Carriage so much under price.

It is an unusual thing to be able to buy go-carts and carriages so cheaply at this time of year, just when the market is full of buyers because of the warm days that necessitate giving baby an outing. But this is a store of unusual doings, so instead of being surprised at such low prices being quote, people will simply come and buy the carriages and save the many dollars that we will make possible.

There was too much good boating in the vicinity of New Brunswick for the game between P. H. S. and Rutgers "Prep."

When the Y. M. C. A. open their season next Saturday it is expected a big crowd will turn out to greet the new players of the team.

Harry Mallenson, the crack third baseman of the Plainfield A. C., has jumped his team, and says he will become an outlaw. Jesse James, Nick Carter or "Harry Tracey," Harry failed to mention.

Yale defeated Fordham yesterday by a score of 3 to 2. The game was the most ragged and loosely played at New Haven this season.

Johnny Evers, the crack third baseman of the Chicago Cubs will be with his old team April 30. Johnny tried to make himself popular by doing the Hans Wagner stunt of threatening to quit the game.

GOLF.

The recent rains have had a tendency to help the links both at the Plainfield Country Club and Park Golf Club, where new seeding has been done recently.

Close to one hundred entries have been received for the annual spring open golf tournament which began this morning over the links of the Country Club of Lakewood. Prominent among those taking part are Findlay S. Douglas, of the Nassau Country Club, and Fred Herreshoff, of Garden City, who were the contestants in the final round in this same tournament a year ago.

It will be like old times to see such well known players on the links as Archie Graham, a former New Jersey champion; Archie Reid, of St. Andrews; H. M. Forrest, of Philadelphia; Charles L. Tappin, the Westbrook veteran; F. C. Jennings, of Nassau; Arden M. Robbins, of Garden City; W. D. Vanderpool, of Morris county; John Moller, Jr., of Garden City, and Jasper Lynch, of the home club, all of whom have entered.

Conditions call for a thirty-six-hole medal play round tomorrow. The golfers will qualify in sixteens, and finish out in eighteen-hole match play rounds. As a curtain raiser to the tournament a team match will be played today between Princeton and the home club.

Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the Arcola Country Club in New Jersey. The club will purchase two hundred acres of land for the purpose of laying out one of the best golf courses in the country. John W. Griggs is one of the incorporators.

BROWN OUT FOR JOB.

Trenton, April 22.—William Brown, who used to be a Camden newspaper man, but who more recently was under sheriff of Camden county, and an active supporter of Baird, is a candidate for the secretaryship of the Civil Service Commission, made vacant Monday by the advancement of Gardner Colby, of East Orange, to the chief examinership. He succeeds Frank B. Jess, of Camden, promoted to membership on the State Board for the Equalization of Taxes.

For the present, however, the duties of secretary of the Civil Service Commission will be performed by Thomas E. Mernin, of this city, who has been assistant secretary since the organization of the board last summer.

LOOKING ABOUT FOR A SUCCESSOR TO HILLERY

Morristown, April 22.—Morris county Republicans are looking around for a successor to Senator Thomas J. Hillery, who will resign to assume the duties of railroad commissioner. There are many aspirants, but "Uncle Dan" Voorhees and his "cabinet" have a candidate in James H. McGraw, of Madison, former county chairman, who recently resigned on account of ill health.

"Uncle Dan," it is said, has declared that Mr. McGraw is entitled to the nomination and can have it if he feels his health will permit undertaking the work of a campaign. The selection of a Senator from Morris county is important to "Uncle Dan," for his term as State treasurer expires in 1911 and he wants re-appointment. Mr. McGraw has always been regarded as "regular" and several times was promised plums that didn't ripen. For instance, he was to have the nomination for Congress, but Representative Charles N. Fowler was renamed.

McGraw it is known didn't relish being turned aside then, but the Senatorship was held out to him in the place of Hillery, who was a candidate for re-election. When the time came for this election there were three candidates: Mr. Hillery, Charles M. Lum, of Chatham, and Mr. McGraw. Again the then county chairman had to yield. Mr. Lum was urged to make a fight and would have probably won, although the machine was against him.

A local "regular" paper has this to say about the situation in its issue yesterday:

"The importance of selecting the right man in view of the important changes in the management of State affairs, owing to recent legislation, and especially to Morris county, in view of the re-election by joint meeting of State Treasurer Voorhees and other matters, is apparent."

Dogs Bites Two School Children.

Children leaving the Holland School, Paterson, yesterday afternoon, were attacked by a dog supposed to have been mad and two of them, Margaret Hagen, eight years old, and Titus Hagen, four, were severely bitten. Margaret could have escaped, but ran to her little brother's aid. William Stron, a driver, was bitten when he attempted to rescue Margaret. The brute was shot.

State Factory Inspector Andrew McCardell, of West Front street, has returned from a trip to several cities in the State.

EVICTION THREATENED, WOMAN KILLS LANDLORD.

Mrs. Pastri in Shooting Man Wounds Her Daughter, Who Also May Die.

Because he insisted upon the payment of overdue rent Anton Villa, owner of the house at No. 726 Walnut street, West Hoboken, was shot and killed at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Mary Pastri, who, with her husband, lived on the ground floor of the house. A bullet from Mrs. Pastri's revolver went wild and struck her seven-year-old daughter, Angelina, who will probably die.

The Pastris have been living for some time in Villa's house, while he himself occupied the upper floor. Pietro Pastri is a laborer and has had steady work, but the rent was not paid when it was due the last time and Villa dunned the couple frequently.

Villa went to Mrs. Pastri's kitchen yesterday afternoon and told her if she did not pay he would have her dispossessed. Both became very angry, and Mrs. Pastri, running for her revolver, fired several shots at Villa. One passed through his brain.

Mrs. Pastri, when arrested, admitted she did the shooting and was locked up in the West Hoboken police station. Little Angelina was taken to the North Hudson Hospital.

CLASSIS RADIFIES CALL TO REV. ROSS F. WICKS.

The Newark Classis of the Reformed Church, in session at Christ Reformed church, Newark, yesterday, formally approved the call extended to Rev. Ross Frederick Wicks, of Norwalk, O., by the New York Avenue Reformed church, Newark. Mr. Wicks' pastorate will begin the first Sunday in September.

The officers elected by the classis were: President, Rev. Ernest Saure, of Linden; stated clerk, Rev. Henry Merle Mellen, pastor of Christ church, Newark; temporary clerk, Rev. John Y. Broek, of this city.

Rev. Peter K. Hageman, of the North Reformed church, retiring president of the classis, made a report, showing growth in the various churches.

Mr. Wicks is at present pastor of the First Congregational church, of Norwalk. He went there from the Fourth Reformed church, of Dayton, to which he had been called January, 1896, upon the completion of his course at Ursinus College. The call which he has accepted to the Newark church was the second extended him by the congregation.

George J. Bosterle, of this city, who will soon finish the course at New Brunswick Theological Seminary, applied for examination for admission to the ministry, and it was decided to meet in special session, at the call of the clerk, to examine the applicant.

SOUTH AMBOY NO LONGER DRY TOWN.

The South Amboy City Council Tuesday night granted renewals of the twenty-seven old saloons and hotels there. Nine new applications were refused. This action was taken after all saloons has been closed for two weeks pending disposition of license applications.

Just as soon as the Council had agreed to renew the licenses of the saloons that were closed all the places opened up. Inside of a few minutes nearly all the doors were swinging free and the once darkened windows were brightly lighted.

In acting upon the new applications Councilmen E. E. Hains and Patrick Campion voted in favor of granting all the applications, while Councilmen Durlen, Stanton and Manhattan voted against granting them.

A resolution was passed appropriating $75 to the General William Truax Post toward helping to defray the expenses of Memorial Day. This was an advance of $25 over last year's appropriation.

James W. Hackett was appointed assessor for the Fourth ward in place of John Lund, resigned.

GRAND LODGE IN SESSION

Local Blue Lodges Represented at Annual Communication at Trenton.

MASONIC TEMPLE, TRENTON.

Resolutions Passed on Death of Members—Visit from Govertnor Fort.

Only routine business was transacted at the annual communciation of the grand lodge of New Jersey, which opened at Trenton, yesterday, and the reports of the grand master, William D. Wolfskiel, and the different committees were read. The 122nd annual communication was opened in Masonic Temple at 11 a. m., with over 600 representatives from subordinate lodges of the State in attendance. The grand lodge was convened by Grand Master William D. Wolfskiel, of Elizabeth, assisted by Past Grand Masters Hamilton Wallis, the second oldest grand master in the State, who was grand master in 1879-80; Charles H. Mann, George D. Fortmeyer, Joseph E. Moore, Josiah W. Evans, John H. Wilkins, Joseph W. Congdon, Benjamin F. Wakefield and Walter Chandler.

Past Grand Master Henry R. Camon, of Elizabeth, the oldest grand master of Masons in New Jersey, was prevented through illness from being present. He is 88 years old, and was grand master in 1868-'69. Grand Chaplain, the Rev. Dr. William H. Morgan, of Newark, delivered the prayer.

The early part of the session was devoted to passing resolutions on the death of Past Grand Master Joseph W. Martin, former superintendent of the State Reformatory at Rahway; Past Grand Secretary Thomas H. Redway, of Trenton, and Charles Bechtel, past grand treasurer. Warrants were granted to Continental Lodge, at Millburn, N. J., and Haddon Heights Lodge, at Haddon Heights. The report of Grand Secretary Wakefield shows that there are now 29,927 Masons in the State.

Governor Franklin Fort visited the Grand Lodge at the afternoon session. At the same time officers of the grand lodges of Delaware and Pennsylvania were admitted. They were: N. J. Beers, grand master of Delaware; J. J. Day, past grand master; L. B. Morrow, past grand treasurer, and H. J. Guthries, past grand master, all of Delaware; J. H. Williams, junior grand warden, of Pennsylvania; District Deputy Grand Masters Boyle, Finletter, Hale and Bingharst, of Pennsylvania, and F. Perry, deputy grand secretary of Pennsylvania.

Past Grand Master H. R. Cannon presented the Grand Lodge with a photograph from a printing of Jonathan Belcher, Governor of this State a century and a half ago and a friend of Masons. Governor Belcher had been a Mason thirty years before the Grand Lodge of England was orgonized.

The lodge accepted the gift and decided to express its sympathy through the grand secretary for the illness of Brother Cannon. Mr. Cannon is in his ninetieth year. Another presentation to the grand lodge was made by Brother Jacob Ringle, of Teutonia Lodge, No. 72, Jersey City, in the shape of three gavels which he had brought from his recent trip to Palestine. They are made of stones found in the quarries of Mount Morea where, according to history, the stones for the temple of King Solomon were broken. One end of the stone shows the masonic emblem and the other bears the inscription, "Jerusalem." The gift was accepted. Adjournment was then taken until 10 o'clock this morning, when routine business was finished and officers for the coming year were elected.

At 6 o'clock last night the grand masters' banquet was served at the Trenton House, and all the visiting officers of grand lodges of neighboring States were guests. No speeches were made, and at 8:30 the grand lodge of instruction was opened.

The past master circle of the eleventh Masonic district had a banquet at the Bismarck Hotel, and after the grand lodge of instruction most of the grand officers visited the circle. Fritz Starsberg, of Newark, vice president of the circle, acted as toastmaster. It developed at the banquet that Past District Deputy Jacob Ringle, of Jersey City, celebrated his fiftieth anniversary as a Mason, and he was the recipient of hearthy congratulations. Former Mayor Hoos, of Jersey City, a close friend of Mr. Ringle, gave the secret away.

New Acts at Plainfield Theatre.

Five new acts will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre for the rest of the week, beginning tonight, and the new bill is an unusually strong one. The Vinos and Eddie Gardner, the week's two most popular acts, will be retained, and these are the four new acts: Prince Ismail, "the mysterious man;" Ardo and Eddo, comedian team; Beatrice Vance, singer and comedienne; Ethel Minturn, black-face comedienne, and Miss Leighton, in illustrated songs.

WARREN CHAPEL NOW HAS 304 MEMBERS

Reports of the year's work of Warren chapel and it various societies were submitted at the annual church meeting held at the chapel, last night, and each report presented showed an encouraging increase in receipts, membership, growth and scope of work which marks the congregation as one of the most flourishing local churches of its size. According to the report of Joseph W. Gavett, the church clerk, the membership is now 304, a net increase of seventeen since April 1 of last year. At that time the membership was 287, and during the year ten new members have been received by confession and seventeen by letter. Five of the members have died during the year and five have been dismissed. The church has raised $1,147.03, and Mr. Gavett's report shows a balance of $7.41 on hand at the close of the church year. The church has sent $835 to foreign and domestic missions. There was an increase of 33 1-3 per cent. in the collections for the year.

In the Sunday-school, too, there has been a most encouraging growth. There are 439 members, an increase of but two in the year, but the average attendance has been 248. There are thirty-one officers and teachers. The report of Arthur Lovell, treasurer of the school, showed that $662.65 has been raised during the year, and there is a balance of $193.26. A box of clothing and necessities valued at $70 has been sent south.

The reports of the various church organizations showed a gratifying increase in membership in each case and a broader scope to the work. The men's class, of which E. E. Parvin is teacher, has been changed during the year to the adult Bible class and now has a membership of 34. A newly organized home department already has a membership of nineteen. The boys' brigade organized last year, is now a thriving organization, and is in charge of DeWitt Brokaw. Its membership is eighteen, and the organization is uniformed.

The report for the Missionary and Aid Society of the church was submitted by Mrs. John Green, its treasurer. There are 141 members, and $537.66 has been raised during the year. Of this amount about $153 has been sent to home and foreign missions and boxes and barrels valued at about $225 have been sent by teh organization to Dr. Grenfell, Rev. L. D. Ewing, of Springfield, Mo., the Allison School at Santa Fe, New Mexico, and Freedmen's schools at Danville and Clarkton, Virginia.

The report of the Y. P. S. C. E., an organization numbering thirty-seven members, was made by Charles Windham, as treasurer, and showed that of the $263.60 raised during the year, $223.18 has been paid out to local, home and foreign societies of a missionary character. Raising the money entirely by freewill offerings, the Junior Endeavorers, who are sixty in number, have raised $37.57 during the year.

Last November the sewing school was started, and Miss Laura Lovell is its superintendent. There is a total enrollment of eighty-four, including fifty-seven children. There are nine teachers and the work is divided into three classes—plain sewing, cooking and dress-making. Many of the children have made dresses for themselves and the organization is partially self-supporting. Charles Wheeler, secretary of the men's club, presented the report of the organization, which now has a membership of fifty-four. Regular monthly meetings have been held and there have been several enjoyable lectures an dtalks. The organization contributes a neat sum for the defraying of the church expenses. William Demarest, as treasurer for the Wednesday Evening Missionary Society, reported that during the year $188.50 has been raised and forwarded to various home and foreign missions.

non-partisan, a glance at the list of those present show that the Republicans were in the majority, with just a sprinkling of Democrats. Those from Plainfield were Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, City Judge William N. Runyon, Assistant Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., Andrew McCardell, Councilman Herbert Buxton, Judge William Newcorn, Overseer of the Poor A. D. Ayers, Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur, M. F. Elderton and George Ballantyne.

PACKER IS NAMED TO SUCCEED NESBITT.

Washington, April 22.—The nomination of P. Hall Packer, editor and politician, to be postmaster at Seabright, N. J., which was sent to the Senate Tuesday by President Taft, is the conclusion of a contest over that office which has lasted for more than two years.

Ebenezer S. Nesbitt is the present postmaster at Seabright. His commission expired December 9, 1906. Because of personal friends who were interested in Nesbitt, President Roosevelt wanted him re-appointed. The Republican organization in Monmouth county, however, backed Packer for the place and he was indorsed also by Congressman Howell and the two Senators from the State.

Efforts were made by the New Jersey Senators to have Packer's name put in nomination, but Mr. Roosevelt refused to appoint him. Knowing that the Senators would not agree to the confirmation of Nesbitt, the President withheld the former's name, refusing to make any appointment.

President Taft has now broken the deadlock in the Seabright case by acquiescing in the program of the organization. Nesbitt's occupancy of the office which he has continued to hold during the two and a half years since his term expired, will terminate with the next few days.

Mrs. Bailey, wife of Letter-carrier F. W. Bailey, of Duer street, is ill with an attack of the grip.

HOPE'S MINSTREL SHOW

Judge Runyon's Bible Class to Appear in Burnt Cork for Chapel's Benefit.

B. W. EVANS INTERLOCUTOR.

Forty Young Men in the Chorus—The Performance to Be In Three Parts.

City Judge William N. Runyon's Bible class will present a minstrel show at Hope chapel on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights, April 27, 28 and 30, and the event promises to be one of the best of the kind ever given in the city under amateur auspices. The young men have been holding frequent rehearsals and have now reached a state of proficiency that insures a fine performance. From now on rehearsals will be held nightly under the direction of the popular judge.

Benjamin W. Evans has been chosen as interlocutor and the endmen will be Russell Randolph, John Martin, William J. Firstbrook and Clyde F. Doane.

The first part will consist of opening ensemble by the entire company, songs by the end-men and solos by William Anderson and Charles Prior. Part second will comprise some new features. The Dixie Quartet will render some of its best songs and Mr. Gordon will sing some of the songs made famous by Harry Lauder. Harry Blimm and Edward Bennett will give an original sketch.

The third part will be devoted to a screaming farce, the details of which will be forthcoming later. The chorus will comprise forty men, all of whom possess good voices. The proceeds from the affair will be devoted to the chapel work, including the paying of the remaining sum on the organ fund.

Tickets are now in the hands of members of the Bible class and they are in great demand.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Baptist church ball team is ready to arrange games with any of the church or amateur teams in this vicinity. The team presents a good lineup and will no doubt hold its own with the majority of the amateur teams.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Howe, of Troy, N. Y., have been visiting Mrs. Howe's parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Westcott, of the borough.

Brant Johnston is organizing a scrub team to play the representative team a practice game Saturday on the local grounds.

The final dress rehearsal of "Mr. Bob," which will be given Saturday night in Excelsior Hall will be held tomorrow night.

Rudolph Bruchman, of Mountain avenue, has joined the ranks of the commuters, having taken a position in New York.

Summons has been issued in Justice Clark's court in the contract case of The Hydraulic Press Co. vs. Phillips.

Rev. and Mrs. Franklin K. Mathews of the parsonage have been entertaining relatives from Jersey City.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A reception was given last night to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McDonough, who were married at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. Mary's church, Plainfield.

William Reilley has accepted a position as roadmaster on the Lehigh Valley Rairoad at Bethlehem, Pa.

William Pace has removed to the house on Front street recently left vacant by William Moyles.

Miss Pearl Shrope has returned home after a visit in Easton.

Mrs. Michael Day will move today to Mt. Carmel, Pa.

(Additional suburban news on page 2.)

Cause Arrest of School Principal.

Thomas J. Spargo, principal of the Collinsville Public School, was arrested yesterday and held under $100 bail to await the action of the grand jury for an alleged assault upon Romine Scisco, twelve years old, a pupil of the school. The boy's father, John Scisco, was charged with assault upon Spargo, and a warrant has been sworn out for his arrest. Spargo stated that the boy used profane language in the class room and that he was forced to put him out. Tuesday night the elder Scisco and Spargo met, and, it is alleged, Mr. Scisco struck the principal.

Proctor's Motion Pictures.

These latest life motion pictures will be shown at Proctor's theatre today: "Puck's Pranks," "His Laundry Mark," "Doorkeeper's Substitute," "$100 Reward," "Living Wreck," "Guard's Alam," "Life Drama of Napoleon and Josephine," "Road to the Heart," and "Trying to Get Arrested," in addition to fine specialties.

THEY GATHER CLOTHES FOR THE NEEDY POOR.

Twelve hundred and twenty-five garments were displayed at the eighth annual meeting of the Westfield Branch of the Needlework Guild of America, in the parish house of the First Presbyterian church at Westfield. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. James O. Clark, the president. Notwithstanding the rain over fifty women attended the meeting and enjoyed an address by Sister Miriam, of St. Catherine's Home, Jersey City.

The first year of the guild only 766 garments were collected. The articles displayed yesterday were ordered distributed as follows: Children's Country Home, Westfield, 250; Elizabeth General Hospital, 150; Home for Crippled Children, Newark, 75; Miss Curry's Nursery, New York and Netherwood, 150; Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, 100; New York City Mission, 100; Newark Orphan Asylum, 125; St. Catherine's Home, Jersey City, 50; Home for Incurables, New Brunswick, 50. The balance were held as a reserve.

THAT FALL SKIRT NOT ARRIVED YET.

The new skirt once it is well out, will probably measure not less than ten yards. Many authorities declare that a twelve-month from now twelve and fourteen yards will not be thought excessive. Just now, the new wide skirt, as it is usually interpreted, is a mere matter of six yards. At present, says the New York Sun, the skirts are still scant. A week from now another move may be tangible. Whatever the style, however, the skirt is to remain close fitting at the hips and well defining the natural lines of the hips and waist. The width and flare will be at the bottom.

But the skirt of this spring will be only a modification of the sheath-fitting one. Fashion moves slow but sure. The skirt of the day is going to die out, as other styles regretted and otherwise have done. All this is what every self-respecting fashion writer in this country and Europe is writing, but the illustrations are all as yet of the straight line, clinging, scanty fashion—which shows the state of things at the moment. A good many exaggerations in the new styles have put in an appearance, but they are sporadic and not epidemic as yet.

WAVES SHOULD STAY.

It will be a pity if the Marcel wave is abandoned. It is a very graceful fashion when done in moderation. A large wave running around the head softens the face and gives it more youth than straight hair does.

The small wave that is regular and crimpy looks artificial and is ugly. Accomplished hairdressers will not allow it.

Their whole aim is to make the hair look as natural as possible. It is only the half-way hairdressers who advocate the overbuilt styles that are plainly false.

When the wave is carefully done, it doesn't hurt the hair as much as crimping it in other ways. Even the old-fashioned method of twisting it around a hairpin breaks it. Roughing it from beneath is the really harmful thing for all hair. This does damage that can never be repaired. It breaks the hair into tangled bits, and gives it that rough, choppy surface that does not add to the softness of any face.

Far, far better any kind of a roll to keep the hair up than this disorderly practise of tangling the hair to look like a last year's bird's nest.

CRASH TUB FROCKS.

Attractive blouses, frocks and coat suits are being made of crash. This fabric is cool and launders beautifully.

Very smart tailored blouses with turned back cuffs, wide low collar, tiny pocket and plait down front piped with colored linen, are made of it, and promise to be highly popular.

Coat suits of crash are made with narrow skirts and long loose coats cut on straight lines with tailored sleeves. These coats fasten with flat buttons covered with white or colored linen and have wide pockets.

One-piece frocks of this material are made with plain skirt, the front and back panels piped with linen. Blouses are worn with detached yoke and sleeves of tucked muslin. They are fastened with linen buttons down the back.

Frocks of crash are admirable for wear in the country, and will doubtless be included in the wardrobe of many girls.

POPULAR SOUTACHE.

Soutache and embroidery show no hint of waning in the popular liking, but plain, simple effects are coming to be more admired than the gold and glitter of the hour.

Still, with the counters piled high with metallic trimmings of all kinds and the manufacturers at the trouble of bringing out gold and silver laces and embroideries that will withstand the heroic tests of the washtub, far be it from this column to depreciate them.

All the Paris gowns show endless quantities of tinsel trimmings and there is no doubt that the style will weather this season and go over into another.

AN ORDINANCE

For the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with Permanent and Durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the following streets and parts of streets of the City of Plainfield, shall be permanently improved with durable macadam pavement to be completely laid and constructed on or before the thirtieth day of September, 1909, said macadam pavement to be of the depth and width hereinafter specified, and to be in every respect equal to the macadamizing on Park Terrace in said City, but with liquid asphalt binder in the upper two inches of macadam, the quantity of asphalt to be 1.00 gallon per square yard, said macadam with asphaltic binder to be equal in every respect to that on the pavement on Blackwood Turnpike between Chews Landing and Blackwood in the County of Camden, N. J. Heavy liquid asphalt binder shall be used having a specific gravity of 12-14, with asphalt contents 82%. All work to be given out upon contract to the lowest responsible bidder, and only after bids therefore shall have been solicited and received according to law, all bids to specify prices for each of said streets or parts of streets separately:

Union Street, from the southwesterly curb line of Arlington Avenue to the southerly side line of Stelle Avenue;

Stelle Avenue, from the easterly curb line of Madison Avenue to the westerly curb line of Union Street;

Madison Avenue, from the southerly curb line of Stelle Avenue to the macadam already constructed on Randolph road;

Darrow Avenue, from the southeasterly curb line of West Fourth Street to the northwesterly curb line of West Seventh Street;

Compton Avenue, from the northwesterly curb line of West Front Street to the macadam already constructed on Dunellen Avenue;

Ravine Road, from the easterly curb line of Belvidere Avenue to the southerly side line of Dixie Lane.

Sec. 2. That said streets and portions of streets described in Section 1 shall be macadamized for the full width of the respective roadways of said streets, and the macadamizing preparation shall be laid down to the grades already established by ordinance for said streets or portions of streets, respectively.

Sec. 3. That for the purpose of obtaining money by the sale of bonds hereinafter specified for the permanent improvement of said streets and parts of streets as aforesaid, in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits, the Common Council of the City do hereby, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, authorize the issuing of eleven coupon municipal bonds of the City of Plainfield, of One Thousand Dollars each, amounting in all to Eleven Thousand Dollars, which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, and be payable three years from said date of issue with the option of the city to redeem or pay off the said bonds, or any one or more of them at any time after one year from date of issue, and before three years from said date of issue, on giving personal notice to the said holders of said bonds or thirty days' notice by advertisement in the official newspapers of the City, of the intention to make such redemption or payment, which bonds may severally or collectively be sold for an amount not less than par value, and the interest on said bonds shall be raised annually by taxation and the principal be paid by the city at maturity, and the money derived from the assessments upon the property benefited shall, when collected, be held as a fund toward the payment of said bonds.

Sec. 4. That after said improvements shall have been completed, the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively, by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax; no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actually derived from said improvements.

Adopted by the Common Council, April 12, 1909; approved by the Mayor, April 12, 1909.

CHARLES J. FISK, Mayor.
Attest: J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning April 25, 1909.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Heroes of African missions.—Jer. 1, 6-12.

A hero is defined in a standard dictionary as one "who displays great valor in the face of danger." If this definition be true the early missionaries to Africa, with many of the present one, are heroes indeed. In that vast dark continent, so well called by Stanley "darkest Africa," what dangers lay before those who entered it to preach the gospel of Christ—dangers from climate, dangers from reptiles and wild beasts and, above all, dangers from the inhabitants themselves! The inhabitants of Africa are mentally the lowest grade of people to be found upon the face of the earth. Ignorance breeds cruelty and barbarity. They preyed upon each other; they held each other in the lowest and vilest forms of slavery; they even sold those of different tribes into slavery among other peoples. Africa until slavery was abolished by Christian civilization was the great slave market of the world. The race today is still ignorant and cruel, and grave dangers still face the missionaries. Yet they have feared not these dangers. In meeting them they have displayed the greatest valor. From the south they approached northward, with little hope of ever seeing home again. From the Nile they have gone westward to the Sudan to labor in great danger in small villages and among nomadic tribes. From the western coast they have gone eastward into the interior along the great Kongo river, risking life at almost every advance. And for what? Not for fame, not for fortune, not to display heroism, not for any selfish purpose, but in obedience to their Master's command and to benefit the poor and needy souls of those who would have destroyed them. They went to lead them from the lowest forms of idolatry to the highest form of religious worship—the worship of the true God. Heroes indeed!

In the short space here allotted it is only possible to mention even some of these great heroes, but the mention of a few of their names and deeds should fill us with new zeal in the cause of saving great, dark Africa.

1. George Schmidt was the first Protestant missionary to South Africa. He was a Moravian and reached Cape Town in 1737. A few crosses were seen here and there, the remains of Catholic missions begun over 200 years before Schmidt's arrival. When Schmidt reached Africa he found that the inhabitants had been badly treated by white settlers and that their need of the gospel was very great. Meeting with some success at Cape Town, he was bitterly hated and transferred to a more inland tribe. But here also he appealed to the people and was making progress in the establishment of a church. This still further enraged his enemies, and they demanded that he be refused the use of the rite of baptism. Thus obstructed, he returned to Europe in 1744 with the hope of receiving justice, but it was denied him by the government of Holland. He again became a common day laborer, but never ceased to believe that missions would prevail in Africa nor to pray for his beloved Hottentots. While on his knees in prayer his Master called him to his heavenly home.

2. Robert Moffat was among the greatest missionary heroes of Africa. He was born in Scotland Dec. 21, 1795, of humble parentage. His mother carefully trained him in the Bible and told him much about the Moravian Brethren, who were active missionaries. While in an English town he attended a missionary meeting; his zeal was aroused, and he prayed that God would send him to the foreign field. God answered his prayer. Upon his request he was sent by the London Missionary society to South Africa and arrived at Cape Town in 1817. From Cape Town he journeyed to Cape Colony, beyond the Orange river. Here Africaner had usurped the rule. The outcast ruler was converted, which is called one of "the miracles of missions." After fifty-three years of successful labors Moffat returned to England in 1870, aged and infirm. He died Aug. 9, 1883. "The discouragements and dangers which Moffat met were overcome by his strong will, heroic faith and genial humor."

3. David Livingstone. The hero of heroes of African missions was David Livingstone. He was born in Scotland March 9, 1813. His parents were religious, and he was early impressed with the noble life of Jesus in healing the sick and instructing the ignorant. In 1840 he went to Cape Town and in 1844 married Mary Moffat, the daughter of the missionary. His great explorations and evangelist works cannot even be mentioned. Read his life. In African wilds he was found dead on his knees one morning by faithful black guards who accompanied him upon his journeys. They carried his body 600 miles to the seacoast, where it was sent by vessel to England.

BIBLE READINGS.

Isa. iii, 1-7; Matt. v, 11, 12; x, 16-26; xxviii, 19, 20; Rom. ix, 1-5; x, 13-15; Acts xiii, 1-3, 13-33, 42-52; xvi, 8-12; II Cor. xi, 23-33; I Tim. iv, 7, 8.

Endeavor Sacrifice.

During the Boxer massacres in China our Christian Endeavor brothers and sisters faced death with a smile rather than deny their Lord. In one Endeavor society near Pekin fifty-three out of sixty-five members were murdered, and another society was cut down from forty members to twenty. Half of the members of the North China union, which Dr. Clark had just formed, were killed.

POLLY of the CIRCUS

By MARGARET MAYO

It was nearly dark when she saw him coming slowly down the path from the hill. She lighted the study

"She's sick, dat's what I says."

lamp, rearranged the cushions and tried to make the room look cheery for his entrance.

"I's 'fraid yo's mighty tired," she said.

"Oh, no," answered Douglas absently.

"Mebbe yo'd like Mandy to be sarvin' your supper in here tonight. It's more cheerfuler."

He crossed to the window and looked out upon the circus lot. The flare of the torches and the red fire came up to meet his pale, tense face. "How like the picture of thirteen months ago!" he thought, and old Toby's words came back to him—"The show has got to go on."

He longed to have done with dreams and speculation, to feel something tangible, warm and real within his grasp. "I can't go on like this!" he cried. "I can't!" He turned from the window and walked hurriedly up and down the room. Indoors or out, he found no rest. He threw himself in the armchair near the table and sat buried in thought.

Mandy came softly into the room. She was followed by Hasty, who carried a tray laden with things that ought to have tempted any man. She motioned for Hasty to put the tray on the table and then began arranging the dishes. Hasty stole to the window and peeped out at the tempting flare of red fire.

When Douglas discovered the presence of his two "faithfuls" he was touched with momentary contrition.

"Have you had a hard day with the new gravel walk?" he asked Hasty, remembering that he had been laying a fresh path to the Sunday school room.

"Jes' yo' come eat yo' supper," Mandy called to Douglas. "Don' yo' worry your head 'bout dat lazy husban' ob mine. He ain't goin' ter work 'nuff to hurt hisself." For an instant she had been tempted to let the pastor know how Hasty had gone to the circus and seen nothing of Polly, but her motherly instinct won the day, and she urged him to eat before disturbing him with her own anxieties. It was no use. He only toyed with his food; he was clearly ill at ease and eager to be alone. She gave up trying to tempt his appetite and began to lead up in a roundabout way to the things which she wished to ask.

"Dar's quite some racket out dar in de lot tonight," she said. Douglas did not answer. After a moment she went on, "Hasty didn't work on no walk today." Douglas looked at her quizzically, while Hasty, convinced that for reasons of her own she was going to get him into trouble, was making frantic motions. "He done gone ter de circus," she blurted out. Douglas' face became suddenly grave. Mandy saw that she had touched an open wound.

"I jes' couldn't stan' it, Massa John. I had ter find out 'bout dat angel chile." There was a pause. She felt that he was waiting for her to go on.

"She didn't done ride today."

He looked up with the eyes of a dumb, persecuted animal. "And de gemmen in de show didn't tell nobody why—jes' speaked 'bout de udder gal takin' her place."

"Why didn't she ride?" cried Douglas, in an agony of suspense.

"Dat's what I don' know, sah." Mandy began to cry. It was the first time in his experience that Douglas had ever known her to give way to any such weakness.

Hasty came down from the window and tried to put one arm about Mandy's shoulders.

"Leab me alone, yo' nigger!" she exclaimed, trying to cover her tears with a show of anger that she did not feel; then she rushed from the room, followed by Hasty.

The band was playing loudly. The din of the night performance was increasing. Douglas' nerves were strained to the point of breaking. He would not let himself go near the window. He stood by the side of the table, his fists clinched, and tried to beat back the impulse that was pulling him toward the door. Again and again he set his teeth.

It was uncertainty that gnawed at him so. Was she ill? Could she need him? Was she sorry for having left him? Would she be glad if he went for her, and brought her back with him? He recalled the hysterical note in her behavior the day that she went away—how she had pleaded, only a few moments before Jim came, never to be separated from him. Had she really cared for Jim and for the old life? Why had she never written? Was she ashamed? Was she sorry for what she had done? What could it mean? He threw his hands above his head with a gesture of despair. A moment later he passed out into the night.

CHAPTER XIII.

JIM was slow tonight. The big show was nearly over, yet many of the props used in the early part of the bill were still unloaded.

He was tinkering absentmindedly with one of the wagons in the back lot, and the men were standing about idly waiting for orders when Barker came out of the main tent and called to him sharply:

"Hey, there, Jim! What's your excuse tonight?"

"Excuse for what?" Jim crossed slowly to Barker.

"The cook tent was started half an hour late, and the sideshow top ain't loaded yet."

"Your wagons is on the bum; that's what! No. 38 carries the cook tent, an' the blacksmith has been tinkerin' with it all day. Ask him what shape it's in."

"You're always stallin'," was Barker's sullen complaint. "It's the wagons or the blacksmiths or anything but the truth. I know what's the matter, all right."

"What do you mean by that?" asked Jim sharply.

"I mean that all your time's took up a-carryin' and a-fetchin' for that girl what calls you 'Muvver Jim.'"

"What have you got to say about her?" Jim eyed him with a threatening look.

"I got a-plenty," said Barker as he turned to snap his whip at the small boys who had stolen into the back lot to peek under the rear edge of the big top. "She's been about as much good as a sick cat since she come back. You saw her act last night."

"Yes," answered Jim doggedly.

"Wasn't it punk? She didn't show at all this afternoon; said she was sick. And me with all them people inside what knowed her waitin' to see her!"

"Give her a little time," Jim pleaded. "She ain't rode for a year."

"Time!" shouted Barker. "How much does she want? She's been back a month, and instead of bracin' up she's a-gettin' worse. There's only one thing for me to do."

"What's that?" asked Jim uneasily.

"I'm goin' to call her, and call her hard."

"Look here, Barker," and Jim squared his shoulders as he looked steadily at the other man, "you're boss here, and I takes orders from you, but if I catches you abusin' Poll your bein' boss won't make no difference."

"You can't bluff me!" shouted Barker.

"I ain't bluffin'. I'm only tellin' you," said Jim very quietly.

"Well, you tell her to get on to her job. If she don't, she quits; that's all." He hurried into the ring.

Jim took one step to follow him, then stopped and gazed at the ground with thoughtful eyes. He, too, had seen the change in Polly. He had tried to rouse her. It was no use. She had looked at him blankly. "If she would only complain," he said to himself; "if she would only get mad, anything, anything to wake her." But she did not complain. She went through her daily routine very humbly and quietly. She sometimes wondered how Jim could talk so much about her work, but before she could answer the question her mind drifted back to other days, to a garden and flowers, and Jim stole away unmissed and left her with folded hand and wide, staring eyes, gazing into the distance.

"Stay gazin', Poll!" he asked.

The memory of these times made Jim helpless tonight. He had gone on hoping from day to day that Barker might not notice the "let down" in her work, and now the blow had fallen. How could he tell her?

A "run down" condition is due in a great many cases to the failure of the digestive organs to get proper nourishment out of the food taken. To people suffering from ill health owing to this cause, insures a quick return to health and strength. Unlike ordinary tonics which supply only temporary stimulation by furnishing food material in pre-digested form, Jayne's Vermifuge brings about lasting results. It tones up the stomach and digestive organs and puts them in a normally healthy condition. Then the digestive organs supply the body with the proper amount of nourishment, and in this way restore permanent health and strength.

DR. D. JAYNE'S Tonic Vermifuge

Sold by all druggists in two sizes, 50c and 35c

Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant is an effective remedy for coughs, whooping-cough, croup and colds.

Men who are on their feet a great deal will get worlds of comfort out of DR. A. REED CUSHION SHOES. The more you are on your feet the more need you have for shoes that allow the blood free circulation—and at the same time give your feet good Shoe-Appearance.

BIG BOWLING SURPRISE AT THE PARK CLUB.

One of the biggest surprises to take place in bowling circles at the Park Club this season happened last night when the Daniel team took three straight games from the Long bowlers. By winning the whole series from the Long five the Daniel team is now even with the Barlow aggregation. Both teams have now an average of 791 points. The deciding game will probably be rolled on Saturday, May 8. The prizes will be five handsome steins which are now on exhibition at the club.

Team records:

Barlow	17	7	791
Daniel	17	7	791
Ball	13	11	769

The Clinton Avenue Baseball Club will open the local season Saturday at Crescent Oval in a game with the fast Elizabeth A. C. The contest will be called promptly at 3:30 o'clock. The Elizabeth aggregation is much stronger this year than last and will make the locals play their best to win out. Manager Dorflinger's colts have been putting in a lot of time in practice and are ready for the initial game. Ortleib and Seery will be the battery for the locals, and Fullerton and Boelsle will officiate for Elizabeth.

F. W. WOOLWORTH & CO. ACQUIRES RUSS BUILDING.

An important real estate deal was consummated yesterday afternoon by which the Russ building, one of the largest in Broad street, Elizabeth, passes into the control under a lease of F. W. Woolworth & Co. The building was erected by the late Charles Russ, who was grand master of the Masonic Order in New Jersey.

Mr. Russ died in December last, leaving all his estate to his only son, Charles P. Russ, who intends to retire from business.

The lease is for ten years and it is rumored the rental terms are $10,000 a year.

It is also said there is a purchase clause in the agreement which gives the lessee an option on the property.

Mr. Russ will dispose of all his stock and vacate the place in July. The Woolworth concern will then take possession, make extensive alterations and reopen the building for their business September 1.

Miss Margaret Meaney, of this city, who has been visiting her parents at High Bridge, has returned home.

ALL RIGHT FOR BATHING GIRLS TO POSE, HE SAYS.

Atlantic City, April 22.—Summer girls who enjoy being "snapped" on the beach in bathing costumes have a champion in Councilman Murtland, only Democrat in the city body, who objects to the new ordinance of Councilman Bolte barring photographers from the strand.

Murtland declared that he had been informed by maids and matrons in his bailwick that they had no objection to the photographers taking their pictures, but other councilmen, who insisted that the photographers had made themselves nuisances by their importunities to bathers to allow their pictures to be taken, voted for the bill.

Under its provisions, no professionals are to be allowed to take snapshots on the beach, the only exceptions to the rule being amateurs with kodaks and newspaper picture takers.

GOVERNOR VETOES NEW MARRIAGE BILLS

Governor Fort last night completed his work on the bills passed by the last Legislature. He either signed or vetoed all of them, not filing any without his approval or disapproval. This is in keeping with his determination to act on all measures passed.

The Governor vetoed the new marriage act, requiring marriage licenses from all seeking matrimonial alliances and forbidding the marriage of imbeciles and lunatics and the issuing of licenses to persons intoxicated or under the influence of narcotic drugs.

Governor Fort heeded the appeal of a delegation of negroes from various sections of the State who appeared in opposition to the signing of the bill introduced by Assemblyman Burpo and designed to prevent negro organizations from using the name and emblem of the Elks. He vetoed the measure. The speakers were George Bates, of Jersey City; A. B. Cosey, of Newark, and J. E. Churchman, of Orange. They referred to the Burpo bill as an example of "Jim Crow" legislation unworthy of any Northern State. The delegation made a strong plea against what they termed an attempt to discriminate against their race.

The Governor also approved the various automobile bills. One of these raises the speed limit from twenty to twenty-five miles an hour; another requires all vehicles to carry lights at night; another permits the issuance of tourists' licenses, while still another cuts the fees of justices of the peace to a point where the prosecution of automobilists will no longer be a profitable business.

Appropriation bills felt the veto axe in two places. The item of $10,216-91 for the State Fish and Game Commission was cut out, the amount being a balance from last year's account. The supplemental bill was relieved of an item of $12,500 for the salaries of the State Water Supply Commission. The Governor believes that this commission should be succeeded by a single commissioner, for the sake of economy, and he hopes to accomplish this by the veto action.

In response to appeals from the rural sections, the Governor signed the bill requiring gunners to take out licenses at one dollar each.

Other bills signed were: Making Columbus Day, October 12, a legal holiday; authorizing municipalities to appropriate money for Hudson-Fulton celebrations; prohibiting the pollution of streams containing oyster beds; providing a penalty for sale of polluted water.

Among the important measures vetoed were: ermitting municipalities to contract with trolley lines to carry ashes and garbage, wanted in Newark; making it a misdemeanor to spit in public places, wanted in the anti-tuberculosis crusade; prohibiting district court clerks from practising in such courts; authorizing the State school authorities to purchase supplies without advertising for bids.

Verdict for Theatrical Man.

J. Herbert Nelson, a theatrical man, recovered a verdict for $2,000 damages in the Circuit Court at New Brunswick, yesterday, against Frederick Breitmeyer, of Detroit, Mich., who seized an automobile Nelson was using in "A Racing Romance" to secure himself, claiming Nelson had broken a contract with him. Nelson replivined the auto and sued for damages, being unable to play in several places because he was without the auto.

Fire Damages Notion Store.

Leo Schwartz's notion store in Hiram street, New Brunswick, was destroyed by fire Tuesday night. Pedestrians discovered the blaze, and the prompt arrival of the firemen saved adjoining property. Mrs. Schwartz had left the store at 8 o'clock, and her husband had gone to a lodge meeting. The fire was practically out before he arrived. A gas jet, it is thought, caused the blaze. The loss is $1,300, with $800 insurance.

COUNTY C. E. CONFERENCE

Elizabeth and Roselle Endeavorers Attend Local Workers' Meeting.

MISS N. K. FOOTE PRESIDES.

Rev. John Y. Broek Makes an Address—Group Conferences as a Feature.

Under the auspices of the Union County Christian Endeavor extension committee, a conference of Endeavorers was held at the Seventh-Day Baptist church last night. There were about fifty members present representing the societies at Hope and Warren chapels, First Presbyterian, Park Avenue Baptist and Seventh-Day Baptist churches. Miss Nellie K. Foote, district secretary, who was in charge of the conference, led a delegation of seven Endeavorers from Elizabeth.

The conference opened with a song service in charge of Miss Mildred Greene, president of the Seventh-Day Baptist church society. This was followed with a prayer by Purdy F. Benedict.

The feature of the meeting was an address by Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, who was introduced by Miss Foote. He took his text from Phillipians 3 13-14: "Brethren I count myself not to have apprended, but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind; and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press on toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." Mr. Broek's theme was "The Ideal of the Christian Endeavorer." He offered a number of valuable suggestions for consistent Christian Endeavor work. He said, that the Endeavorers should forget what has been accomplished in the past, whether good or bad, and work together as a body in doing any and all good possible.

Mr. Broek said that the Endeavorers should press on, show signs of activity, or progress, of a willingness to work hard and unselfishly for the cause for which they are committed. He spoke of stagnation, inactivity and lack of the spirit of service so detrimental to good Endeavor work. In closing Mr. Broek urged the Endeavorers not to base motive or service on prospects of reward. Every service for God will be remembered, he said. Following Mr. Broek's address, the group conference were announced by Miss Foote. They were in charge of the following: Missionary, Miss Marie Jacobson; social, Miss Belle Chapman and Harold Riley; Sunday-school, Miss Emily Marsh, all of Elizabeth; prayer-meeting, Purdy F. Benedict; good citizenship, Robert J. McNair, all of Roselle; lookout, Charles F. Windham; on officers, Clarence B. LaRue, of this city.

A social session then followed, when an opportunity was given all to get better acquainted with the county officers. The social committee of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, comprised of Miss Ethel Rogers, chairman; Miss Helen Rogers, Miss Anna Stillman, Miss Margaret Mortensen and Messrs. Charles C. Neagle and Roy Titsworth served refreshments. It was announced that similar meetings would be held in Springfield, April 30, and in the Central Baptist church, Elizabeth, May 7. The mass-meeting of the local Endeavor Union will be held in the Park Avenue Baptist church on May 20. The State presiednt, J. T. Sproull, will make and address. A congress meeting of the local union will be held in Hope chapel on May 12, the details of which will be announced later.

Shakesperean Meeting.

The Sesame Club held its annual Shakespeare meeting, yesterday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. L. R. Ross on East Seventh street. Twenty invited friends listened to the readings of "King John" by the club members, the part of Constance being delightfully rendered by Mrs. G. S. Simons. Mrs. J. Hervey Doane read a most comprehensive and interesting paper on the play, and at intervals during the afternoon, piano selections were given by Mrs. Harry Johnson. A social hour followed.

Talked on "Ocean Transportation."

Emerson E. Parvin, secretary of the International Mercantile Marine Transportation Company, gave an interesting talk on "Ocean Transportation" before the Men's Association of the Church of the Heavenly Rest last night. The attendance was the largest since the formation of the association. Five new members were elected, making a total of ninety-five. The committee in charge of the plans for the summer festival to be held in June, reported progress.

CLINTON AVE.'S SEASON WILL OPEN TOMORROW

The Clinton Avenue Baseball Club will open the season here at Crescent Oval, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, when the Elizabeth A. C. will oppose the locals. The Plainfield aggregation while in the main will appear as in past seasons, will me materially strengthened. The battery will be Ortlieb and Seery, and the local fans are expecting good work from this pair. Ortlieb pitched winning ball last season for Westfield, and is said to be even stronger this year. The rest of the team will line up as before.

Fullerton and Boelzle will be in the points for the Elizabeth A. C., the latter being a member of the local club last year. Bruggy, who will cover right field for the visitors, played with Somerville last season. The line up of the teams will be as follows:

Clinton Avenue—Seery, c; Ortleib, p; Barnes, 1b; B. Martin, 2b; Emery, 3b; Jack Martin, ss; Schott, Snyder, O'Loughlin, Scott and Gilman, out-field.

Elizabeth A. C.—Fullerton, p; Boelzle, c; Kling, 1b; Hahn or McVicker, 2b; Carlstrom, ss; Wasnburn, 3b; Lloyd, lf; Conegon, cf; Bruggy, rf; R. H. B. Dally, will umpire for the local club this season.

BIBLE CLASS ENJOYS DINNER AND SPEECHES

The annual banquet of the adult Bible class was held at the First Presbyterian church, last night, there being seventy members present. Following an excellent banquet, a number of speeches were enjoyed. F. O. Dunning, as president of the class, was the toast master, and introduced the speakers. Among those who responded to toasts were Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, L. H. Gates, Rev. Lewis Bond, C. M. Hummer, G. P. Hinman, W. D. Williams and I. B Hill. The principal topic for discussion was "The Bible," and each speaker dwelt on the importance of the systematic study of the Word in preparation for Christian work.

During the evening the annual election of officers was held and these persons were chosen for the coming year: President, Mrs. Lillian C. Kelly; vice-president, L. A. Hummer; secretary, F. V. L. Goodman; treasurer, Miss F. M. Kendall.

The committee charge of the affair comprised Mrs. Lillian C. Kelly, chairman; Miss Eva Kelly, Mrs. E. W. Poinier and Joseph C. Allen.

MAJOR-GENERAL CASLER TELLS OF S. A. WORK

Giving a most interesting outline of the work of the Salvation Army in this country and abroad during the forty-four years since its organization by General Booth, at Mile End Waste, Whitechapel, England, Major-General George F. Casler, of Newark, spoke at Salvation Army hall last night before a large audience. His talk was illustrated by stereopticon views, and during the lecture there were illustrated songs led by Mrs. Casler. The speaker took for his subject "Forty-four Years of Salvation Army Work," and told of the spiritual, rescue, slum and social work of the Army, and of its steady growth since organization.

At the conclusion of the lecture, a life-sized painting of Christ on the Cross was unveiled by Captain S. A. Hewitt, of the local corps. The painting is the gift of Christopher Thorp, of West Front street. Major-General Casler made a few remarks, accepting the painting in the name of the local corps and tendering thanks to the donor for his gift. At the unveiling, the hall was darkened and the stereopticon lantern turned on the painting, producing an excellent effect.

Carnival Arrangements Progressing.

The Knights of Columbus carnival committee, headed by Theodore Shirley, has practically completed arrangements for the big carnival to be given by the lodgemen in June, and it has been announced that the carnival grounds will be at Grant avenue and West Front street. The date has not been decided upon as yet. The proceeds of the affair, which will be under the auspices of Watchung Council, will be for the building fund of the Council.

METHODISTS' RECEPTION

In Honor of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Anderson and Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Randolph.

AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

Dr. Joy in Charge of Program—Addresses of Welcome and a Musical Entertainment.

The members of the First M. E. church gave a reception in Vincent chapel last night to their new pastor, Rev. Dr. Charles Anderson, and Mrs. Anderson, and Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, the district superintendent, and Mrs. Randolph, and it proved to be a delightful affair. There was a large attendance of members of the church, while the pastors and members of the other local M. E. churches were present to extend a welcome. The chapel was elaborately decorated with palms, ferns and flowers. Mrs. George H. Whitney was chairman of the general committee of arrangements from the Ladies' Aid Society, and all the members from A to Z assisted.

The program was in charge of James R. Joy, president of the Board of Trustees, and he made a few remarks in welcoming Dr. and Mrs. Anderson and Dr. and Mrs. Randolph. They then took their places near the platform and received the guests. Then followed an informal program, which opened with a piano duet by Miss Vincent Whitney and Miss Muriel Collins. Addresses of welcome were given by James R. Joy, for the First M. E. church; Rev. Ora J. Shoop for Grace M. E. church, and Rev. C. S. Kemble for the Monroe Avenue M. E. church. Appropriate responses were made by Dr. Anderson and Dr. Randolph, in which they thanked heartily the members of the church for the cordial reception. The program concluded with piano duet by Miss May Vincent Whitney and Miss Edith Hamilton.

The committee in charge of refreshments comprised Miss Minnie Sharp, Mrs. Charles Sherwood, Mrs. Rowley, Mrs. W. W. Warnock, Miss Prusilla Roberts, Miss Gertrude Sharp. Those in charge of the coffee were Mrs. J. K. Roundy, Mrs. M. W. Winter, Mrs. G. M. Rittenhouse, Mrs. Charles Geedenough, Miss Bertha Whitney, Mrs. S. H. Tugwell, Mrs. John M. Lewis and Mrs. S. S. Swackhamer arranged the decorations.

ST. JOHN'S PARISH FAIR AT DUNELLEN DRAWS CROWD

One of the largest church fairs in Dunellen in some time is being held under the auspices of the Holy Name Society of the St. John's church at Jr. O. U. A. M. hall. It will continue for three days. The hall is decorated with Japanese lanterns and flags of all nations. Dancing is one of the many features. The crowd last night was larger than anticipated by the committee.

These are the committees: Men's—Jacob Fern, Owen Mohan, Patrick Tarpy, John Logan, Jr., and Terrance Ronayn; arrangements—The Misses Elizabeth Hunt, Katherine Dinneen, May Wahel, Kathrine Mohan and Annie Rheinhardt; fancy tables—Mrs. W. Wood and Mrs. Mary Dinneen; refreshments — Mrs. Jacob Fern, Mrs. L. Wall and Mrs. E. Coyle; floor—J. Logan, Jr., John Stilliger, Charles Dinneen, Richard Ryan, Cornelius Splann and Joseph Morgan. Tomorrow afternoon there will be an entertainment.

MISS BEATRICE VANCE MAKES A BIG HIT HERE.

Advanced vaudeville is making a big hit at Manager Counihan's New Plainfield theatre this week. Among the best numbers on the program is Beatrice Vance, the pretty little singer and dancer. She is a finished artist. Prince Ismail, the Egyptian magician, does some clever tricks anw Ethel Mintrum, the black face comedienne, sets them going with her antics. Eddie Gardner, the comic singer, dancer and hat juggler, is one of the best in his art are are also the Musical Vinos in their famous musical barn-yard sketch.

Then, there is the Alpha quartette—it's great. Moving pictures are an additional attraction.

Bankruptcy Proceedings.

At a hearing before United States District Court Clerk Cramer in the District Court today, the case of V. W. Nash, Jr., trustee in bankrutcy for William H. Kirch, bankrupt, against Jacob Kirch and others, was completed. It will now be referred to a United States District Court judge. Judge W. N. Newcorn represents Nash. Francis J. Blatz is William Kirch's attorney and Col. Nelson Y. Dungan, of Somerville, is looking after the defendant's interests.

CENTRAL LODGE HOST OF BROTHER A.O.U.W.

Central Lodge, No. 48, Ancient Order United Workmen, entertained a number of Grand Lodge officers and members of Columbia Lodge, No. 58, of this city, last night. Among the Grand Lodge officers present were Grand Master Workman Daniel B. Pastorious, of Elizabeth; Grand Guide E. M. McWood, of Newark; Grand Outside Watchman J. W. A. Bauersachs, of this city; Grand Trustee E. M. Mosher, of this city; Past Grand Master Workmen A. Y. Tomlinson, of Elizabeth, and V. W Nash, Sr., of this city, and Judge William Newcorn, chairman of the committee on state of the order.

All of the visiting officers made short speeches, telling of the excellent work being accomplished by the lodges in the State. It was reported that the Bayonne Lodge has initiated fifty new members since January 1 last and other lodges are doing equally as good work. Following the speeches a collation and smoker were enjoyed. The committee in charge of the entertainment comprised Lorenzo J. Spicer, Harvey R. Thorn and Theodore J. Mason.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS NEW $75,000 EDIFICE

The handsome new church building of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Cranford, is about completed and will be dedicated without debt in June. The building is 65x95 feet, fronting on Springfield avenue and overlooking the Rahway river. It is an imposing edifice of classical design. It is of stucco, the material being left in its natural color, while the cornice and trimmings are of ivory white. The roofing is of glazed tile of a pleasing shade of green.

The main auditorium has a seating capacity of three hundred. This is connected with a Sunday-school room thirty feet square, which can be opened into the main auditorium. The structure is pronounced by experts to be one of the finest in this section of the State. The cost and furnishings will aggregate $75,000. The congregation is composed of prominent residents of Westfield, Rahway, Roselle, Cranford and Elizabeth.

SIXTY VOICES RENDER THE ORATORIO 'ELIJAH'

Under the direction of the retiring organist and choirmaster, William E. MacClymont, Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Elijah," was rendered by sixty voices at Grace Episcopal church last night. The edifice was filled by a congregation of music lovers. In the rendition of the masterpiece, the regular church choir was assisted by the Cranford Choral Society, of which Mr. MacClymont is director, by some members of the First M. E. church's vested choir, and others.

The soloists were Miss Grace Carroll, contralto soloist of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, who rendered "O, Rest in the Lord;" Mrs. Theodore Mantz, soprano soloist of the Grace church choir, who sang "Hear Ye, Israel;" William Tallamy, tenor of Grace, who contributed the two solo parts "If With All Your Hearts" and "Then Shall the Righteous," and Arthur Chamberlain, basso of Grace, rendered "Lord God of Abraham" and "It Is Enough."

Dion Kennedy, of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York, was the organist. The vocalists were assisted by an orchestra of five pieces from Elizabeth.

Rabbi Wise to Lecture Here.

Rabbi Wise, of the Free Synagogue, New York, will lecture on Civic Righteousness," at All Soul's church, on Park avenue, near Crescent avenue, Monday night at 8 o'clock. Rabbi Wise, although only thirty-six years of age, has been offered and declined the charge of the Temple Emmanuel, Fifth avenue and 43d street, New York, on account of a restricted pulpit and has founded his own Free Synagogue, where he preaches to large congregations of Jews and liberal Christians and performs a large social work.

MACHINIST BADLY HURT

Patrick Gore's Leg and Arm Broken at Levering and Garrigues Plant.

HIS INJURIES ARE NOT FATAL.

Victim Is Forty-three Years Old and Has a Wife and Daughter—Buried Beneath Heavy Iron.

Patrick Gore, aged 43 years, employed as a "punch runner" at the Levering & Garrigues Steel Works, was removed to the hospital this afternoon with a broken leg and arm, the result of an accident at the works. He was assisting other employes in removing angle iron from a truck to the works, when one of the heavy pieces, weighing about five hundred pounds, fell on him, holding him fast between the truck and door. The man's cries attracted the attention of other workmen and with their combined help, succeeded in lifting the heavy weight from his body.

In the meantime the police patrol was summoned and Gore was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition. At the institution the man was put on the operating table at once and an examination disclosed a break of the right arm and right leg. The broken bones were set and it is believed that Gore will recover as there do not seem to be any internal injuries.

Gore, who lives on East Second street, Bound Brook, has been employed at the Levering & Garrigues Steel Works about six years and is considered one of the most careful men there. He has a wife and daughter.

WORKMAN'S ODD MISHAP AT NORTH AVE. STATION.

Felled to the ground by the wind caused by an hourly flyer, as it sped by westward at 8:30 this morning, I. N. Titus rolled down the terrace on the Jersey Central's property at East Third street and Watchung avenue. He was picked up in the street below and was carried to the baggage room of the North avenue station nearby. An examination showed that beyond some scratches on the arm the man was uninjured. He was badly frightened.

Titus, a resident of Dunellen, was engaged with others at the time cutting the grass on the terrace. He did not notice the approach of the Reading flyer until it was too late.

THEY SEEK TO RECOVER ON UNSATISFIED JUDGMENT.

Testimony is being taken before Isaac P. Runyon as special master in the case of B. F. Coriell, E. M. Laing and Henry Liefke and others against George Kenyon on supplementary proceedings for an unsatisfied judgment of $180, upon which the plaintiffs now seek to realize. Application for the order was made by F. J. Blatz, counsel for the plaintiffs, to ascertain what property or income Kenyon possesses.

It is probable that the judgment will be settled in weekly payments if the testimony sustains the plaintiffs' claims. W. S. Angleman represents Kenyon.

WATCHUNGS TIED WITH HOBOKEN IN BOWLING.

The Watchung Council bowling team has tied with the bowlers from Hoboken lodge, Knights of Columbus, in the inter-lodge bowling tournament which has been won by the Paulus Hook lodge, of Jersey City. The locals and the Hobokens are even up for fourth honors, each having seventeen wins and fifteen defeats. The roll-off will be on neutral alleys in Jersey City some evening next week.

The Paulus Hook bowlers lost but thre matches out of the thirty-two league meets. One of the defeats was administered by the Watchung Council team.

Sold Their Residence.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Coddington have sold their residential property at 407 East Second street, to Mr. and Mrs. William N. Dunham, of Dunellen, and possession will be taken at once. Mr. and Mrs. Coddington have decided to board for the summer and they may decide to take a pleasure trip. The realty deal was made by Wiliam A. Woodruff, real estate and insurance broker.

Supplies for First Baptist.

SEARCH FOR A MISSING PISCATAWAY RESIDENT

Clinton Randolph, an aged and slightly demented resident of Piscataway tawnship, disappeared yesterday afternoon with a horse and buggy to William Cullough, of the same place, and despite a vigilant search no trace of the man or rig can be found. Mr. McCullough had an errand in Bound Brook yesterday and decided to give Randolph a pleasure ride.

The men stopped in front of a store on Main street, Bound Brook, and while Mr. McCullough was in the store transacting some business, Randolph drove off, unnoticed and has not been seen since. As soon as McCullough discovered that the man and his rig were gone, he notified the police authorities and together with a number of friends instituted a search. Mr. McCullough was obliged to engage another rig with which to return home. A general alarm has been sent out and the police of the surrounding towns and cities have been requested to be on the lookout for Randolph and the rig.

The fact that Randolph is demented has given rise to the opinion that some harm may have befallen him and the search will be carried into the woods and various streams throughout this section of the State.

ORCHESTRAL CONCERT GIVEN AT PARK CLUB

The fourth concert, given by the pupils of Harry W. Weber's National School of Music, took place at the Park Club last night before a large and enthusiastic audience. The orchestra, consisting of about forty pieces under the direction of Mr. Weber, did remarkably well, and rendered the program in a manner that reflected much credit to both teacher and pupils. The audience seem to appreciate that Mr. Weber has pupils of marked musical ability.

The program consisted of twelve numbers, each being rendered in a manner that received a hearty applause. The most appreciated number was the concert zither solo, played by Mr. Weber, while Carl Eisenman's "Fanchon" and "Morean Caprice" were the best rendered by the pupils. The cornet trio, "Mighty Lik' a Rose," by Nevin, and played by Messrs. H. W. Weber, Arthur Loizeaux and Charles Englehard, received much applause.

After the concert there was a dance given by the pupils.

LAST TRIBUTE PAID TO MRS. ELIAS H. BIRD

The funeral of Mrs. Ella Staats Bird, wife of Postmaster Elias H. Bird, was held at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the late home on Sandford avenue. There was a very large gathering of relatives and friends, filling the house to its utmost capacity. Prior to the service, twenty-seven employes of the local postoffice, including letter-carriers and clerks, called at the home in a body to view the remains out of respect to Mr. Bird.

The service was conducted by Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, who based his remarks on the last sentence in Matt. 14: 12, "Went and Told Jesus." After offering an earnest and fervent prayer he spoke beautiful words concerning the life of the departed, recalling her words of Sunday last that she was tired and wanted to go home. He referred to her quick transition from an earthly to a heavenly home. Mr. Broek also dwelt on the devoted Christian life of Mrs. Bird and spoke words of comfort and consolation to the ones suddenly bereaved.

During the service, City Judge William N. Runyon sang "There Is a Green Hill Far Away" and "Lead Kindly Light" in an effective manner. There were a large number of beautiful tributes from Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M., Plainfield Lodge, B. P. O. E.; Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., to which Mr. Bird belongs; the directors of the First National Bank; from Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school and the Ladies' Christian Work Society.

The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the pall-bearers were James T. MacMurray, Andrew McCardell, James F. Buckle, H. W. Marshall, H. C. Van Emburgh, Frank H. Smith, F. C. Langhorne and Dr. A. J. Stuart.

ADVOCATES SUNDAY BALL

Rutgers Prep. School Says Boys Should Be Allowed to Play on Sabbath.

SPEAKS ON "BOY PROBLEM."

Every Whipping Given Child Is for Parent's Fault Declares M. T. Scudder.

Addressing the teachers of the city and borough schools gathered in the auditorium of the North Plainfield High School yesterday afternoon, Myron T. Scudder, principal of Rutgers Preparatory School, of New Brunswick, delivered an excellent address on child training in the schools yesterday afternoon. His topic was "The Boy Problem," and he showed how the boy could be aided to reach the most efficient state of manhood by training in the home, the school and the church.

"In training the boys of the present day," the speaker said, "we should aim to invoke the will-power, instead of employing moral suasion. By this, I mean that we should try to make the boy do right because he clearly sees that it is the right and fair thing to do, and does it for his own free will."

Mr. Scudder said that he thinks school discipline is too rigid, and tends to crush rather than train character development, an important feature of school life. Leniency with a pupil, he claimed, brings out his bad points so that a teacher can more easily correct them. The speaker said that in his opinion military schools are inefficient for just his reason. There is a different attitude toward the child today than there was years ago, and Mr. Scudder presented figures to show that juvenile crime in increasing, saying that license was brought about by too much liberty." In speaking of corporal punishment, he said that every whipping given a boy is for the parent's fault, because the parent should be able to train the boy to do right for right's sake.

The New Brunswick principal is an advocate of Sunday baseball for boys. "I come of a family of ministers for a hundred years back," he said in this connection," but if I could stop Sunday baseball by a wave of my hand—I don't believe I'd wave my hand. The boys of a town should be organized into ball teams, in charge of grownups, and should be allowed and encouraged to play Sundsy. At the Yale Divinity School, the students are urged to go out each Sunday and, if not play ball with the boys, at least umpire their games."

"Sunday can be made a great deal more enjoyable and beneficial for boys. Religion is the most important concern of life, I believe, but some of the Sunday-school methods of today can't hold the interest of a boy. The lessons should be made interesting by the teachers, and there should be talks on manners and customs, and maps of the countries and a study course that will allow the pupil to find things for himself, instead of 'be taught.'"

A strong advocate of manual training and gymnastic work for growing boys, the speaker said that the will power is best developed by training of the muscles, stating that up to the age of twenty years, the muscles of the average boy develope thirty-fold, while the brain develops but three-fold. He said that to get the best results, there should be but little effort made to train a child's mind until after he reaches the age of twelve.

In concluding his remarks, Mr. Scudder emphasized the duty of parents and teachers in the development of a boy. "There are 10,000 murderers and 10,000 drunkards punished in this country every year. We grownups are making those criminals for the next generation, if we don't train the boys right." The New Brunswick principal made the address at the invitation of Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of the city schools.

Got Drunk Looking for Work.

John Brennan, who stopped in this city last night on his way from New York to South Plainfield, where he thinks he can get a job, celebrated his visit to town by drinking many, many toasts to his new boss. Patrolman Nolan found the man helplessly drunk on Park avenue late last night, and locked him up. City Judge Runyon suspended sentence at his hearing today, and he set out for South Plainfield.

WESTFIELD.

Word was received at Westfield Wednesday that Louis A. Bedell died on shipboard Tuesday, when near Gibraltar. He had been a resident of Westfield for many years and was on his way to Italy at the time of his death. He is survived by a wife and seven grown-up children.

Thomas B. Kniffen died Wednesday morning, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alexander Rowland, Prospect street, Westfield. Mr. Kniffen was in his seventy-seventh year. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon.

Clarence Smith, Charles Sorter and Dr. H. H. Butler, of the Westfield Driving Club, were guests at the dinner of the Morristown Driving Club Wednesday night.

The works of the Hall Signal Company at Garwood will open with a full force Monday.

Why Don't You Economize on Coal?

The hungry furnace and the coal man are a hard combination to beat, but the

BOYNTON

Square Fire-Pot

FURNACE

is the friend of the man who takes care of the fire. The square fire-pot prevents the clogging of clinkers around the sides of the fire. That means all fire—more heat per unit of space. The square pot gives a greater surface for combustion and heat radiation and actually takes less coal for a good fire. And then there's the Boynton special flue for carrying away the dust. You don't sift ashes all over the house when you shake down the BOYNTON.

Talk it over with the BOYNTON dealer in your town.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

Watson-Made Suits Best Value in Newark

We don't expect you to believe this just because we SAY so.

Talk doesn't prove anything and never did.

But we can PROVE to you that we are right, and we'll prove it by the suits themselves.

Look at a Watson-made suit—not carelessly but with microscopic minuteness—TRY to find flaws in it. Let us open up the INSIDE of a Watson suit and show you careful BUILDING that makes our suits STAY elegant and well fitting.

Then watch how Watson suits WEAR and hold their original elegance. In LASTING fit, elegance and all-round satisfaction no other Newark-sold suits are in the same class with Watson-made suits.

And we can prove it!

FRANKLIN COUNCIL MAY CHANGE ITS BY-LAWS.

Important changes in the by-laws have been suggested by the members of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., and they will come up for final reading at the meeting of the council on Thursday night, April 29. Among the changes proposed is one to raise the dues a few cents a month and do away with all assessments. Another is to slightly reduce the number of weeks during which a sick member is entitled to benefits.

At the meeting of the Council last night there was an informal discussion of the proposed changes, and many different opinions were expressed. The idea of slightly increasing the dues and doing away with the assessments upon the death of members seemed to meet with favor.

Painter Sues Jeweler.

In the case of Harry Moulton against Leo Slonim to recover $269 which he claims is due him on a bill for painting, the testimony was taken yesterday before City Judge Runyon as referee. The action was brought in the Elizabeth District Court recently and has been referred to the local referee. Moulton claims that he did the job by day's work reckoning, while Slonim understands it to have been a job contract.

The funeral of Captain Paul Breem, of Somerset street, who died suddenly yesterday afternoon, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 from his late residence.

Fred S. Green Seriously Ill.

Fred S. Green, formerly of West Sixth street, this city, and a member of the firm of Volney Green & Son, coffee brokers at 112 Front street, New York, is seriously ill at his home in New York. He was stricken with paralysis and has been in a semi-conscious condition since Saturday. The physician in charge looks for a change for the better inside of eight days. Mr. Green's son, Volney Green, Jr., was drowned in the DeMoines (Iowa) river several years ago.

Union Lodge's Communication.

At a meeting of Union No. 340, A. F. & A. M., held in their rooms at the Knights of Columbus Hall, last night, there was a large number of visitors present to witness the advanced work on two candidates. The grand deputy and his staff from Trenton took charge of the work. There were delegations from Palisades Lodge, Hoboken; Evergreen Lodge, Long Island, and from the Hudson Lodge, New York city.

D. S. Miller Purchases Property.

Dudley S. Miller, the Park avenue druggist, has just purchased from the Hart estate the building at Park avenue and East Fourth street, a portion of which is occupied by him. The purchase price is said to be $30,000. This property is considered one of the most valuable in the business section of the city. There will be no change in the tenancy.

Haymakers to Have Float.

At a meeting of the Wetumpkah Haymakers' Association last night it was decided that the Wetumpkah tribe put a float in the Charter Day parade. Those on the committee of arrangements are Frank Wagner, N. I. Wiley and I. B. Hoffman. After the business meeting a smoker was held.

Young Men's Suit Special

Regular $12, $14 and $15 Spring Suits at - - $9.75

Sizes 15 to 19 Years

This is every man's store. But it's very much a Young Man's Store.

Young Men, particularly, like clothes that are fashioned and tailored up-to-the-minute—garments with that something which is often referred to as "ginger."

Our garments are shapely, distinctive, refined. That's why they appeal so strongly to Young Men.

This Suit Offering is a Special Line of Suits from our regular stock. They're blue, black and fancy mixed cheviots and blue serges; all this season's models.

Men's Spring Suits and Overcoats

Some men have flirted with pneumonia by laying off a shabby overcoat too soon; others have sweltered in an overcoat because their suit was not fit for exhibition.

Neither condition need exist. Our prices are ranged to meet every purse, from that of the man who would pay 30.00 down to the man whose limit is 12.00.

And a feature peculiar to M. & B. Clothes is that all our garments show the same distinctiveness and smart finish because they're tailored by the same skilled craftsmen.

Spring Suits, Overcoats and Raincoats, $12 to $30.

Men's Shoe Special, Saturday Only, $3.55
Regular $5 and $6 Oxfords.

Boys' Spring Suit Special

Regular $5 to $10 Spring Suits at $3.55

Last week the boys were given a top coat special that was hailed with delight by many a mother.

This week we're offering still greater values in Broken Lines of Boys' Norfolk and Belt Suits, sizes 8 to 17 years. Also Broken Lines of Russian Suits, sizes 2½ to 7 years.

They're this Spring's Suits, in the popular shades and patterns. Regular prices $5 and $10. Special at $3.55.

Special! Boys' $3.50 Spring Shoes, Sizes 2½ to 5½, $2.55.

Save $3 to $12 on a "Governor" Refrigerator.

Governor Refrigeratos are unquestionably the best hardwood, metal-lined boxes made. They preserve food perfectly, save ice, have inside parts that are removable so that you can turn a hose on the inside if you choose to clean them, have self-closing provision chamber doors—a great advantage, truly—and it is the Governor which we specialize and of which we sell more than all other stores combined.

We have just received a new lot of about 200 Refrigerators, and to create a stir tomorrow we are going to offer them at a reduction in price of just one-fourth—25 per cent.

So you can buy a famed Governor like this tomorrow—

No.	High	Deep	Wide	Ice Cap'y	Reg.	Tomorrow

Crash in China

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE, HOUSEKEEPERS!

These Openstock Patterns of excellent French china—four of them—from the famed Haviland potteries are to be sold tomorrow at one-third less than usual prices.

From these Openstock Patterns you can pick one, a dozen, or one hundred pieces, as you like. The china is high grade and these particular sets have been very good sellers, but it is necessary that we close these out that we may have room for other patterns coming in—therefore the cut in price; every piece is perfect and beautiful in design and coloring.

MAN WHO CHARGED BLACKMAIL IS HELD.

Matthew Wade, who charged Giovani Asaria, of Brooklyn, and Francesco Grillo, of 322 South street, Elizabeth, with attempt to blackmail, was himself arraigned last night before Justice of the Peace James P. Jolly on charges of assault made by the two men, who made a counter-complaint against him. He pleaded not guilty and was bonded. Asaria and Grillo were arraigned in the police court yesterday and were placed under bonds to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Asaria's brother-in-law, John Giovonni, was recently in the employ of Wade, who is a contractor. He was injured, and it is claimed by Asaria that Wade agreed to pay his brother-in-law during the latter's confinement at the hospital, but failed to do so. Then, Wade claims, Asaria and Grillo went to his place of business and demanded $1,000. Wade claims that Asaria, on being refused the money, made a motion for his hip pocket as if he were about to pull a weapon. Then Wade's son struck him in his father's defense.

Asaria and Grillo were in police court Wednesday when Wade went there to swear out a complaint against them. They were immediately arrested on a warrant.

TRIANGLE CLUB GETS A BLACK HAND SCARE.

One of the "Bandits" in New Play Gets Warning Not to Sing Song in Baltimore.

Princeton, April 23.—The activity of the Black Hand has been increasing of late and endangering lives of citizens in almost every walk of life, but it about reached the limit when it threatened one of the members of the Princeton Triangle Club for having produced and sung in its play this year a song called "The Black Hand," which made fun of the august order.

This song, which is one of the best this year, was sung by a band of so-called banditti, supposed to be on the shores of Lake Como, in Italy, and yesterday the following letter was received by one of the "bandits," postmarked Easton, Pa.:

"Dear Sir—You was seen making fun of us in a song in the thetro. We here you are to do it agen in baltimore. if you do Look out."

This was signed with a picture of a large black hand.

As the Triangle Club is to give its production in Baltimore, there is mild consternation among the members of the cast because of the letter, and the authorities have been notified. Some of the more light-hearted students consider the thing a joke, but the more serious-minded feel apprehension, and the head proctor, William Coons, is certain that there is something behind it.

Union County Court of Common Pleas.

Notice of Hearing Objections to Assessments For Street Improvements in the City of Plainfield.

Thomas J. Hughes, Harry B. MacDonald and Andrew J. Gavett, the Commissioners appointed by the Union County Court of Common Pleas, by order entered on the ninth day of December, 1908, to estimate and assess benefits conferred by the permanent street improvements in the City of Plainfield, under the ordinances of said city specified in said order, (said ordinances being also hereinafter specified) and the character of the work and improvements for which said assessments have been made and a description of the sections of the particular streets and avenues thereof which are included in said assessment, being as follows: viz.: (1) The paving with permanent and durable vitrified brick pavement of:

East and West Front Streets, respectively, from the westerly side line of Madison Avenue to the easterly side line of Watchung Avenue;

Somerset Street, from the northerly side line of Front Street to the bridge over Green Brook;

Watchung Avenue, from the southerly side line of East Front Street to the southerly side line of East Fourth Street, exclusive of the portion of said Watchung Avenue already provided with brick pavement;

Park Avenue, from the southerly side line of Front Street to the southerly side line of Fourth Street;

East Fourth Street, from the westerly side line of Sycamore Street to the easterly side line thereof;

Arlington Avenue, from the northerly side line of West Seventh Street to the southerly side line thereof; also from the northerly side line of West Eighth Street to the southerly side line thereof; and (2) the macadamizing with durable macadam pavement of:

North Avenue, from the northeasterly curb line of Berckman Street to the southwesterly curb line of Terrill Road;

Leland Avenue, from the present macadam on East Front Street to the present macadam on South Avenue;

Netherwood Avenue, from the present macadam on East Front Street to the northwesterly curb line of East Second Street;

Monroe Avenue, from the present macadam on West Seventh Street to the present macadam on West Eighth Street;

West Eighth Street, from the present macadam on Monroe Avenue to the City Line;

West Third Street, from the present macadam at Monroe Avenue to the present macadam at Clinton Avenue;

Clinton Avenue, from the present macadam at West Third Street to the City Line;

under the ordinances of said City entitled: "An Ordinance for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield with permanent and durable Brick Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits," approved July 1, 1907, "An Ordinance to amend an Ordinance entitled 'An Ordinance for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield with permanent and durable Brick Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits,' adopted by the Common Council July 1st, 1907 and approved by the Mayor July 1st, 1907," approved July 13, 1908, and "An Ordinance for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with permanent and durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits," adopted by the Common Council May 4, 1908; re-adopted by the Common Council June 8, 1908, notwithstanding the objections of the Mayor, which ordinances were adopted under and by virtue of the act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to authorize the improvements of streets and highways in cities of this State and to provide for the payment of the expense of the same," approved June 13, 1898, and the amendments and supplements thereto, having made and filed in the office of the clerk of said court, a report in writing of their estimates and assessments, accompanied by surveys and maps prepared by the City Surveyor under their direction, showing lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, respectively, the total cost of the whole work upon each of the sections of said streets or avenues improved as aforesaid, under the aforesaid ordinances; the portions assessed upon the City at large, and the names, so far as ascertained, of the owners of the said lots or parcels of land and real estate, and the amount of the assessment to each owner for each of said lots or parcels of land and real estate for the said benefits, and the excess thereof to be paid by the City at large, and raised by general tax, and the other matters required by said acts of the Legislature, as by reference to said report and maps will more fully and at large appear.

Notice is hereby given, that the said Union County Court of Common Pleas has fixed the twelfth day of May, 1909, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as the Court can attend to the same, at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth, as the time and place for hearing before said court any objections that may be made to such assessments, when and where all parties may be heard, and has directed the publication of this notice.

JAMES C. CALVERT,
Clerk of the Union County Court of Common Pleas.
Dated April 20th, 1909.

It Is a Popular Notion that nothing is more simple than the preparation of a will.

Come in and talk it over

This may be so or it may not be so, according to circumstances, but it is certainly not apt to be simple when there are many requests or where Trusteeships are created covering a number of beneficiaries or a long period of years.

TRIANGLE CLUB OFF FOR SOUTH.

Will Play in Baltimore Tonight and in Washington, D. C., Tomorrow Night.

Princeton, April 23.—The Princeton Triangle Club started on its Southern trip today and all the students are looking forward to the usual good time and the splendid reception which the alumni always prepare for them. They give their first performance in Baltimore tonight, at the Albaugh theatre on Charles street, and the alumni will give them a smoker and entertainment in the theatre after the performance. This was very successful last year and is expected to be even more so this trip.

Tomorrow morning they arrive at Washington and will be taken on a tour of the town in automobiles by the alumni and wind up at the White House, where they will be received by President Taft, giving their last performance at the Columbia theatre there Saturday night.

No Haircuts on Sunday.

Bayonne, April 23.—The Barbers' Protective Association will refrain from cutting hair on Sundays, beginning May 1. Accordng to the tonsorial artists too much time is lost Sunday mornings by cutting hair, and as a result they lose trade. "More than half of the people who have their hair cut on Sunday could do so in the week," said one of the barbers. "We will make it a rule of the union not to cut hair on Sunday, and hereafter we will not cut children's hair on Saturdays.

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

The pigeon house of Joseph Park, at Mantua, was burned yesterday. The origin of the fire is a mystery. A number of birds were destroyed.

At Clementon yesterday an artesian well was driven that sent up a three-inch stream six feet high. The well is 180 feet deep and will give 30,000 gallons of water daily.

The State Fish and Game Commission has shipped a number of ring-necked pheasants to Game Warden George Phifer at Millville, and he is now distributing them about the county.

Charles Tracey, of 2006 Federal street, East Side, Camden, an employe of the Keystone Leather Works, accidentally got oil of vitrol in his eyes yesterday and may lose his sight.

Mrs. Howard Starn, of Delair, yesterday asked the Camden police to look out for her husband, who wandered away from home on Sunday while suffering from temporary dementia.

Rev. William H. Boocock, pastor of the First Reformed church of Bayonne, has decided to accept a call from Rev. Andrew V. V. Raymond, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Buffalo. Mr. Boocock will be made director of religious education in the Buffalo church.

Mayor Pierre Garven, of Bayonne, has requested the officials of the Public Service Corporation to provide shelter at the junction, Jersey City, for passengers who are transferred at that point. The Mayor's action has received hearty indorsement from thousands of patrons of the Bayonne line.

While out looking for another house, Mrs. John Trudding, of 223 Burns street, Camden, had most of her furniture destroyed by fire yesterday. It was caused by an oil stove that was burning near a quantity of effects in readiness for moving. The rear part of the house was badly damaged. The loss was considerable.

The body of the man found floating in the Delaware river, below Gloucester City, has not been identified, and unless it is claimed it will be buried today. In a pocket is the name of E. Maxwell. It is believed that he was a sailor, as on his left hand and arm is a star, anchor and ship tattooed, while on the right hand and arm is an anchor and coat-of-arms.

At the two days' session of the West Jersey Presbytery, which adjourned at Deerfield yesterday afternoon, P. Kennedy, of Bridgeton, was elected moderator. The delegates elected to the general assembly, which meets in Denver on May 20, were Dr. F. R. Brace, of Blackwood; Dr. W. G. Lauderbaugh, of Salem, and Dr. W. Price, of Camden.

Robert Patterson, twenty-four years old, of Philadelphia, was struck Tuesday night by a Pennsylvania flier running into the railroad yards at Indiana avenue, Atlantic City. Patterson, who was there seeking employment, was tossed forty feet, and was believed to be dead when picked up. An ambulance carried the unconscious young man to the City Hospital, where it was found that he had sustained only severe bruises and lacerations.

Charles Hannahs, father of Allison Hannahs, the Deerfield farmer who disappeared from Bridgeton on Monday, yesterday received a letter which unraveled the mystery. The letter was dated Tuckahoe, and was written by Allison Hannahs. He said he had left his home after mature deliberation because of domestic unhappiness. The father immediately left to meet his son and try to induce him to return, although Allison had written he was about to leave Tuckahoe for Oklahoma.

An umbrella mender, who looked like Samson, and acted like Samson, was jailed at Clayton Tuesday night for disorderly conduct, and when Marshal Green took him his supper he found the prisoner had twisted and broken half-inch bars from the iron bed. With these he had pried off the wainscoting and would have soon been out of jail had not Mayor Nichols given him a hearing on the spot and committed him to the Woodbury jail for ninety days. He gave the name of Frank Gilbert.

ELIZABETH ELKS CHOOSE OFFICERS.

Trustees of Elizabeth City Lodge, B. P. O. Elks, held their annual meeting in Bender Lorraine Hotel yesterday afternoon, elected officers and entertained their friends with a banquet by Mr. Bender. Joseph Kaudman was the unanimous choice for chairman of the board of trustees, being re-elected.

George T. Carroll was again elected secretary-treasurer. The other members of the board are Joseph McCandless, John Dolbier and John Reuter. Among the guests of the trustees were Charles Swart, of Cranford; Daniel Schwartz, of Roselle, and Joseph Breckner, of Elizabeth.

At the meeting of the lodge last night a report was submitted by the building committee stating that progress was being made in the new Elks' home on Westfield avenue, and that it would be ready for occupancy within a short time.

NEW CLOAK STORE

Tomorrow we open our doors and say: "Welcome to your new store" — your store indeed for here you may always feel at home; here you may at all times be sure of getting goods that will satisfy at prices that will tempt you, and of courteous treatment whether you buy or not.

A word about the goods we shall offer. Every garment in our large stock is fresh and new. The fact that this is a new store insures you against any possibility of buying old goods. The styles we shall display are the product of most artistic designers and are sure to please ladies of radical as well as conservative taste. The predominating feature of our goods will be their high quality, for we shall use only the best of materials in the making of every garment we sell, guaranteeing them to give satisfaction in every way. As for prices—you will wonder how they are possible when you consider the superiority of the goods.

In summing up let us ask you to remember that we have a large stock of fresh and new apparel for ladies, misses and children, made in up-to-the-minute styles of superior quality and temptingly priced.

We extend all a hearty invitation to call on us whether or not you intend to make a purcease, and we repeat, this is your store—you are always welcome here.

VANDERBILT AND ELLER MAKE THE BIG SCORES

Vanderbilt and Eller were the high men on Johnny Campbell's alleys last night. The boys showed a great spurt, their bowling being about the best seen on the alleys during the past month. In both series they came close to the four hundred mark, their first game reaching 394. Eller made 224 to start off with, while Vanderbilt went 226 during the second series.

Boyle and Owens started out well, but fell down as the game progressed. Gray and Vail ran up 377, the first game in the second series. The scores:

Vanderbilt	170	151	183
Eller	224	178	152
	3804	329	335
Vail	157	146	195
Garry	154	168	118

By MARGARET MAYO

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead and Company

One of the acts came tumbling out of the main tent. There was a moment's confusion as clowns, acrobats and animals passed each other on their way to and from the ring; then the lot cleared again, and Polly came slowly from the dressing tent. She looked very different from the little girl whom Jim had led away from the parson's garden in a simple white frock one month before. Her thin, pensive face contrasted oddly with her glittering attire. Her hair was knotted high on her head and intertwined with flowers and jewels. Her slender neck seemed scarcely able to support its burden. Her short, full skirt and low cut bodice were ablaze with white and colored stones.

"What's on, Jim?" she asked.

"The 'leap o' death.' You got plent, of time."

Polly's mind went back to the girl who answered that call a year ago. Her spirit seemed very near tonight. The band stopped playing. Barker made his grandiloquent announcement about the wonderful act about to be seen, and her eyes wandered to the distant church steeple. The moonlight seemed to shun it tonight. It looked cold and grim and dark. She wondered whether the solemn bell that once called its flock to worship had become as mute as her own dead heart. She did not hear the whir of the great machine inside the tent as it plunged through space with its girl occupant. These things were a part of the daily routine, part of the strange, vague dream through which she must stumble for the rest of her life.

Jim watched her in silence. Her face was turned from him. She had forgotten his presence.

"Star gazin', Poll?" he asked at length, dreading to disturb her reverie.

"I guess I was, Jim." She turned to him with a little, forced smile. He longed to save her from Barker's threatened rebuke.

"How you feelin' tonight?"

"I'm all right," she answered cheerfully.

"Anything you want?"

"Want?" She turned upon him with startled eyes. There was so much that she wanted that the mere mention of the word had opened a well of pain in her heart.

"I mean can I do anything for you?"

"Oh, of course not." She remembered how little any one could do.

"What is it, Poll?" he begged, but she only turned away and shook her head with a sigh. He followed her with anxious eyes. "What made you cut out the show today? Was it because you didn't want to ride afore folks what knowed you—ride afore him mebbe?"

"Him?" Her face was white. Jim feared she might swoon. "You don't mean that he was"—

"Oh, no," he answered quickly, "of course not. Parsons don't come to places like this one. I was only figurin' that you didn't want other folks to see an' to tell him how you was ridin'." She did not answer.

"Was that it, Poll?" he urged.

"I don't know." She stared into space.

"Was it?"

"I guess it was," she said after a long time.

"I knowed it!" he cried. "I was a fool to 'a' brung you back! You don't belong with us no more."

"Oh, don't, Jim! Don't! Don't make me feel I'm in the way here too!"

"Here too?" He looked at her in astonishment. "You wasn't in his way, was you, Poll?"

"Yes, Jim." She saw his look of unbelief and continued hurriedly: "Oh, I tried not to be! I tried so hard. He used to read me verses out of a Bible about my way being his way and my people his people, but it isn't so, Jim. Your way is the way you are born, and your people are the people you are born with, and you can't change it, Jim, no matter how hard you try."

"You was changin' it," he answered savagely. "You was gettin' jes' like them people. It was me what took you away an' spoiled it all. You oughtn't to 'a' come. What made you after you said you wouldn't?"

She did not answer. Strange things were going through the mind of the slow witted Jim. He braced himself for a difficult question.

"Will you answer me somethin' straight?" he asked.

"Why, of course," she said as she met his gaze.

"Do you love the parson, Poll?"

She started.

"Is that it?"

Her lids fluttered and closed; she caught her breath quickly, her lips apart, then looked far into the distance.

"Yes, Jim, I'm afraid that's it." The little figure drooped, and she stood before him with lowered eyes, unarmed. Jim looked at her helplessly, then shook his big, stupid head.

"Ain't that h—l?"

It seemed such a short time to Jim since he had picked her up, a cooing babe, at her dead mother's side. He watched the tender, averted face. Things had turned out so differently from what he had planned.

"An' he don't care about you—like that?" he asked after a pause.

"No, not in that way." She was anxious to defend the pastor from even the thought of such a thing. "He was good and kind always, but he didn't care that way. He's not like that."

"I guess I'll have a talk with him," said Jim, and he turned to go.

"Talk!" she cried.

He stopped and looked at her in astonishment. It was the first time that he had ever heard that sharp note in her voice. Her tiny figure was stiffened with decision. Her eyes were blazing.

"If you ever dare to speak to him—about me, you'll never see me again."

Jim was perplexed.

"I mean it, Jim. I've made my choice, and I've come back to you. If you ever try to fix up things between him and me, I'll run away—really and truly away—and you'll never, never get me back."

He shuffled awkwardly to her side and reached apologetically for the little clinched fist. He held it in his big rough hand, toying nervously with the tiny fingers.

"I wouldn't do nothin' that you wasn't a-wantin', Poll. I was just a-tryin' to help you, only I—I never seem to know how."

She turned to him with tear dimmed eyes and rested her hands on his great, broad shoulders, and he saw the place where he dwelt in her heart.

CHAPTER XIV.

THE "leap of death" implements were being carried from the ring, and Jim turned away to superintend their loading.

Performers again rushed by each other on their way to and from the main tent.

Polly stood in the center of the lot, frowning and anxious. The mere mention of the pastor's name had made it seem impossible for her to ride tonight. For hours she had been whipping herself up to the point of doing it, and now her courage failed her. She followed Barker as he came from the ring.

"Mr. Barker, please!"

He turned upon her sharply.

"Well, what is it now?"

"I want to ask you to let me off again tonight." She spoke in a short, jerky, desperate way.

"What!" he shrieked. "Not go into the ring, with all them people inside what's paid their money because they knowed you?"

"That's it!" she cried. "I can't! I can't!"

"You're gettin' too proud!" Barker sneered. "That's the trouble with you. You ain't been good for nothin' since you was at that parson's house. You didn't stay there, and you're no use here. First thing you know you'll be out all round."

"Out?"

"Sure. You don't think I'm goin' to head my bill with a 'dead one,' do you?"

"I am not a 'dead one,'" she answered excitedly. "I'm the best rider you've had since mother died. You've said so yourself."

"That was afore you got in with them church cranks. You talk about your mother! Why, she'd be ashamed to own you."

"She wouldn't!" cried Polly. Her eyes were flashing; her face was scarlet. The pride of hundreds of years of ancestry was quivering with indignation. "I can ride as well as I ever could, and I'll do it too. I'll do it tomorrow."

"Tomorrow?" echoed Barker. "What do you mean by that?"

"I mean that I can't go into that ring tonight," she declared, "and I won't."

She was desperate now and trading upon a strength beyond her own.

TEACHERS' TENURE OF OFFICE BILL A LAW.

Trenton, April 22.—Governor Fort signed Assemblyman Radcliffe's teacher tenure of office bill, House Bill No. 82, at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

"I have been waiting for ten years for the opportunity to sign a bill of this kind," said Governor Fort, when he took up the bill for consideration. A public hearing had been asked on the measure and was to have been given late yesterday afternoon, but the remark made by the Governor then indicated that the hearing would be unnecessary as he intended to add it to the statute books.

Silas R. Morse, of the State Board of Education, was the only person interested in the bill when the Governor made his remark, and he was there as an opponent.

Mr. Morse informed the Governor that a great many of the teachers did not want the measure, that it was opposed by the State Board of Education, and that it would militate against the public school system.

The Governor said, "he did not see the force of any of the arguments."

Against the Rules.

There is a certain Pittsburg broker who insists that every clerk in his establishment shall present an immaculate personal appearance.

"If you care to retain your position in this house," said he one morning to one offender whom he had summoned to the private office, "you will have to devote more attention to your toilet. Why, man, you present the appearance of one who has not shaved for a week."

"Beg pardon, sir," said the clerk, "but I am raising a beard."

"That's no excuse," said the boss. "You must do that sort of thing outside business hours."—Harper's Weekly.

Road Drivers Hold Dinner.

Three hundred members and guests of the Morris County Road Drivers' Association attended the annual dinner of the organization in the Morristown Skating Rink last night. President Anderson M. Guerin acted as toastmaster. The speakers were Colonel E. S. Edwards, James Beldon, Dr. T. Earl Budd, the Rev. Ralph B. Urmy and the Rev. William Russell Bennett.

Bullet Barely Misses Chauffeur.

John J. Ring, a chauffeur of the Newark Board of Works, had a close call while speeding his machine through Fifteenth avenue, that city, yesterday, when a stray bullet crashed through the glass wind shield and whistled close to his head. SOCIETY FOLK IN COMEDY

Pinero's "The Magistrate" to Be Presented at the New Plainfield Theatre.

"The Magistrate," to be given by the Park Comedy Club at the New Plainfield theatre, Friday night, May 21, promises to be one of the most successful amateur productions yet attempted by the organization. Every member of the cast seems to be especially fitted for his or her part and the rehearsals are now going along with a smoothness that would do credit to more experienced persons.

Charles H. Lyman's portrayal of "The Magistrate," is exceedingly clever and he will, it is said, add another hit to his long list of successes. Walter Vaughn McGee as "Bullamy," the second magistrate, has a comedy part that is a scream. Mr. McGee who is one of the younger members of the club, has shown exceptional talent. Frederick C. Patterson, of New York, is the stage director and coach. The cast:

Mr. Posket and Mr. Bullamy, magistrates of the Mulberry Street Police Court, Charles H. Lyman and Walter Vaughn McGee; Colonel Lukyn, from Begal-retired, Henry Crofut; Captain Horace Vale, Shropshire Fusiliers, Frederick W. Goddard; Cis Farringdon, Mrs. Posket's son by her first marriage, Alston M. Abbott; Achille Blond, proprietor of the Hotel des Princes, William Flanders; Isidore, a waiter, John P. Myers; Mr. Wormington, chief clerk at Mulberry street, John P. Myers; Inspector Messiter, Kerro Knox; Sergent Lugg, Herbert S. Rogers; Constable Harris, Herbert S. Rogers; Wyke, a servant at Mr. Posket's, Hugh Jarvis; Agatha Posket, late Farringdon, nee Verrinder, Miss Elizabeth Goddard; Charlotte, her sister, Miss Frances L. Vandeventer; Beatie Tomlinson, a young lady reduced to teaching music, Miss Helen Ray Hodley; Popham, Mrs. Alston M Abbott.

HARRY GILMORE WEDS MISS LILLIAN PAYSON.

Miss Lillian Howard Payson, daughter of Mrs. M. L. Payson, and Harry Metz Gilmore, both of this city, were married last night at the parsonage of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, the pastor, Rev. Charles S. Kemble, officiating. The bride's mother, Mrs. Drake, of Attleboro, Mass., C. B. Lawson and Mrs. C. S. Kemble witnessed the ceremony.

Following the ceremony refreshments were served and later the couple left for a short wedding trip. They will reside in Plainfield. The groom is well-known in this city, having been one of the popular members of the Y. M. C. A. baseball team.

SEES SON FOR FIRST TIME IN 17 YEARS.

William M. Sandford, of East Front street, who has returned from an automobile trip to Atlantic City was given a great surprise upon reaching his home. He was greeted at the door by a servant, who said that there was a man in the parlor who wanted to see him.

Upon walking into the parlor he was surprised to greet his son, Charles Sandford, of Clayton, New Mexico, who he had not seen in seventeen years. The meeting was an effecting one. Mr. Sandford owns a large ranch in New Mexicco and during his long absence from Plainfield has been successful. He is now visiting his father for an indefinite period.

A Surprise Party.

A surprise party was given Daniel Terry, of 306 Monroe avenue, by a number of his friends on Wednesday night. The evening was spent in singing and dancing. Solos were rendered by the Misses Minnie Hook, Carrie Coon, Rose Wilson and Rae Terry. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thompson, the Misses Mamie Taynor, Ethel Kirkman, Mabel Dunham, Maude Jeffries, Rose Wilson, Minnie Flynn, Lizzie Dunavan, May Heffren, Amanda Terry, Agnes Heffren, Florence Terry and Daisy Terry, and Ray Terry, Charles Bremmer, George Perry, Frank Mohart, George Gage, Harold Firstbrook, Ray Tomlinson, Herman Miller, John McGarrigle, George Hook, Frank Huff, Henry Terry, Joseph Heffren and William Terry. Refreshments were served.

Pastors Exchange Residences.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Charles M. Anderson, of Jersey City, have removed to the First M. E. church parsonage, and Rev. Dr. and Mrs. A. C. McCrea have removed to Newark, where Dr. McCrea is now pastor of the Centenary M. E. church.

TOURED ROOSEVELT'S ROUTE THROUGH AFRICA

After having spent six months in roaming about much of the country which Theodore Roosevelt has mapped out as his route, Robert A. Suffern, of North Plainfield, returned yesterday from an outing in Africa. The trip was taken solely for the benefit of his health and Mr. Suffern is home again bronzed in face and apparently physically benefited.

The North Plainfielder declined to discuss his journey, but gave it as his opinion that Mr. Roosevelt runs a great risk of contracting the dreaded fever while in the jungles. He added that the disagreeable experiences of the hunt will be many and that the former President will not find things as pleasant as he may anticipate. The people generally are particularly hospitable, he said, and when he left for home they were eagerly awaiting the coming of the "great white chief," who appeared to be the general topic of discussion.

Mr. Suffern is the junior member of the firm of E. L. Suffern & Son, of New York, his partner being his father.

FATHER MILLER TELLS OF MIRACULOUS SHRINE

Rev. William H. Miller, pastor of St. Joseph's church, the borough, addressed the faculty and students at Mt. St. Mary's College, Wednesday, it being the first of a series of lectures for the spring term. His subject was "The Miraculous Shrine of Lourdes." Father Miller's portrayal of the life and character of Bernadette, the little peasant girl to whom the Mother of God appeared, was surely a great treat to all his listeners.

Father Miller displayed great knowledge of his subject. Episodes from his pilgrimage to Lourdes a few years ago, aptly worded and related naturally gave an added realism which was apparent to the audience. At the conclusion of the lecture, Father Miller presented medals to the students, which had been given him by the brother of Bernadette and blessed at the shrine of "Our Lady of Lourdes."

ORGAN RECITAL CROWDS CRESCENT AVE. CHURCH

William P. Dunn, organist, assisted by James Stanley, bass, gave an enjoyable organ recital at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, last night, before an audience that filled the edifice to overflowing. This was the first opportunity that Mr. Dunn has had to display his talent as an organist on the new instrument and he fulfilled every expectation, while the singing by Mr. Stanley was greatly enjoyed.

The first group of organ numbers comprised compositions by Bach, Guilmant and Handel, the last named being "Thus Saith the Lord," from the Messiah. Interspersing the organ selections was a group of five numbers from Thomas, Dubois, Wagner and Mozart by Mr. Stanley. His voice has seldom been heard to better advantage.

The program concluded with seven numbers, being compositions of Schumann, Tschaikowsky, Wagner, Haydn and Lemmens, the final number being the "Triumphal March." All were executed in a finished manner and the audience was much pleased. Mr. Dunn will preside at the organ tomorrow for the last time at this church for on May 2 he will be succeeded by R. A. Laslett Smith, of Stamford, Conn.

For Colored Institute.

A mass meeting in the interest of Walker Institute, of Augusta, Ga., was held Thursday night in Reform Hall. There was a large attendance of interested people. Rev. F. D. Tildon, of Bethel chapel, presided and prayer was offered by Rev. D. W. Cannon, of Norwich, Conn. The objects of the meeting were presented by Rev. M. A. Alexander, Dr. J. C. Anderson, Dr. J. F. Lawson, Dr. R. C. Wormley and Prof. V. N. Carney, of the institute. During the evening the Choral Society rendered several selections. At the conclusion of the addresses, Mr. Tildon acknowledged the receipt of $7 from friends.

His Granddaughter's Wedding.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Chambliss, of Central avenue, left yesterday for Brownsville, Tenn., where they will attend the wedding of their granddaughter, Miss Margaret Chambliss, and William Berson, both of that city, on Wednesday, April 28. Dr. Chambliss will officiate at the marriage of his granddaughter.

GAVE MUSICAL AND TEA

City Union of King's Daughters Provide Delightful Entertainment.

"The Blue Stocking Tea" and musicale, under the auspices of The City Union of The King's Daughters, held at the Park Club, yesterday, was a success in spite of the inclement weather. The pretty clubhouse was thronged with friends of the various circles and liberal patronage was accorded. The musical program, a delightful one, was fully enjoyed by the audience and several encores were demanded.

The color scheme was yellow, and nearly every booth was decorated in an attractive manner with Daffodils, the members of the various circles assisting in this work. The whole affair was in charge of the City Union and the proceeds will go toward the general work being carried on such as The Day Nursery and Baby Camp and support of the city nurse.

The musical program was presented by Miss Carla Dagmar, who sang Swedish melodies; Miss Louise Saunders, who gave several original monologues in her usual clever manner, and William T. Carleton, the famous English baritone, who delighted all with his songs.

The novel feature of the affair was the distribution of about two thousand small blue stockings, the recipient being requested to place an amount therein equal to the size of her own stocking. They could gain admission in this way or by a silver offering, and the receipts were very satisfactory.

Mrs. Frank W. Jones, who is president of the City Union of The King's Daughters, was in charge and the presidents of the Circles formed the reception committee as follows:

Mrs. D. M. Van Vliet, Mrs. S. St. John McCutchen, Mrs. J. A. Peterkin, Mrs. F. S. Martin, Mrs. H. L. Hall, Mrs. F. W. Butler, Mrs R. W. Barnes, Mrs. A. M. Most, Mrs. J. W. Musson, Miss Elsie Suffern, Miss Dorothy Fleming, Miss Myra Runyon.

The tea table was presided over by members of the Benevolent Band, Mrs. A. J. Brunson, Mrs. L. R. Hopton and Mrs. Evarts Tracy, assisted by Miss Alice Titus, Miss Marguerite Carpenter, Miss Louise Booth and Miss Marion Brown. Another tea table was in charge of the Cheerful Workers, the members in charge being Miss Margaret Mead, Miss Margaret Leal, Miss Louise Curtis, Miss Florence Curtis and Mrs. Lewis Squires, assisted by Miss May Faber, Miss Helen Stevens, Miss Edith Griscom, Miss Ruth Van Vliet and Miss Bessie Flanders.

The Silver Cross tea table was presided over by Mrs. W. R. Faber, Mrs. A. M. Abbott, Mrs. Francis Du Bois, Mrs. F. O. Ball, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Howard Turrill, Mrs. A. B. Laing, Mrs. DeWitt Hubbell, Miss Helen Philips and Miss May Shreve.

The Loyal Daughters' coffee table was presided over by Mrs. S. H. Patterson, assisted by Mrs. H. K. Tetsuka, Mrs. W. W. Corlett, Mrs. R. L. Hecht, Mrs. W. L. Lockwood and Mrs. Walter Cahoone. The cake table was presided over by two circles, "Charity," represented by Mrs. Fred W. Yates, Mrs. Otis E. Hovey, Mrs. W. A. Conner, Mrs. G. Harry Squires and Mrs. W. C. Kinney, and "Daughters of the Cross," represented by Mrs. F. W. Iredell, Mrs. A. V. Heely, Mrs. George T. Rogers and Mrs. J. C. Peck.

Candy was sold by members of The Cup Bearers, represented by the Misses Margaret Drayton, Eleanor Waring, Annie Fisk, Charlotte Finch, Gladys Peck, Ethel Most, Helen Adams and Leontine Huntsman, and "In His Name" circle, represented by the Misses Edith Arnold, Marguerite Arnold, Gertrude Butler, Edith Ogden, Marion Wean, Pauline Gates, Carolyn Slauson, Eleanor Iredell, Katharine Drayton, Caroline Ross, Ethel Wickett, Dorothy Leal, Eleanor Hatch, Ruth Timpson and Alverda Holland

Lemonade was sold by four circles, Whatsoever, Brightside, Golden Rule and Emanuel, represented by Mrs. Frank W. Jones, Miss Mary G. Steiner, Miss Clara Van Fleet, Mrs. E. Cory, Mrs. Daniel Clawson, Mrs. J. D. Poflison, Mrs. A. M. Laggren, Miss Olive Z. DeLany, Mrs. Clayton M. Nagle and Mrs. Edward Baker.

Woman in the Toils.

Patrick Regan, of Harrison street, made a complaint yesterday to the borough police against Martha Goldstein, alleging that she has struck his daughter, while the girl was on her way home from school. The case will be heard on Wednesday afternoon.

Burglars at South Plainfield.

Burglars effected an entrance to the home of William Reilly at South Plainfield, Thursday night, but were frightened away before they got any booty. Entrance was made through a window that was pried open with a jimmy.

MEMORIAL WINDOW IN FIRST M. E. CHURCH

A beautiful window, "The Ascension," has been placed in the First M. E. church by James W. Jackson, in memory of his father and mother. The inscription at the base of the window reads: "To the Glory of God and in loving memory of James Jackson, Died Dec. 19, 1882. Susan E. Jackson, Died April 5, 1887." Just above the inscription appears the verse, Luke XXIV. 51, "And it came to pass, while he blessed them, he was parted from them, and carried up into heaven."

The composition of the window is remarkable for strength and simplicity. In the foreground are the eleven apostles, with faces that are filled with adoration and wonderment at the glorious figure of Christ above them. The color scheme admirably interprets and supplements the arrangement of the figures. In the foreground, rich reds and dull blues and greens. Above the head of the Christ, a golden radiance that makes ethereal His ascending form and the draperies that enfold him. The blending of color in this window is most remarkable, demonstrating the bold freedom that is wonderfully successful when practiced by a master, and by a master only.

The window was designed and made by the Duffner & Kimberly Co., of New York.

"MR. BOB" RAISES $100 FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS

Members of the Teachers' Training Class of Grace church raised more than $100 for mission work yesterday by a presentation of the comedy "Mr. Bob" at the parish house. Two performances, afternoon and evening, were given, and at the evening performance the seating capacity of the hall proved inefficient for the accommodation of the large audience. The proceeds of the presentations will be sent to Bishop Van Buren, at Porto Rico. Mrs. J. S. Hanson, teacher of the class, coached the caste for the play, and the presentations showed the results of her careful training.

The comedy "Mr. Bob," written by Rachel E. Baker, is a delightful piece, especially well suited for amateur presentation. The girls of the class were assisted in the presentation by young men of the Sunday school. This was the caste of characters:

"Philip Royson," Thomas Leggett, Jr., "Robert Brown, a clerk," Thomas Jewett; "Rebecca Luke, a maiden lady," Miss Constance Pittis; "Katherine Rogers, her niece," Miss Mary Dickenson; "Marion Bryant," Katherine's friend," Miss Frances Iredell; "Jenkins, Miss Rebecca's butler," John Jewett, Jr.; "Patty, Miss Rebecca's maid," Miss Annie Johnson. Taking the principal part, Miss Pittis' interpretation won particular applause, although each member of the caste made the most of his or her lines. W. VanD. Jewett acted as usher, while Robert Bellows and Chester Alpaugh were the ticket takers.

CREAM ALL PAID FOR.

Small Boys Who Stole Wedding Feast Desert Have Each Contributed $2.04.

The last payment of $2.04 for ice cream stolen from the home of Clarence Woodcock, of West Seventh street, on the evening of the Gaston-Woodcock nuptials a week ago, was made at police court yesterday afternoon, and now each of the five boy prisoners have paid their share toward the $10.20, which was the value of the frozen desert.

The charge was made by Mr. Woodcock the day after the wedding, and at his request City Judge Runyon divided the cost of the cream among the five boys. They are all West End lads, and took the two tubs of cream from the rear of the house during the ceremony to eat it in the back lot.

Climax A. C. Holds Second Dance.

The second of a series of informal dances given under the auspices of the Climax A. C., of Alton, was held at Truell Hall last night. There were about sixty couples present and dancing was continued until a late hour. Guests were present from Jersey City, Newark, Elizabeth, New Brunswick, Metuchen, South Plainfield, Alton and this city. Music was furnished by Suhr's orchestra. The committee in charge of the affair comprised John P. Terry, Frank P. Kelly, Monroe Terry and Andrew Conway.

F. O. E. Annual Dance.

Plainfield Aerie, No. 866, F. O. E., will hold its annual dance at Truall Hall on Monday night.

BRETHREN ARE DIVIDED

Paul Loizeaux to Represent Local Congregation at Peace Conference.

Paul Loizeaux, of Brook avenue, who is one of the leading members of the meeting of Christians, sometimes referred to as "Plymouth Brethren," whose place of worship is at East Front street and Bank place, will leave on Saturday, May 1, for Western-Super-Mare, in the South of England, where there is to be an important gathering of members from both this country and England.

The object of the meeting is to adjust vital points of difference which have existed between the members in this country and those in England for a great many years. One of the chief points of dissention is that for years the members in England were of the belief that the Holy Spirit was only possessed by certain Christians, while in this country the members believe that every Christian alike possesses the Holy Spirit. This difference resulted in an ecclesiastical division and then followed a number of side issues which only tended to keep the members apart and prevented a Christian unity that has long been desired by the members in this country.

During the past few years there has been an effort made to bring all the members together and as a result a meeting has been arranged and will be held at Western-Super-Mare commencing on Wednesday, May 12, and will continue an indefinite time. At this meeting all points of difference will be thoroughly considered in a spirit of reverence and prayer, solely with the idea of effecting Christianity unity.

There are two or three meetings in this city, a difference existing as to church discipline. Those who meet on East Front street believe that while they constitute an independent body of Christians, they are accountable in a way to all Christians of similar faith. Those who meet on Liberty street believe that they are not accountable to anyone but themselves and rather resent the idea of being called to account by others of the faith. It is possible that the meeting to be held abroad may result in bringing all the members of this country, as well as abroad, together, in one large Christian body and that is one of the things hoped and prayed for by the Christians.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Fawcett, of Rockview avenue, leave today for England and they will also attend the meeting to be held at Western-Super-Mare and take part in the conference.

NEWARK FIRM'S AGENT ARRESTED IN BOROUGH.

William Reuter, of Elizabeth, a driver for the Pride Tea and Coffee Company of Newark, was arrested in the borough yesterday afternoon for selling teas and coffees without a license. At the time, according to the police, he was in the act of taking orders and receiving the money for the same.

The case will come up for trial before Recorder Dolliver on Monday. When question by Chief Marshal Weiss, Reuter stated that orders were taken for the goods and upon their delivery they were paid for by the purchaser.

The Pride Tea and Coffee Company is located at 904 Fifteenth street, Newark, and has branch stores in nearby cities.

CIRCUS COMING TO TOWN AND ON SATURDAY TOO.

The Frank A. Robbins' circus has billed the town, announcing two performances here on Saturday, May 8. Only a few weeks ago, the Plainfield Merchants' Association petitioned the city fathers not to issue permits for circuses here on Saturday, alleging that it ruined business. The petition was referred to Mayor Fisk.

Mr. Fisk is not in town today and it cannot be learned whether he has issued a permit, but his friends say that it is not probable. It is believed that the merchants will wait on the mayor and urge him not to allow the show here on that date. The show is to be held at Grant avenue and Front street.

P. H. S. A. A.'s Dance.

The dance given the members of the North Plainfield baseball team at Saengerbund Hall last night was well attended. Music was furnished by an Elizabeth orchestra. Herbert Hansen entertained the crowd with a number of tumbling feats. Those on the committee of arrangements were E. O. Driver, G. Feiring, W. Perry, J. Reinmann and W. Walters. The proceeds will go towards the purchasing of new uniforms and other baseball material.

INJURED BY JUMPING FROM A TROLLEY CAR

Clifford Hall, the fifteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton P. Hall, of Fanwood, jumped off an Arlington avenue trolley car on East Fourth street, opposite the railroad station at 1 o'clock, this afternoon, landing in a trench six feet deep and received injuries which necessitated his removal to the hospital in the police patrol. The lad was considerably bruised, scratched and shaken up, while physicians thought there might be a slight concussion of the brain.

Young Hall was on his way to the railroad station and had signalled the conductor to stop opposite the station park. He rushed to the rear platform and before the car stopped jumped off and landed in a trench which had been opened in the street for repair work.

Lawrence Lawritzen, of this city, was the motorman of the car and P. Durr, of South Bound Brook, the conductor. They were taken to police headquarters and released on their own recognizance. The lad's condition is not considered serious, although he will be detained at the hospital for some days.

WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS HAS A BUSY SESSION

Department President Mrs. Eliza J. Adams and secretary, Mrs. Eleanor J. Shott, of Jersey City, paid a fraternal visit to the Women's Relief Corps, last night, and made brief addresses. It was one of the best meetings held by the corps in a long time and the attendance was large. There was some talk regarding the annual department convention to be held at Atlantic City, May 20-21, and the local corps will be largely represented.

Mrs. S. H. Struthers, president, has appointed Mrs. John Manley, Miss May T. Smith, Miss May E. Howlett, Mrs. Sarah Mattox and Mrs. Hannah Westphal as a committee from the corps to join with a similar committee from Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., in arranging plans for the observance of Memorial Day and the members will attend future join conferences.

GET OPTION ON A SITE FOR PROPOSED CHAPEL

Rev. Dr. James I. Vance, of the North Reformed church; Rev. S. T. Hutchinson, of the First Reformed church; Joseph H. Mundy, of the Clinton Avenue Reformed church; H. Ogden, of the First Reformed church, all of Newark, accompanied by Rev. John Y. Broek, of Trinity Reformed church, representing the Classis of Newark, yesterday visited the proposed site for the new Reformed church chapel to be erected in the East End.

An option on a lot, 110x126, at Leland and Midway avenues, was secured and provided the owner, Elston M. French, will comply with certain conditions, it will be purchased and a chapel erected there.

The Classis of Newark at its meeting this week raised nearly $3,000 for the purchase of a lot and erection of a building, and the necessary balance will be contributed by various churches in the denomination. As soon as the land is secured steps will be taken to start work on the house of worship at once.

Special Musical Service.

The monthly musical service will be held at the First Presbyterian church, tomorrow night, when an excellent program will be given. Miss Anna Lucretia Case, soprano, will be the soloist, and Mrs. C. E. Herring will be at the piano and Clifford A. Braider at the organ. These numbers will be presented: "Invocation," Ganne, organ and piano; anthem, "Abide With Me," Churchill, quartet; trio, "My God, My Father," Coombs; anthems, "O Lord, How Manifold," Frery; "Great Is the Lord," Harker, quartet; "Silhoutten," Elert, piano and organ.

To Double Its Stores.

George J. Whalen, of East Front street, is one of the directors of the corporation of United Cigar Stores, incorporated yesterday in New York. The capital of the new corporation is $10,000,000, and the other incorporators are Frederick A. Whalen, of Mount Vernon; Elliott Averett, Loius Biel and Angier B. Dirke, all of New York city. The principal offices of the new company will be in New York city. The company plans to double the number of retail cigar stores operated throughout the country.

WANT TO LIVE ALWAYS?

Mrs. S. F. Marsh Has the Prescription for Perpetual Existence.

"Dreams are actualities, just as our waking incidents are. The subconscious mind is sent afield by us when we close our eyes and rest our bodies and the conscious mind. We are all more asleep when we are walking about and exercising than when we lie quiet at night." So says Mrs. Caraline S. F. Marsh, director of the New Thought church movement at Aurora Grata Cathedral, Brooklyn, who gave a lecture on "The Mystery of Sleep" at the Babcock building, last night.

The speaker, in this connection, declared to her audience that anything and everything can be done with thought, and explained the power of consciousness, sub-consciousness and super-human consciousness with the statement that every man is what he makes himself. Mrs. Marsh is a real 18-K. New Thoughtist all right, and came to this city from Brooklyn last night with Mrs. E. Timmerman, who plays the piano, to show Plainfielders how to grasp the truth and live forever,—if they want to. Only a dozen people attended the lecture, but there is to be another talk next Thursday night at the same place. As a speaker, Mrs. Marsh is well worth hearing. She says she is a grandmother, but so powerfully has her sub-conscious mind been at work to keep herself free from care that she doesn't look as if she was even married. She says she doesn't believe she'll ever die, but adds that when her work is done here, she'll go to another plane where she can be of more service. Mrs. Marsh is willing to heal Plainfield people, too, if they'll pay $5 for absent treatment and a dollar for visiting treatment. Printed matter on New Thought was for sale last night, and there was a collection.

With its key-note "Cheerfulness," the New Thought theory is essentially a subjective religion. It follows closely the Greek ideas of Hedonism, but has incorporated some bold ideas about eternal earthly life and healing. Its fundamental principle is "God is all," and this statement is just as true, New Thoughtists declare, however you may juggle the three words. Everyone is a part of God and one with God, and the essence of God, in everyone, comprises the religion. The religion is primarily a religion of rest, universal love, and a subjective attitude of cheerfulness, brought about by praise.

It is a "one-generation religion," for it was first "realized" in 1868, and for a time, Mrs. Mary G. Baker Eddy, who now is the head of the Christian Science church, was a disciple. Its founder was a Massachusetts physician, one Dr. Evans, and he with Phineas Quimby, a Vermonter, worked out the subjective happiness theory, exemplified in the teachings of Socrates, Aristotle and Jesus Christ, and called it "New Thought." Mrs. Marsh says that there are now a million believers, centered principally in Brooklyn, Chicago, Denver and California in this country, but with a large following in England and Australia.

Mrs. Marsh says that the Christian Scientists can't believe in their original theory that God is all because they deny the body. New Thoughtists don't set themselves against the churches, and believe that Christians and Jews alike are fine people, but mislead. The lecturer quoted freely from the Bible during her entire talk, and the book, with its meanings trimmed to suit the New Thought movement, is the keystone of the religion.

Some of the statements made by Mrs. Marsh in the course of her lecture follow:

"Our version of the Lord's prayer starts: "Our progress, which is Heaven, hallowed by thy name," because we believe that the word "father" means "further," or "furthering," that is, "progress."

"Self is the 'great judgment seat' mentioned in the Bible. We are just what we makes ourselves, 'and we can control our future.'"

"We are not reformers. If you want to drink, why drink. You sink to a lower plane by so doing, but if you don't like that plane, you can rise again. You are all-powerful."

"Heaven, like God, is a condition. Bad is only a lesser good. The great God is yourself, and everything in the world is good, for good means God."

"No one need ever die. I can stop arterial bleeding instantly without touching the person. I do not heal anyone, I make you heal yourself. Soon it will be an insult to say that he is sick. He's got the power to be well, if he wants to."

"Where it says in the Bible, 'Be ye lifted up, ye everlasting doors,' it means 'ye everlasting doers.'

BIG ATHLETIC MEET BILLED FOR PATERSON.

Paterson, April 24.—The outdoor athletic season will be opened this year with the annual meet held under the management of the Athletic Club of the Y. M. C. A. of this city. The games will be held on Saturday, May 22. Willard Park is being refenced, the track and field are being remade, and the seating capacity is being increased for the meet.

Eleven events will be run. Of these, six will be open to all registered athletes, two to all Y. M. C. A. athletes, one to all Y. M. C. A. intermediates under eighteen years of age, one to Paterson Y. M. C. A. athletes, and one to all registered athletes from Passaic county. In other words, there will be eight handicap and three novice events. These will vary from the 100-yard dash to the five mile run.

Those events open to all registered athletes are: 100-yard dash, handicap; 100-yard dash, novice; 440-yard run, novice; 600-yard run, handicap; 880-yard run, handicap, and one mile run, handicap. Open to all Y. M. C. A. athletes will be the running broad jump, handicap; 440-yard run, handicap, and 220 yard dash, handicap; for intermediates under eighteen years. A 100-yard dash for novices will be open only to Paterson Y. M. C. A. athletes. The five-mile run will be a handicap event to all registered Passaic county athletes.

Entries will close Monday, May 10, with J. LeRoy Roth, Paterson, N. J.; Dieges & Clust, 23 John street, New York, and John J. McHugh, P. O. Box 14, Station H, New York.

TABLET TO FITZ RANDOLPH.

A tablet in memory of Nathaniel Fitz Randolph, who gave the original Princeton campus at Princeton, is to be placed in the wall of the new Sage dormitory, adjacent to the heretofore unmarked Fitz Randolph grave, which has been approximately located near the line along which will run the interior wall of the eastern wing of the new building.

President Woodrow Wilson has written the following inscription for the memorial tablet:

"Near this spot lie the remains of Nathaniel Fitz Randolph, the generous giver of the land upon which the original buildings of the university were erected in agro jacet nostro immo suo."

The movement to mark the Fitz Randolph grave was started by a recent communication in the Princeton Alumni Weekly. A graduate, signing "W.," declared in part: "One should not expect too much public detail as to the improvements of the university grounds, but it cannot be unbecoming to express solicitude as to what may happen to the Fitz Randolph graves when Sage hall is building. Certainly if a benefactor of the past must yield to one of the present, his earthly resting place should in some way be commemorated; it might be by a memorial buttress, an arch, a pillar or a tower."

PAYS 40 CENTS FOR TRUNK, GETS $165.

Adams Balked Until He Found Big Hoard of Money Beneath False Bottom.

Burlington, April 24.—Biding, as a joke, forty cents for an old time-worn trunk put up at auction at a public sale in the home of Mrs. Edward Wrigg, Thursday morning, and chagrined when the auctioneer held him to his bargain, Frederick Adams, a young man, in examining his purchase, found a secret drawer in the false bottom of the trunk stuffed with bank notes and gold coins. The contents of the drawer amounted to $165 and may have been more, as Adams hurriedly removed the despised "bargain" for a more careful examination.

The trunk is said to have belonged to old Christopher Rigg, once a rich resident of this city, who had little faith in banks. The result of Adams' find has set every purchaser of goods at the sale at work examining their purchases.

HERO A PRINCETON MAN.

Baskerville, Who Had Sortie at Tabriz, of Class of '07.

Princeton, April 24.—Cablegrams were received here yesterday by Charles E. Baskerville, a brother of Howard C. Baskerville, the young missionary who was killed at Tabriz, Persia, on Tuesday, affirming the story that came from the London Chronicle. Charles Baskerville is a senior at the Princeton Theological Seminary and was greatly shocked to learn of his brother's untimely death. The messages he got put an end of any hope he had to the story being a rumor.

Howard C. Baskerville was graduated from Princeton University in 1907. He completed his course here with high honors, always being a high-stand man. Shortly after graduating he left for the mission school of the American Presbyterian church, in Persia. He had planned to return to Princeton this coming June and had already engaged a room at the Theological Seminary, where he had hoped to complete his training for the ministry.

Mrs. H. C. L. Hoppins, of East Fifth street, left today for Liberty, N. Y., where she will remain until the summer months. She was accompanied by Miss Virginia Fish.

GOLF.

George Duncan, generally recognized as the most brilliant of the younger school of professionals in Great Britain, will visit this country the coming season. Duncan has agreed to come here in June and participate in a series of exhibition matches which are now being arranged. He will take part in the open championship on the other side and then immediately sail for these shores, arriving in time for the national open championship tournament at Englewood on June 24 and 25.

The plan is to have Duncan engage in exhibition contests with the resident professionals, and already no less than fifteen matches have been booked. While in this country he will be under the management of Arthur Pottow and Charles Kirchner, and clubs desiring terms can secure information by communicating with Mr. Kirchner at No. 126 Nassau street, New York.

Duncan is the professional at the Hanger Hill Golf Club, near London, and came into prominence by his play in "The News of the World" tournament when he defeated James Braid, the open champion of Great Britain, and J. H. Taylor, several times holder of the title. Duncan and Charles Mayo then engaged in that memorable foursome against Braid and Harry Vardon, and, although defeated, the younger pair made a great reputation for themselves. In a few days Duncan and Mayo will pair up in another foursome against Braid and Taylor.

The Dyker Meadow Golf Club and the Marine and Field Club have decided to amalgamate and combine their courses. The properties are adjacent, and the turning of the two nine-hole courses into one of eighteen will not entail considerable expense.

It is said that the Dyker Meadow golfers have decided to try the consolidation for a year only. Should this become permanent, however, it is certain that the home of the Fort Hamilton organization would have to undergo extensive alterations in order to accommodate the increased membership.

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Hudson River Golf Association it was decided to do away with team championship matches, and instead substitute a "Saturday at Golf" on the courses of several clubs in the association. The individual championship tournament will be held over the links

RESULTS THAT REMAIN.

Are Appreciated by Plainfield People.

Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one special kidney medicine that cures permanently and there is plenty of proof right here in Plainfield.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Kidney Pills years ago, and now states that the cure was lasting.

Mrs. J. Mottley, 546 West Sixth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble three years ago and I have never had a return of it since. I am glad to confirm the statement I made in favor of this remedy then.

The endorsement to which Mrs. Mottley refers was given on Aug. 26, 1905, and was substantially as follows: "About two months ago I was seized with a severe backache and dull pains in the top and back part of my head. I could not rest at night and had no strength or energy to do my housework. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at Randolph's Pharmacy, gave me prompt relief and I am convinced that they are a first-class remedy in every respect."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

of the Twaalfskill Club, of Kingston, on June 17, 18 and 19. The course in question covers a playing length of about three thousand yards.

There will be general golf play at the Plainfield Country Club and Park Golf Club today. The course at both clubs is in better condition than ever and the season promises to be successful in every way. Local golfers are anxiously awaiting the announcement of the schedules, when the active season will begin.

The improvements at the Plainfield Country Club are progressing favorably, and Contractor Alexander Milne expects to complete the same early in June. In the meantime the members will have a temporary arrangement at the clubhouse.

When the course at the Plainfield Country Club is extended and put in service, it will be of championship calibre and one of the best in the country. There are very few links that compare with the local one.

An added feature at the Park Golf Club this season will be the tennis courts, several additional ones being laid out. It is the purpose of the club to provide plenty of room for tennis players and those who do not play golf.

The same excellent service of the past will be provided at the Park Golf Club this season. This has always been a feature enjoyed by the members.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, the professional, will again be in charge at the Plainfield Country Club this season, looking after the caddie boys and at the same time giving instructions in the game. "Marty" will also find time to engage in several important tournaments, having recovered the use of his injured wrist.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor, will preach at the First M. E. church tomorrow morning and evening.

Rev. Samuel S. Davis, of East Orange, will preach at the First Baptist church tomorrow morning and evening.

Mrs. Charles F. Dayton conducted the Christian Endeavor Society meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church last night.

The Primary and Junior Sunday-school Union will meet in the beginners' room at Hope chapel Monday afternoon instead of the Y. M. C. A. hall. A beginners' program will be carried out by Mrs. E. W. Williams, of Hope chapel Sunday-school, and the lesson will be taught by Mrs. Arthur E. Crone, of the First M. E. church Sunday-school. All primary workers are invited.

PLAINFIELD BUSINESS COLLEGE THE ROUTE TO SUCCESS.

Convincing evidences of business activity are manifested just now at the Plainfield Business College, Woodhull & Martin building. The first is the steady demand on this institution to supply competent office help. The other is the returning confidence of the people, who are placing their sons and daughters in the school to have them receive a commercial education which will enable them to take acceptable places in the business world.

The college is truly representative of Plainfield's highest educational and progressive ideals. By true merit it has gained the interest, support and endorsement of all intelligent people in this vicinity. ***

Many Pupils Get Positions.

These persons have been enrolled at the Plainfield Business College during the past two months: The Misses Grace Beeching, Cora Havenstrite, Olive Bishop, Minnie Gunzleman, Nellie Mullin, Mrs. A. Hewitt and Merrill Todd, Harold Lambert, Lloyd Van Middlesworth, Vincent Meaney, Keller Davids, William Barsch and Percy Gordon. Those who have taken positions during this same period are Miss Eleanor Gulberg, Aeolian Works, Garwood; Miss Nellie Linden, Anchor Post Company, Garwood; Miss Sarah Boyd, Powlison & Jones; Miss Bertha Baldwin, with State Senator J. S. Frelinghuysen, New York; Miss Jennie Van Fleet, stenographer, New York; Miss Hilda Rummel, Faulkner, Page & Co., New York; Charles Aller, National Mining Company, this city; Patrick McDonough, A. E. Force & Co., this city; Miss Carrie Brokaw, Marshall Electric Company, New York; William Haste, insurance company, New York.

Party for Mrs. Harry Keen.

Mrs. Harry Keen, of Liberty street, was given a party at her home, last night, in honor of her birthday anniversary. The evening was enjoyed in playing games, while vocal and instrumental music were an added pleasure, after which refreshments were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baker, Mr. and Mrs. William Baker, Mr. and Mrs. George Keen, Mr. and Mrs. Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Aitken, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Waldron, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Cook, Mrs. Rose Kirsten, Mrs. William Cook, Mrs. William Doig, Miss Cudding, Russel Perrine and Arthur Waldron.

For Equal Suffragists.

The Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield will meet on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Stephen Haff, on Sherman avenue. Miss Alice Dickson Jaynes, of East Orange, will read a paper on "The Work of the Consumers' League in This State."

Herreshoff Car Arrived..

The first Herreshoff car is now on exhibition at the Ford Sales Co., 413 Park avenue. This is the only small car built on the same lines in the same class, same material and workmanship as the $5,000 cars. It is attracting considerable attention. **

To Salute the Flag.

Dr. Henry C. Krebs attended a meeting of the County Superintendents' Association at Trenton yesterday, when arrangements were made for the salute of the flag daily in all public schools.

CENTRAL'S BALL SEASON

Opening Game for the Besler Trophy Today on R. R. Association Grounds.

The Inter-Department Baseball Leagues of the Jersey Central Railroad opened its season this afternoon with a game between the Central Building team and the team representing Piers 8 and 10, New York, on the grounds of the C. R. R. of N. J. Athletic Association at Com-munapaw. The schedule as arranged between the five teams comprising the league will keep the railroad boys and their friends interested in the game until late in the season. On and after June 5 two games will be played each Saturday afternoon, the first one at 1:30 and the second at 3:30.

The Besler Trophy.

The interest in the game has exceeded the fondest hope of those who formed the C. R. R. of N. J. Athletic Association on July 26, 1904. At that time it was hoped by organizing the employes of the different departments into an athletic association it would create a better feeling among all the employes and give them a chance to meet in a social way outside of the regular office hours. The idea met with the hearty co-operation of the heads of the various departments as well as William G. Besler, vice-president and general manager. The result was the organization thrived and from a struggling infant soon grew to a healthy youngster and its worth was soon recognized by the company. Several years ago it was decided to make a feature of baseball as a Saturday afternoon recreation. With this end in view the present league was formed as an added incentive.

Mr. Besler offered as a prize the beautiful bronze statute known as the Besler trophy. Each year the winers get the trophy and it remains in their possession until the following season. During the winter months the association holds a mid-winter dance in the People's Palace in Jersey City. This is one of the C. R. R. social events of the season, being attended by not only the employes but many of the heads of the departments. This year it was decided to hold a spring dance, which will take place Thursday night. From the present outlook this will be even a greater success than the annual mid-winter dance.

The success of this valuable auxiliary to the C. R. R. of N. J. is due a great deal to the untiring work of its officers of which F. T. Dickerson, of this city, assistant to W. G. Besler, is the president. Mr. Dickerson takes a pride in the association and since its organization has taken an active interest in its welfare. He is ably assisted by an able corps of assistants. Harry J. Northrop, vice-president; T. C. Mulligan, treasurer; G. F. Bellis, secretary, and a board of governors, consisting of Edward Dunn, James H. Moon, F. E. Hibie, A. E. Owens, C. B. Williams and C. D. Van Arsdale.

The baseball team is in charge of a special committee, consisting of Edward Conover, chairman; C. N. Sebring, R. F. Owens, Joseph Stilger, H. W. Maynard, H. J. Nelson and A. G. Adams.

Funeral of Paul Breem.

The funeral of Paul Breem took place from his late residence on Somerset street this afternoon. Rev. J. O. McKelvey was in charge. The pall bearers consisted of members of the Painters' Union, of which organization Mr. Breem had been a member a number of years. They were William McDonald, J. O. Cranston, John Matthews, Neise Greve, C. L. Mundy and James T. Green. Interment was made at Hillside cemetery.

Fine Vaudeville Act.

Budd & Lloyd, in a novelty musical act, and Althea Morrison, acrobatic dancer and singer, headed the fine bill at Proctor's theatre yesterday. They will be seen today with new lift motion pictures. These acts are the best yet seen at the popular playhouse.

Bungalow Life; More Land, Less House.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Simple life begins with the elimination of all useful frills, parlors, reception halls, cut little dens, with Turkish and Orienta drapings, collections of artistic junk, lace curtains, carpets, rugs, fine furniture, bric-a-brac, costly trifles, all of which accumulate dust and disease and bacteria. The father and mother should each have a room in which to rest, away from the members of their own family. Suitable bedrooms for the remainder of the family, a bath room, a large living room, a reading room, a combined kitchen and dining room or two rooms and a good cellar with a laundry in it, more land and less house, more comfort and less work. These, with a family each one helping to make life a success, a garden, a cow, chickens, plenty of fresh air, simple food, kind hearts, some troubles, some joys, heart aches, and glee, songs and tears, hopes and fears, love and patriotism, time to help others and to help ones town, is my idea of a practical simple life.

FISHER PATENT HOLDBACK

ALWAYS ON GUARD.

The old style holdback for blinds affords a resting place for sparrows and causes ugly stains to disfigure the sides of the house under the blinds. Notice this carefully and then you will want the Fisher holdback to prevent it. No sparrows can rest on this. The revolving star wheel allows no foothold as the points are sharp. It effectually prevents sparrows from roosting behind the blinds. It has been tried on several hundred windows, and has proved so satisfactory that additional orders have been given to equip every window with the Fisher holdback. It is now in use on many houses in Plainfield.

Reference can be had from any user on request.

The Fisher holdback for window blinds is attached in the same way as the old style cast iron holdback. It is made of brass; cannot rust; will not break and will never wear out. Guaranteed to do all that is claimed for it.

It costs more than the old style but the improvement in the appearance of your house and your pride in your home are worth it.

WANT TO LIVE ALWAYS?

Man improves himself by doing, and goes from one plane of thought into a higher one."

"In the next world we'll be known by color. Red means physical and some of us will be green, yellow or the richer violet and purple, which show the highest mental development. This is all based on science. We'll meet our friends in the next world, but they may be of a different color, on a different plane. We can make them raise themselves or we can change our color by going to their plane. It all rests with self."

"New Thought says to everyone: 'Stand still and think of what you are. Make up your mind what you want to be, and be that.'"

"The English language is so mixed up by poor word meanings that it isn't any wonder that we don't know what we're talking about."

At the conclusion of the lecture, an opportunity was given for questions, and at the request of last night's audience, Mrs. Marsh will talk on "The New Thought Healing" next Thursday night. Mrs. Timmerman played several piano selections, and acted as accompanist while Mrs. Marsh sang two New Thought hymns: "Open My Eyes" and "Fulfillment."

"The Gay Life," Harrison Grey Fiske's production of Roy L. McCardell's comedy, began an engagement at Daly's theatre on Monday, April 19. It is a comedy satire of New York life of today, especially the frivolous, flashy life of upper Broadway. Yet back of the surface of fun there is a deep moral lesson which teaches that after all the flashy life is only "Dead Sea." The play is based on Mr. McCardel's famous stories of chorus girl life which have appeared from time to time in different newspapers. The mere names of the characters depict comedy. There is Mama de Branscombe, growing old but still in the theatrical game; Amy de Branscombe, her daughter; Lulu, a chorus girl; Puss Montgomery, who marries a tight-wad from Marietta, Ohio; Dopey McKnight, the continuous piano player always smoking cigarettes; George, the wine agent; Abe Wogglebaum and Louie Zinsheimer, two friends of the chorus girls, and many other characters all members of their Bohemian circle. The play tells about a young stage-struck girl in a Pennsylvania town who is a drudge in a railroadmen's boarding house kept by Mrs. Lorrimer; into this house comes a party of stranded show people, decidedly frayed out at the edges. Lulu goes with them to New York, partly from stage craze and partly to get away from the man she loves, who has just wounded her to the heart with an unjust suspicion.

Klaw & Erlanger's revival of "The Mascot" at the New Amsterdam theatre in New York is a big success, both artistically and financially. No doubt other managers will follow in the wake of the firm and make other revivals. "The Mascot," however, is the best of the old operas. Only one other, "The Little Duke," would attract as much attention, but it is almost impossible to get a competent singer and actress combined for the leading role. "The Mascot" was written by Edmund Audran. It was first produced at the Paris Bouffes December 29, 1880. Eben Jordan, of the firm of Jordan & Marsh, the builder of the Boston Opera House, was in Paris at the time and acquired the rights for the American production. He returned to Boston in the spring and submitted the book and score to Helen Grayson, of the Grayson-Horcross Opera Company, then playing Audran's "Olivette" at the Gaiety theatre, Boston. Mr. Jordan played the music in his rooms. The opera was accepted at once for production. A translation of the book and an adaptation of the score were made by I. W. Norcross. An orchestration was made by John E. Brahm. The original music director was John Snyder. The opera was first produced by the Boston Company in April, 1881. The claim has been made frequently that the first English production was in London. That city, however, did not hear the music till October 15, at the Comedy theatre, after the opera had been sung at Brighton on September 19.

—All bills against the city must be in the hands of the city clerk by Tuesday night.

Communications.

The following petition was presented and read:

To the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County:

Gentlemen—We the undersigners and citizens of the city of Rahway recommend the appointment of Alfred T. Crane, Sr., as bridge tender of the Milton avenue drawbridge.

M. V. COMPTON,
C. B. HOLMES,
CHARLES HOWARD,
And 32 others.

On motion of Freeholder Stephan, received and referred to Committee on Milton Avenue Drawbridge.

The following petition was presented and read:

Elizabeth, N. J., March 5, 1909.

To the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County:

Gentlemen—I do hereby make application for the position of bridge tender on South First street bridge, which is about to be opened.

I have had experience as a machinist, during which time I have operated electric crane and motors. With this knowledge I feel confident to apply for the above position and respectfully ask your careful consideration of the same.

Yours very truly,
JOSEUH SMITH,
133 Liberty street.

Signed by Louis P. Horning, Mahon Bros., J. Brucklacher and Jacob Meloth.

On motion of Freeholder Cladek, received and referred to Committee on South First street bridge.

The following petition was presented and read:

Roselle Park, N. J., March 27, 1909.

To the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J.

Gentlemen—We, the undersigned, residents and property-owners of the Borough of Roselle Park, N. J., do respectfully petition your honorable body to improve the conditions now existing on the county road of Westfield avenue, running through this borough.

The avenue has been nothing but a mud road during the past winter, and now we are having the benefit of three or four inches of dust, which the automobiles and winds are carrying through the air, and annoying the residents and pedestrians who are compelled to travel or live in this vicinity. These conditions are a detriment to health, and a drawback to prospective property buyers and residents.

Westfield avenue is one of the roads most used in the county, and is now and has been, in the worst condition of any county road in our county. The section it runs through is one of the fast-growing and developing sections of the county. When Westfield avenue was widened, the people of the county were assured that it would be one of the finest boulevards in the State.

We, the undersigned, pray and petition your honorable body to have repaired the macadam road and made dust proof, and also request the Public Service Corporation to repair the road between their trolley tracks, which now is in a deplorable condition, dangerous for conveyances to cross, as the rails are three or four inches above the road in places.

Trusting that this petition will meet with your hearty approval, and be granted at the earliest possible date, we are

Respectfully yours,
WM. A. BEMBRIDGE,
JOHN C. BENDER,
ROBERT GORDON,
And 56 others.

On motion of Freeholder Swain, received and referred to the County Road Committee.

From John T. Earl as follows:

Union Township, Union County, N. J., March 25, 1909.

Aaron D. Crane, Esq., Member Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Dear Sir—I write you in behalf of myself and other property-owners residing on Morris avenue, in Union Township, between Cherry street and the Elizabeth City line.

The dust from passing automobiles has become almost intolerable. As you know, most of the houses at that point are situated on the east side of the street, and the prevailing summer winds give us the full benefit of the clouds of dust thrown up by the large and ever increasing number of automobiles passing that way, most of them at high speed. I leave you to imagine the discomfort and annoyance to those who desire to sit on their front porches, or even keep their front windows open on a hot day.

The terrific speed at which these vehicles are driven at this end of the township continualy arouses the indignation of us all (particularly those families in which trere are small children), but this is an evil which we have come to regard as beyond the power of the authorities to cope with. However, what we would greatly appreciate is sufficient oil on the street to keep down most of the dust. I am therefore writing you in the hope that you will look into the matter, and if necessary, present it to the propery committee, or at the next meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Once last summer Morris avenue was pretty thoroughly oiled above Cherry street, and also Cherry street from Morris avenue to the city line, but that little strip of roadway to which I have called your attention would have been neglected entirely had it not been for the interference of one or two ladies of the neighborhood, who, with some difficulty, induced the men to put some oil on that part of the street, so that it received a thin dressing. I am under the impression that this difficulty was due to a mistake on the part of the men intterpreting their orders, but in order that we may get at least all that is coming to us this year under the regular ruling, and as much more as your honorable body sees fit to give us, I have thought it well to lay the facts before you.

Thanking you in advance for your kind attention to the matter, I am

Yours respectfully,
JOHN T. EARL,
565 Morris avenue,
Elizabeth, N. J.

On motion of Freeholder Swain received and referred to the County Road Committee.

From Sheriff Kirkland as follows:

March 15, 1909.

To the Honorable Board of Freeholders:

Gentlemen—I would respectfully ask you to authorize W. R. Codington, your county attorney, to act as counsel for the Sheriff's office, and oblige,

Respectfully yours,
ROBERT J. KIRKLAND,
Sheriff.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse received and placed on file.

Reports of Committees.

By the Committee to Settle with the County Colector.

Elizabeth, N. J., March 25, 1909.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union.

Gentlemen—Your Committee on Col'ector's Accounts begs leave to report that it has examined his books, vouchers, coupons, warrants and receipts, bank and check books, and find that the same are correct and agree in every particular. We find that his receipts from January 1, 1909, to date amount to $643,536.52 and that his disboursements for the same period amount to $585,757.52, leaving a balance in hand of $57,779, which is on deposit in the banks to the credit of the County Collector.

Respectfully submitted.
J. HERVEY DOANE,
JOHN H. STEPHAN,
CHARLES J. JENSEN,
JOSEPH PERRY,
J. N. CADY,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Cady it was ordered that the report be received and request contained therein granted.

By the Committee on Jail Inspection.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union.

Gentlemen—Your Committee on Jail Inspection would respectfully report that it has inspected the jail, also the books of the warden.

Number of prisoners confined in jail March 1, 1909, 79; number committed during the month of March, 161; number discharged, 80; in custody April 1, 1909, 81; total number days' board, 2,314; expenses per day per prisoner, .2943c; cost of maintenance of jail for month of March: salaries, C. W. Dodd, $125; Fannie Dodd, $30; Charles J. Drake, $60; Fred Krauss, $60; Dr. Shangle, three months, $62.50; drugs, Henry J. Schmidt, $9; provisions, jail, Central Beef Co., $64.42; warden's house, Central Beef Co., $42.90; provisions, jail, R. T. Potts, $107; warden's house, R. T. Potts, $42.42; fish, jail, J. O. Jail, $579.91; warden's house, $101.31; total, $681.22.

Respectfully, submitted,
JOSEPH PERRY,
J. HERVEY DOANE,
JOHN H. STEPHAN,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Cladek received and placed on file.

By Committee to Settle with the Sheriff:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union.

Gentlemen—Your Committee on Sheriff's Account begs leave to report that the receipts from the Sheriff's office from November 15, 1908, to April 1, 1909, amount to $1,653.32, and the disbursements for the same period to $3,309.37.

Your committee further reports that it will be difficult to ascertain whether or not the Sheriff's office being on a salary basis has elapsed, for the reason that numerous items, which under the fee system were paid to the Sheriff and charged to the Court account, are not now paid to the Sheriff under the salary basis, so that there should be a considerable saving in the Court account by reason of the Sheriff being placed in a salary basis.

Very respectfully,
JOHN ROBISON,
J. HERVEY DOANE,
E. K. ADAMS,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Smith, received and placed on file.

By Committee on Surrogate's Accounts.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Gentlemen—Your Committee on Surrogate's Accounts respectfully reports we have examined the books and vouchers of the Surragote for the month of March, 1909, and find them correct, and the net receipts are $713.99, which amount has been turned over to the County Collector.

CHARLES A. SMITH,
BRADFORD JONES,
WILLIAM H. GARRISON,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Swain, received and placed on file.

By Committee on Fifth Avenue Bridge, Roselle, N. J.

Elizabeth, N. J., April 1, 1909.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Gentlemen—Your committee appointed to make an examination and report as to the condition of the bridge over stream on Fifth avenue, near Spruce street, Roselle, N. J., would respectfully report as follows:

We have examined the bridge, and find the walls in very good condition; the bridge flooring is very rotten, and has gone to pieces in several places; it is unsafe for travel. The present bridge is about forty feet in length between the gutter lines of the avenue.

Your committee would respectfully recommend that the bridge walls be extended at the southerly end, so as to run across the sidewalk of the street, the extension being about fourteen feet in length. They also recommend that the whole bridge be covered with a deck of steel beams and brick or concrete arches, the whole cost of the work not to exceed the sum of $900.

Respectfully submitted.
HENRY KROUSE,
JOSEPH PERRY,
W. H. SWAIN,
Committee.

Freeholder Darby moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

New Business.

By Freeholder Jones:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to report on the advisability of replacing the wooden bridge on the road leading from Berkeley Heights to Union Village with a T beam bridge and report at the next meeting of the board as to probable cost.

On motion of Freeholder Swain, the resolution was adopted without dissent, and the Director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Jones, Cady and Darby.

By Freeholder Doane:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to investigate the condition of the culverts on Terrill road, at East Second street, where the street railway crosses. Said committee to confer with the Public Service Corporation as to its responsibility for the condition of these culverts, and report its findings and recommendations at a future meeting of this board.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse, the resolution was adopted without dissent, and the Director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Doane, Krouse and Martin.

By Freeholder Wilbur:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to investigate the condition of the sidewalk on the bridges on Park avenue and on Prospect avenue, over Cedar Brook, in the city of Plainfield, and report at a future meeting of this board.

On motion of Freeholder Darby the resolution was adopted without dissent, and the Director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Wilbur, Martin and Perry.

By Freeholder Cladek:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to inspect railing of Bridge street bridge, Rahway, N. J., and also to ascertain cost of replacing with a new one.

On motion of Freeholder Swain, resolution was adopted without dissent, and the Director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Cladek, Crane and Krouse.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Whereas, Mr. John Farrell, a former and highly esteemed member of this board, is sorely afflicted by the loss of his beloved daughter, Miss Estella Farrell, the all-wise Father having been pleased to remove her from this world of sorrow to her reward; therefore be it

Resolution, That the members of this board do hereby express our sympathy to her bereaved father, Mr. John Farrell, realizing his sorrowful affliction; and be it further

Resolved, That the clerk of this board be directed to forward a copy of this resolution to said former member.

The foregoing preamble and resolution were unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Resolved, That W. R. Codington, County Attorney, be designated and appointed as cunsel to the Sheriff of this county, until further action of this board.

On motion of Freeholder Smith, the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Stephan:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to inspect Monroe street bridge, Rahway, N. J., and to ascertain cost of painting the same.

On motion of Freeholder Wilbur, the resolution was adopted without dissent, and the Director appointed as said committee Freeholders Stephan, Garrison and Robison.

By Freeholder Smith:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to examine into the need for and probable cost of a concrete and iron top culvert on South avenue (county road) at the junction with Scotch Plains avenue, in the town of Westfield, and report on same at the next meeting.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse, the resolution was adopted without dissent, and the Director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Smith, Adams and Haviland.

By Freeholder Smith:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to examine into the need for and probable cost of a concrete culvert over the stream crossing the boulevard south of Grove street in the town of Westfield, to report at the next meeting of this board.

Freeholder Darby moved the adoption of the resolution, which motion was carried without dissent, and the Director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Smith, Wilbur and Jensen.

POLLY of the CIRCUS

By MARGARET MAYO

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead and Company

He looked at her with momentary indecision. She was a good rider, the best since her mother, as he had often told her. He could see this meant an issue. He felt she would be on her mettle tomorrow, as far as her work was concerned, if he let her alone tonight.

"All right," he said sullenly. "You can stay off tonight. I got the crowd in there anyway, and I got their money. I'll let Eloise do a turn on Barbarian, but tomorrow you'd better show me your old act."

"I'll show you!" she cried. "I'll show you!"

"Well, see that you do." He crossed into the ring.

Polly stood where Barker had left her, white and tense. Jim came toward her from the direction of the wagons. He glanced at her uneasily. "What's he been a-sayin' to you?"

"He says I can't ride any more." Her lips closed tightly. She stared straight ahead of her. "He says I was no good to the people that took me in and I'm no use here."

"It's not so!" thundered Jim.

"No, it's not!" she cried. "I'll show him, Jim! I'll show him—tomorrow!" She turned toward the dressing tent. Jim caught her firmly by the wrist.

"Wait, Poll! You ain't ever goin' into the ring a-feelin' that way." Her eyes met his defiantly.

"What's the difference? What's the difference?" She wrenched her wrist quickly from him and ran into the dressing tent, laughing hysterically.

"An' I brung her back to it," mumbled Jim as he turned to give orders to the property men.

Most of the "first half props" were loaded, and some of the men were asleep under the wagons. The lot was clear. Suddenly he felt some one approaching from the back of the inclosure. He turned and found himself face to face with the stern, solitary figure of the pastor, wrapped in his long black cloak. The moonlight slipped through a rift in the clouds and fell into a circle around them.

"What made you come here?" was all Jim said.

"I heard that Miss Polly didn't ride today. I was afraid she might be ill."

"What's that to you?"

"She isn't ill?" Douglas demanded anxiously, oblivious to the gruffness in the big fellow's voice.

"She's all right," Jim answered shortly as he shifted uneasily from one foot to the other and avoided the pastor's burning gaze.

"And she's happy, she's content?"

"Sure."

"I'm glad," said Douglas dully. He tried to think of some way to prolong their talk. "I've never heard from her, you know."

"Us folks don't get much time to write." Jim turned away and began tinkering with one of the wagons.

Douglas had walked up and down in front of the tents again and again, fighting against a desire to do the very thing that he was doing, but to no purpose, and now that he was here it seemed impossible that he should go away so unsatisfied. He crossed to Jim and came determinedly to the point.

"Can't I see her, Jim?"

"It's agin the rules." He did not turn.

There was another pause; then Douglas started slowly out of the lot.

"Wait a minute," called Jim, as though the words had been wrung from him. The pastor came back with a question in his eyes.

"I lied to you."

"She's not well, then?"

"Oh, yes, she's well enough. It ain't that; it's about her being happy."

"She isn't?" There was a note of unconscious exultation in his voice.

"No. She ain't happy here, an' she was happy with you."

"Then why did she leave me?"

"I don't know. She wasn't goin' to do it at first. Somethin' must 'a' happened afterwards, somethin' that you an' me didn't know about."

"We will know about it, Jim. Where is she?" His quick eye searched the lot. His voice had regained its old command. He felt that he could conquer worlds.

"You can't do no good that way," answered Jim. "She don't want to see you again."

"Why not?"

"I don't know, but she told me she'd run away if I ever even talked to you about her."

"You needn't talk, Jim. I'll talk for myself. Where is she?"

"She'll be comin' out soon. You can wait around out here with me. I'll let you know in time." He led the way through a narrow passage between the wagons.

Jim and Douglas had barely left the lot when Deacon Elverson's small, round head slipped cautiously around the corner of the dressing tent. The little deacon glanced exultantly about him. He was monarch of all he surveyed. It was very thrilling to stand here on this forbidden ground smelling the sawdust, gazing at the big red wagons, studying the unprotected circus properties and listening to the lightening tempo of the band.

"Did you see him?" shouted Strong, who had followed closely upon Elverson's heels.

The little deacon started. Strong was certainly a disturbing factor at times.

"Yes, I—I saw him."

"Where?"

"He—he—didn't see her."

"What did he do?" Strong was beside himself with impatience.

"He—he just talked to the big un and went out that way." Elverson nodded toward the wagons.

"I guess he ain't gone far," sneered Strong. "He come over to this lot to see her, and he ain't goin' to give up till he does it. You wait here. I'll take a look round." He went quickly in the direction of the wagons.

Elverson needed no second invitation to wait. He was congratulating himself upon his good fortune when he all but collided with a flying apparition, vanishing in the direction of the main tent. Sophisticated eyes would have seen only a rather stout acrobat clad in pink tights, but Elverson was not sophisticated, and he teetered after the flitting angel, even unto the forbidden portals of the big top.

He was peeping through the curtains which had fallen behind her and was getting his first glimpse of the great sawdust world beyond when one of the clowns dashed from the dressing tent on his way to the ring.

The clown was late. He saw the limp coattails of the deacon, who was three-quarters in the tent. Here was a chance to make a funny entrance. He grabbed the unsuspecting little man from the rear. The terrified deacon struck out blindly in all directions, his black arms and legs moving like a centiped's, but the clown held him firmly by the back and thrust him headforemost into the tent.

Strong returned almost immediately from his unsuccessful search for the pastor. He looked about the lot for Elverson.

"Hey, there, Elverson!" he called lustily. There was no response.

"Now, where's he got to?" grumbled Strong. He disappeared quickly around the corner of the dressing tent, resolved to keep a sharp lookout for Douglas.

Elverson was thrust from the tent soon after, spitting sawdust and much discomfited, by the laughing performers who followed him. His knees almost gave way beneath him when Barker came out of the ring, snapping his long black whip.

"Get out of here, you bloke!" roared Barker, and Elverson "got."

No one had remembered to tell the groom that Polly was not to ride tonight, so Bingo was brought out as usual when their "turn" approached.

"Take him back, Tom," Polly called from the entrance when she learned Bingo was waiting, "and bring Barbarian. I'm not going on tonight. Eloise is going to ride in my place."

This was the second time today that Bingo had been led away without going into the ring. Something in his big, wondering eyes made Polly follow him and apologize. He was very proud, was Bingo, and very conscientious. He felt uneasy when he saw the other horses going to their work without him.

"Never mind, Bingo," she said, patting his great, arched neck; "we'll show 'em tomorrow." He rubbed his satiny nose against her cheek. "We'll make them sit up again. Barker says our act's no good—that I've let down. But it's not your fault, Bingo. I've not been fair to you. I'll give you a chance tomorrow. You wait. He'll never say it again, Bingo, never again!"

Polly had nothing more to do tonight except to get into her street clothes. The wagons would soon be moving away. For a moment she glanced at the dark church steeple; then she turned to go inside the tent. A deep, familiar voice stopped her.

"Polly!"

She turned quickly. She could not answer. Douglas came toward her. He gazed at her in amazement. She drew her cape about her slightly clad figure. She seemed older to him, more unapproachable with her hair heaped high and sparkling with jewels.

She found strength at last to open her lips, but still no sound came from them. She and the pastor looked at each other strangely, like spirits newly met from far apart worlds. She, too, thought her companion changed. He was older; the circles beneath his eyes were deeper, the look in their depths more grave.

"We were such close neighbors today I—I rather thought you'd call," he stammered. He was uncertain what he was saying. It did not matter—he was there with her.

"When you're in a circus there isn't much time for calling."

"That's why I've come to call on you." They might have been shepherd and shepherdess on a May day wooing for the halting way in which their words came.

"You're all right?" he went on. "You're happy?"

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an ordinance, entitled "An Ordinance Concerning Dogs," a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at the hour of eight o'clock p. m., on Monday, the third day of May, A. D., nineteen hundred and nine, at which time and place prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., April 16, 1909.

AN ORDINANCE

CONCERNING DOGS.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That hereafter no person shall keep, harbor or maintain any dog, or suffer one to be kept, harbored or maintained within the City of Plainfield, unless a license to keep such dog has first been obtained from the City of Plainfield in the manner hereinafter provided, and any person keeping, harboring or maintaining, or suffering to be kept, harbored or maintained any dog within the City of Plainfield without having obtained such license shall be guilty of a violation of this ordinance.

Sec. 2. The City Clerk of the City of Plainfield is hereby authorized to issue such license in the name of the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield to any person applying therefor in writing and paying a license fee of two dollars and fifty cents, which license when so issued shall be valid and remain in force only until the 20th day of May next following the issuing thereof.

Sec. 3. The written application for a license as hereinbefore provided, shall be signed by the owner or person having the custody of such dog, shall set forth the place of residence of the applicant and the owner shall state the place where such dog is to be kept, and shall contain a description of such dog, including its name, color, breed and sex. All licenses issued pursuant to such application shall be consecutively numbered, and shall among other things contain a brief description of the dog to keep which such license is issued, including its name, color, breed and sex, the name of the owner, and shall state the place at which such dog is to be kept.

Sec. 4. Any person or association in the City of Plainfield owning five or more dogs which are kept for breeding, show or sporting purposes may obtain a kennel license, which shall entitle the holder thereof to establish and maintain within said City a kennel for the purpose of keeping dogs for breeding, show and sporting purposes. Such license shall be issued by the City Clerk upon a written application signed by such person or association which shall set forth the place of residence of the applicant, the place where such dogs are to be kept and the breed of such dogs. All licenses issued pursuant to such applications shall have plainly written or printed upon them the words "Kennel License" and shall set forth the facts stated in the application. Kennel licenses shall be valid and remain in force only until the 20th day of May next following the issuing thereof. There shall be attached to the collar of each dog kept pursuant to a kennel license, the tag required by this ordinance, each of which tags shall bear the number of such license. Such license shall be issued upon the payment of a license fee of ten dollars and in addition thereto there shall be paid to the City Clerk for each tag provided by him the sum of twenty-five cents. All provisions of other sections of this ordinance not in conflict with the provisions of this section shall apply to any and all dogs kept pursuant to a kennel license. The license fee of ten dollars required by this section shall be in lieu of any license fee otherwise provided for by this ordinance.

Sec. 5. Every dog to keep which a license is issued shall wear a collar to which shall be attached a metal tag bearing the number of such license; such tag to be furnished by the City Clerk at the expense of the City. The tags used for each year shall be different in size, shape or color from the tags used the preceding year that the appearance of the tag will differentiate with sufficient certainty the year for which the tag is issued, and three full years shall elapse before a tag of the same size, shape or color is again provided. If a tag is lost a new one may be obtained from the City Clerk upon satisfactory proof being furnished that a license to keep the dog for which tag is desired had been previously issued for the then current year and upon payment therefor of the sum of fifty cents.

Sec. 6. Any person who shall substitute or use any tag in place of the one furnished by the City, or shall allow any dog owned, kept, harbored or maintained by him to leave the premises occupied by such person without having a proper tag attached to the collar of such dog shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this ordinance.

Sec. 7. The City Clerk shall on or before the 1st day of June in each year transmit to the chief of police a statement showing all licenses to keep dogs issued as aforesaid. The chief of police upon receipt of such statement shall ascertain by the officers upon their respective beats, what persons have failed to comply with this ordinance, and all such persons shall thereupon be proceeded against before the City Judge of the City of Plainfield.

Sec. 8. The Mayor of the City of Plainfield may at any time when in his judgment the public safety demands it, order and direct by public notice that no dog shall be allowed to leave the premises of the person owning or entitled to the custody of such dog unless securely confined upon a leash and accompanied by a person over the age of twelve years. Such notice shall be published at least three consecutive times in the official newspapers of the City, and shall state how long the said order is to remain in force. Any person who shall, after the issuing of such order, and during the time same shall remain in force, suffer, allow or permit any dog owned, kept or harbored by him to go upon any of the streets or public places of the City of Plainfield, or upon any premises other than those owned or occupied by him unless securely confined upon a leash and accompanied by a person over the age of twelve years, shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this ordinance.

Sec. 9. The Common Council at its first regular meeting in May of each year, shall establish a pound and the Mayor shall prior to such meeting appoint a pound-keeper, subject to confirmation of the Common Council, who shall hold office at the pleasure of the Common Council. The said pound-keeper, any police officer, or any person specially appointed by the Mayor for that purpose, may seize and convey to the pound any dog found upon any of the streets or public places of the City of Plainfield without the tag provided for by this ordinance, as well as any dog found upon any of the streets or public places of said city not confined upon a leash as provided for by this ordinance, during the time that any order issued by the Mayor, as hereinbefore provided, shall remain in force. The owner, if known, of any dog so seized and impounded shall be notified thereof by the City Clerk as soon as possible thereafter. The said pound-keeper and any person specially appointed by the Mayor as aforesaid, shall wear a suitable badge to be provided by the City Clerk indicating his authority. Any person authorized to seize any such dog shall be entitled to receive as compensation for his services the sum of fifty cents for each dog delivered by him at the pound, to be paid to him by the pound-keeper who shall be re-imbursed by the City. Should any person appointed as aforesaid seize any dog other than such as is without a tag, or during the period within which dogs are required to be confined upon a leash, any dog other than such as is not so confined he shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this ordinance.

Sec. 10. Every dog so seized and impounded, shall be kept, fed and kindly treated by the said pound-keeper for a period of not less than seventy-two hours from the time of impounding, and the owner or person entitled to the custody of any dog so seized and impounded may within said period redeem said dog upon paying the sum of three dollars to the said pound-keeper, one-half of which shall be for the use of the said pound-keeper and the other half for the use of the City. No dog so seized and impounded shall be redeemed by the owner thereof or released by the pound-keeper unless a proper license and a tag are procured for said dog previous to such release.

Sec. 11. After the expiration of such period of seventy-two hours any dog remaining in the pound and not redeemed shall be killed in a humane manner by the said pound-keeper. For every dog received by the pound-keeper at the pound and subsequently killed, the pound-keeper shall receive the sum of fifty cents to be paid by the City. The pound-keeper shall also receive the sum of twenty-five cents per day for each unredeemed dog during the said period of seventy-two hours.

Sec. 12. The expense of furnishing the licenses and tags herein provided for, the fees paid for seizing and impounding any dog, the expense of keeping all dogs while in the pound and the fee paid to the pound-keeper for each dog killed shall be borne and paid by the City and shall be paid out of its general fund. All sums received for licenses and tags, and one-half of the amount received for the redemption of any dog, shall belong to the City and shall be paid into its general fund. Out of the license fees received as aforesaid the City Clerk shall be paid the sum of twenty-five cents for each license issued by him. The amounts so paid and received by the pound-keeper shall be reported by him in writing to the City Clerk on the last Friday of each month, which said report shall be presented to the Common Council at its next regular meeting.

Sec. 13. The word "dog" whenever used in this ordinance, shall include all dogs, male and female.

Sec. 14. Any person found guilty of violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall upon conviction be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars for each offense. Conviction for any violation of this ordinance shall not be a bar to prosecution for any other or further violation thereof, and a failure to comply with any of the provisions of this ordinance after such conviction shall constitute a new violation thereof and shall be punishable as herein provided.

Sec. 15. No license shall be required for any dog brought into the City of Plainfield for the purpose of being exhibited at a bench, kennel or dog show, provided such dog is not allowed to leave the building or enclosure where exhibited unless in the custody of an adult person and confined by a leash and does not remain within the City limits for a period exceeding fifteen days.

Sec. 16. An ordinance entitled "An Ordinance Concerning Dogs," approved July 6, 1887, and the various amendments thereof approved respectively June 1, 1891, May 4, 1892, January 3, 1895, and September 1, 1898, and all other ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance, are hereby repealed.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., April 16, 1909.

AN ORDINANCE

to Amend an Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance to Provide for the Licensing and Regulation of Peddlers, Hawkers, Cartmen, Hack, Omnibus, Stage and Truck Owners and Drivers," approved March 14, 1882, (as amended).

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the title of the Ordinance to which this is an amendment be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"An Ordinance to Provide for the Licensing and Regulation of Peddlers, Hawkers, Cartmen, Motor Vehicle Hack, Omnibus, Stage and Truck Owners, and Drivers."

Sec. 2. That Section 1 of said Ordinance (as amended) be and the same is hereby further amended by inserting in said section after the words, "to drive or keep for use for hire a hack, omnibus, stage, truck," the words "motor vehicle."

Sec. 3. That Section 4 of said Ordinance be and the same is hereby amended as follows: By inserting after the words "used for hire or wages, any cart, truck, hack, omnibus, stage," the words, "motor vehicle;" and that said Section be and the same is hereby further amended by striking out the last sentence of said Section beginning with the words "One license and only one shall be required," and substituting in the place of said sentence so stricken out, the following words, that is to say: "One license and only one shall be required for each cart, truck, hack, omnibus, stage, motor vehicle or other vehicle, and such license shall suffice for the owner of such cart, truck, hack, omnibus, stage, motor vehicle or other vehicle, but for each driver other than the owner of such licensed cart, truck, hack, omnibus, stage, motor vehicle or other vehicle, a separate license shall be required.

Sec. 4. That Section 6 of said Ordinance be and the same is hereby amended as follows, that is to say, by interlining in said Section after the words, "pay therefor the sum of five dollars for each license," the following words, that is to say, "except that in the case of motor vehicles the license fee shall be the sum of ten dollars for each license, and except that in case of each Driver other than the owner of such licensed cart, truck, hack, omnibus, stage, motor vehicle or other vehicle, the license fee shall be the sum of one dollar for each license. Every application for such driver's license shall be in writing, and the applicant shall endorse thereon the names of three reputable citizens to whom reference is made as to the character of the applicant, and the granting of any such driver's license shall be in the discretion of the Mayor. In every application for a license for a motor vehicle the applicant shall be required to set forth that his motor vehicle has seating capacity for at least four passengers and that he has equipped his said motor vehicle with a taximeter of standard make, affixed to the front axle of said motor vehicle, and so constructed and adjusted as to indicate automatically on the dial of said taximeter the charges for distance in accordance with the charges fixed by the Ordinances of this City.

Sec. 5. That Section 8 of said ordinance as amended be and the same is hereby amended by inserting the words "or corporation" after the word "person" in the first line of said Section 8; and the words "or corporation" after the word "person" in the last sentence of said Section 8.

Sec. 6. That Section 9 of said Ordinance be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"Sec. 9. That any license granted under this Ordinance may be suspended or revoked by the Mayor or City Judge upon proof to the satisfaction of either that any such licensed person has been guilty of fraud with respect to making charges against any passenger or passengers, or that the owner or driver of any motor vehicle has practiced fraud with respect to the recording by his taximeter of the distance travelled, or the charges for distance, or for other satisfactory cause not included in the offenses elsewhere specially provided for in this Ordinance; provided, that no license shall be so suspended or revoked without reasonable opportunity first afforded to the licensed person or corporation to be heard on his or its own behalf; and every person or corporation who or which shall during the suspension or after the revocation of his or its license, carry on the business for which such license was granted, shall, on conviction, be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars for each offense.

Sec. 7. That Section 10 of the said Ordinance (as amended) be and the same is hereby further amended as follows: By inserting after the words "use for hire or wages, any hack, omnibus, stage," the words, "motor vehicle;" also by inserting after the words "may charge therefor the following rates, but no more, that is to say: where they occur in said section, the following, namely:

"(a) As to all vehicles except 'motor vehicles' as defined in Chapter 113 of the Laws of New Jersey for the year 1906;"

and that said section be and is hereby further amended by adding at the end of said section hereby amended, the following, namely:

"(b) As to all 'motor vehicles' as defined in Chapter 113 of the Laws of New Jersey for the year 1906: For any number of passengers from one to four inclusive, for the first half mile or fraction thereof, thirty cents; and for each quarter mile thereafter, ten cents; and for each six minutes waiting, ten cents; and for ordering such motor vehicle within one mile and a half from any stand or station to the point ordered at which the passenger or passengers enter said motor vehicle no charge shall be made; and for ordering such motor vehicle more than a mile and a half from any stand or station to the point at which the passenger or passengers enter said motor vehicle a charge may be made at the rate of twenty cents for each mile or fraction thereof in excess of one mile and a half; provided, that children under ten years of age shall not be counted as passengers if accompanied by older persons."

Mlle. Vanity Billed.

Manager Counihan has billed a great show for the beginning of his second week of advanced vaudeville at the New Plainfield theatre. Mlle. Vanity, the charming and petite acrobatic dancer, who has performed before the crowned heads of Europe, heads the list. The Luciers' family, refined musical entertainers; the funny Jane Carling, character impersonator; Juggling Elmer, the sleepy juggler; Atwood and Raymond, the singin, talking and fun provoking comedians, and the Mandys in an athletic comedy skit, are among the others. Moving pictures too.

Christian Church Fair.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church on Grove street will hold a bazaar on Thursday and Friday evenings, April 29-30. There will be a sale of useful and fancy articles, home-made candy, cake and ice cream. A program of music and recitations by Mrs. George Saums and Mrs. G. W. Squires.

Fast Driver Arrested.

Donald Sarrath, of Stirling, was arrested last night by Chief Marshal Weiss for being drunk and disorderly. Before his arrest Sarrath gave those living on Somerset street an exhibition of some fancy and furious driving, such as would be witnessed with interest by many a circus manager. When taken to the police station, Sarrath became indignant and made several threats to the police for being so unjustly handled as he alleged. When he appeared before Recorder Dolliver this morning he was fined $5 for his conduct.

Shiloh Baptist Anniversary.

The Shiloh Baptist church will celebrate its first anniversary tomorrow, the program to be in charge of the pastor, Rev. M. A. Alexander. There will be preaching at 11 o'clock in the morning by the pastor, subject, "The Three Talents;" 3 o'clock, Rev. A. Mark Harris, pastor of Salem Baptist church, Jersey City, will preach and at 8 o'clock Rev. J. L. Burton, of Trenton, will occupy the pulpit. The anniversary will continue all next week with sermons by different ministers every night.

Charter Day Finances.

Because only about half of the members of the Charter Day finance committee able to be present at the meeting held last night, no definite action was taken, but there was a valuable informal discussion of a contribution campaign led by Chairman Eugene Laing. The first subscription for the celebration was received by Mr. Laing today and is a substantial one. The committee has not yet got to work, but it is planned to commence the canvas for subscriptions Monday or Tuesday in the business section.

Frightened by Pistol Shots.

The Misses Josephine and Antoinette Carrar, of Warrenville, while returning to their home last night about 11 o'clock, were frightened by two pistol shots. They did not stop to investigate, but ran all the way home. The young women had been to the home of D. deHaas for their music lessons and the shooting occurred in front of Kleiber's house. The matter was reported, but no reason for the shooting has been learned.

Plans of the Jr. C. E.

A meeting of the superintendents of the City Union of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society met at the Congregational church yesterday afternoon to discuss plans for a junior mass meeting when the State convention of the order will meet here in October. Among the churches represented were Trinity Reformed, Seventh-Day Baptist, Park Avenue Baptist and the Congregational. All plans will be in charge of Mrs. Wheaton Lowry.

Adelberg's Fine New Store.

Adelberg's new cloak store was opened today at 129 East Front street, and the handsome new quarters are bing greatly admired by the throng that has visited the store. There was a special fifteen-minute sale of five hundred umbrellas this morning and in that time the entire number was sold at a very low price. With the new quarters Mr. Adelberg is now in a position to handle his increasing business.

Jury Disagreed.

The case of Henry P. Wise, a North Plainfield grocer, against John Bodenheimer, for damages for over-driving of a sorrel horse, last August, was tried last night at the North Plainfield police station before Justice Snape and a twelve-man jury. After deliberating for some seven hours the jury failed to agree, and was discharged by the justice at 1:30 this morning.

Reddington In the Toils Again.

Michael Reddington, of North avenue, who has a big record for being arrested on the "D. and D." charge, was taken up by Patrolman Cornelius McCarthy on South Second street. He was helpless from too much booze. It was his eighth appearance before City Judge Runyon, and he was fined $5.

EXPOUNDS 'NEW THOUGHT'

"Do Not Shun the Cult," Says Rev. George A. Warner of Holy Cross.

IT IS CHRIST'S TEACHING.

Religious Questions Must Be Met Face to Face, Declares P. E. Rector.

Declaring that the fundamental principles of New Thought should be accepted and lived up to by every good Christian, Rev. George A Warner, rector of Holy Cross church, upheld beliefs of the "new" seet in his sermon yesterday morning. "These followers of New Thought," said the speaker, "serve by the rehearsal of their beliefs to stimulate us in faith, and their claims on this point are sound and founded upon Bible teaching.

The rector's topic was "The Value of Temptation." "In these days of advanced thought and great scientific achievements," he said, "Christians are often puzzled over 'new' interpretations of the long-accepted Christian philosophy of life. 'New' religions and beliefs have sprung up in this generation—Christian Science, New Thought and the Emmanuel Movement. We should not shun these believers as fanatics because of the beliefs they hold. Their religion is Christianity, only it has, perhaps, a freer interpretation of the Bible than we have been taught to accept. We should meet the questions face to face—not dodge them, and we should give them consideration and deep thought

"These New Thought believers claim that a man is just what he makes himself. And so he is. If we believe that we can be successful, or healthy, or particularly valuable in some field of work, why this faith will enable us to live up to our beliefs. Why it's the same truth that we read in the New Testament over and over again. Jesus Christ himself advocated just this strong faith as a means for accomplishing any object. 'Dost thou believe?' He asked, in miracles of healing. And we read the answer: 'Lord, I believe.' And when the cure was completed, we read Christ's words, 'Go, thy faith hath cured thee.' This New Thought truth, then, is Christ's own teaching, and as such ought to be accepted by us. It has its practical, every-day value in our lives, but it has remained for New Thought believers to set it before us. The man or the woman who suffers from insomnia, for instance, suffers needlessly, for the sleeplessness is due to worry and nervous strain brought on by lack of faith. This same lack of faith causes some of us lots of suffering in other illness, real or fancied.

"People say to me: 'I don't like to go to these lectures on new religious movements, or read of the tenets of their followers, because I am afraid they will take away some of the props of my religion.' True Christianity is not strengthened by any 'props.' It is a religion of a thinker, and varies slightly according to the interpretations of the indivdual. We frequently read in the newspapers and magazines today of New Thought, Christian Science and the Emanuel Movement, and the exponents of these sects base their religion on the Bible. We must not shut a thoughtful investigation of their principles.

"There are many disciples of New Thought today, and the thinking Christian must see that the religion is not fanatical by considering its followers. They are in every instance cheerful and healthy people, and theirs is a religion of faith. We must judge by results."

Mrs. Caraline S. F. Marsh, head of the New Thought centre in Brooklyn, lectured at the Babcock building Friday night. Assuring a Daily Press reporter of the utter absence of antagonism to the churches, she said that clergymen of all sects were coming to realize the practical side of the belief.

"A Brooklyn minister told me the other day," she said in this connection, "that he frequently preached New Thought from his pulpit. He said that at the morning service, he had to keep pretty close to the old school beliefs of the church because he felt that some of the older members of the congregation might feel that a New Thought sermon would shake their long-standing ideas of Christianity; but in the evening, he preaches our tenets. The Christian churches have to keep pace with twentieth century advancement through science and philosophy, and this minister believes, as we do, that it will be merely a matter of time before New Thought is universally adapted." Mrs. Marsh will speak at the Babcock building Thursday night, when her topic will be "New Thought Healing."

THREE EXCISE CASES POSTPONED IN COURT

Louis Wexler, of Newark; Edward Coleman, of Cranford, and Alvah Dunham, of Mercer avenue, New York department store suburban delivery wagon drivers, who were arrested last week charged with violating the liquor ordinance by delivering whisky and beer purchased from New York stores and delivered C. O. D., were not given a hearing before City Judge Runyon today. The hearing for Thomas Meehan, driver for the Merchants' Express Company, who was arrested on a similar charge Thursday, will not be until Thursday morning, and it has been decided to continue the cases of the three drivers arrested earlier in the week until that day. Assistant County Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., was in court today to request a continuance of the three cases until Thursday, and with him was Robert N. Crane, Wexler's counsel. Judge Runyon agreed to delay the hearings.

Wexler is employed by R. H. Macy and Coleman is a suburban delivery driver for the Siegel-Cooper Company. Both men were arrested last Monday. Dunham, who is a driver for Acker, Merrall & Condit, was arrested the following day. Meehan, driver for the Merchants' Express Company, which makes suburban deliveries for eighteen New York department stores, was arrested Wednesday. Each of the men was released under $200 bail. The charges are made by Chief Kiely, and particular interest is being shown in Meehan's case, because the company for which he works is incorporated as a common carrier of parcels.

MISS NELLIE APGAR G. J. MORTON'S BRIDE

Miss Nellie Apgar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Apgar, of East Front street, and George J. Morton, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Morton, of Orchard Park, were quietly married at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony in the presence of about twenty-five relatives and intimiate friends.

The couple was unattended and following the ceremony which took place in the parlor, a reception was held and congratulations offered. Afterward supper was served. The bride was gowned in white tissue crepe and she carried a bouquet of bride roses.

The rooms were attractively decorated for the affair with palms, ferns and daisies, the arrangement being especially effective in the parlor, where the large mantelpiece was banked with daisies. Mrs. G. W. Apgar played the wedding march.

After the reception the couple left for a wedding trip. They will be away a week and later will reside on Mountain avenue, near Watchung, where the groom has built a new house. Mr. Morton is associated with his father in the ice business and both he and his wife are well known and popular in a large circle of friends. The bride received a large number of gifts from relatives and friends.

HANS LETZ ENGAGED FOR MUSICAL CONCERT.

The Mendelssohn Glee Club, considered to be one of the best in this section of the State, will give a concert at the First Presbyterian church Thursday night. The club is made up entirely of solo voices, carefully selected, and the ensemble work is particularly fine. The organization has been in existence for four years and its concerts always given in private at the Town and Country Club, Elizabeth, are supported by subscriptions.

The program will comprise a number of selections from the old composers as well as later writers, and will combine the classic with music of a lighter vein. The assisting soloist will be Hans Letz, violinist of New York, who is a member of the famous McIntyre Trio, and who has been heard here on several occasions. He has many friends here who will undoubtedly avail themselves of the opportunity to hear him again. A limited number of tickets is on sale at Hodges' pharmacy.

Rasores Meets Tomorrow.

The Rasores Club will meet tomorrow morning with Mrs. H. E. Bowen, Watchung avenue. The subject will be "Oliver Wendell Holmes."

2 HURT IN STEEPLECHASE

C. W. Fisk and R. L. Finch Sustain Injuries at Cedarhurst L. I. Meet.

MR. FISK'S RIBS FRACTURED.

Finch's Collarbone Broken—Horse's Stumble the Cause of the Mishap.

Charles W. Fisk and Rufus L. Finch, representing the Watchung Hunt Club in the steeplechase meet at Cedarhurst, L. I., on Saturday, came to grief in one of the big races of the afternoon. Mr. Fisk had two ribs fractured, while Mr. Finch's collarbone was broken. The former was brought to Plainfield by Edwin S. Hooley in his big touring car. Mr. Finch returned in a train yesterday. He returned to his home on Waverly plase, New York, last night, and will be detained from business for some time.

The Plainfielders were on the homestretch and were about to take a hurdle, when the rider ahead of Mr. Finch was thrown just after his mount, "Night Hawk," stumbled going over the hurdle. Mr. Finch's horse tried to clear the hurdle and "Night Hawk," and fell in the effort, and Mr. Fisk followed close behind, causing both riders to go off in a ditch, with the result that they were injured. The horses were about winded and could not finish the race.

Mr. Fisk was riding Fred Bull's horse, "Midlothian," while Mr. Finch was up on his own mount, "Bounder." The horses were not injured.

GREAT MINSTREL SHOW AT HOPE TOMORROW NIGHT.

Judge William N. Runyon's Bible class will present its first annual minstrel show at Hope chopel tomorrow night. Everything is in readiness for the affair, the rehearsals showing that every member of the company has reached a stage of proficiency that will insure a first-class performance under the direction of Judge Runyon.

C. G. August, chairman of the executive committee of the class, which has charge of the business end of the affair, reports a large sale of tickets. They can be obtained at the door. The entertainment will be above the ordinary, absolutely clean in every particular and free from all questionable jokes. Mr. August will be assisted in the box office by Marcus W. Clark and these young men will be ushers: Charles Vincent, Frank Rimmer, Clinton Firstbrook, Harry Keen, Arthur Fluck, Herbert Fluck and Hugh B. Sweeny.

Auto and Motorcycle Collide.

A motorcycle ridden by Arthur Olespy, of 153 Avenue E, Bayonne, and an automobile driven by A. F. Spanker, of 57 Washington Terrace, East Orange, collided at North and Watchung avenues, about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The automobile was but slightly damaged, chiefly scratched, but the motorcycle was practically put out of commission for awhile. Neither Mr. Olsespy nor the occupants of the automobile were injured. Bystanders who witnessed the collision say that the motorcyclist was to blame

Union Labor in Parade.

At a meeting of the Trades Council on Saturday afternoon it was decided to invite all other labor organizations of the city to participate in the Charter Day celebration. Among the organizations which will be asked to take part are the International Association of Machinist, Amalgamated Society of Engineers, Iron Moulders Union, Pattern Makers, Barbers, Typographical Union, the Hod Carriers and Builders association.

Addressed Teachers' Association.

Ira W. Travell, principal of the Plainfield High School, delivered the report of the committee on "College Entrance Requirements," before the New Jersey High School Teachers' Association, at Jersey City, Saturday afternoon. Mr. Travell delivered this address at the convention of educators at Atlantic City in November and proved to be so interesting that he was requested to give it again.

Strait Case Dismissed.

The case against Freeman Strait, of Watchung, who was charged by Miss Anna Oglesby, of Long Island, with beating and overworking his horse last summer was called before Justice Snape on Thursday. Mr. Strait's lawyer and witnesses were on hand at the appointed time, but the plaintiff failed to appear. After waiting for a reasonable time Justice Snape dismissed the proceedings.

Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Lamb, of Bound Brook, spent Sunday with J. P. Laire, of this city.

INJURED MACHINIST DIES IN THE HOSPITAL

Patrick Gore, a "punch runner" at the Levering & Garrigues Steel Works, who was fatally injured at the shop Friday afternoon, when a heavy casting fell on him, died early this morning at Muhlenberg Hospital, where he has been since the accident. The dead man's home was on East Second street, Bound Brook, and the body was taken there today for burial. He is survived by a widow and daughter. Death was due to internal injuries according to the statement of hospital physicians.

Gore' right arm and leg were crushed and mangled by the heavy weight, which pinned him between the truck from which it slipped and the wal. The arm was amputated at the hospital yesterday, and the injured man stood the operation very well.

Gore is forty-three years of age. He has been employed at the Levering & Garrigues works for about six years, and was considered one of the most careful workmen in the shop.

SCOTCH PLAINS FOLK PLEASED BY "MR. BOB"

"Mr. Bob" was greeted with a capacity house Saturday night when he made a two hours' call at Excelsior Hall as the guest of the B. Y. P. U. of the Baptist church. During the entertainment the candy booth was kept busy and when the proceeds are figured a neat little sum will be realized. The entertainment was arranged for the benefit of the newly organized Sunday-school Athletic League, the amount netted will not be known for several days, but it is an assured thing that the new association will have a healthy treasury to start with.

The cast: Eugent Lidgate as Philip Royson; Henry Demarest as Bursons Clerk; Percy Mygrant as Jenkins; Miss Rebecca Lukes, butler; Mrs. Edward Johnson as Rebecca Luke, maiden lady; Miss Louise Mygrant as Katherine, her niece; Miss Lottie Conger, Katherine's friend; "Marion Bryant," Miss Margaret Demarest.

LECTURER PRESUMPTIOUS SAYS REV. DR. HERRING

During the course of a brief talk on "Music" at the First Presbyterian church, last night, the pastor, Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, took occasion to refer to the recent address of Mrs. Caraline S. F. Marsh on the "New Thought," an account of which appeared in The Daily Press on Saturday.

"I think it is the height of presumption on the part of any speaker to put his or her own interpretation on the Word of God,' said Dr. Herring. He took exception to Mrs. Marsh's statement that the word "father" means "further," or "furthering," that is "progress," declaring that the Scripture gives no such meaning.

As to the woman's statement regarding drink and that a person is "all powerful," Dr. Herring denied that a man is "all powerful" and as to her statement that "The great God is yourself, and everything in the world is good, for good means God." Dr. Herring said that Patten, who has been cornering the wheat market must be a good man, according to her interpretation.

Referring to her interpretation of "Be ye lifted up, ye everlasting doors," as meaning "ye everlasting doers," the speaker said that no such meaning was intended by the Scriptural words. "Let us have high thoughts," said Dr. Herring, "but don't put interpretations on the Word of God not there."

Surprised James McNeil.

A surprise party was tendered to James McNeil, of 959 West Third street, Saturday night. Music and games helped to pass a pleasant time. The affair was arranged by Miss Mary McNeil. Those present were the Misses Jennie MacConnell, Mary McNeil, Mabel Lant, Alice Willever, Gladys Stewart, Susie Stewart and Bertram Smith, James McNeil, Harold McMann, Thomas Heron, John Heron, Walter Brown, Lewis Brown, Thomas McNeil, Pierce Emery, William Conger, Raymond Lant, James McMann and Joseph Miner.

THIRTY TAKEN IN RAID

S. P. C. A. Agent Rounds Up Crowd at Cock Fight near Scotch Plains.

SOME ARE SENT TO JAIL.

Fines Aggregate $250—Pit and Drinkables Are Found In Place.

Twenty-five constables under command of Lewis C. Teed, agent of the New Jersey Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, swooped down upon a barn in Scotch Plains shortly before dawn yesterday and after a vigorous battle, in which cries of alarm, the dull thuds of clubs, revolver shots and moans were mixed and mingled, captured thirty men who had spent the night watching game cocks armed with steel spurs in a series of cruel fights to the death.

From the moment they definitely located the spot where the mains mains were to be held the agents of the society had left loophole in their prepations. In the raiding party was Justice of the Peace Albert P. Cain, of Springfield. Once the frightened prisoners had been corralled, the judge convened court on the scene of the carnage and with dead and crippled birds as certain evidence of the brutal nature and illegality of the affair, dispensed justice with that traditional rapidity which has made Jersey famous. Twenty-one culprits from New York and New Jersey towns paid fines and costs of $12 each. Eight more of the prisoners, unable to rustle a roll of that proportion, were sent to the Union county jail at Elizabeth for thirty days each.

William Perrine, proprietor of the barn in which the affair with its sequel was held, unable to pay his fine of $100 and costs, was sent to jail for ninety days.

Admittedly the most successful raid of its kind ever negotiated by the S. P. C. A. in this State the raid is deserving of detailed account. News of the big series of cock fights to be held Saturday night was noised abroad as early as Thursday morning, when Colonel E. S. Edwards, State superintendent of the S. P. C. A., received a registered letter from a life member of the society which contained the tip that the mains were to be held in Union county. The writer had overheard a conversation in a restaurant which convinced him beyond a doubt that cock fighting was afoot.

Colonel Edwards lost no time. He summoned his faithful lieutenant, Teed, and with a cock fighting map of Union county the two endeavored to pick the probable locality where the bird battles were to be conducted. It was decided that either Scotch Plains, Fanwood or Westfield would be the chosen spot. Teed, with a number of assistants, looked over the three localities Friday and Saturday. One of the latter saw, Saturday night, small groups of men moving in the same direction along the Fanwood road. He followed one of these groups, and was led to Perrine's barn. Hurrying back to his superior officer he reported.

Teed came to Newark, gathered his posse of twenty-five men, notified Justice of the Peace Cain that he would be needed, and with his fighting force in two large vans, advanced as rapidly as possible toward the position occupied by the enemy.

It is believed the fight started about 11 o'clock Saturday night. One bout was in full swing at 5 o'clock the following morning, when the raiders reached the vicinity of the stable. Disembarking from the vans, they surrounded the barn, and began cautiously to approach it. It was growing light, and before any of the advancing party reached the door they were discovered by lookouts.

A shrill warning cry started all of the thirty-seven men in the barn toward the front and rear doors and windows. Several fierce individual battles were waged, in which the fugitives invariably came out second best. So great was the confusion that seven managed to escape. Five who got quite a distance on their way to somewhere else were captured and brought back.

Menacde by the drawn revolvers of the constables, the prisoners were quickly collected in one sorry group inside the meagrely-lighted stable. Then it was that one of the deputies discovered Perrine among the rafters.

Perrine was tried first, and fined $100 and costs. He could not pay and was set aside for a trip to Union county jjail, in Elizabeth. The following, unable to pay their fines, were made his companions: Hallett S. Perrine, James Connors, Jack Manning and William Connolly, of Fanwood; Robert Moore, William

THIS RUNAWAY CAUSED A LOT OF EXCITEMENT

After a wild ride behind a spirited team of horses down Park avenue, Saturday night, William Poland, who is employed by Harry B. MacDonald, a liveryman, was arrested on Somerset street by Patrolman Tobias Nolan. In the course of the trip, which the prisoner declares was a runaway, a rig belonging to James Melick was run into and damaged near Second street, and the speeding horses narrowly escaped injury by another collision near Front street, when a second rig was hit. In the wagon were three women and another man besides the driver.

Pedestrians on the crowded street were furnished with lots of excitement by the speeding horses, which were well managed by the driver, and were finally swung into Somerset street after a circus-like "S" turn behind a trolley car and around an automobile. Melick, who was in court, wanted a settlement for his damaged rig, declaring that the shafts, cross-bar and some spokes were smashed. The liveryman declares that Melick's rig was in pretty bad shape before the collision, and, while willing to repair damages, takes exception to some of the breakage, declaring it was not caused in the accident. City Judge Runyon has given the two a week to arbitrate repair charges, and next Monday morning will take a judicial hand in ruling just what the liveryman ought to pay.

Poland says that the horses were running away, having taken fright under the Park avenue railroad bridge. None of the occupants of the carriage was injured.

SATURDAY NIGHT SPREE COST 'EM $15. APIECE

When Patrolman Tobias Nolan appeared in the city court room today with two prisoners, George Ferguson, of East Sixth street, and Leonard Callaway, of Potter's Station, whom he arrested on Somerset street Saturday night, his lip was cut and swollen, and he told City Judge Runyon that Callaway had struck him in the mouth as he overtook the running pair to make the arrest. Nolan also says that a front tooth was loosened by the blow.

The arrest followed an attack by Ferguson on John Poland, who was knocked senseless by a blow in the jaw at Front and Somerset street by the man, who came out of a saloon. Poland sustained an ugly looking bruise on the jaw and was revived by Patrolman Vanderweg, who saw him fall senseless in the gutter. After striking the man, Ferguson, with Callaway, set off up Somerset street. Nolan gave chase and caught the pair just at the county line bridge. He says that Callaway swung at him and landed heavily on his jaw, jarring his teeth and cutting his lip. Both of the men had been in various saloons, and Judge Runyon fined them $15 apiece.

According to Ferguson's story in court, Poland, who is an elderly man, was on the war-path Saturday night, and came to his boarding-place to "clean him up." The two met in a Front street saloon and Poland, according to the prisoner's story, wanted Ferguson to come to a vacant lot and have a fight. Ferguson then met Callaway, and the latter declares that he tried to protect him and get him home safely. Callaway said in court that when he heard someone pursuing them on Somerset street, he thought it was Poland, and fearing that he would attack Ferguson (who, by the way, looks able to take care of himself) he pushed the man away. Noland, who was the man, says it was a knock-out punch, and momentarily stunned him.

Layman Preaches Here.

Albert S. Davis, of East Orange, a layman, occupied the pulpit at the First Baptist church yesterday morning and evening, preaching two strong sermons. Mr. Davis is a prominent member of the East Orange Baptist church, and active in religious work. Nearly every Sunday he is engaged to preach in some church and has been successful.

Lost His New Bicycle.

A new Pierce bicycle with cushion frame and fork, belonging to William E. Van Court, of Oak Tree, was stolen from Front and Somerset street today while Mr. Van Court was engaged in making a purchase at a nearby store. The theft was reported to the police and a search is being made for the missing wheel.

—James Ferguson, of Somerset street, will remove to Westervelt avenue, near West Front street, this week.

KILLED BY DRIVING ROD

Fred DeGroff, Reading Flyer Engineer, Meets Death at His Post.

ACCIDENT NEAR HAMILTON.

Engine's Driving Rod Snapped and Victim Was Terribly Injured—Died In Hospital.

Fred DeGroff, of North avenue, an engineer on the St. Louis express of the Philaldelphia and Reading Railroad, was fatally injured Saturday afternoon, while making his last trip home for the day, and he died at 8:50 o'clock in the Mercer Hospital, Trenton, where he was taken after the accident. He remained conscious to the last. The remains were brought to this city yesterday and are now at the undertaking parlors of A. M. Runyon & Son on Park avenue, pending arrangements for the funeral.

The accident which caused DeGroff his life happened on the Reading road near Hamilton, when the right guide rod, directly under the engineer's side of the cab, suddenly snapped, tearing up that side of the engine and cab. DeGroff remained at his post and the train, which was running at a high rate of speed, went a distance of two lengths before it was brought to a stop.

Conductor D. S. Horton, Jr., and his crew hastened to the front of the engine, where they found DeGroff lying along the track. An examination showed that both legs were broken at the ankle and he was suffering from a deep scalp wound. He remained conscious while the crew carried him to a place of safety on the embankment. To one of the trainmen he said: "I guess I am done for now and I will never run an engine again."

A westbound passenger train came along a few minutes after the accident and DeGroff was taken with all possible speed to the Trenton hospital, where everything was done to save his life. The scalp wound, together with internal injuries caused his death.

The passengers on the disabled train were transferred to the Reading train leaving the Terminal, Philadelphia, at 5 o'clock, and the other one was taken to Bound Brook by the aid of another engine.

DeGroff has been in the employ of the railroad for many years as an engineer, and for two years and a half has been running the St. Louis train, which leaves 24th and Chestnut streets, Philadelphia, at 5:02 every afternoon. He was considered one of the best engineers in the employ of the company and he had a clean record of which he was very proud. His train was due in Plainfield at 5:44 going east, while on his trip west he passed through Plainfield about 12:42 in the afternoon.

About four months ago while running east one night for some unexplained reason the glass door in his cab was broken and his face and arms were so severely cut that DeGroff was obliged to leave his train and another engineer was summoned to take the train to Jersey City. The accident on Saturday night is one of those things that railroad men cannot explain, and they say that it is likely to happen any time.

Mr. DeGroff leaves a wife and two children; a brother, John DeGroff, of Bayonne; a sister, Mrs. George Jackson, of Roselle, and a sister and nephew in Fresno, Cal.

RABBI LECTURES TONIGHT ON CIVIC RIGHTEOUSNESS.

Rabbi Wise, of the Free Synagogue, New York, will lecture on "Civic Righteousness," at All Soul's church, on Park avenue, near Crescent avenue, tonight at 8 o'clock.

Rabbi Wise, although only thirty-six years of age, has been offered and declined the charge of the Temple Emmanuel, Fifth avenue and 43d street, New York, on account of a restricted pulpit and has founded his own Free Synagogue, where he preaches to large congregations of Jews and liberal Christians and performs a large social work. ***

Church Women to Hold Tea.

The women of the Congregational church will hold their April tea at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Rice, 836 West Seventh street, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Benjamin Labaree, formerly a missionary in Persia, will be the guest and speaker. She is said to be a woman of rare personality and fine speaker. There will also be a musical program, Mrs. Guy Bender being the soprano soloist and Miss Florence Nichol piano soloist. The Lenten envelopes will also be received at that time.

NEWARK The Reliable Store—Established Over 51 Years

May Undermuslin Sale Without Counterpart.

Astonishing in a hundred features that will gratify knowing women. We set out at the right time, with the aim to offer Newark women greater bargains, higher quality, better made, prettier undermuslins than they were ever invited to buy before we succeeded. We went out of beaten paths. We used new methods. We broke down every barrier that stood in the way of making this sale unique. The newness of our propositions to makers and importers of materials, to factories, gained price concessions that were even the wonder of the men themselves. We remained faithful to the principle of reliable goods. We went only to sanitary factories, where brightness of surroundings and good cheer of workers make painstakingness a pleasure.

Every garment crisp; bright with fresh ideas, refined by hands of artists, each with a touch to make it characteristic, to carry it out of the level of general muslinwear sales. Your own eyes will reveal this more strongly than we can tell here.

And we start this May Sale now, because it was one of the conditions with the makers that we take the undermuslins at once, so they could prepare for rush times. This brings you the additional advantage of early choosing as well as great saving.

Each line represents a magnificent collection. In all a showing that overflows into a great area on the second floor and floods the Grand Aisle, first floor, with a sea of white. Can you stay away?

WHEN Summer Breezes Blow
You'll be Glad for This Furniture.

For Summer cottages, bungalows, roof gardens, mountain lodges, verandas and lawns in the city, and for golf and field clubs, and dens and snuggeries, this furniture of rustic hickory, ash, willow, double cane, rattan, rush and prairie grass, most of it in the natural colors, much with the bark on, some stained red and green, must appeal to you as indispensable.

To use ordinary furniture on the porch or in Summer cottages is out of harmony with the spirit of the thing, and when such splendidly made and handsome pieces can be bought at such moderate prices there is little apology for trying to make the indoor furniture answer the purposes of summertime.

In the vast exhibition of Summer furniture we are making in our Furniture Department you will see more pieces than will be shown in the combined stocks of the other furniture sellers of Newark. This exhibit includes:—

Rockers,	Porch Swings,
Armchairs,	Tabourettes,
Side Chairs,	Stools,
Settees,	Reclining Chairs.

The pieces here illustrated and priced are indicative of the stock in general, but to have full appreciation of the character and beauty of this furniture you should see it.

Rustic Hickory Furniture

The frames of this furniture are built of carefully selected hickory saplings with the bark left on—the strongest of our native woods—sanded smooth to the white which takes on a beautiful polish with use. The seats and back are woven by hand with smooth strips of the inner hickory, making them pliable, springy and comfortable. Every joint is carved and then nailed; every runner on the rockers is bolted on. Thus you get simplicity, durability and the maximum of comfort at minimum cost—surely nothing nicer in the wide world of furniture for porches or lawns.

In this line and the Jackson hickory are—

Tables,	Side Chairs,
Arm Chairs,	Dining Chairs,
Rockers,	Tabourettes,
Swings,	Stools,
Settees,	Couches.

Three-Piece Summer Set

Framework is made of hard wood and finished in a leaf green color. Basework and all joints are strongly made and put together. Fancy shape slats in the back, comfortable arms and the seats are of Japanese matting. All parts are smoothly finished.

As a set it is appropriate for summer furnishing, either indoors or on the veranda. May be purchased separately or complete.

Price of Armchair $3.75
Price of Rocker $4.25
Price of Settee $6.50

Also a Sale of Untrimmed Hats

Maybe you haven't got a hat to trim—haven't selected the shape, and would have no use for flowers, unless you did buy another hat. So here is a sale of Untrimmed Hats that will meet every demand.

Rough Straw Hats in the most up-to-date shapes and colors; regular $1.25 kind for only ..... .65

Braid Hats of several kinds and many styles; all wanted shapes and colors; $1.50 kind for ..... .85

FINE FRENCH FLOWERS, FOLIAGE AND FRUITS AT LESS THAN COST OF IMPORTATION.

We are going to have a great sale of Fine French Flowers, and we are going to sell more flowers this week than we have ever sold in a single week before—a bold statement to make, perhaps, but we know whereof we speak, and when you see the flowers and the prices we have marked them at you will agree with us, and you will be tempted to buy flowers whether you need them for hat trimming or not.

There is a great collection, suiting everything that is in vogue this season, and particularly strong assortments of beautiful foliage. Prices are much less than the actual cost of importation.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Down With the Signs.

The Governor has approved the Eppinger bill, and it is now a law. It prohibits the display of all great, gilded signs over the places in which liquors are sold, and brewers' trademarks are also to be eliminated from over saloon doors and in saloon or liquor store windows. No aluring pictures will be permitted in the doors or windows or on the outside of saloons, and the party who wants a drink will have nothing to guide him excepting the name of the man, firm or corporation running the saloon.

Two questions have been raised with reference to the law. The one is, whether it referred to old signs already in place, or merely prohibited the erecting of new ones. The act reads: "It shall be unlawful to display" any signs, etc. This covers both old and new. The other question is, whether such a law is constitutional; whether a man has not a right to erect any sign he pleases on his own premises. The Governor evidently thinks that there are no constitutional privileges inhering in the liquor business. He decided this point in practically so many words while a Supreme Court justice, and has not changed his views.

If, then, these glaring signs can be prohiibted over saloons, why may they not be suppressed in other places? What, for example, is to hinder the next Legislature from enacting that the great, glaring, obtrusive liquor signs now scarifying the landscape all along the railroads in the State, shall be peremptorily removed? If such signs are bad in one locality they are bad in another. If they are harmful over saloons they are harmful out in the open country.—Newark News.

Vacation for Judge Atwater.

There will be no session of the Union County Court held until May 4, when the spring term of the court will open. Meanwhile County Judge Edward S. Atwater will avail himself of this fact to take a vacation, which he will spend at Old Point Comfort, Va., and for which place he will sail tomorrow. On Saturday, May 17, Supreme Court Justice Bergen and Circuit Court Judge Vail will hold a short session at the courthouse to hear motions ready to be made by lawyers, but this will be the only business transacted until the May term begins.

CELEBRATE FIFTY-SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Peterson, of East Third street, celebrated the fifty-second anniversary of their wedding on Saturday evening. The reception was held from 8 to 11 and was largely attended by friends and relatives. The rooms were decorated with ferns, potted plants and cut flowers. The prevailing color in the hall and parlor being yellow and in the dining-room pink. Mrs. Peterson was assisted in receiving by her niece, Miss Mabel C. Peterson, and her only child, Miss Louise M. Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson were married on April 24, 1857, at New Brunswick, by Rev. J. W. Kempshall, of the First Baptist church, of that place. The only guest who attended the wedding fifty-two years ago was a sister, Mrs. John W. Potter, of Newark. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson have lived in Plainfield for over forty years. Mr. Peterson is a brother of the late Thomas H. Peterson, of Perth Amboy, who was the first colored voter after passage of the fourteenth amendment. He received a gold medal for the same from the Government.

Many handsome and costly presents were received, including gold, cut glass, china, a large amount of cut flowers and potted plants and money. Friends were present from Rahway, Perth Amboy, Newark, Bound Brook and this city. The couple received the hearty congratulations of all present and the hope that they would live many years more.

REV. L. R. HOWARD PREACHES INTERESTING SERMON TO MEN

Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor, preached a strong sermon to a large congregation of men at Hope chapel yesterday morning. The Scripture lesson was a portion of the fourth and sixth chapters of Nehemiah, the text being "and I said, should such a man as I flee? and who is there, that being as I am would go into the temple to save his life? I will not go in."

The theme was "The Man Who Would Not Flee." In the evening Mr. Howard preached on "Soul-Winning," before a large congregation. At the morning service the congregation chiefly comprised men, a special effort being made to secure the attendance of men from the West End of the city.

C. E. Patterson, of the American Locomotive Works, will give an illustrated travelogue at the First M. E. church, Friday night, under the auspices of the Brotherhood. It will be a "ladies' night" affair and a general invitation has been extended to the members of other churches.

N. W. AYERS AND SONS FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Philadelphia, April 26.—The fortieth anniversary of the founding of the house of N. W. Ayer & Son, the leading advertising agency of the country, as well as the successor of the pioneer advertising agency, was celebrated Saturday night at the Bellevue-Stratford by a banquet tendered by the firm to upward of 500 gents, comprising their 260 odd employes and the most prominent men of the country in advertising circles journalism and immense enterprises and industries in commercial lines.

The immense second-floor ballroom of the Bellevue-Stratford, beautifully decorated with a profusion of flowers, was taxed to its capacity to accommodate the large assembly. Perhaps never has there been a gathering so representative of the three forces which make advertising—the advertiser, the agent and the press. With the latter can be classed the exponents of that branch of advertising known as "out-door"—the billboard and the street car.

It would be impossible to conceive of a more fitting illustration of the growth of the advertising idea as a business—its importance as a factor in modern commerce.

The history of the firm thus celebrating its fortieth birthday is in itself a classic, recording advertising progress in America. From its beginning the firm of N. W. Ayer & Son has blazed the way—evolved and improved methods and established the principles which have won for it a prestige and which, as a composite, have created the principles upon which the best in the entire advertising business is today conducted.

The guests at this notable banquet were seated at about nine great tables—one table running the entire length of the ballroom, and, projecting therefrom, eight prongs, each one over fifty feet long and accommodating over fifty guests. At the head table were the four members of the firm—F. Wayland Ayer, Henry N. McKinney, Albert O. Bradford and Jarvis A. Wood—together with the guests of honor.

Following the invocation the good things provided were heartily discussed. During the progress of the banquet, speech and pleasantry were indulged, entirely in an impromptu manner, rendering the occation still more social and familiar in its aspect. There was no formal program of speech-making.

At a given signal, James A. Buchanan, the dean of the business-getting staff, rose in his place, and, catching Mr. Ayer's attention, in a very apt speech presented him with a massive sterling silver loving cup. Mr. Ayer, although taken completely by surprise, accepted the gift in a most felicitous way, even though he found it difficult to express himself under the circumstances. This event was characterized by an immense amount of enthusiasm on the part of all present. The cup was indeed a tribute which any man might be proud to receive from his friends, business associates and employes. Upon one side was inscribed the following: "Presented to F. Wayland Ayer by the employes of N. W. Ayer & Son, at a banquet commemorating the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the firm." Upon another side appeared these words: "Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia, April 24, 1909." Upon the third side, "There is no better motto than 'Keeping everlastingly at it brings success,' and no better example of it than F. W. A.." The letters "F. W. A." were in Mr. Ayer's characteristic style of signature affixed to the mass of documents which have passed through his hands in the past forty years. At the close of teh banquet, which occurred promptly at 12 midnight, all present rose to their feet and joined the quartet in singing "God be With Us Until We Meet Again."

OBERAMMERGAU.

To those who have heard Henry Ellsworth's description of the life and the everyday occupations of the people of the Bavarian village, and have seen his realistic pictures of the great plays, the participants both as actors and in their village life, and have then looked upon the scenes in and about the picturesque little village, the production of the play by these humble devout people at the close of each decade is a revelation, and it is apparent that their honesty of purpose cannot be questioned. Living as they do beneath the shadow of the Kofal Cross, that silent monitor that seems to demand devotion, is it at all wonderful that daily worship is a part of their lives, especially when we remember that they have but to lift their eyes heavenward to be reminded of their self-imposed devotion. Mr. Ellsworth's story of these people, their manner of living, their mammoth productions and his pictures of both the participants in the plays and their home life, is so cleverly portrayed that it is almost like witnessing the play itself to listen to his beautiful word pictures. No one grows weary from the beginning to the end, so intensely interesting is Mr. Ellsworth's talk. He uses 300 ebautifully colored views in his entertainment. A select orchestra, cathedral chimes and ten choir singers will be introduced. Mrs. Ellsworth will appear at the New Plainfield theatre field theatre Friday afternoon and evening, April 30, under the auspices of Plainfield Aerie, F. O. E.

Special Musical Service.

The monthly musical service attracted a large congregation to the First Presbyterian church last night. It was the last service of this character at which Miss Anna Lucretia Case appeared as soprano soloist, and during the evening she sang several selections, including the offertory, "O Lord Most Holy." The program follows: "Silhoutten," Rogers, organ and piano, Clifford A. Braider and Mrs. C. E. Herring; anthem, "Abide With Me," trio, "My God My Father," offertory solo, "O Lord Most Holy," anthem, "O Lord How Manifold," anthem, "Great is the Lord," "Invocation," organ and piano.

Our Embroideries

are certainly lovely. That's what the ladies say, and they ought to know. The styles are extremely various. Nainsook, swiss and cambric edgings and insertings in matched sets, beautiful designs in fine corset covering, shirt waist bandings and all-overs. The English eyelet and the French handwork embroideries are positively fascinating. There's a very good reason why we sell embroideries for so much less than the other stores—we import them ourselves direct and thus save the middleman's profit.

Laces and Nets

Every variety is here exhibited. There is a beautiful collection of all-over laces for waists and gowns; a complete assortment of plain and pleated nets, and an elegant variety of fancy and staple Valenciennes in matching sets.

Have you seen the new "Art Stitch" Laces? They look just like hand-made goods, yet only cost one-tenth. A shirt waist suit is certainly enriched by the use of "Art-Stitch" Beadings and Insertings.

American made laces, exact reproductions of French Fillet; beautiful patterns in edgings and insertions, in white and ecru, ½ inch to 2½ inches wide and only 5c and 10c a yard.

TEMPLE BAPTIST PEOPLE RECEIVE PROPERTY DEED.

At the morning service at the Temple Baptist church, yesterday, W. A. Conger, clerk of the church, made a few appropriate remarks and then presented the deed of the property to the church on behalf of the East Third Street Baptist Society. In passing the deed over it was announced that the transfer of the property was made free and clear of all incumbrances, a fact that greatly pleased the congregation.

The church building and land together have a valuation of about $12,000 and is fully equipped for conducting religious worship. Rev. J. W. Musson is the pastor and since the first of the year the church has re-organized and been set apart as an independent body. The passing of the deed was the final act.

THIRTY TAKEN IN RAID

Foster and James Doyle, of Plainfield, and John Herder, of Westfield.

The twenty-one who were abit to pay the fines and thus gain their liberty gave the following names, many of which are believed to be fictitious:

Samuel Johnson, Michael Riley, George Green, James Edwards, William Boehm, George Monahan, Ross White, James Rawson, John Brown, John Edwards, James Madison, Frank Dana, Thomas Jones, Frank Sommers, Charles Edwards, Christopher Moffett, Marshall Jones, John Smith, T. Harry Waldron and ePter Fox.

The fines aggregated $252. In each instance the charge of cruelty to animals was made against the prisoners. Colonel Edwards appeared in person as the prosecutor and Judge Toucey was summoned from Westfield to look after the interests of the defendants.

Perrine and his eight companions were taken to the jail in one of the vans which had borne the members of the raiding party to the barn. In the raid Teed divided the command with Charles A. Sickles and Horace S. Miller, agents of the N. J. S. P. C. A.

In addition to the gamecocks captured the police confiscated the portable pit, in which the fights were held, the scales on which the birds were weighed in, a tally sheet, a double swinging lamp, which hung over the pit, several pairs of steel spurs, five cases of beer, three bottles of whiskey, crates, boxes and bags.

It had been known for a long time that mains were being conducted in Union county, but it was not until yesterday that this knowledge could be used to such distinct advantage by the officers of the S. P. C. A.

Elder G. L. Van Emburgh, of East Second street, who has been detained at home a long time by illness, was able to attend divine service at Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning for the first in nearly six months and to hear Rev. J. Y. Broek, the pastor, preach for the first time.

CONTRIBUTIONS NEEDED FOR UNFORTUNATE MEN

The Board of Trade's delegates, who visited the Self Master Colony at Rahway are interesting the people of Plainfield to assist with donations and contributions for the Home. The family consists of poor boys and young men between 16 and 35 years of age who through intemperance, lack of employment discouragement are trying to make a new start to build themselves up physically, mentally and morally. They are put upon their honor, surrounded with home influence and kindly treatment and assisted to positions.

The lodge is non-sectarian and the young men work each day in exchange for clothes, board and small pay. They do everything, such as cooking, gardening, weave beautiful rugs, make by hand clever novelties and plain furniture, utility boxes for men and women, etc. Supported by voluntary contributions and sale of articles, subscriptions to Self Master Magazine, we need clothing, shoes, books, in fact anything is very acceptable.

Donations are collected at the People's Clothing Co. by Mr. Adelberg. There is need of money for tools, materials to help more young men who apply weekly and need just such a home temporarily or permanently. Money contributions sent to A. E. Force, president of the Merchants' Association, or A. S. Floyd, president and active leader of Self Master Lodge, 201 East Hazlewood avenue, Rahway, N. J. Telephone 159-W.

DRUNKARDS' GUARDIANS APPOINTMENT OPTIONAL

An examination of the official copy in the office of the secretary of State of the Hillery law for the appointment of boards of protectors for the prevention of drunkenness shows that there has been a misapprehension as to the exact provisions of the measure and that it is not such a drastic law as has been claimed. A certified copy of the law has been received by William R. Townsend, secretary to the mayor.

The general understanding has been that the law was compulsory and compelled every municipality to appoint a board of protectors to investigate drunkenness and proceed against drunkards or liquor dealers who sell to drunkards after being officially notified by mail not to do so.

The second official reprint copy of the bill which was last printed and was the copy under discussion in the Senate gives the provisions as here stated. The copy signed by the Governor, however, shows that the measure was amended at the last minute in the Senate and the amendment was not printed. In the first section of the bill the word "shall," which made the provision for the appointment of such a board compulsory in every municipality, was changed to "may," thus making it optional in every city and town.

As the law stands, therefore, not a city or town in the State need have such a board unless the governing body chooses to act in the matter and appoint one. Of course, if no board be appointed there will be no procedure whatever in the matter of drunkenness, and the whole proposition will stand as present.

In the copy of the bill approved by the Governor, the change from "shall" to "may" was made with pen and ink, and opposite the amendment on the margin are the initials "E. A. S.," this being the certification of Edward A. Sexemith, supervisor of bills, that the amendment passed the Senate. In the rush of the last hours in the Assembly the fact that the change had been made escaped notice.

OSTEOPATHS WILL FIGHT FOR ACTION ON MEASURE.

Should the Governor decide to call an extra session of the Legislature an effort will be made to bring up for consideration the osteopath bill, House 101, introduced by H. Stacy Smith. The bill provides for the appointing of a State board of osteopathic examiners of five members, who shall organize and shall examine and license all persons who desire to practise osteopathy.

This measure, which failed to get through, has a large number of supporters, particularly in Essex county, and its adherents have announced their determination of continuing the battle for legal recognition.

The osteopath bill was before the House on third reading for several weeks, and since similar legislation has been enacted in Pennsylvania, it has been decided by the osteopaths that action should be taken by New Jersey to protect its people from those who have not qualified in neighboring States. It is understood that the State Medical Examining Board is now in favor of this bill.

Circus Season Here.

Women Dislike Dust

It ruins everything in the house to have a continual shower of flour-like ashes sifted about. Moreover, it multiplies the work of keeping a house clean. When you shake the

MRS. JULIA WARD HOWE WILL BE NINETY IN MAY

Julia Ward Howe, the mother of Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of this city, will be ninety years old May 27. An interesting article, written by Florence Painter, on Mrs. Howe's activities so wonderfully continued, appears in Putnam's Magazine for May. Mrs. Howe's view of life is summed up in these quoted words:

"The deeper I drink of the cup of life, the sweeter it grows—the sugar is all at the bottom.

"Yes," Mrs. Howe says, "that is quite true. You see, my husband was a very great man; and I had very dear children; and I have delightful grandchildren; and I have two great-grandchildren—and am very fond of little children."

"That," says the contributor to Putnam's, "was all. Wide fame, memories of great days dead, honors and social richness of days present—of these she did not think. The secret of life kept fresh and sweet at ninety years, she felt to be another matter, far nearer to 'the human heart, by which we live.'"

To quote further from the article.

"Mrs. Howe's one friend of long standing says that her charm is today the same in quality as at middle age, and far greater; and another, that she grows not only in largeness of spirit, but in vigor of mind and youthful freshness, every year. An editor of a suffrage organ testifies that, at the age when most humanity has reached 'second childishness, and mere oblivion,' even her business notes are full of delightfulness, and her occasional visit brings into the office a great wave of stimulus. Within a year she has attended and spoken at hearings on woman's suffrage at the (Massachusetts) State house. In a single week she has given three public addresses on technical matters, and to bodies of experts—one before the Religious Education Association, another in Italian before the Circolo Italino. She is today president of the New England Women's Club, as she has been for thirty-three years, and of the Boston Authors' Club; president emerita of the Circolo Italiano and of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs; vice-president emerita of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, and an interested member of the Papeterie of Newport, the Wintergren Club and other organizations."

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

Interest is at high water mark at the Academy of Music where Mr. Mantell continues to present his Shakesperian repertory to delighted audiences. Not since the days of Booth's theatre and during the height of the fame of Edwin Booth has the public responded so eagerly to the serious drama. Notwithstanding all the diversity of entertainment in New York, there is an enormous clientele of lovers of the drama rarely seen within the theatre except on occasions of this character. The matinees are unique in that thousands of school children are witnessing these superb stage presentations of the masterpieces. In fact in a population of over four million, there is hardly a household that has not as yet witnessed Mr. Mantell in his classic revivals. Beginning Monday the week will be divided as follows: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday matinee, "The Merchant of Venice," and the last half of the week "Hamlet."

With characteristic vigor, Charles Frohman has followed up his hold upon the American rights of Henry Bataille's new play—"Le Scandale"—greeted enthusiastically by Parisian critics—by obtaining the English rights as well to the piece. "Le Scandale" is said to be not only the best piece of work that has thus far come from the author of "La Femme Nue," but it is hailed as one of the most interesting plays the French stage has seen in years. The story is that of an affectionate mother, honest and of middle class life, who falls a victim to the wiles and plotting of a scoundrel who puts to base uses an ascendancy gained too easily. It is in reaching a tremendous climax, one of pardon so far as the husband is concerned, that the playwright has shown extraordinary acumen and feeling.

SUMMIT TO ELIZABETH BY TROLLEY JULY 1.

Much difficulty is being met with by the contractors in charge of the extension of the Morris County Traction Company's line from Union Township to Summit, owing to the bed of rock at Townley, where the road is being tunneled under the Lehigh Valley Railroad tracks. Despite the run of shale rock encountered at this point the work is progressing fairly well, and according to the predictions of the trolley officials, the link which will furnish direct traffic facilities between Summit and the county seat in Elizabeth will be in operation by July 1 next.

Another obstacle which retarded the work was the fact that the company was unable to obtain a franchise to build its line in Morris avenue, and in consequence was compelled to purchase a private right of way from the old Meeker Inn in Union Township to Elizabeth.

POLLY of the CIRCUS

By MARGARET MAYO

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead and Company

"Yes, very," she said. Her eyes were downcast.

He did not believe her. The effort in her voice, her drawn, white face, belied her words. How could he get the truth from her?

"Jim said you might not want to see me."

She started.

"Has Jim been talking to you?"

"Yes, but I didn't let him stop me, for you told me the day you left that you'd never change—toward me. Have you, Polly?" He studied her anxiously.

"Why, no, of course not," she said evasively.

"And you'll be quite frank when I ask you something?"

"Yes, of course." She was growing more and more uneasy. She glanced about for a way of escape.

"Why did you leave me as you did?"

"I told you then." She tried to cross toward the dressing tent.

He seized her small wrists and forced her to look at him.

"And I am not happy without you, and I never, never can be." The floodgates were open. His eyes were aglow. He bent toward her eagerly.

"Oh, you mustn't!" she begged.

"You've grown so close," he cried, "so close!" She struggled to be free. He did not heed her. "You know, you must know, what I mean." He drew her toward him and forced her into his arms. "You're more precious to me than all else on this earth."

For the first time he saw the extreme pallor on her face. He felt her growing limp and lifeless in his arms. A doubt crossed his mind. "If I am wrong in thinking you feel as I do, if you honestly care for all this," he glanced about at the tents, "more than for any life that I can give you, I

"Never mind, Bingo."

shan't interfere. You'll be going on your way in an hour. I'll say good-by and God bless you, but if you do care for me, Polly," he was pleading now, "if you're not happy here, won't you come back to me? Won't you, Polly?"

She dared not meet his eyes nor yet to send him away. She stood irresolute. The voice of Deacon Strong answered for her.

"So you're here, are you?"

"Yes, Deacon Strong, I'm here," answered the pastor as he turned to meet the accusing eyes of the deacon.

"As for you, miss," continued Strong, with an insolent nod toward Polly, "I might have known how you'd keep your part of the bargain."

She started toward the ring. Eloise and Barbarian were already waiting at the entrance.

"Eloise!" She took one step toward her, then stopped at the sound of Barker's voice.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he called, "although we are obliged to announce that our star rider, Miss Polly, will not appear tonight, we offer you in her place an able substitute, Mlle. Eloise, on her black, untamed horse Barbarian."

Eloise put her hands on the horse's back to mount.

"No, no!" cried Polly.

The other girl turned in astonishment at the agony in her voice.

"Polly!"

"Wait, Eloise! I'm going to ride!"

"You can't, not Barbarian! He don't know your turn."

"So much the better!" She seized the bridle from the frightened girl's hand.

"Polly!" shouted Douglas. He had followed her to the entrance.

"I must! I will!"

She flew into the ring before he could stop her. He took one step to follow her.

"You'd better let her alone and get out of here," said Strong. His voice was like a firebrand to Douglas. He turned upon him, white with rage.

"You drove her to this." His fists were clinched. He drew back to strike. Jim came from behind the wagons just in time to catch the uplifted arm.

"Leave him to me. This ain't no parson's job." The pastor lowered his arm, but kept his threatening eyes on the deacon's face.

"Where's Poll?" asked Jim.

"In there!" Douglas pointed toward the main tent without turning his head. He was still glaring at the deacon and breathing hard.

"What do you mean by that?" shouted Strong.

"I mean that I stayed with you and your narrow minded congregation before because I believed you needed me. But now this girl needs me more. She needs me to protect her from just such injustice as yours."

"You'd better be protectin' yourself. That's my advice to you."

"I can do that without your advice."

"Maybe you can find another church with that circus ridin' girl a-hangin' round your neck."

"He's right," cried Polly. "You couldn't." She clung to the pastor in terrified entreaty. "You couldn't get another church. They'd never, never forgive you. It's no use. You've got to let me go! You've got to!"

"Listen, Polly." He drew her toward him. "God is greater than any church or creed. There's work to be done everywhere—his work."

"You'll soon find out about that," thundered Strong.

"So I will," answered Douglas, with his head thrown high. "This child has opened a new world to me. She has shown me a broader, deeper humanity. She and I will find the way together."

"It won't be an easy one, I'll promise you that." Strong turned to go.

"I'm not looking for the easy way," Douglas called after him; then he turned to draw Polly's arm within his, but Polly had slipped from his side to follow the deacon.

"Oh, please, Deacon Strong, please!" she pleaded. "You won't go away like that. He'll be all right if you'll only wait. I'm not coming back. I'm not—honestly. I'm going on with the show tonight, and I'm going this time forever."

"You are going to stay here with me!" cried Douglas.

"No, no, Mr. John! I've made up my mind, and I won't be to blame for your unhappiness." She faced him firmly now. "I don't belong to your world, and I don't want to try any more. I'm what he called me—I'm a circus riding girl. I was born in the circus, and I'll never change. That's my work—riding—and it's yours to preach. You must do your work, and I'll do mine."

"Bargain!" echoed Douglas. "What bargain?"

"Oh, please, Deacon Strong, please. I didn't mean to see him—I didn't, truly." She hardly knew what she was saying.

"What bargain?" demanded Douglas.

"She told me that you and her wasn't ever goin' to see each other ag'in!" roared Strong. "If I'd knowed she was goin' to keep on with this kind of thing you wouldn't have got off so easy."

"So that's it!" cried Douglas. It was all clear to him now. He recalled everything—her hysterical behavior, her laughter, her tears. "It was you who drove that child back to this." He glanced at Polly. The narrow shoulders were bent forward. The nervous little fingers were clasping and unclasping each other. Never before had she seemed so small and helpless.

"Oh, please, Mr. John, please don't make him any worse!"

"Why didn't you tell me?" he demanded.

"It would have done no good," she sobbed. "Oh, why—why won't you leave me alone?"

"It would have done all the good in the world. What right had he to send you back to this?"

"I had every right," said Strong stubbornly.

"What?" cried Douglas.

"It was my duty."

"Your duty? Your narrow minded bigotry!"

"I don't allow no man to talk to me like that, not even my parson."

"I'm not your parson any longer," declared Douglas. He faced Strong squarely. He was master of his own affairs at last. Polly clung to him, begging and beseeching.

"Oh, Mr. John, Mr. John!"

Notice of Hearing Objections to Assessments For Street Improvements in the City of Plainfield.

Thomas J. Hughes, Harry B. MacDonald and Andrew J. Gavett, the Commissioners appointed by the Union County Court of Common Pleas, by order entered on the ninth day of December, 1908, to estimate and assess benefits conferred by the permanent street improvements in the City of Plainfield, under the ordinances of said city specified in said order, (said ordinances being also hereinafter specified) and the character of the work and improvements for which said assessments have been made and a description of the sections of the particular streets and avenues thereof which are included in said assessment, being as follows: viz.: (1) The paving with permanent and durable vitrified brick pavement of:

East and West Front Streets, respectively, from the westerly side line of Madison Avenue to the easterly side line of Watchung Avenue;

Somerset Street, from the northerly side line of Front Street to the bridge over Green Brook;

Watchung Avenue, from the southerly side line of East Front Street to the southerly side line of East Fourth Street, exclusive of the portion of said Watchung Avenue already provided with brick pavement;

Park Avenue, from the southerly side line of Front Street to the southerly side line of Fourth Street;

East Fourth Street, from the westerly side line of Sycamore Street to the easterly side line thereof;

Arlington Avenue, from the northerly side line of West Seventh Street to the southerly side line thereof; also from the northerly side line of West Eighth Street to the southerly side line thereof; and (2) the macadamizing with durable macadam pavement of:

North Avenue, from the northeasterly curb line of Berckman Street to the southwesterly curb line of Terrill Road;

Leland Avenue, from the present macadam on East Front Street to the present macadam on South Avenue;

Netherwood Avenue, from the present macadam on East Front Street to the northwesterly curb line of East Second Street;

Monroe Avenue, from the present macadam on West Seventh Street to the present macadam on West Eighth Street;

West Eighth Street, from the present macadam on Monroe Avenue to the City Line;

West Third Street, from the present macadam at Monroe Avenue to the present macadam at Clinton Avenue;

Clinton Avenue, from the present macadam at West Third Street to the City Line;

under the ordinances of said City entitled: "An Ordinance for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield with permanent and durable Brick Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits," approved July 1, 1907, "An Ordinance to amend an Ordinance entitled 'An Ordinance for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield with permanent and durable Brick Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits,' adopted by the Common Council July 1st, 1907 and approved by the Mayor July 1st, 1907," approved July 13, 1908, and "An Ordinance for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with permanent and durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits," adopted by the Common Council May 4, 1908; re-adopted by the Common Council June 8, 1908, notwithstanding the objections of the Mayor, which ordinances were adopted under and by virtue of the act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to authorize the improvements of streets and highways in cities of this State and to provide for the payment of the expense of the same," approved June 13, 1898, and the amendments and supplements thereto, having made and filed in the office of the clerk of said court, a report in writing of their estimates and assessments, accompanied by surveys and maps prepared by the City Surveyor under their direction, showing lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, respectively, the total cost of the whole work upon each of the sections of said streets or avenues improved as aforesaid, under the aforesaid ordinances; the portions assessed upon the City at large, and the names, so far as ascertained, of the owners of the said lots or parcels of land and real estate, and the amount of the assessment to each owner for each of said lots or parcels of land and real estate for the said benefits, and the excess thereof to be paid by the City at large, and raised by general tax, and the other matters required by said acts of the Legislature, as by reference to said report and maps will more fully and at large appear.

Notice is hereby given, that the said Union County Court of Common Pleas has fixed the twelfth day of May, 1909, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as the Court can attend to the same, at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth, as the time and place for hearing before said court any objections that may be made to such assessments, when and where all parties may be heard, and has directed the publication of this notice.

MARRIAGE AND FAMILY CUSTOMS IN HAITI.

Haitian family life is si curious from our point of view that some mention of it is necessary in any discussion of Haitian manners and customs, although there is no space here to give this complex subject the consideration it deserves. As is pretty generally known, marriage, as we know it, is very little practised in Haiti. Indeed, it is almost unknown outside of what is called "In societe haitienne," which, so educated Haitians will assure you is "a rigorous guardian of the principles and, in certain respects, the prejudices of French education." Mothers are only solocitous that their daughters be placed with some reliable man, preferably a young unmarried man who will take good care of them and their children. This custom, established by long usage, seems to them quite as natural and proper as our legal and religious ceremony. Without going into the final results of such a system, it can at least be said that it bestows certain temporary mercies—natural children are received on practically the same basis as legitimate ones, and no disgrace whatever attaches to motherhood without marriage.—Collier's April Fiction Number.

Korea.

Korea is about 600 miles long and 135 wide. It is very mountainous, and the climate is one of the finest in the world. Nine months in the year the skies are bright, and the winter is superb, with its extreme dryness, clear skies and crisp, frosty nights. From September to June there are no extremes of heat or cold.

Y.M.C.A.'S EASY VICTORY OVER DUNELLEN'S TEAM

The Y. M. C. A. baseball team easily defeated the Dunellen A. C. Saturday afternoon, at the latter's grounds by a score of 8 to 3. The home team put up a miserable game allowing the Association nine to make the majority of runs on errors. The batting of the visitors was exceedingly heavy, three men getting two base hits. Peacock and Russell pitched for the Y. M. C. A. and Harney for Dunellen.

The Y. M. C. A. showed a weakness both at shortstop and third base, Schoonmaker and Loizeaux each making three errors. Burns made his first appearance with the winners and put up a good game.

PLAINFIELD A. C. WINS FROM SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Plainfield A. C. defeated the South Plainfield A. C. on the latter's grounds Saturday afternoon by the score of 14 to 9. Terry, Sofield and M. Terry were the battery for the South Plainfield team. The local team had Coriell and Francisco as their battery. The South Plainfield team are playing fast ball this season and will give any team in this vicinity a good game. Molleson played an excellent game, securing a three and a two base hit. He also covered his position in great style. Line up and score:

CLINTON AVENUE WINS RATTLING GOOD GAME

The Clinton Avenue Baseball Club opened the local season, Saturday afternoon, at Crescent Oval, by defeating the Elizabeth A. C. by a score of 4 to 3. The game was not marked by any special features, in fact the weather was too cold to permit of good playing. It was bad enough for the spectators who sat in the grandstand, but the players suffered a great deal more from the cold.

The fans were interested in the work of Ortleb, the local's new pitcher, and he measured up to expectations. He held his opponents to two hits until the eighth inning, and allowed but five singles in the whole contest. He fanned seven batsmen and his work generally gave satisfaction, as did that of all the rest of the home nine. The club undoubtedly has a stronger aggregation than last year and promises a good articles of ball. The score:

SKELLY AND MILLER AWAY IN THE LEAD

Winning five out of six games last week, Skelly and Miller increased their lead in Campbell's two-man tourney and have what now looks to be a safe lead for the present at least. Although they lost the odd game of a postponed series, Nash and Blatz continue in second place, while Laing and Stout are holding down third position. The team standing follows:

	Won.	Lost.
Skelly and Miller.....	25	5
Nash and Blatz.....	18	6
Laing and Stout.....	10	8
Matthews and Brown....	20	10
Meyer and Meyer.....	19	11

The schedule this week is as follows:

Tonight, Leonard and McNaughton, Nash and Blatz, Radin and Schaub; Tuesday, Skelly and Miller, Matthews and Brown, Vail and Ackor; Wednesday, Reville and Connelly, McLaughlin and Thiers, Willett and Skinner; Thursday, Woolston and McCollough, Conklin and Britton, Boyle and Owens; Friday, Nash and Blatz, Meyer and Meyer, Shannon and O'Keefe.

HOLY CROSS CELEBRATES ITS RECTOR'S BIRTHDAY

The Women's Guild of the Church of the Holy Cross will give a dinner tomorrow evening in the parish house. The dinner given by the men at an earlier date is said to be responsible for the repast to be cooked and served solely by the women and they say it is up to the men to come and see as well as eat and realize how hopelessly behind the times they are in the art of decorating and how little they know of the culinary line.

Not only are the spring blossoms and greens calculated to make a bower of the big dining hall but the delectable things to eat will make every tired business man good natured when he sits down to the feast. Spring lambs have been slaughtered for the occasion and green peas will stand on the side with mint jelly, browned potatoes, chicken salad, ice cream, cakes, coffee are on the bill of fare too, and all preceded by soup, cheese, strawberries, olives, radishes and other tasty articles.

The date for the dinner is that of the rector's birthday and it is understood that a monster birthday cake will be a feature. The dinner is from 6:30 to 8:00 and tickets are on sale generally by the women of the guild.

Shiloh Baptist Anniversary.

The anniversary services of the Shiloh Baptist church began yesterday and will continue all the week. In the morning the pastor, Rev. M. A. Alexander, preached on the topic, "Three Talents," and at 3 o'clock Rev. Dr. A. Mark Harris, of Jersey City, preached the anniversary sermon. Rev. J. L. Burton, of Trenton, occupied the pulpit. The collection for the day amounted to $146.-82. Tonight Rev. Dr. E. V. Hare, of the Mt. Olivet Baptist church, Newark, will preach and there will be music by the Bell Club Choir. Tomorrow night, Rev. P. W. Ross, of the Concord Baptist church, Westfield, will preach and the choir of that church will sing.

Automobile Club Meet.

Twenty-five automobilits met Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. to discuss plans for the formation of a club. Among those present from out of town were Fred H. Elliott, secretary of the American Automobile Association, and H. A. Bonnell, of East Orange, secretary of the Associated Automobile Clubs of New Jersey. Definite arrangements will be made at a meeting next month.

There will be an exhibition of the work of the educational classes at the Y. W. C. A. tomorrow afternoon and evening and in addition in the evening "Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works" will be an attraction.

WM. ROCKWELL RETIRES AFTER 31 YRS. SERVICE

At a meeting of the directors of the National State Bank, of Newark, held on April 21, William Rockwell, of East Front street, this city, tendered his signation as cashier. The resignation fas accepted and the following resolution unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, Mr. William Rockwell has tendered his resignation as cashier of this bank, after occupying that position for thirty-one years, of which time serving as a director thirty years, it is meet and proper, as it is manifestly the duty of his associates on this board, as well as their great pleasure, to express their opinion of the manner in which he has performed his duties.

"Therefore Be It Resolved, That the hearty thanks of the board of directors of the National State Bank are due, and are hereby tendered, to Mr. Rockwell for his untiring fidelity to the interests of this bank, and the board desires to express its regrets that circumstances lead him to decide to sever his connection with this institution, and to deprive it of the active co-operation of his ability and judgment.

"We realize, in his retirement, that this bank loses an honest, able, efficient and courteous officer. We extend him our best wishes and sincerely trust that his future will be as happy ah his past has been useful, and that we may still enjoy the benefit of his counsel and advice.

"Resolved, That these resolutions be spread on the minutes of this bank, and that en engrossed copy be sent to Mr. Rockwell."

William I. Cooper, assistant cashier, was elected to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Rockwell's resignation.

Mr. Rockwell's services are retained by the bank in an advisory capacity.

PERSONAL.

William F. Arnold has returned from Atlantic City, where he attended the bankers' convention.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Barkalew, of Lincoln place, were married fifty-five years ago today and the popular couple are receiving the congratulations of their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Warnock, of Craig place, entertained R. C. Wood, of Newburg, N. Y., over Sunday. Mr. Wood called on Thomas M. Muir at Muhlenberg Hospital.

Where Did the Boy Get It?

Mayor Samuel Townsend, of North Plainfield, today started an investigation to learn where Charles Comiskey, a sixteen-year-old lad, residing on Walnut street, got a sufficient amount of liquor Saturday night to make him drunk. The boy was found by Chief Marshall Weiss in the rear of a shop on Somerset street in a helpless condition, and was removed to police headquarters. Yesterday when the boy recovered from his spree he seemed unable to give an account of himself or tell where he got the liquor, except to say that two boys gave him a drink. He said he did not know their names.

W. W. Milliken a Benedict.

Miss Louise A. Martin, daughter of Adam Martin, of Warrenville, and William W. Milliken, son of Mrs. S. W. Milliken, of Orchard place, were married yesterday afternoon by Rev. Dr. Parker at his home in Warrenville, in the presence of a few friends and relatives. Mrs. Parker and John Parker, wife and son of the officiating minister, attended the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Milliken are living for the present on Orchard place. The groom is employed by Neuman Brothers.

I. O. O. F. to Celebrate.

The ninetieth anniversary of the I. O. O. F. will be celebrated by the many lodges of the order tonight. Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, will have as its guests Past Grand Master Crosby, of Rahway, and Dr. Frank Crowthers, of Perth Amboy, who will make addresses. Those on the committee of arrangements are S. H. Schlief, Simon Mantz and Henry Nischwitz.

PARADES' ARRANGEMENTS

Charter Day Celebration Committee Plans for Three Demonstrations.

GREAT INTEREST IS SHOWN.

General Parade, Automobile Parade and Firemen's Parade—A Mummers' Frolic Too.

Definite plans for the daily parades which will be a feature of the Charter Day celebration to be held July 5, 6 and 7, were made at the meeting of the parade committee held at the office of Secretary Herr, of the Board of Trade, last night. J. Hervey Doane, chairman of the committee, presided. George Ballantyne was elected secretary.

As Monday, July 5, will be a holiday, the parade on that day, marking the commencement of the celebration, will be started at 10 o'clock in the morning. This general parade will form on East Seventh street, with the right resting on Watchung avenue, and the various divisions forming in the intersecting streets. The float division, which will comprise numerous elaborately decorated floats in charge of the various lodges and organizations, will form on East Seventh street, and, according to reports as to the number of floats to be entered, the line will extend nearly to Woodland avenue.

The big automobile parade will be held the afternoon of Tuesday, the second day of the celebration, starting at 2 o'clock. The motors will form for the parade on West End avenue, the right of line resting on West Front street. Elaborately decorated automobile floats will be a features of this parade, and the line of march will be a long one, comprising probably about ten miles through the prinicpal streets of city and borough.

Wednesday, the last day of the celebration, will be the "Big Day," for in the evening the celebration will wind up with a Mummers' Frolic, when grotesquely costumed men, women and children will parade the streets, throw confetti, agitate ticklers and make lots of noise. On this day, too, there will be a big parade of the firemen. The fire fighters will be in line with all the apparatus than can be spared and the line will start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon from Front street and Watchung avenue. A feature of this parade will be the appearance of fire companies, with their apparatus, from various nearby cities and towns. Already a list of fire companies to be invited has been made out, and these include the companies from cities within a hundred miles of Plainfield.

The committee has not definitely decided upon the line of march for the parades, but the routes will be arranged to include the principal business and residential streets of city and borough. It is planned to appoint parade marshals in the near future, and these will be in full charge of the parade each day of the celebration. This committee of marshals will complete the arrangements for the parades and will jointly decide upon the line of march each day.

The matter of arranging for the erection of grand stands has been left with the citizens' committee, of which Mayor C. J. Fisk and Mayor Townsend are the joint chairmen. The parade committee at its meeting last night recommended that the reviewing stand be located on Park avenue, between the railroad bridge and Fourth street.

The parade on the last day will include a delegation of the city and borough police as a special feature, although there will be police sections in each of the daily parades, according to the plans of the parade committee. On the night of the Mummers' Frolic, however, no policeman will be allowed at large, but the entire force, both city and borough, are to be locked up in their respective headquarters.

Will Re-Try Horse Case.

Justice Snape, of Watchung, has fixed Tuesday, May 4, as the time for the re-trial of the celebrated horse case of Henry Weiss against John Bodenheimer, which resulted in a disagreement last week, after the jury was out all night. V. W. Nash, Jr., represents the plaintiff and Robert Newton Crane the defendant.

Entertained Card Club.

Mrs. Arthur McVoy, of West Fourth street, entertained the card club at an enjoyable euchre at her home last night. There were twelve players, and Mrs. F. B. Snyder and William N. Tier made the best scores. At the conclusion of the play, refreshments were served and there was music and singing.

PRIEST TO TAKE CHARGE OF YOUNG COMISKEY

Michael Comiskey, the sixteen-year-old boy, who was found in an intoxicated condition in the rear of a shop on Somerset street, Saturday night, was today turned over to Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Grandview avenue, who, upon further investigation decided to place the boy in charge of Father W. H. Miller, of St. Joseph's church, in view of the fact that his mother is a communicant of that church. Everything possible will be done to put the boy on the straight path.

When questioned today, Comiskey told an entirely different story than that of yesterday. He said today that he and several companions of his own age "chipped in" and got a man to purchase a case of beer which they drank. They took the beer to a vacant lot on Harmony street, the boy said. In answer to a question Comiskey said he did not know the name of the man who purchased the beer for himself and companions.

WOMAN MAY CONVICT WELDY OF MURDER

The first day of the trial at Atwood Weldy, charged with murdering his brother, Allen Weldy, on the night of October 17 last, closed yesterday with witnesses having been called by the State, and all doubt cleared up as to the position of Annie Neilson, sometimes called Mrs. Atwood Weldy, in regard to her husband. The young woman has made it plain that she will not go to his release, and resented the attempts of his counsel to interview her and secure her release from jail. This is the first case of Prosecutor Theodore B. Booraem.

The prosecutor wove what is considered a strong circumstantial case against the defendant. He showed that the brothers had quarreled frequently; that on the night of the murder Atwood Weldy had been seen loitering about the Weldy livery stable office early in the evening; that he had later had a fight with Annie Neilson, and that he had a knife and had declared, so that Rita Rosenberg, a next-door neighbor, heard him: "I am going to kill Al Weldy tonight."

The State expects to play its trump card when it places Annie Neilson, arrested here, on the stand. This girl lived at New Brunswick with Weldy for several years, and it was generally understood that they were married. The girl was arrested here a few weeks ago just before the Grand Jury indicted her jointly with Weldy, for the murder. She has not been called upon to plead to the indictment, but has been kept in jail and no one has been permitted to see her.

Counsel for the accused man, A. C. Streitwolf and former Judge C. T. Cowenhoven, have tried to get a court order directing that they be permitted to have a talk with her, but failed. Yesterday afternoon they produced her in court on a writ of habeas corpus. When Sheriff Quackenboss took her into court Mr. Cowenhoven asked permission to consult with her. Prosecutor Booraem opposed the application, stating that Mrs. Weldy was a prisoner under indictment and that counsel for the defendant had no right to talk to her unless he represented her. The prosecutor then asked the girl if she desired to consult with either Mr. Streitwolf or Judge Cowenhoven.

"No, I do not," she replied in clear tones.

The court then decided that it had no jurisdiction and denied the application.

Chief Kiely is at the hearing in New Brunswick today.

Planning C. E. Program.

The executive committee of the State Christian Endeavor Union, of which Clarence B. LaRue, of this city, is a member, met in Newark, yesterday, to discuss matters pertaining to the program of the 1909 convention to be held in this city in October next. While the committee is not prepared as yet to announce the list of speakers, it is known that persons of national and international reputation will be among those on the program. The plan is to make the forthcoming convention the best one held in the State.

West End Grass Fire.

An alarm from box 79 summoned the fire department to Sherman avenue, near Grant avenue, yesterday afternoon at about 5:30 o'clock for a grass fire in a field. A chemical tank from No. 3 hose wagon was used to extinguish the fire, which damaged a hedge.

SEWAGE COMMISSION DRAFTING ITS REPORT

The sewage commission appointed by the Common Council met last night in the office of Mayor C. J. Fisk, and made considerable progress in the matter of formulating a report to be presented to the Common Council. This will probably not be ready for two or three weeks. Corporation Counsel C. A. Marsh was with the commission for a few minutes last night for the purpose of making some suggestions to be incorporated in the report.

The report will include the latest plan to locate sewage beds in the extreme western end of North Plainfild township, by which the city proposes to join with North Plainfield, Scotch Plains, Fanwood and Dunellen in one sewage disposal works, as previously announced. The report will also include extensive and complete data on the subject; also the estimated cost of the work for Plainfield. It will then be up to the Common Council to decide what further action will be taken. It is understood that the report will be favorable and that the proposition as outlined will be endorsed by the Council.

WARREN'S APPRECIATION OF WILLIAM P. DUNN

In appreciation of his faithful services for several years as a pianist and also as a teacher of the Young Men's Bible class, two handsome volumes were presented to William P. Dunn at the Sunday-school session at Warren chapel on Sunday. Words of praise for his fine work at the chapel were spoken by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor, and Joseph W. Gavett, superintendent of the Sunday-school, and best wishes for his success when he enters the ministry were expressed.

After the session nearly everyone remained to bid farewell to Mr. Dunn, who in the future will live in New York. Sunday was his last day at the chapel. Mr. Dunn, who has been the organist at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, was a prize student at Princeton University and a brilliant future is predicted for him. He is the son of Rev. Charles Dunn, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Dunn, reside on Park avenue.

ODD FELLOWS OBSERVE NINETIETH ANNIVERSARY

The ninetieth anniversary of the I. O. O. F., which occurred yesterday, was celebrated here last night. Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, had over 100 guests including members of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, and delegations from the lodges at Westfield, Elizabeth and Rahway. The speaker of the evening was Past Grand Master Dr. Frank Crowther, of Perth Amboy, who dwelt on the history of the order and the good it is doing.

The first lodge, which was started in Baltimore ninety years ago, said Dr. Crowther, was a split of what was known at that time as the Manchester Union of England. Of the two hundred and seventy-six lodges in New Jersey every one is in good financial condition. The orphans' home at Newark is being well supported and is educating sixteen children.

Deputy B. I. Crosby, of Rahway, made a few remarks regarding the progress of the local tenth district. At the close of the meeing a supper was served.

P. S. C. TO CO-OPERATE WITH UNION FREEHOLDERS.

The bridge committee from the Union County Board of Freeholders, of which S. P. T. Wilbur is the chairman, met representatives of the P. S. C. at Terrill road and East Second street, yesterday, to examine the culverts at that point. For a long time there has been considerable trouble there, the culverts not being of sufficient size to carry off the surface water. An arrangement was decided upon whereby the trolley company will co-operate with the freeholders in making the necessary changes.

At the next meeting of the board, Mr. Wilbur wil offer a recolution authorizing the laying of concrete walks on the Prospect and Park avenue bridges in this city, replacing the present board walks. This improvement is practically assured.

OUTLINE LEAGUE'S WORK

Miss Jaynes Tells of the Consumers' League's Efforts in New Jersey.

BEFORE EQUAL SUFFRAGISTS.

No Store in This State on "White List," Declares the Secretary of the Order.

Urging organization among women to protest against the conditions under which food and wearing apparel are produced and sold in this State and to insist upon a betterment of conditions, Miss Alice Dixon Jaynes secretary of the Consumers' League of New Jersey, addressed the members of the local Equal Suffrage League at the home of its presiden:, Mrs. Stephen Haff, of Sherman avenue, yesterday afternoon.

"The American woman," said the speaker, "is an important factor in the economic situation of today, because it is she who spends the American dollars. Single-handed, we can do nothing, but by organization we can effect this betterment of conditions."

The Consumers' League, the speaker said, should be known as the Women's Organization of Protest, and should be active in its insistence upon sanitary and healthful conditions where clothing and food is produced. Miss Jaynes scored the Price child labor law as weak and ineffectual, declaring that the provision about truant officers to insist upon school attendance is inefficient, inasmuch as the law reads that "truant officers may be appoint:ed," and does not make such appointment mandatory. In many cities and towns of South Jersey, the speaker said, there are no truant officers, and the child labor conditions are bad.

"Not a single store in this State," said Miss Jaynes "is on the 'White List,' which includes all stores where goods are produced or sold under conditions satisfactory to the requirements of the Consumers' League. This is a record to be ashamed of, for New York State has a long list of such stores. Then too, in New York, the homes where wearing apparel is made are inspected at frequent periods to insure proper health conditions, while in this State there is no such system of inspection. New Jersey is a large field, and there is lots of work to be done here. We women can secure ideal conditions in time if we organize in this field."

At the conclusion of the lecture, several members of the local organization signified their intention of joining the Consumers' League. A short business session of the Equal Suffrage League was held at which a program of work for the season was outlined. It is planned to have Mrs. Laddie, president of the New Jersey State Suffrage Association, address the local association Monday afternoon, May 24. After the meeting, tea was served and the members spent a social hour together.

FIRST CIVIL TRIAL IN SOMERSET CO.'S NEW COURT.

The first trial in the new Court House, at Somerville, yesterday, resulted in a victory for Edward S. P. Bretherton, of Bernardsville, defendant in an action brought by John C. Gray, of New York. Bretherton was represented by Robert Newton Crane, of this city. Mr. Gray was represented by Kingsley Twining, of the firm of Lindabury, Depue & Faulks.

The action was brought to recover damages for an alleged breach of contract in conveying a farm at Bernardsville. Judge Vail non-suited the plaintiff because he rescinded his contract prematurely.

Driver Pays the Damages.

Charles Carr, the colored cabman who was arrested last Monday after the cab he was driving ran down ten-year-old Stephen Murphy, of North avenue, near the depot, appeared before City Judge Runyon at the session of court today. He is employed as a driver by Edward Martin, colored, and was ordered by the court not to drive during the week until the incidents for the accident could be investigated. Judge Runyon ruled that if the boy's doctor's bills be paid by the cabman, he can return to his job, as William Murphy, father of the injured boy, does not wish to press the charge. Carr agreed to see that a settlement was made. The boy has entirely recovered.

Burglars at Fruit Store.

The fruit store of Aaron Bender, on Somerset street, was broken into Sunday morning between 3 and 4 o'clock, and about $5 worth of tobacco and candies was taken. Bender claims it was the third time his store has been entered by burglars.

THERE'S A GREAT SHOW ON AT THE THEATRE

Mlle. Vanity, premiere dancer, the success of three continents, who rips through a contortion dance of athletic marvels of the pattern introduced in this country by the Bedouins, sent the audience at the New Plainfield theatre last night into paraxysms of enthusism. She floated about the stage like a spirit, and fresh from her latest success in Cohan & Harris' American idea, she made a big hit the moment she appeared before the big crowd.

The terpsichorean acrobat was only one of the many, however, contributed to make the bill a better one than is generally to be seen at Hammerstein's. The four famous Luciers, featuring J. R. Lucier, a blind musician, presenting classical and popular selections, made a big hit. So did the Mandys in their athletic comedy bag punching act. Atwood and Raymond, the singing and talking comedians, were the real noise, and as for Juggling Elmer, he was right there with the goods. Jane Carling, in her character impersonations, provided no end of fun. It's a good show; go see it.

MR. CLOSSON'S ESTATE IS LEFT TO HIS SISTER

The will of James T. Closson, who died two weeks ago at the age of seventy-two years, was probated today at the office of Surrogate Parrott in Elizabeth. The entire estate, which is said to be worth more than a million, is left to his only surviving relative, a sister, Mrs. Minnie E. Edgerton, who had resided with him for many years.

Mrs. Edgerton and Joseph Tate, of New York, are the executrix and executor respectively. It is expressed provided that no inventory of the estate be filed.

Until his retirement twenty-five years ago, Mr. Closson was the senior member of the New York banking firm of Closson & Hayes. For many years he was a vice-president of the City National Bank.

HORSE GOES A MILE WITH BROKEN NECK

One of the most unusual incidents of a steeplechase occurred at the meet at Cedarhurst, L. I., Saturday afternoon, when Charles W. Fisk up on "Midlothian," and Rufus Finch up on "Bounder," were thrown in one of the big races, both being injured. Mr. Fisk had two ribs broken, while Mr. Finch's collarbone was fractured, as told in The Daily Press yesterday.

The remarkable thing about the accident was that when "Bounder" stumbled and fell, throwing his rider, the animal broke his neck, but immediately afterward regained his feet and ran a distance of a mile to the finish, taking all of the hurdles and other obstacles, and then fell from exhaustion.

Mr. Finch was assisted from the field by several friends and in the meantime others were looking after his horse. The animal, after he fell a second time, was unable to get up and an examination by a veterinarian showed that his neck was broken and at the request of the owner he was shot.

The performance of the horse was probably never equaled before, and it attracted great attention on the part of all horsemen present. After the animal was killed Mr. Finch had the neck preserved and brought to the home of his parents on Park avenue, where it has been the object of much curiosity. The break in the neck was a clean one as though cut with a sharp axe. The horse's tail was also preserved, while some enthusiastic spectators at the track secured the animal's shoes as remembrances of "Bounder's" notable achievements.

This was "Bounder's" first appearance in a steeplechase event, although he has frequently been in Watchung Hunt Club classes. The animal was seven years old.

PLAINFIELD'S AERIE HOLDS ANNUAL DANCE

Local Eagledom got in the big ring of the social spot-light last night when Plainfield Aerie, No. 866, Fraternal Order of Eagles, held its annual dance at Truell Hall. About a hundred local Eagles turned out for the affair, and the dance was declared to be the most successful in the history of the organization. There were sixteen dances on the card, including the Paul Jones, schottische and barn dance, and the music was by Suhr's Imperial orchestra. Refreshments were served at about midnight and the dancers did not leave the ball room for their homes until well along toward morning.

Horace G. Adams was chairman of the committee on arrangements, and Rudolph Kampf and Hugh Reilly comprised the floor committee. The reception committee was composed of Arthur G. Adams, Edward J. McCann and Harry H. Coddington.

COUNTRY CLUB SEASON WILL OPEN SATURDAY

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the active season at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday. All departments will be formally opened that day and if the weather is favorable it should be an auspicious occasion. The summer greens are to be cut and rolled every day this week, and players will find them in splendid condition on Saturday, as the new grass has come up well and the turf is of a better quality than ever before.

John Hilton, formerly of the Apawamis Club at Rye, has been engaged as superintendent on trial until June 1. If he gives satisfaction a permanent arrangement will then be made.

There will be golf and tennis competitions on Saturday and the schedules will be sent to the members before that time. There will be the customary weekly competition for the Spring and Fall handicap cups, in addition to many new competitions. A large number of handsome cups have been offered in competition.

A buffet luncheon will be served on Saturday, and on succeeding Saturdays, until the clubhouse extension is completed. Members desiring luncheon on Saturdays should notify the superintendent, if possible, not later than 9 o'clock in the morning as the facilities just now are greatly restricted. Every effort will be made to give as good service as possible during the work of reconstruction; but the present accommodations will limit the service considerably.

The golf committee for the season comprises Willard Wadsworth, W. Lester Glenney and Roger F. Murray.

REV. DIGGS RETURNED.

A. M. E. Church Conference Makes Appointments.

The annual conference of the A. M. E. church, Jersey City, was held last night, when the pastoral appointments for the year were made. Rev. J. T. Diggs was returned for another year to the A. M. E. Mt. Zion church on West Fourth street, his congregation having extended the invitation.

Rev. H. C. Ashley, formerly of this city, but in New Brunswick, last year, was sent to Long Branch, and Rev. A. A. Collins, of Gouldtown, was sent to New Brunswick. The conference was considered the best in the history of the church. The invitation to meet next year lear with the Macedonia A. M. E. church, Camden, was accepted.

Booklet Distributor Banished.

George W. Bennett, a Brooklynite, who distributes vivid "literature" for a New York physician, was arrested on West Front street this morning by Patrolman Charles A. Flynn, for violating a city ordinance by distributing the booklets. With Bennett was George Potts, a Somerville boy, who is his assistant. City Judge Runyon told the man that he could not pass out his "dainty booklets" in this city, and the two left court to board a trolley car for New Brunswick.

Minstrel Show Tonight.

Everything is in readiness for the minstrel show which will be given at Hope chapel tonight by the members of Judge Runyon's Bible class. The dress rehearsal held last night was run off in fine shape. The scenic effects are good, and the stage decorations are artistic. Charles G. August, chairman of the executive committee, will be in charge of the box office. He will be assisted by Marcus W. Clark. Persons desiring good seats should go early.

NEED GODLY DEMOCRACY

Make Patriotism a Religion Urges Rabbi Wise in Address at All Souls'.

A USE FOR DREADNAUGHTS.

Would Place Battleship at Washington, Another at Albany and Another at Tammany Hall.

After describing in an impressive manner the moral and political crisis which the people of this country are facing today, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of New York, declared in a lecture at All Souls' church, last night, that he knew an infallible remedy. "The potent cure," said Dr. Wise, "is to elevate patriotism into a very religion. I never think of our land as a form of government. I am not a life-long American, Republican, Democrat or Populist, and I do set my country above parties of all kind, believing that a whole is better than a part for a party is only an instrument with which to go to war."

Rabbi Wise addressed an audience that filled every seat in the church, his presence here being attended with unusual interest. He was introduced by the pastor of the church, Rev. A. S. Nickerson, who assured him a cordial reception.

"Times were," said Dr. Wise, "when a Jew couldn't speak in a Christian pulpit as I am doing tonight. But I don't know whether we are all becoming more Jewish or more Christian. Something has brought about the change. I don't know but that I am a little afraid to speak on the assigned topic, 'Civic Righteousness,' for I am told by one of your citizens, one who knows that this is a perfect city, but even in all righteous and perfect Plainfield, there may be some here tonight who may be interested in hearing about wicked New York.

"It is a civic crisis which we are facing now. As to that classic term 'muck-raker' made famous by a gentleman now traveling in Africa, we want to get away from the idea that he is a dangerous citizen. It is the 'muck maker' who is to be dreaded, and it is possible that we may have done an injustice to our late President.

"Anger hath a privilege in this life and the more so if inspired by love of country. It is so easy to dub a man a fanatic, an agitator. Then there is a so-called hysteria. That sometimes can serve a high purpose as shown in the insurance investigation, which was characterized as a groundless attack of hysteria. I do believe that the time has come when we must earnestly guard against civic unrighteousness. Democracy should be a real passion.

"We do not want a churchly state, but a Godly state. I see little danger in the church interfering with the State. All the churches should combine to make a Godly State. I have no patience with those who are always trying to get the name of God into the constitution of the United States, but what I want to see is the Spirit of God into the lives of all Americans. What we want is a genuine Godly Democracy.

"We have enemies to guard against in the fearless upbuilding of America and Americans. I am not worried about any trouble between the United States and Japan for the Japanese are our friends. I have nothing but admiration for a people such as the Japanese, who have displayed and maintained such dignity while abuse has been heaped upon them.

"If I had a navy of Dreadnaughts I would place one fleet in Washington and keep it there until the legislative tyrants realized that the people have some rights which they are bound to respect. I would place another fleet at the gate of Albany and keep it there until the Legislature was made to understand that it could not defy the people of New York in the flagrant and insolent manner which they are doing, denying the wishes of the people.

"The third fleet I would keep on Fourteenth street, near Third avenue, New York, not only for Democratic Tammany, but Republican Tammany Hall, for in fact I believe that the latter is a little meaner than the first, because it is more pretentious. Don't get the idea that 'Tammany Halls' are all importations, for they are not. There are foes that must be met with real earnestness. You cannot reform a city like New York working three or four months before election. Tammany Hall is 'on the job' twelve months in the year.

"The Jews comprise about one-fifth of the population in New York, but we as Jews ought not to ask for political office for any man because he is a Jew. I am constantly telling

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The Dunellen baseball team is not disheartened by their defeat at the hands of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. Saturday. The boys are getting in better trim as the days go by and expect to turn the tables when the next game takes place.

Miss Alma Matthews, of Ellis Island, will deliver a lecture in the First Methodist church, Thursday night. She will speak under the auspices of the Woman's Home Missionary Society.

On Friday night, a reception will be given to Dr. William Knox, pastor of the Methodist church. It is expected the reception will be the largest ever given a new minister.

The Eagle baseball team, a new organization, will begin their tryouts today. The team is anxious to hear from all nines averaging fourteen years.

Charles Dodd, of Elizabeth, was in town Sunday, visiting friends.

V. Fozze, the barber, on Front street, is suffering from grip.

SOMERVILLE.

The union service of the First and Second Reformed churches was held Sunday evening in the Second Reformed church. The pastor, Rev. A. A. Pfansteihl, preached on "Aspiration." Preceding the evening service there was a half hour song recital, conducted by Professor Youngman, on the violin, and Miss Porter at the organ.

The Second Reformed church has engaged Mrs. S. T. Satterthwaite as the leader of its choir for the coming year. Mrs. Satterthwaite came to Somerville about two months ago and is living in Altamont place. She will begin her duties next Sunday.

Charles A. Houston, the veteran engineer, has been laid up for a few weeks with nervous prostration, but is gradually improving and will soon resume his work on the South Branch Railroad.

The members of the Somerville History Club were entertained yesterday afternoon by the Bound Brook Literary Club in the Bound Brook Library building.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Faulks and children, of Newark, are guests of Mrs. Faulks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ringleman, on West High street.

The First Reformed church has placed an order with a Boston firm for a $7,000 organ to be placed in the church next autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Davenport, of Scranton, Pa., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Davenport, on Altamont place.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Van Camp, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Houston Brown, on West Cliff street.

Azariah M. Beekman, of Somerville, is a member of the United States Grand Jury now in session at Trenton.

Noratiscong Tribe, No. 53, of Red Men, will hold an entertainment in their hall this evening.

BOUND BROOK AND VICINITY.

Miss Allie Pearce, who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Byer, in Elizabeth street, South Bound Brook, returned to her home at Keyport yesterday.

Mrs. Mosely Mix and son, Earle Mix, of Stamford, Conn., are being entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Foreman, in New Bound Brook.

Mr. and Mrs. John Powelson are entertaining Miss Mary Burns, of Plainfield, at their home, in East Franklin street, Bound Brook.

Mrs. Henry Bollinger, who has been seriously ill at her home in Church street, Bound Brook, is slowly recovering.

Oliver P. Vosseller, of East Main street, Bound Brook, spent yesterday with relatives in Plainfield.

Norman Henry, of New Bound Brook, will pitch for the Dunellen baseball team this season.

Robert M. Sheid has moved his family from Jersey City to East Main street, Bound Brook.

WESTFIELD.

An effort is again being made to establish a branch of the Y. M. C. A. in Westfield. There was a branch formed here about ten years ago, but had to be given up on account of lack of support. The idea now is, if sufficient strength is shown, to see if it would be feasible to take the

Our Millinery In Great Demand

Because 50 Per Cent. Lower than Elsewhere

That's not the only reason why we are doing such an exceptionally big business in this department. We are also showing superior styles and many more of them. Certainly no handsomer hats can be seen elsewhere.

Styles here, too, are newer as we are replenishing our stock three times a week and thus keep our display abreast of the newest ideas. What you fancy most in shape and trimming can be selected here—for you have ever new and desirable fashion to choose from. These are truly artistic hats reflecting the best ideas of foremost millinery designers of two continents, becoming shapes in wide variety, beautifully trimmed with flowers, feathers, plumes, jet, ornaments, fruit, etc., and distinguished by the harmonious blending of colors.

On untrimmed shapes, flowers and trimming you'll find our prices fully 50 per cent. lower than anywhere in town. It surely is to your advantage to supply your millinery needs here. Come and see how well we are prepared to serve you.

Surpassing Values Offered in Wash Goods of Quality

We have an immense assortment of desirable Summer washable fabrics and offer most remarkable values. Every feminine fancy for pretty and charming frocks, dresses and skirts will find fulfillment in this superb array—and these materials will stand the "tub." The colors are absolutely fast.

Thousands of Yards—Scores of Beautiful Patterns
The Most Alluring of the New Colorings

There's practically no limit to your choice. Here are full assortments of the best known and best quality white and colored wash goods made.

Not only is selection most extensive but satisfaction is assured because of the excellent wearing quality. Economy, too, is provided for by our low prices. We buy direct in large quantities and obtain every possible discount and concession in cost. That enables us to offer wash goods at prices fully 25 per cent. lower than elsewhere.

Particularly Attractive Values In Colored Wash Goods at 10c to 39c a yard.

Never Equaled Values in Stylish New Wash Skirts

We have a large assortment of splendid wash skirts made of fine white English repp cloth, notable for its fine weaving, for superior wearing quality and for how nicely it launders.

These wash skirts come in five handsome new models in the latest styles. They are perfect fitting, setting just right at the hips and hanging gracefully. They are exceptionally well made and are far better values than can be obtained elsewhere at our low prices.

Priced at $2.39 and $2.98

But You'll Agree They're Worth More

You certainly cannot obtain better styles, more perfect fit or equal value for the same small cost. Come and see.

WARREN BIBLE CLASS RECEPTION FOR TEACHER

The Women's Bible Class of Warren chapel, of which Charles Place is the teacher, arranged a social time for him and Mrs. Place at the chapel, last night. There were nearly sixty women present, all being members of the class, and a delightful time was had. The class met in one of the upper parlors, which was attractively decorated with American flags for the occasion. The evening was spent in playing all kinds of games and later all adjourned to another room, where refreshments were served.

The banquet room was tastefully decorated by Alfred Everett, the prevailing colors being lavender and white, while there was a profusion of violets. A feature of the evening was the presentation of a handsome palm in a jardiniere to Mr. and Mrs. Place. The presentation was made by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of the chapel, in which he praised Mr. Place for his faithful service. In response, Mr. Place referred to his service of nine years as teacher of the class as being the most pleasant in his life and he expressed the hope that the cordial relations would continue. There are seventy-three women enrolled in the class.

The committee in charge of last night's affair comprised Mrs. Benjamin Moore, Mrs. John Green, Mrs. A. J. Stiglitz, Mrs. William Bacon, Mrs. Gibson Smith, Mrs. William Newmiller and Mrs. Theodore Martin.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

C. E. Patterson, of the American Locomotive Works, will give an illustrated lecture on "The Holy Land," in Vincent chapel of the First M. E. church, Friday night, under the auspices of the Brotherhood. It will be a "ladies' night" affair.

Rev. J. E. R. Folsom, of Atlantic City, superintendent of the Sunday-school department and Field Work for the Board of State Missions of the New Jersey Baptist convention, addressed the Sunday-school of the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday afternoon on "Missions."

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church will hold a special sewing meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. H. Moore, of Grove street. The meeting of the Home Mission Circle, postponed from last week on account of the rain, will be held in connection with this meeting. The leaders will be Mrs. B. F. Hadley and Miss Marion Hall. Mrs. L. C. Meeker will lead the devotional service.

Special Features at Proctor's.

An exceptionally fine motion picture of Yellowstone Park, together with an interesting illustrated lecture on Constantinople, will be among the special features at Proctor's theatre today. The specialities are excellent.

DR. HARRISON THANKS TRINITY CONGREGATION

Dr. Paul W. Harrison, an interne at the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, who has been selected to do missionary work in Arabia as a result of an effort made by Trinity Reformed church, is highly pleased over his prospective work. Trinity has raised over $1,000 to enable him to labor in the foreign mission field. In a letter addressed to Rev. John Y. Broek, Mr. Harrison says:

"It was with a full heart that I read your letter. I hope I may prove myself worthy of the confidence you all have in me. I have some idea of the sacrifice such a splendid response means. As to a message I have nothing of my own. First Cor. 4:1-2 is all the message I have to send. The value of the trust given makes sacrifice a privilege. I will try and see if I can arrange to be in Plainfield some Sunday soon. I don't need to add that I should look forward to it with the greatest anticipation. With best wishes for you and the whole work in Plainfield."

Referring to the local congregation's effort, Rev. Dr. A. V. V. Raymond, of Buffalo, a former pastor, writes to a friend here:

"I am delighted with the response which Trinity church made to Dr. Zwemer's appeal, notice of which has just come to me in The Daily Press. You may imagine how gratified I am at this evidence of missionary interest on the part of the church which it was my privilege to serve at the beginning of its career of usefulness. I have never lost my interest in Plainfield, nor in Trinity church, and if you have opportunity, I hope you will offer my hearty congratulations to my good friends of Trinity."

FRED DE GROFF'S FUNERAL AT ROSELLE TOMORROW.

The funeral services of Frederick R. DeGroff, the engineer on the Reading Railroad, who died in the Trenton hospital, Saturday night, following an accident on the road, will be held from the residence of his sister, Mrs. G. F. Jackson, 409 Chestnut street, Roselle Park, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The burial will be in Evergreen cemetery, Elizabeth.

Mr. DeGroff was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher H. DeGroff, and was forty-eight years old. He had been a resident of this city for several years and had a "run" on the Reading road for two years and a half. The day of the accident he left Philadelphia at 4:10 in the afternoon, his usual time, and it was an hour later while passing Hamilton that the right guide rod broke on the engine, inflicting injuries which caused his death about four hours later.

ATE DINNER PREPARED BY THE COOKING CLASS.

North Plainfield's Board of Education last night decided that the over-crowded condition in the kindergarten department would necessitate short time in that department next year and therefore two sessions instead of one will be held. Before the meeting, Mayor Samuel Townsend, Supervising Principal H. C. Krebs and the members of the board were given a dinner by the cooking class under the direction of Miss Ingersoll.

Bills aggregating $3,700 were ordered paid and the supply committee was instructed to purchase fuel for next year. An average increase of $25 was granted to all the teachers.

Easy Money For School Principal.

Orange, April 27.—Having tried hard for the last eight months to provide a job for Edwin S. Brady, a school principal, that would be somewhere near commensurate with the salary it was forced to pay him, the Board of Education has at last given it up and Brady will receive $380 of the taxpayers' money without giving anything in return for it in the form of service. He was principal of the night school, and on account of lack of attendance the board has directed that it be closed. Brady's $380 represents two months' salary from now till the end of the school year, or June 30.

Against Sunday Land Sales.

Feeling that Sunday excursions conducted under the auspices of real estate promoters tend to cheapen the character of the town as well as desecrate the Sabbath, the Westfield Board of Trade has taken a decided stand against Sunday excursions to the town. The prosecuting authorities of the town have been requested to prosecute all offenders to the fullest extent of the law. Sunday excursions were run frequently from New York to Graceland, by a Graceland promoter.

Tried to Beat Up the Cook.

Concluding an argument with a lively exchange of blows, a West End man engaged in a short swat-fest with the Italian cook in a North avenue restaurant this morning. Waiters and customers separated the pair, whereupon the West Ender left the place peacefully and the cook started to prepare the "business men's lunch" as if nothing had happened. There were no arrests.

are certainly lovely. That's what the ladies say, and they ought to know. The styles are extremely various. Nainsook, swiss and cambric edgings and insertings in matched sets, beautiful designs in fine corset covering, shirt waist bandings and all-overs. The English eyelet and the French handwork embroideries are positively fascinating. There's a very good reason why we sell embroideries for so much less than the other stores—we import them ourselves direct and thus save the middleman's profit.

Laces and Nets

Every variety is here exhibited. There is a beautiful collection of all-over laces for waists and gowns; a complete assortment of plain and pleated nets, and an elegant variety of fancy and staple Valenciennes in matching sets.

Have you seen the new "Art-Stitch" Laces? They look just like hand-made goods, yet only cost one-tenth. A shirt waist suit is certainly enriched by the use of "Art-Stitch" Beadings and Insertings.

American made laces, exact reproductions of French Fillet; beautiful patterns in edgings and insertions, in white and ecru, ½ inch to 2½ inches wide and only 5c and 10c a yard.

my people that. There is only one occasion when there should be a Jewish vote and that is to completely bury an unworthy Jewish candidate.

"We hear so often about the Jewish vote, the Irish vote, the German vote and the Afro-American vote. When will we become unhypenated Americans?

"There is a constantly growing evil in our political parties—blind, misguided partianship. We nominate straight tickets often made up of crooked candidates. The right of a man to become a candidate should be found in his record. I wish we could get rid of the idea that there is a something watching over the affairs of men.

"Bigness is from without and greatness is from within. If we want a big country let us fashion it after Russia. What nation has left the greatest impress—Judea. Her territory is limited, but it was big enough to give us The Book and great enough to be the home of patriarchs and one whom we regard as our great Prophet. Greece is small in territory, but what has it not given to the world. England is comparatively small, but it gave to the western world the idea of Democracy.

"I believe in direct nominations, the initiative, the referendum and many political reforms, yet all these things will not change the civic life of Americans. We must reach the consciences of American men and women. American Democracy is always being watched. What wouldn't Russia give if our Democracy should prove a failure? We will fail unless there is a re-birth of patriotism and American Democracy made a blessing, a light and a benediction to all."

MURPHY MAY "FORGET" TO CALL COMMITTEE.

Former Governor Franklin Murphy, chairman of the State Republican committee, intimated yesterday that the regular quarterly meeting of the committee would not be held next week. The last quarterly session was held in the first week in February, which would make the second quarterly meeting due next week.

In answer to a question about the committee's plans regarding the breach between the "regulars" and "new idea" faction, Mr. Murphy exclaimed:

"It's all rot. I know of no quarrel personally, though I have been told that asperity does exist in certain quarters. Whatever the State committee does, however, will be in the interests of harmony. We don't want to stir up a fight; we can't afford it."

"As to calling this meeting," he continued, "I believe the constitution does say something about holding it in May. We called the first quarterly meeting, you know, and there was the deuce to pay. The chairman may exercise his prerogatives, however, and forget to call the May meeting."

THE MAYOR HAS THE GRIP.

But Will Come In to His Office From Princeton Today.

Mayor McClellan was slightly indisposed at his home in Princeton last night, but he returned to New York today.

SEAT OF LEARNING FRACTURED REGION

The ancient seat of learning, Princeton, may be wiped out at any time by an earthquake. So declared Dr. William Herbert Hobbs, of the University of Michigan, in the course of a lecture last night on "Earthquakes and Earthquake-Proof Buildings," at Princeton.

Dr. Hobbs declared that practically all geologists agree that earthquakes are due to the oscillation of the level of the ground or to what is technically called the growth of mountains. They manifest themselves in regions where there are fractures in the earth's crust. It was at this juncture Dr. Hobbs made the startling statement that one of these fractured regions includes Princeton, and he furthermore stated that he would not be at all surprised if an earthquake destroyed Princeton and its surroundings at any time with little or no warning.

Dr. Hobbs is one of the leading authorities on earth tremors in the United States and his standard work on "Earthquakes" is used in all the leading universities as a text book. He illustrated his lecture with many lantern slides.

Among the preventions which may be made against earthquakes are earthquake-proof buildings, he said. Such a building is one which moves as a unit when subjected to any violent shock and must be built on the plan of an inverted physical pendulum; for all danger of a building collapsing in an earthquake is due to its inertia. Its structure ought to be simple, for each separate part must vibrate in the same period of time.

In speaking of the safest materials to be used, Dr. Hobbs said that steel was by far the best, but that concrete, reinforced with steel rods, was very strong and in most cases would withstand the shake of an earthquake. Any sort of masonry he condemned.

Investigate Suspicious Fire.

Orange, April 27.—The police and Fire Chief Matthews are investigating a fire that resulted in $2,000 damage to a double house in Mathew street, yesterday. The building was owned by Giuliano Vacco, and on the ground floor was the grocery of Antonio Vacco, who is not related to the owner. The owner of the building is suing Antonio Vacco for rent.

"Crakys of War."

Under the name of "crakys of war" cannon were used by Edward III. of England against the Scots in 1327.

RANDOLPH RELEASED BY THE NEWARK CLUB

Clifford Randolph, of this city, who has been on the pitching staff of the Newark Eastern League Club, was unconditionally released yesterday to the Williamsport Club in the Tri-State League. This announcement is somewhat of a surprise for as late as last week it was intimated that he would remain with the Newark club this season.

However, the Newark club is pretty well supplied with pitchers and Manager Wolverton believes that a season with a minor league club will do a lot for Randolph and put him in line for a steady berth in the future. The fact that Randolph was released unconditionally makes it appear that Wolverton wants a string on him so that in case he does need his services he can recall him at a moment's notice. It is understood that Randolph will join the Williamsport club at once.

More Mystery in the Pie.

"Do you approve of chemicals and other foreign substances in food?"

"Certainly," answered the imaginative scientist. "I am now engaged in experiments by which a cure for dyspepsia can be introduced into every pie."—Washington Star.

LAW MAY OUST SQUIRES

Almost Impossible for Many to Comply With New Provisions.

COUNTY CLERK IS NOTIFIED.

Irksome Conditions Are Imposed by the Legislature on the Justices of the Peace.

Numerous justices of the peace throughout the State, including a number in this county, are threatened with loss of office as a result of a law recently passed, whose provisions must be complied with by May 1 according to a letter received from Secretary of State Dickinson by County Clerk Calvert.

According to the old law, the justices of the peace would have from May 1 to July 1 to qualify, and therefore they have not made any effort to qualify as yet. According to the new law, which was only approved on Monday, all those who were elected as justice of the peace last fall must appear before the county clerk and qualify by paying the necessary fees and filing a bond for $500, have the same approved by the judge of the Court of Common Pleas, and have a certification of this qualification filed with the Secretary of State by May 1.

The time is so short in which to accomplish this that it will probably be impossible for all who were elected last fall to fulfil the condition of the new law in time. It is thought that scores who were elected in different parts of the State at the last election may be elgislated out unless the time is extended.

Another complication, as far as Union county is concerned, is the fact that Judge Atwater, who must approve the qualifications, is on a short vacation to Old Point Comfort, and is not expected to return before May 3. As there remains but a week before the certificates of those who have qualified must be filed with the Secretary of State, those who are to qualify must do so by the first part of next week. County Clerk Calvert is today sending special delivery letters to the different persons who were elected to the office of justice ofthe peace in this county, as shown in the list sent to him by the Secretary of State. As stated in the letter of the Secretary of State to Mr. Calvert, the record of election as kept by the State may be incomplete, and in that case it may be that some of these will not receive notice of the new law until after the time to qualify is past.

To a reporter Mr. Calvert stated that the law was putting the county clerks of the State to great trouble and in his opinion seemed unconstitutional.

According to the new law, the fees have been more than trebled. The fee required at qualification under the old law was $2. The new law provides for a fee of $5 for the use of the State and $1.50 for the use of the county, making a total fee of $6.50.

Following is the letter which has been received by County Clerk Calvert from the Secretary of State, in which notice of an appeal to the attorney-general is given:

"In compliance with the provisions of Chapter 168 of the laws of 1909, a copy of which is herewith enclosed, it becomes necessary for this department to send herewith a list of the names of the justices of peace elected in your county as shown by the returns from the election held last fall, said returns being filed with this department.

"In accordance with the provisions of said act, you will notify these parties to appear before you, if they so desire, for the purpose of qualifying and filing the necessary bond, the returns of which must be made to this department on or before May first.

"The passage of the law at this late date will no doubt greatly embarass justices of the peace desiring to qualify, and it might be advisable for you to notify them by wire.

"It may also be that the returns on file in this office, from which the enclosed list is made, may in some instances be completed, and if so the returns should be completed immediately so that the proper qualifications can be made. It may be that you may be able to facilitate the work in this respect.

"In view of this condition, we have today asked the attorney-general whether or not an extension of time could not be given, but we are advised that the law is specific in this respect and that the justices must qualify before the date fixed.

"The fee for qualifying has been fixed at $5.00, with $1.50 additional fee for the use of the county."

AN ORDINANCE

An ordinance to amend an ordinance entitled "An ordinance to regulate the use of sidewalks, streets, highways, alleys, parks and public places in the Township of Fanwood and to provide a penalty for violation of any ordinance and the collection of fines and costs imposed."

The inhabitants of the Township of Fanwood by their Township Committee, do enact as follows:

1. Section "3" of the ordinance to which this is a supplement is hereby amended so that the same shall read as follows: Section "3." Any person who shall ride or drive any horse or other animal or beast, whether attached to a vehicle or not upon any sidewalk within the Township of Fanwood or who shall tie or fasten any horse, cow or other animal or beast in such a way that the said horse, cow or other animal or beast shall obstruct, stand or be upon any sidewalk within the Township of Fanwood, or shall obstruct any street, road, lane or alley or public place within the Township of Fanwood in any way without permission first had and obtained by the Township Committee of the said Township of Fanwood, shall upon conviction be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days in the township lock-up or county jail, in the discretion of the court before whom such conviction shall be had.

This ordinance shall take effect the first day of May, 1909.

Approved April 16, 1909.

I. G. WALKER, Chairman.
E. L. HAND, Township Clerk.

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

No bottlers living outside of Gloucester City now attempt to sell or deliver bottled goods in that city owing to the recent arrests.

Leonard Brandes, the contractor and builder, living at 289 Sixth avenue, Paterson, reported at police headquarters that his pocket had been picked of $44 on a Governor street car at 9:45 on Saturday night.

In Jersey City, William Radigan, of 160 Sussex street, who was arrested for stealing five pigs' heads from Dock B of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, jumped into the Morris Canal to evade capture. He was taken to the City Hospital.

While at work around the ovens at the plant of the Camden Coke Company, H. Henry, twenty-nine years old, of 516 Washington street, Camden, was burned about the face and neck. He was cared for at Cooper Hospital, and then went home.

Leslie Smith, the fourteen-year-old lad, of Woodbury, who ran away ten days ago, has been heard from in Pittsburg. He rode his bicycle from Woodbury to Pennsgrove, crossed the river to Wilmington, where he sold his wheel, and left for the Smoky City.

Two men in a launch found the body of an unidentified man floating in the Delaware river, opposite Kaighn avenue ferry, Camden, yesterday afternoon. He had been in the water about a week, was about thirty five years old, carried a loaded revolver, a silver watch, a book on hoodoos and a purse containing twenty cents. There was no evidence of violence.

The body of an unidentified man, which had evidently been in the water a long time, drifted ashore out of the Delaware at Edgewater Park. The body is that of a man of about thirty-five years, five feet eleven inches tall, and weighing about 150 pounds. His attire indicated that he might have been a boat hand, and he is supposed to have fallen off a river boat somewhere.

Companies of the Third New Jersey Regiment, United Boys' Brigades of America, from Camden, Merchantville, Oaklyn and Haddonfield, participated in a church parade at the Haddonfield Presbyterian church Sunday morning. Music by the choir and hymns appropriate to the occasion were sung, and the pastor, Rev. William Allen, Jr., preached a special sermon for the young soldiers.

Edmund Sporn, a laborer, of 325 River street, Paterson, while on a crosswalk at River and Paterson streets, was run down by an automobile, the chauffeur of which left the neighborhood before his name could be obtained. Sporn, who is sixty three years old, was taken to the General Hospital. There the surgeons found that he had a fracture of the right leg at a point just below the knee.

Bayonne Lodge of Elks, headed by the exalted ruler, John F. Gribbon, attended services in a body Sunday evening at Calvary Episcopal church, Avenue C and Forty-fifth street, the rector of which, Rev. Horatio W. Maguire, is chaplain of the lodge. Special music was rendered by the vested choir under the direction of Miss Mildred Till. The rector delivered a special sermon, taking for his theme "What Is Your Life?"

VOGUE OF JET.

It is a little early to say good-bye to jet, since it has scarcely made a definite impression upon us yet, but already in Paris there is a feeling against it in the most exclusive quarters because of the sudden vast amount of popularity it has gained.

Jet as an ornament is most effectively worn by the woman of extremes in coloring. The beauty with very dark hair and a very carmine tinted complexion may on her very white throat wear a dog collar of sparkling jet, with one or the new chains of heavy jet beads to accentuate the snowiness of her shoulders.

The blonde may also wear it—that is to say, the extremely fair woman—but those of an intermediate coloring should not be close friends with the dense blackness of jet.

Exchanged Hats With the Mayor.

Spencer Conway, well-known through the city and borough as an ash-carter, played a good innocent joke on Mayor Samuel Townsend in the borough police court, yesterday morning. The "deacon" was called to court to straighten out a tangle about his license and in leaving picked up his honor's fine new derby by mistake, leaving his old headgear for Mr. Townsend. The mistake was not discovered for twenty minutes and by that time Conway had made good his mistake. Mr. Townsend was obliged to buy a new hat before he could go to New York.

Plaster of Paris.

When you have occasion to use plaster of paris wet it with vinegar instead of water; then it will be like putty and can be smoothed better, as it will not "set" for half an hour, while plaster wet with water hardens at once.

POLLY of the CIRCUS

By MARGARET MAYO

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead and Company

"What!" cried Jim in alarm. He faced about and saw Eloise. He guessed the truth. A few quick strides brought him to the entrance curtains. He threw them back and looked into the ring.

"My God! Why don't Barker stop her?"

"What is it?" called Douglas. He forgot the deacon in his terror at Jim's behavior, and Strong was able to slip away unnoticed.

"She's goin' to ride! She's goin' to ride Barbarian!"

Douglas crossed to his side and looked.

Polly was springing on to the back of Barbarian. He was a poorly trained horse, used by the other girl for more showy but less dangerous feats than Polly's.

"She's goin' through her regular turn with him. She's trying to break her neck," said Jim. "She wants to do it. It's your fault!" he cried, turning upon Douglas with bloodshot eyes. He was half insane. He cared little whom he wounded.

"Why can't we stop her?" cried Douglas, unable to endure the strain. He took one step inside the entrance.

"No, no; not that!" Jim dragged him back roughly. "If she sees you now it will be the end." They watched in silence. "She's over the first part," Jim whispered at last.

Douglas drew back, his muscles tense, as he watched the scene inside the ring. Eloise stood at the pastor's side horror stricken at Polly's reckless behavior. She knew Barbarian. It was easy to guess the end.

"She's comin' to the hoops," Jim whispered hoarsely.

"Barbarian don't know that part. I never trained him," the other girl said.

Polly made the first leap toward the hoops. The horse was not at fault; it was Polly. She plunged wildly. The audience started. She caught her footing with an effort. One, two, three hoops were passed. She threw herself across the back of the horse and hung head downward as he galloped around the ring. The band was playing loudly; the people were cheering. She rose to meet the last two hoops.

"She's swayin'!" Jim shrieked in agony. "She's goin' to fall!" He covered his face with his hands.

Polly reeled and fell at the horse's side. She mounted and fell again. She rose and staggered in pursuit.

"I can't bear it!" groaned Douglas. He rushed into the ring, unconscious of the thousands of eyes bent upon his black ministerial garb, and caught the slip of a girl in his arms just as she was about to sink fainting beneath the horse's hoofs.

"If aught but death part thee and me."

Barker brought the performance to a halt with a crack of his whip. The audience was on tiptoe. White faced clowns and gayly attired acrobats crowded around Polly and the pastor.

Douglas did not see them. He had come into his own.

"He's bringin' her out," whispered Eloise, who still watched at the entrance. Jim dared not look up. His head was still in his hands.

"Is it over?" he groaned.

"I don't know. I can't tell yet." She stepped aside as Douglas came out of the tent, followed by a swarm of performers. He knelt on the soft grass and rested Polly's head upon his knee. The others pressed about them. It seemed to Douglas that he waited hours; then her white lids quivered and opened, and the color crept back to her lips.

"It's all right, Jim!" called one of the men from the crowd. "She's only fainted." The big fellow had waited in his tracks for the verdict.

Polly's eyes looked up into those of the parson. A thrill shot through his veins.

"It was no use, was it?" She shook her head, with a sad little smile. He knew that she was thinking of her failure to get out of his way.

"That's because I need you so much, Polly, that God won't let you go away from me." He drew her nearer to him, and the warm blood that shot to her cheeks brought back her strength. She rose unsteadily and looked about her. Jim came toward her, white and trembling.

"All right, Poll?"

"Oh, Muvver Jim!" She threw herself into his arms and clung to him, sobbing weakly.

No one could ever remember just how the audience left the big top that night, and even Barker had no clear idea of how Jim took down the tents, loaded the great wagons and sent the caravan on its way.

When the last wagon was beginning to climb the long, winding road of the moonlit hill Jim turned to Polly, who stood near the side of the deserted ring. His eyes traveled from her to the parson, who waited near her. She was in her street clothes now, the little brown Quakerish dress which she had chosen to wear so much since her return from the parsonage.

"I guess I won't be makin' no mistake this time," he said, and he placed her hand in that of the parson.

"Goodby, Muvver Jim," faltered Polly.

He stooped and touched her forehead with his lips. A mother's spirit breathed through his kiss.

"I'm glad it's like this," he said, then turned away and followed the long, dotted line of winding lights disappearing slowly over the hill.

Her eyes traveled after him.

Douglas touched the cold little hand at her side.

"I belong with them," she said, still gazing after Jim and the wagons.

"You belong with me," he answered in a firm, grave voice, and something in the deep, sure tones told her that he was speaking the truth. She lifted one trembling hand to his shoulder and looked up into his face.

"Whither thou goest will I go; where thou diest will I die."

He drew her into his arms.

"The Lord do so to me and more also if aught but death part thee and me."

THE END.

Hot Stove—Cool Kitchen

How do you expect to endure the broiling days of summer if you prepare all the food over a glowing coal fire?

You need a "New Perfection" Oil Stove that will do the cooking without cooking the cook. It concentrates plenty of heat under the pot and diffuses little or none through the room.

NEW PERFECTION
Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove

besides being the perfect stove for summer use is just as efficient for year 'round use. Does anything any other stove will do. It is built just like the modern steel coal range, with a CABINET TOP that makes it possible to keep food warm after it is cooked. Made in three sizes. Sold either with or without Cabinet Top. If not at your dealer's write our nearest agency.

The Rayo Lamp a substantial, strongly made and handsome lamp. Burns for hours with a strong, mellow light. Just what you need for evening reading or to light the dining-room. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

JOHN D. CAPSTICK MAY SUCCEED THOS. J. HILLERY.

The appointment of Senator Thos. J. Hillery, of Herris county, to the State railroad commission and the death of Senator William J. Harrison, of Ocean county, makes eight Senators to be selected at the next election, and already there are movements in the several counties for their successors.

The going of Senator Samuel K. Robbins into the office of clerk in chancery did not add to the list, for his successor would have to be elected this fall anyway. In Morris county a boom has been started for John D. Capstick.

Burns, the new Y. M. C. A. catcher, more than made good in his first game. He looked good to everybody who saw him work.

Ortleb pleased and the few fans who watched him closely, are now confident he will be the right substitute for Cliff Randolph.

Seery is the same old catcher as of last year, with a little more improvement. It looks as if he will be the star catcher of this section before the season's over.

Van Zant, the P. H. S. pitcher, certainly pitched a great game against the "Poly Prep." The High School boy was never in better form.

Ortleb fanned seven batters and did not give a base on balls. That is certainly going some for the first game of the season.

The Highland A. C. is showing they are of some class. The team has good material to work up, and when once started should show up well when warm weather starts in.

The Trinity A. C. has a club of batters. They showed that in Saturday's game.

If Smith, of the N. P. H. S., can stop Rahway without a hit or a run, he stands in a position to give many of the school pitchers of this section a run for honors this season.

Three Fingered Brown is repeating some of last year's stunts. He has already pitched a shut-out game.

Covaleski again proved himself the right sort of pitcher by putting the Brooklynites to the bad when they had victory in their grasp.

Hartridge Team Defeats Leal's.

The boys' baseball team of the Hartridge School defeated Leal's team yesterday afternoon by a score of 9 to 8. This was the first time that the Hartridge team has defeated Leal's nine, and in consequence there is much rejoicing.

NASH AND BLATZ SPRING BOWLING SURPRISE.

Nash and Blatz sprung a big surprise upon the local bowlers last night by running up a score of 444 in their first game. Both men ran up high individual scores, Nash making 224 and Blatz 220. Another team to do good work was that of Radin and Schaub, who made 400 in their last series, Radin getting 212.

The National Bowling Tournament, which takes place at Madison Square Garden, next month, is now causing considerable interest among the local bowlers who have entered many of the matches.

GIRL AND BOY DISAPPEAR.

Police of Garfield, N. J., Asked to Search for a Child and His Aunt.

Passaic, N. J., April 27.—The police of Garfield have sent out a general alarm for a young girl and a boy who disappeared from that borough Sunday afternoon. The missing pair are Joseph Berger, Jr., 3 years old, of Rover Road, and his aunt, Miss Mary Syen, 17 years old. Miss Syen has been in this country only a short time. The girl took her nephew out for a walk, saying they would soon return.

When they failed to come back search was made for them, but not a trace of them could be found. When they life home the boy wore a red cap and coat, with black shoes and stockings and a striped brown dress. Miss Syen wore a blue dress and white apron, with black shoes and stockings. She wore no hat.

Mrs. Andrew Muir, of Essex street, has recovered from an attack of the grip.

New Contralto at First Baptist.

Miss Josie Bracker, of New York, has been engaged as contralto soloist at the First Baptist church and will make her first appearance at the church on Sunday. She has been sining in one of the Newark churches and is highly recommended. She received a great part of her musical training abroad.

The Sultan Deposed.

London, April 27.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Evening News states that Sultan Abdul Hamid has been deposed and that his brother, Rechad Effendi has been invited to succeed him.

Miss May Buckley, of Orchard place, is critically ill with a complication of diseases and little hope is entertained for her recovery.

MUSIC FOR CHARTER DAY

Ten Brass Bands at Least for City's Celebration Says Ben LaVere.

AND SOME POPULAR VOCALISTS

Masquerade to Be Held at Saengerbund In May to Raise Funds For the Music.

The Charter Day celebration is going to be marked by some bully good band music, according to Benjamin F. Le Vere, the borough bandmaster, who has taken charge of many enjoyable band concerts here in days gone by and who has just been appointed to make all arrangements for the parade and concert music of the celebration. "Ben" says there will be at least ten brass bands here for the parade, and he is planning to have this music furnished by well-known organizations of New York, Newark, Jersey City, Orange and Elizabeth. There's going to be one band which will especially represent the city of Plainfield, and this is going to "the" band of all; "Ben" says so. He hasn't got the personal arranged yet, but he says that there will be several musicians from Sousa's band behind instruments.

To get a lot of good musical talent is going to cost money, and the realization that Plainfield must have nothing but the best for that celebration has led the local bandman to arrange for a masque ball to be given next month to raise funds for the music. The affair will be held at Saengerbund Hall and a feature of it will be the appearance of several well-known singers and composers. These will include "Ted" Snyder, who sang his own composition, "I'd Rather Be on the Outside, Looking In, Than on the Inside, Looking Out," at a summer band concert here; Ernest Ball, composer of "Love Me," and the "World Is Mine," "Eddie" Weston, "Johnny" Nestor and "Billy" Redmond, well-known composers and singers. An all-star program is to be arranged and the proceeds of the affair will be devoted to the Charter Day music fund.

The committee on arrangements has not as yet decided upon the location of concert stands for the daily band concerts, but Mr. LeVere is already at work making up his programs and arranging for singers of popular music. "I'm going to push this thing with all my ability," said the bandmaster, in discussing his plans, "and the music will be the best obtainable. I'm going to put forth my very best efforts to make the celebration a success."

FUNERAL SERVICES OF FREDERICK R. DE GROFF.

The funeral services of Frederick R. DeGroff, of this city, who lost his life as the result of an accident while running his engine on the Reading road last Saturday, were held yesterday afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. G. F. Jackson, Chestnut street, Roselle Park. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, including many railroad engineers, firemen and railroad officials. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, including a large floral piece from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Charles C. Woodruff, pastor of the M. E. church, Roselle. The burial was in Evergreen cemetery, Elizabeth. Fellow-engineers acted as pall-bearers.

Mr. DeGroff was one of the most popular engineers on the New Jersey Central. He had been running as an engineer for many years and for two years and a half had one of the fastest runs between Philadelphia and Jersey City.

No Trace of Emil Mueck.

Otto F. Mueck, formerly of this city, but now of Elizabeth, requests The Daily Press to state that nothing has been heard of his son, Emil Mueck, aged sixteen years, who disappeared from his home three weeks ago. The search for the missing lad is still being maintained, but thus far not a single clue has been obtained and the family are unable to account for the boy's continued absence. Many theories have been advanced, but no conclusions reached.

Discuss Fire Matters.

The Councilmanic fire committee held a meeting Tuesday night to discuss matters pertaining to the equipment of the new East End firehouse, as well as other department affairs. Favorable reports were received as to the construction of the new fire-house and the combination chemical engine and hose wagon being built by James Boyd & Brother, of Philadelphia.

GEN. COLLINS REVIEWS THE SECOND REGIMENT

More than 3,000 witnessed the review of the Second Regiment by Brigadier-General Dennis F. Collins and staff in the armory at Trenton, last night, and frequently applauded the guardsmen, as in true soldierly fashion they executed the orders of Col. Nelson Y. Dungan. Co. K, of this city, was included in the 750 men in line and the local guardsmen received their share of praise and applause for fine work. The regimental field and staff officers were present, and all but two of the twelve companies were in command of their captains.

There was a highly impressive incident prior to the manoeuvres in honor of General Collins. While the regiment was formed in line of masses the grizzled veterans of Wilkes and Bayard Posts, G. A. R., marched past the long line of sinewy young men and were escorted to a section of the gallery reserved for them. The applause was great as the men who fought in the Civil War passed in review before their sons and grandsons ready to answer their country's call.

Another unusual feature was the presence of a company of Captain Wilson, from the Wilson Military Academy in Findern. They were a fine lot of youngsters and they got a lot of applause from the women when they marched into the armory. Prior to the review, Col. Dungan and his field officers gave a dinner to Gen. Collins at the Hotel Sterling. Vice-Chancellor Walker, formerly judge advocate of the regiment, and Col. William H. Early, assistant quartermaster general, were among the guests of honor.

GRAND DIVISION, S. OF T. IN SESSION AT ELIZABETH

The great spread of temperance through the United States during the last few years is a cause of great satisfaction to temperance workers throughout the world, declared Jesse O. McCarthy, of Canada, head of the Sons of Temperance in North America, when he addressed the New Jersey Grand Division, which held its quarterly conference in the Lyceum building at Elizabeth yesterday. The address was delivered at the afternoon's session. Mr. McCarthy dwelt on the growth of the order and outlined plans for the future. Reports of officers, submitted previously, were acted on at the afternoon session, which was taken up chiefly with routine.

The session adjourned at 4 o'clock, after deciding to hold the next conference at Metuchen in July.

The sessions were held in the rooms of Lincoln Division, Elizabeth. About sixty representatives were present from Camden, Trenton, Newark, New Brunswick, Plainfield, Keyport, Metuchen and Westfield. Grand Worthy Patriarch William E. Acken, of Metuchen, presided.

Resolutions of congratulations to Henry B. Howell, of Trenton, grand treasurer, upon his resolution to good health, were passed by a rising vote. He was sent a beautiful bouquet. Mr. Howell is in his ninety-second year.

Resolutions of condolence for Past Grand Worthy Patriarch Drake, upon the death of his son, Henry Howell Drake, introduced by James R. Perrine, of Westfield, were also passed by a rising vote. Mr. Drake thanked the division for its sympathy.

Grand Worthy Patriarch Acken read his quarterly report and Grand Scribe Ross Slack, of Trenton, read his report for the quarter, together with that of Grand Treasurer Howell. The reports were all of an encouraging nature. Three candidates were initiated.

CROWDED HOUSE AGAIN AT BIG MINSTREL SHOW

Another big crowd greeted the Hope chapel minstrel men at the second perfromance at Hope chapel last night, and there was more applause for the various members of William N. Runyon's Bible class, who appear in a crackajack burnt cork show. New jokes were introduced in the semi-circle cross-fire and Clyde Doane had some more verses for his topical song, "That's a Thing That's Awfully Hard to Understand," which again made a pronounced hit.

David Gordon's act in the second part won particular applause last night, when he sang two of Harry Lauder's songs, "Tober Mory" and "She's My Daisy." His Scotch monologue and dance are unusually clever, and he "has the goods" as a Scotchman. The Dixie quartet passed out some first-class harmony, their song "That Loving Rag" being especialy well received. Edward Bennett and Harry N. Blimm have a clever sketch in "Little Brothers of the Rich," where the former brings the laugh as "the little feller" and his team mate is a burly, husky black man.

The last of the three performances will be given at the chapel tomorrow night, when there will be more verses to the topical song and the collection of local "slams."

HISTORY OF HIS CHURCH TOLD BY PASTOR BROEK

Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, addressed the members of the Mission Study Class at the weekly meeting, last night, on the "History of the Reformed Church in America." He carefully traced the growth of the denomination from its origin in the sixteenth century up to the present date, referring to the great struggles the church had because of its heroic stand to protect its religious principles.

Pastor Broek said that the Reformed church was the first one officially founded in this country and was the first to receive a charter from England and also to have its own theological seminary. For these reasons members of the denomination have sufficient cause to be proud. At the close of the meeting Mr. Broek was requested to repeat the talk in the near future.

MISS GODDARD AS "AGATHA" IN PINERO'S "MAGISTRATE."

The members of the Park Comedy Club, who will present their annual spring play, "The Magistrate," at the New Plainfield theatre Friday night, May 21, are making excellent progress with rehearsals and a fine production is assured. Nothing has been spared, either in time or expense, to make the play a success. Under the able coaching of F. C. Patterson, of New York, the cast is rapidly attaining perfect in the various parts.

Henry Crofut White will take the part of "Col. Lukyn," a retired army officer. He has considerable talent and in the past has been the main stay of all productions by the club. In his part as the colonel, Mr. White's acting will bring out to a nicety the fine points of such a character part.

Miss Elizabeth Goddard will play a most difficult role in "Agatha Posket," and it is said that she will give a rendition of this part in an exceptionally artistic manner. Her friends predict that it will be the crowning event of her amateur work.

May Amend By-Laws.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tonight and consider the proposed important amendments to the by-laws, where it is planned to slightly increase the dues and lessen the number of weeks a member may draw sick benefits. At present it is thirteen weeks. If adopted the dues would be increased about two cents a week and all assessments would be eliminated in the future.

A Bike Racers' Meet.

Sherman Haberle, Ray Mantz, A. B. Dunham, Jack Todd, E. D. Burd, George Simons, George Adams and Robert Wood, all of the Plainfield Cycle Club, will ride in the Spring Valley meet next Sunday. The riders have been training for the past two months and are in fine condition to cover the course in good time.

Appointed Treasurer.

Deacon M. F. Gano has been appointed by the Consistory of Trinity Reformed church as treasurer of the fund pledged by the church for the support of Dr. Paul W. Harrison as missionary to Arabia.

M'ALL WORKERS TO MEET

Auxiliaries in Many Cities to be Represented at Annual Convention Here.

NOTED MINISTERS TO SPEAK.

Rev. Dr. R. R. Potter and Rev. Charles Merle D'Aubigne to Address the Delegates.

The annual convention of the American McAll Association will be held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Wednesday and Thursday, May 5 and 6. Already eighty delegates have signified their intention of being present and the auxiliaries in Washington, Buffalo, Elizabeth, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Meriden, Conn., and others more remote will be represented.

The sessions will begin Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock and all the meetings will be open to the public. Wednesday night there will be a popular meeting with an address by Rev. Dr. Rockwell Harmon Potter, of Hartford, Conn. Other speakers wwill include Rev. Charles Merle D'Aubigne, of Paris, son of the great historian. During the day the sessions will be held in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. The evening meeting will be in the church edifice.

Last May at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Philadelphia, the twenty1fifth anniversary of the McAll work was observed in an appropriate manner. This religious body has accomplished great things. Throughout Paris halls are maintained by the different auxiliaries, the local auxiliary supporting a hall and a missionary at Limoges, France. These halls are located in the poor quarters of the city and are thronged by the needy, the hopeless and fallen and countless numbers are rescued.

There was a meeting of the local committee this morning at the home of the secretary, Mrs. H. E. Baright, on Watchung avenue, when further progress was made in the details for the approaching convention.

OTTO ARENS EXTENDS HIS HANDSOME ESTATE.

Charles H. Lyman, the real estate broker, has completed a large realty deal whereby Otto Arens, of Rahway road, becomes the owner of the Darling property, brick house and five acres of land, on Rahway road and Woodland avenue, adjoining the property of E. E. Pray. This gives Mr. Arens a continuous ownership on Rahway road to Woodland and Prospect avenues, to the line of his other property. The tract comprises twelve acres in all; also six acres of land opposite his property on Rahway road.

Mr. Lyman has also sold to R. Henry Depew 462 feet of land at Prospect and Woodland avenues, for speculative purposes. All of this property was owned by George A. Beaton, who will now improve his purchase, the Opdyke property at Watchung and Hillside avenues, making it one of the finest in the city.

Mr. Arens is now planning to make extensive improvements to his new property and put it in first-class condition. The whole transaction represents a consideration of about $50,000.

OFFICIATED AT WEDDING OF HIS GRANDDAUGHTER.

Miss Margaret Chambliss, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Chambliss, and William G. Berson, both of Brownsville, Tenn., were married last night at the home of the bride's parents, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, this city, and grandfather of the bride. A reception followed the ceremony. After a wedding trip, the couple will reside at Brownsville.

The bride has many friends in this city, where she spent several months two years ago with her grandparents, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Chambliss. Her family as well as that of the groom's is among the oldest in Brownsville. The bride's father is the cashier of the First National Bank in Brownsville, and Mr. Berson also holds a responsible position in the same bank.

LUMBER MERCHANT'S OFF-SET IS ALLOWED

There was but one case of interest in the District court, this morning, that of J. H. Frazee, of Westfield, against the J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company, of this city, on contract, in which the plaintiff sought to recover $31.58, he claimed for labor performed as a mason. The defendant company through its counsel, Isaac P. Runyon, filed an offset for $21.60, which it claimed was due for materials furnished the plaintiff. Judge Wiliam Newcorn in deciding the case allowed the defendant full amount and costs and awarded Frazee the sum of $10.20 the difference between claim and offset, which was tendered by the defendant.

The plaintiff, who was represented by Lawyer F. S. Taggart, of Westfield, produced a receipted bill for $21.60, which he claimed was paid by his wife, according to her description, to J. D. Loizeaux at his offices in this city, but that it covered the offset claimed by the defendant was denied by Mr. Loizeaux and his cashier, Mr. Van Derveer, who was also a witness.

According to the testimony of Mr. Loizeaux the plaintiff was to work out the bill for material, but failed to do so, and he denied that Mrs. Frazee had come to his offices and paid him the $21.60.

AMERICAN LAUNDRY IN ITS FINE NEW HOME

The American Steam Laundry's plant will remove tomorrow to the handsome new brick structure built by the proprietor, Harry W. Marshall, at Fourth street and Watchung avenue. The building is three stories in heighth and is as substantially erected as any structure of the kind in the State.

Not only is it admirably suited for the purposes of a model laundry but it is a credit to the business section of the city. No expense was spared in its construction, as an examination will show. An electric lighting plant and the finest laundry machinery have been installed.

PLAINFIELD TO SEE MISS STUART TONIGHT.

Jane Stuart, the novelty monologist, after a sensational run in Boston, has been engaged by Manager Counihan for appearance here. She will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre tonight in practically the same skit that made her famous in New York, Boston and other large cities. Her character sketches of Ethel Barrymore, George M. Cohan, John Drew, Maude Adams and other stars are simply immense.

The Alabama Trio, a three-man minstrel show, will be another feature of the advanced vaudeville bill for the remainder of the week. The Overing trio, juvenile entertainers, are also engaged. The management has obtained the consent of the Four Musical Luciers to prolong their stay here, having made such a big hit at recent performances. Charles Rielly, a first rate comedian, and DeVoie & Martin, sensational ring flying artists, are also on the program.

Will Hold Popular Meeting.

In connection with the annual convention of the National McAll Auxiliary to be held in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, May 5 and 6, there will be a popular meeting Wednesday night, May 5, with an address by Rev. Dr. Rockwell Harmon Potter, of Hartford, Conn. Among the other speakers at the convention will be Rev. Charles Merle D'Aubigne, of Paris.

Graduated In Pharmacy.

Albert Utzinger and Alfred W. Dunavan, of L. W. Randolph's pharmacy, were among those who attended the first commencement exercises of the University of the State of New Jersey at Jersey City, last night, when a class of twelve men were graduated in pharmacy. Judge Robert Carey, of the Common Pleas Court, made the address of the evening to the graduates.

Keeping Up the Good Work.

The old-fashioned gold locket lost by Mrs. C. T. Western, of 214 West Fourth street, and advertised in The Daily Press, was found by George Townley, of Grandview avenue, a reader of The Daily Press, who returned it and received a reward.

Edward VanDoren Sutton.

Edward VanDoren Sutton, aged one year, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Sutton, died last night at the home of his parents, 203 North avenue. The funeral service will be held from the home tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

NO NEW THOUGHT FOR HOLY CROSS RECTOR

Rev. George A. Warner, rector of Holy Cross church, whose sermon on "The New Thought" preached on Sunday and reported on Monday, today stated that the purport of his remarks had been given an interpretation contrary to his own views. The clergyman says he regrets that he spoke extemporaneously and does not wish his parishoners to consider that he, in any way intended to approve of the New Thought. To quote from his written statement today, the rector desires to make an "unqualified denial of anything that would appear that I had endorsed Christian (?) Science, New Thought or the Emmanuel Movement. The tenor of my remarks was quite to the contrary."

"Possibly the language and thought expressed in an extemporaneous sermon," adds the clergyman, "are open to interpretation which one reporting the sermon might choose to put upon it. If I was guilty of confusion of ideas and faulty expression, I am truly sorry, but not for a moment would I endorse the systems of New Thought as it would appear, to me at least, from your published report I had so done. I am only sorry that the sermon instead of being in manuscript was from brief outline and delivered extempore.

"If for a moment," continues Rector Warner, "I took up with systems which deny the Divinity of Christ, the Atonement, and other doctrines of The Church and her sacraments as necessary to salvation, I would feel in honor bound to leave the ministry of the Ancient Church in which I serve and dearly love."

PURCHASE SITE FOR A REFORMED CHAPEL

The Board of Domestic Missions of the Reformed Church in America, through M. F. Gano, a local real estate broker, yesterday purchased of Alfred A. Prudhorn and Thomas A. Randall the property with a frontage of one hundred feet on Leland avenue, corner of Midway avenue, upon which it is proposed to erect a Reformed church chapel.

This action follows that of the Classis of Newark, at a recent session, when it was decided to raise $3,000 for the purchase of land and erection of a chapel in the East End of the city. At the session of the Classis almost $3,000 was subscribed and the balance needed will be apportioned among the various churches in the Classis. Now that the land has been secured steps will be taken to build a house of worship, according to the plans decided upon. It is expected that the work will be started in the near future. Rev. Dr. James I. Vance, pastor of the North Reformed church, Newark, is the chairman of the committee in charge of the matter.

FINE PROGRAM ARRANGED FOR CHURCH MUSICAL.

The concert to be given at the First Presbyterian church tonight, under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, will be of unusual interests to lovers of music. The Mendelssohn Glee Club, of Elizabeth, and Hans Letz, violinist, will present the program. The club will sing these numbers:

"Worship of God in Nature," Beethoven; "Ave Maria," Abt; "How the Rills Are Murmuring," Kremser; "Lullaby," Brahms; "The Scissor's Grinder," (Flemish Folk Song), Jungst; "To the Sons of Art," Mendelssohn; "The Sword of Ferrara," Bullard.

Mr. Letz, violinist, will contribute these numbers: "Ballade et Polonaise," Vieuxtemps; "Romanza from Second Concerto," Wieniawski; "Humoresque," Dvorak. Tickets for the concert can be obtained at P. B. Hodge's drug store or at the church.

Leased Dr. Probasco's House.

James B. White, of New York, of the Robinson Lumber Company, has rented through the Mulford agency, Dr. N. H. Probasco's new house at Madison avenue and West Seventh street, and will take possession on or before May 15.

The Same Old Story.

The monthly report of Muhlenberg Hospital, advertised in The Daily Press yesterday as lost, was found by P. J. Martin, of Watchung avenue, a reader of this newspaper. He returned the lost copy and received a reward.

EXCISE OFFENDERS HELD

New York Concerns' Drivers Furnish Bail to Await Action of Grand Jury.

ALL THE HEARINGS ARE BRIEF.

Bottles of Whiskey As Evidence—Actions Not Against Stores But Drivers.

The hearings in the excise cases, involving three drivers for the metropolitan department store suburban deliveries and a driver for the Merchants' Express Company, of New York, on charges of violating the State excise law by C. O. D. deliveries of whiskey were held at the city court this morning before City Judge Runyon as committing magistrate. Alvah Dunham, driver for Acker, Merrall & Condit, waived examination to await the action of the grand jury, and Edward Coleman, of the Siegel-Cooper Company; Louis Wexler, of R. H. Macy & Co., and Thomas Meehan, of the Merchants' Express Company, were given an examination and, at the request of Assistant County Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., held to await the action of the grand jury. The bail in each case was increased to $500.

County Prosecutor C. Addison Swift was in court, but the examination was conducted for the State by Mr. Hetfield. The assistant prosecutor's case was conducted in such a way that the State did not show its hand, and the hearing proved a disappointment to the spectators who had expected that the case would be threshed out there today. The hearing in each case was as brief as possible, comprising the identification of the individual bottles of whiskey on exhibition by Charles A. Raney, a Newark detective, and Chief Kiely's identification of the same bottles. There was no cross examination, and in each case Mr. Hetfield's recommendation for an increase of the bond from $200 to $500 was accepted by Judge Runyon and the bond was supplied.

Thomas Meehan, the Merchants' Express Company driver, was held on two charges,—for deliveries from the Fourteenth Street Store and the Simpson-Crawford Company, but Mr. Hetfield secured the dismissal of one of the charges, only one being required for the case before the grand jury. The company is incorporated as a common carrier of express packages, and conducts deliveries for eighteen New York stores. The case is action against the driver, and the stores are in no way involved by the State, according to Mr. Hetfield's statement.

Carlyle Garretson, an attorney from the offices of McDermott & Enright, of Jersey City, appeared as the attorney for the three drivers examined, but conducted no cross-examination. Robert Newton Crane represents Wexler. Full stenographic notes of the hearing were taken by the drivers' attorneys.

Mr. Raney ordered the whiskey from the drivers in all cases. The three bottles were opened and tasted by the detective, and then sealed by him and turned over to Chief Kiely. Edward F. Connolly, manager of the Merchants' Express Company, was Meehan's bondsman, and the Jersey City law firm will supply the bond for Wexler and Coleman.

WELDY ACQUITTED.

Woman Who Posed as His Wife Set Free by Court.

Atwood Weldy was acquitted yesterday afternoon of the murder of his brother, Alen Weldy, after a trial that lasted three days. The jury took but seven minutes to consider the evidence and then returned with the verdict.

After the decision of the jury Justice Bergen ordered the discharge of the prisoner and nolle prossed the indictment against Annie Neilson.

Reward for Assailant.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders yesterday, at the request of Prosecutor John F. Reger, offered a reward of $250 for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who atrociously assaulted and robbed aged George Elwyn, in his hermit home in the Coontown Mountains. Elwyn is still in Muhlenberg Hospital, and no clue has been found to his assailant.

Residential Property Changes.

Dr. P. B. Cregar, of Grant avenue, has purchased H. W. Marshall's residence on that avenue, and after making a fourteen foot addition for his offices, will take possession. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall will make their home for the present with Mrs. W. E. Williams, who has taken Dr. P. J. Zeglio's house on Crescent avenue.

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

John Burke, of Birmingham, has recovered a pocketbook lost five years ago. He was plowing in a field on his farm when he uncovered the purse.

A monkey that was part of a troup of performing animals got into a fight with a dog at the home of John Burns at Gloucester yesterday and was killed.

At a meeting of the officials of the various Protestant Sunday-schools in Bayonne it was decided to hold the annual Sunday-school parade on Saturday, June 5.

After biting eight dogs, a cow and a goat, a mad dog was finally killed in Bridgeton yesterday by a policeman. All of the bitten animals, with the exception of one dog, were promptly killed.

Caught between a rising elevator and the flooring at the Menantico Bleach and Dye Works, at Millville, Edward Devine, Jr.'s foot was terribly mashed. Dr. Charlesworth feared amputation will be necessary.

John Astoria, a plumber, came near losing his life by a cave-in while he was working in a deep ditch at Vineland. The earth covered him to the chin, and with great effort his head was kept above ground until help came.

The will of the late Ralph M. Weston, of Vineland, which was probated yesterday, provides a bequest of $500 for his clerk, Frank A. Ward, who was in his employ most of the time for the last twenty years.

One of the best minstrel shows ever given by the Pennington Seminary Athletic Association was that of last evening in Odd Fellows' Hall. The attendance was far above the expectations of the athletes.

During a fight Tuesday night James Oboso, twenty-nine years old, of Third and Division streets, Camden, was slashed across the right wrist with a razor. Antonio Delesa was locked up as his assailant. The injured man was cared for at the Cooper Hospital.

Eight hundred little chickens and 1,500 eggs were roasted in a fire in Walter Freneau's brooder-house at Vineland. Lemuel Coney headed a bucket brigade, which saved the barn and one of the finest country homes on the Vineland tract.

George V. Cadmus, who was injured in the runaway accident on the Boulevard Monday afternoon, was able to leave the General Hospital, Paterson, last evening and return to his home. Benjamin Whitford, who was also a victim of the accident, will not be able to leave the institution for several days.

A special meeting of the South Classis of Bergen was held at the First Reformed church, Bayonne, at which the pastor of that church, Rev. William H. Boocock, was dismissed from the classis so that he may accept a call from the First Presbyterian church of Buffalo.

Apprehended in Trenton on a warrant charging him with deserting his wife, who is at present living with her father in Philadelphia, Edgar J. Cohen, twenty-two years old, of Ninth and Market streets, Camden, was yesterday directed to furnish a bond of $300 to insure the payment of $5 a week toward his wife's support.

Pleading guilty to a charge of robbing Thomas Glennon of a ring and money while he was returning to his home in the night with medicine for a sick child, Murrell Brent and George Hart, both colored, were yesterday sentenced to seven years each in State prison by Judge Joline, in Camden. After Brent was arrested in Philadelphia he implicated Hart.

Charles Smith, employed by the contractors at Vails, in cutting through the line for the new Lackawanna Railroad short cut, was caught beneath a falling boulder and sustained a fracture of the right leg. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, Paterson. The victim is aged twenty-five years and lives at Vails.

FLYING ELLET FAMILY.

With the Frank A. Robbins Circus.

Other aerialists may have been seen and admired, but it is a freely acknowledged fact that these shows have a veritable monopoly of the real artist gymnast of the entire American show world. First in any list would have to be mentioned the Ellets, the incarnation of grace and daring, whose flights through the lofty dome of the canvas pavilion covering the arena are down with the ease and abandon of birds. Kosters are known as the "Human Swallows," and are close seconds to the Potters, even surpassing them in strength and daring not so graceful, but then it must be remembered that two of the Ellets are of the gentler sex. The Lukens do a most dangerous act on aerial horizontal bars, fixed in the dome of the canvas, feats that but few men can do upon bars that they may be reached from the ground.

Only the features of this division of daring diversions are mentioned—and the cause is apparent to all who continue to read this all to brief tale of this towering giant of circuses. The Frank A. Robbins shows will exhibit in this city on Saturday, May 8.

WESTFIELD.

Rev. W. E. Whitaker, of Elizabeth, will give an illustrated lecture on Switzerland before the Men's Club of the Westfield Presbyterian church tomorrow evening.

Several street improvements in Westfield are being held up. Several of the councilmen are away from town and one member is ill.

It is rumored that the Town Council will appoint three protectors under the drunkards' guardian law recently enacted.

Mrs. William Gale and William Gale, Jr., are at Camden to attend the marriage of Miss Anna M. Wise to Harry Schanze.

SOMERVILLE.

Mrs. Robert L. Day has sold her property on West High street, to Philip A. Hickey, of Raritan, who is having it thoroughly renovated and will occupy it next month.

L. G. Ayres, of Somerville, leader of group No. 4, Epworth League, has issued a call of a group rally, to take place in the Monroe Avenue church, Plainfield, on May 6.

The present choir of the First Reformed church served for the last time Sunday on account of the installation of the new pipe organ.

Mrs. B. J. McNalley, returned Monday to Somerville, after spending a month with her father, John McWilliams, in Raritan.

—Miss Anna Lucretia Case, soprano soloist, will enter upon her new duties as soloist of a Brooklyn church on Sunday.

—S. Frederick Smith, the new organist at Grace church, has taken up his residence at 104 East Ninth street for the present.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Epworth League of the First M. E. church will give a supper in Vincent chapel May 14.

The offering at the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning will be for the deacons' fund.

There will be reception of new members at the communion service to be held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

The Sunday-school of the First Baptist church will hold its last social of the season in the lecture room of the church tomorrow night.

R. A. Laslett Smith, of Stamford, Conn., the new organist at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will assume his new position on Sunday.

C. E. Patterson, of the American Locomotive Works, will give an illustrated lecture on "The Holy Land," in Vincent chapel, tomorrow night, under the auspices of the Brotherhood of the First M. E. church. The public is invited.

The first annual reception to Rev. M. A. Alexander, pastor of the Shiloh Baptist church, will be held at the church, 533-535 West Third street, Monday night. Mrs. William Burton is chairman of the committee and Miss Lena Flagg is the secretary. The reception will also include the wife of the pastor.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Gesswein, of West Front street, have been entertaining relatives from the West.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bird, of Mountain avenue, are parents of a son, born to them yesterday noon.

Mr. and Mrs. David Dreier, of New Brunswick, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dreier, of West Front street.

Thomas Wearren, of Rock avenue, who is an assistant engineer on the U. S. S. Kansas, now anchored at League Island, Philadelphia, is enjoying a fifteen days' vacation at his home in this city. He expects to take a long cruise in the near future.

Because he disliked school, John White, fourteen years old, disappeared from his home, in Millville, Sunday, and has not since been seen.

Refused Township Cemetery.

Trenton, April 29.—The State Board of Health has decided not to grant the request of the Gates of Hope Cemetery Association, for permission to establish a cemetery in Teaneck township, Bergen county. The appeal to the State board followed a refusal of the local authorities to grant the desired permission, and at the hearing given here a large delegation appeared in opposition to the proposed location for the cemetery. Various arguments were advanced against the project, chief among which were that it would destroy the value of surrounding property and would materially lessen the taxable ratables of the township. The State board filed no reasons with its decision.

State Hospital Inspector Resigns.

Morris Plains, April 29.—Dr. Julia C. Cotton, inspector of female wards at the State Hospital, has resigned her position, to take up work on the medical staff of the Pennsylvania State Hospital at Norristown. The resignation will take effect May 1. Another resignation is that of Miss Katherine Tooney, matron of the nurses' cottage. Miss Tooney will enter the Foundling Hospital in New York and take up the training of nursing.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

A transformed course will be opened to the golfers who meet at Wakefield for the spring tournament of the Atlantic City Country Club today, tomorrow and Saturday. The round has been made more interesting by new pot hazards and side traps on the fairways that were too flat and needed variety. The tournament has been a semi-annual one since 1899, when W. H. Davis not only won the medal with 179, but beat Findlay Douglas for the chief cup. Entries closed for the tournament yesterday and for the handicap tomorrow evening. The qualification round will be at thirty-six holes, and there will be a cup and runner up prize for every sixteen that finishes to play for in the matches. There always is a large field, and to avoid carrying over ties in the qualifying round for places the committee will draw lots to decide in which sixteen the contestant shall play. The tournament is open to all amateurs.

Programs for the invitation tournament of the Garden City Golf Club on May 6, 7 and 8 have been out for a week and todays' mail will carry the plans for the similar competition at the Fox Hills Golf Club on May 13, 14 and 15. A stipulation on the programs is that in all match play rounds stimies must be played, a notice which under the new rules seems to be superfluous. The Fox Hills card begins with an eighteen hole qualifying round and four sixteens will keep on for the Fox Hills, Clifton, Southfield and Aquehonga cups respectively. The runner-up in the first set will receive a cup. There also will be cups for each additional sixteen to finish in the score round; besides, there will be a consolation cup for the beaten eight of the first four sixteens. The winners of any of the match play cups will not be allowed to take the Saturday handicap net prize.

Newcomers may upset the plans of our resident professionals in the open championship at the Englewood Golf Club in June. Tom Vardon, who is coming from England to be professional at Onwentsia, has a beautiful style and is the younger brother of the famous Harry. Tom was second in the British open in 1903 and has been three times in the money since. George Duncan, of Scotland, who is to tour here, is of the same class as Braid. Harry Vardon and Taylor. Both will play at Englewood. The championship of the Eastern Professional Golfers Association in May at the Scarsdale Golf Club will rate some of the Englewood candidates, while the Westerners need no rating, for they are headed by Fred McLeod, Will Smith, Will Anderson and L. Auchterlonie. Scarsdale is at its best in the fall, and Aleck Finlay, who is supplying the labor on the new clubhouse besides his usual tasks as professional, is disappointed at a May date being selected.

BASEBALL.

Reach's Official American League Guide for 1909, published by the A. J. Reach Company, of Philadelphia, and edited by Francis C. Richter, of "Sporting Life," is out, and is, as usual, first in the field, thus making it the harbinger of the baseball season. It can be said without any qualification that, excellent as all of the editions of the Reach Guide have been in recent years, the 1909 Reach Guide is the best hand book of the kind ever issued by this or any other publisher. The special distinction of the 1909 Guide is, next to

MAY SETTLE PRINCETON ROW.

Committee Suggests That the Seminary Curriculum Be Revised.

It is believed at Princeton that the discussion between the students and Faculty of the Princeton Seminary which has kept the institution in a state of more or less excitement for the last two months is now likely to be settled. The Directors' committee appointed to adjust the difficulties in the curriculum last night issued its first report, which says:

"The committee of the Board of Directors met in Princeton on Wednesday, April 28, with the committee of the Faculty to consider the subject referred to them by the board at its special meeting. They considered at length the question of revision of the curriculum of the seminary and appointed a sub-committee consisting of Dr. H. C. Minton, Trenton; Dr. George Alexander, New York, and Dr. C. A. R. Janvier, Philadelphia, to confer and co-operate with the Faculty. The committee will continue its work through the summer, and it is hoped that it will be able to report at the meeting of the board in October.

"After a full inquiry into all the conditions existing in the seminary at the present time, the committee was convinced that the reports of dissatisfaction had been grossly exaggerated, and that cordial relations exist between the Faculty and the students, and the committee believes the student body will leave for their homes with feelings of loyalty to the institution. The Faculty reported that the work done by the students during the year done by the students during the year had been unusually satisfactory."

MISSING GIRL SEEN.

Mary Syun, the 16-year-old Hungarian girl, who, with her 3-year-old nephew, Joseph Berger, disappeared on Sunday from Hackensack, was seen in Hackensack Tuesday morning by Charles Kranze, a letter carrier. He read of the disappearance in a newspaper last evening and when he saw the description of the girl he hurried to police headquarters and notified Sergeant O'Shea.

Chief of Police Forrs, of Garfield, received a 'phone message yesterday afternoon that the girl and boy had been seen at Paramusu, near Ridgewood, at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Chief Pulis, of Ridgewood, was notified and started in his auto, but failed to get any definite clue.

"Evangeline" at Proctor's.

The specialities at Proctor's theatre are unusually good, Tracey & Edwards being clever dancers, while Dan Maley in musical novelties is a strong attraction. These pictures will be shown today: "Rat in the House," "Evangeline," "Interrupted Joy Ride," "A Fight for Love," "Guardian Angel," "The Wreck," "A Cup of Tea and She," "Mr. Simpson's Artful Ruse," and "The Valet's Wife."

MRS. M. B. EDDY NEVER NEW THOUGHT DISCIPLE

The following letter is self-explanatory:

Christian Science, Committee on Publication in New Jersey. 'Phone 1400.

Passaic, N. J., April 28, 1909.

Editor, The Daily Press:

In your issue of Saturday, April 24, appears an article which includes the statement that Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, was once a disciple of "the one generation religion" known as the New Thought movement. We of course do not hold your valued paper responsible for the authorship of this statement, but should like to have the same corrected in the interests of your readers.

Christian Science does not borrow any light from the New Thought movement or the system of Mr. Phineas Quimby. Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy has never been identified with the New Thought movement and her investigation of Mr. Quimby's so-called system of mental therapeutics resulted in Mrs. Eddy's repudiation of the belief that the so-called human mind could heal disease or spiritualize thought. Some years later Mrs. Eddy discovered Christian Science through her own physical healing and a diligent search of the Scriptures for an explanation of her recovery.

It is further stated in the article under consideration "that the Christian Scientists cannot believe in their original theory that God is all because they deny the body." This assertion is erroneous. Christian Scientists deny the testimony of the five physical senses, but they do not deny the existence of the body; rather do they declare that God has given us a body as it hath pleased Him and while i does not yet appear what the real man and his individuality may be, yet Christian Science declares that man and the universe will appear in all their reality and permancy just as soon as the testimony of the senses is subjugated to the facts of being.

It should be understood by the members of the various denominations that Christian Science is not arrayed against the church. The efforts of Mrs. Eddy have always been directed to heal the sick according to the teachings of Christ Jesus. In her message to the Mother Church in 1902, Mrs. Eddy said: "It is an inherent characteristic of my nature, a kind of birth-mark, to love the church; and the church once loved me. Then why not remain friends or at least agree to disagree in love—part fair foes.

"I never left the church, either in heart or in doctrine; I but began where the church left off. When the church and I round the gospel of grace in the circle of Love we shall meet again, never to part."

Thanking you for the courtesy of space in your paper, I remain.

Yours respectfully,
H. COULSON FAIRCHILD.

EPWORTH LEAGUE HOLDS CONFERENCE AT OCEAN GROVE.

In St. Paul's M. E. church, Ocean Grove, was opened Tuesday evening the fifteenth annual convention of the New Jersey Conference Epworth League, with Rev. J. B. Kulp, of Bradley Beach, first vice president, in charge. The opening exercises were in the nature of a public reception to the 150 delegates present, followed by an address by Rev. J. L. Gardiner, of First church, Trenton.

The teachers and instructors for yesterday, when the real work of the conference began, were: Rev. J. G. Reed, of Long Branch; Rev. John Handly, the newly appointed superintendent of the New Brunswick district; Rev. H. J. Zelley, of Trenton; Rev. E. J. Kulp, of Camden; Rev. D. W. C. McIntyre, of West Grove, and Rev. Dr. Robert Forbes, of Philadelphia, corresponding secretary of the board of home missions and church extension.

A novelty introduced at this conference was a beach meeting last evening at 6:30 o'clock, in charge of Rev. Mr. McIntyre, of West Grove. The sessions will be continued until tonight.

Elizabeth Man Died in Fit.

Bayonne, April 29.—A man later identified as Thomas McManus, of Elizabeth was found dying in an epileptic fit at the foot of the Boulevard Tuesday. Patrick Braden telephoned for an ambulance, but when it arrived the man was dead. The identification was made by Mrs. E. J. Gandell, with whom McManus boarded. The body is at a local morgue. McManus had applied for work at the plant of the Texas Oil Company a short time before he was found.

Rahway Club Election.

The Rahway Club, at its annual meeting, elected the folowing: President, Clarence D. Ward; vice-president, Mayor Chas. B. Holmes, M. D.; secretary, Howard H. Cowie; treasurer, George C. Ainsworth. The former governors were re-elected. Folowing the election a supper was served.

—J. P. Reynolds has removed from 62 Westervelt avenue to 28 Myrtle avenue.

Our Embroideries

are certainly lovely. That's what the ladies say, and they ought to know. The styles are extremely various. Nainsook, swiss and cambric edgings and insertings in matched sets, beautiful designs in fine corset covering, shirt waist bandings and all-overs. The English eyelet and the French handwork embroideries are positively fascinating. There's a very good reason why we sell embroideries for so much less than the other stores—we import them ourselves direct and thus save the middleman's profit.

Laces and Nets

Every variety is here exhibited. There is a beautiful collection of all-over laces for waists and gowns; a complete assortment of plain and pleated nets, and an elegant variety of fancy and staple Valenciennes in matching sets.

Have you seen the new "Art-Stitch" Laces? They look just like hand-made goods, yet only cost one-tenth. A shirt waist suit is certainly enriched by the use of "Art-Stitch" Beadings and Insertings.

American made laces, exact reproductions of French Fillet; beautiful patterns in edgings and insertions, in white and ecru, ½ inch to 2½ inches wide and only 5c and 10c a yard.

More About Our Rugs

DESERTED BABY.

Warrant Out for Mother, Said to Have Eloped, and Husband.

Judge Mahon yesterday morning at Elizabeth issued a warrant for the arrest of Robert French, Jr., and his wife, Mary, on a charge of abandoning their nine-months-old baby, preferred by Frenchs sister, Mrs. Margaret O'Grady, of Elizabeth. The baby is being taken care of by Mrs. O'Grady, and she wants it taken off her hands. She said that she had enough to do without taking care of other people's children.

The Frenches at one time lived with Robert French, St., at 727 Bayway, Elizabeth, who said yesterday morning that his son has not been home for a long time. In fact he had not seen him since he told his son and his wife to leave his home. The father claimed that Mrs. Robert French, Jr., ran away with another man.

TOO MANY SALOONS.

Garwood Council Commends Only One of Three to Court.

The Borough Council of Garwood has gone on record against so many saloons in the little borough. All of the five hotels or saloons are in North avenue, the county road. Messrs. Morrison, Levandusky and Becker requested the approval of their applications for license.

Council voted 4 to 2 in favor of the Morrison license, 4 to 2 against the Levandusky application and 3 to 3 on the Becker application. The clerk was instructed to notify the court at Elizabeth of the attitude of Council.

Smuggled Chinamen Forfeit Bail.

Seven Chinamen, who were to have appeared before United States Commissioner Russ, in Hoboken, yesterday, failed to appear, and their bail of $500 each was forfeited. They were found last February half dead from cold and hunger, in a Lackawanna freight car at Morristown. It was suspected that they had been smuggled into the country. They gave cash bail and were released. The Commissioner sent a check for $3,500, representing the forfeited bail, to the Washington authorities.

CRANFORD CONSIDERS TELEPHONE ORDINANCE.

Cranford, April 29.—A public hearing was given Tuesday night by the Township Committee to the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company. Besides stating its offer in circular form to the citizens the company submitted to the committee in writing its desires and the terms it offers. At present an ordinance exists which enables the company to cover twenty-five streets, and the company desires an extension of the service.

The company offers, if a new ordinance is granted permitting, to commence the work within sixty days of building 1,500 feet of subway and to construct within five years 7,000 feet of subway in North avenue and replace forty-six miles of open wire with 5,900 feet of aerial cables and to furnish seven free telephones.

The meeting was well attended, and William MacHarg, agent for the company, asked those present to ask his as many questions as they desired and he would state the company's side. He declared the company was fair in its offer and sought no unfair privileges. A number of citizens complained that the poles already erected were unsightly and claimed many trees were injured by being improperly trimmed to make way for the wires. Henry Sanderson asked that all wires be placed underground.

Mr. MacHarg said the cost of putting wires underground would be too heavy.

Township Attorney Austin asked for the interior block system and was told the houses were too far apart. Township Committeeman J. Z. Smith offered the draft of a new ordinance, and Mr. MacHarg was granted a week to reply to it. The citizens declared the ordinance favored the telephone company and should not be adopted. A resolution offered by Mr. Sanderson that the committee defer action on the ordinance until a substitute was prepared giving the company reasonable rights, was adopted. The proposed substitute is to grant the franchise for only ten years. The committee adjourned to meet again May 25.

COLORED PASTORS LAUD FORT FOR VETOING BILL.

Jersey City, April 29.—At the annual conference of the African Methodist church, held in Bethel church, Oak street, this city, which came to a close Monday afternoon, resolutions were adopted thanking Governor Fort for his veto of House bill No. 256, introduced by Assemblyman Burpo. Today the following telegram was sent to the Governor:

"The New Jersey Annual Conference of the A. M. E. Church desires to express grateful appreciation for the righteous judgment exercised in the veto of Assembly bill No. 256. God bless you." The telegram was signed by Bishop Wesley J. Gaines, Rev. H. P. Anderson and Rev. Solomon P. Hood.

The bill vetoed would prevent benevolent, humane, fraternal or charitable corporations from using the name and emblem of any other society of the United States, or one so near resembling the same as calculated to deceive persons.

The resolution adopted declared the bill is against the interests of the race, would give courts the right of injunction to restrain all fraternal societies and makes it possible for supreme lodges to completely control the existence of other lodges. The resolution further declares the bill to be an opening wedge for "Jim Crow" legislation to humiliate the colored race, and concludes by commending "the gallant men of the colored race who have put forth efforts for the defeat of said bill." The resolutions were signed by Rev. H. P. Anderson, Trenton; Rev. Solomon P. Hood, Orange; Rev. A. L. Murray, Atlantic City; Rev. R. French Hurley, Newark, and Rev. A. A. Collins, Bouldtown.

FEDERAL AUTHORITIES GOT TO LEWIS FIRST.

Philadelphia, April 29.—The local authorities have just learned that William Lewis, of this place, wanted on a charge of non-support preferred by his wife, is in the hands of the federal authorities charged with the robbery of a postoffice at Fullerton, Lehigh county, Pa. The last Mrs. Lewis heard from her husband, he was at Dover. A few days ago a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace von Billiard, of this place, was forwarded to Dover with orders to arrest Lewis.

The federal authorities had captured Lewis before the Dover police were able to serve the civil warrant. Lewis was not suspected while living here of being anything worse than worthless and indolent.

Mrs. Lewis was told of the charge against her husband yesterday and she replied that he will be better in jail than out.

STATE GETS PORTRAIT OF GENERAL SEWELL.

Trenton, April 29.—An oil portrait of the late General William J. Sewell, painted by one of his relatives and presented to the State by his family, was received here yesterday. The portrait will be hung in the office of the adjutant-general.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 2, 1909.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Life lessons from the book of Isaiah.—Isa. vi, 1-9.

The book of Isaiah! The mere mention of this literary masterpiece, this gospel of the Old Testament, which speaks of the birth of the Messiah, describes his life and pictures his crucifixion as if the author's words might have been historic instead of prophetic, should thrill us with reverence for his great genius as a writer, his noble consecration to God, and bring our own souls into closer touch with our Divine Lord and Saviour.

Isaiah was not the first of the prophets, but his writings are placed first because of their superior character to those of all other Hebrew prophets. He prophesied during "the reigns Uzzah, Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, kings of Judah." These were times of great material prosperity in Judah, but great spiritual decline. In the first chapter of his book we find the moral and spiritual corruption portrayed as only a master of literature could do it. Human language could scarcely describe the awful conditions that prevailed. At this time also Judah faced captivity in Babylon. This fact gave Isaiah his great opportunity for seeing in the ultimate return of Judah the salvation of all through the Messiah, the Christ, the true "servant of the Lord."

The book of Isaiah may be divided into three parts:

First.—Prophetical, chapters i-xxxv. The main enemy of Judah in this part was Assyria.

Second.—Historical, chapters xxxvi-xxxix. These chapters contain a plain and simple history of the reign of Hezekiah.

Third.—Prophetical, chapters xl-lxvi. In this part Babylon is the chief enemy of Israel.

Both part first and part third are messianic in character. In part first the Messiah is presented as a mighty king and ruler. "Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given, and the government shall be upon His shoulder, and His name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace" (Isa. ix, 6, a passage from part first). Part second presents the Christ as a suffering victim, an atoning sacrifice, a meek and lowly Redeemer. The best illustration of this character of part second is found in Isa. liii, which should be carefully read by every Endeavorer in part preparation for this service.

In these prophesies of Isaiah great moral and spiritual truths stand out. He denounces sin and pleads for righteousness. At the same time he speaks almost like one of the evangelists in his references to Christ. His book has therefore been called "the fifth gospel." 1. Moral and political teachings. These pervade his book throughout. He calls upon Israel to cease to do evil and learn to do good. He declares that, though their sins may be as scarlet, yet they may be forgiven. He calls upon the sinner to forsake his ways and the unrighteous man his thoughts and turn to God, who will abundantly pardon. 2. Denunciation of idolatry. In the time of Ahaz gross idolatry was practiced. Isaiah severely denounced it and saw it overthrown in the good King Hezekiah's reign. But it was restored under Manasseh. 3. He spoke of the coming Messiah and indicated His true character. This is the greatest value of his book and what gives it its highest standing. 4. Isaiah also declared salvation to the gentiles. As Paul was the apostle to the gentiles, Isaiah was their prophet. Frequent passages refer to their coming to Mount Zion, and in direct language he emphasized his prophecy. Paul quotes Isaiah as saying (referring to chapter xi): "There shall be a root out of Jesse, and He shall rise to rule over the gentiles. In Him shall the gentiles hope" (Rom. xv, 12).

BIBLE READINGS.

Isa. i, 4-6; 16-18, ii, 1-3; iv, 22-24; ix, 6; xi, 1-7; xxviii, 1-7, 16; xxxv, 1-12; xl, 1-11; lii, 1-7; liii, 1-12; lv, 1-7.

Dr. Conwell's Societies.

In an interview in the Christian Endeavor Times Dr. Russell H. Conwell of Philadelphia, the successful pastor of one of the largest congregations in America, speaking of Christian Endeavor in his church, says: "We have no fewer than fourteen Christian Endeavor societies. They are doing a real practical service, meeting not only for prayer and song, but for definite work. For example, one society devotes itself entirely to a local mission, another to helping drunkards, a third to orphanage work, and so on. The church backs the societies up, and the latter are doing a valuable work in creating an interest in the various objects and thus getting the church as a whole interested. It is entirely due to Christian Endeavor that these agencies are thus taken up. I am convinced that our societies must work along this line if we are to keep alive. Mere meetings are not enough when there is such a vast field in which to work."

Work of Foreign Societies.

The south sea islands have some interesting Christian Endeavor societies. There are thirty-four in the Marshall and Caroline islands, and one of them meets in a church built all of whalebone and coral. In Samoa the Endeavorers issue a manual of their own in the Samoan language and have sold 5,000 copies of it. In the Loyalty islands there are 2,000 members, who gave $8,000 for missions last year. That average may well make some young Christians who do not live in the Loyalty islands feel ashamed.

FROM LAW MILL OF 1909

272 Measures Passed by the Legislature at Last Session.

SOME ARE IMPORTANT ACTS.

Great Variety of Subjects Considered —All Signed Within Five Days After Adjournment.

Trenton.—Two hundred and seventy-two laws were the final result of the work of the legislature which adjourned at 6:30 o'clock on the morning of April 16. This is just fifty more laws than were passed by the legislature of 1908. Governor Fort holds that under the constitution he must consider all bills within five days after the adjournment of the legislature, which technically was April 15 this year, and it was late last Wednesday night when he affixed his signature to the annual appropriation bill, the last one he signed. Among the 272 laws of this year are these:

Amends the district court act by extending the jurisdiction of justices of the peace in civil cases started before a judicial district was formed.

Amends the district court act by permitting attachment to issue out of the same against nonresident debtors not above $500.

Amends the reformatory act by providing that the commission, with the governor, may name superintendent and an assistant for a term of five years.

Village Act Amended.

Amends the village act of 1908 by providing that the trustees incorporated under the act shall have the power by ordinance to repair any street, avenue or section in such village and to assess the cost thereof upon the lands fronting upon such street, avenue or section.

Amends the road act of 1908 so that the Monmouth county freeholders can construct a portion of the proposed Ocean boulevard through Ocean county.

Makes the fiscal year in counties other than first class begin Jan. 1.

Authorizes savings banks to make loans without appraisement.

Amends the oleomargarine act of 1905 by giving the state board of health as now constituted all the powers formerly vested in the state dairy commission.

Authorizes boards of freeholders to borrow in anticipation of the collection of taxes any amount not exceeding 90 per cent of the appropriations for the current year.

Ocean Boulevard Act.

The Ocean boulevard act, providing that counties and municipalities through which the proposed boulevard is to pass may improve the same without cost to the state highway commission, which consists of the governor, president of the senate, speaker of the house and the state road commissioner.

Requires physicians to report all cases of communicable diseases in cattle to the state board of health.

Authorizes guardians of lunatics to mortgage property of their wards for necessary expenses.

Provides for additional bonds for private bankers doing business with foreign countries.

Authorizes the payment of the wages of a deceased employee within thirty days after death without administration to the wife, children, father or mother, sister or brother in the order named, or, in the absence of either, to the undertaker or other creditors.

Authorizes the chancellor to invest the deposits in his court in interest bearing securities and provides a reasonable compensation for supervising such investments.

Railroad Tax For Schools.

Authorizes paid to the state school fund $302,178.61 of the railroad tax of 1906.

Appropriates from public school share of main stem tax $242,000, heretofore paid out of state fund, as follows: State Normal school, Trenton, $60,000; State Normal school, Montclair, $33,000; Rutgers college, $15,000; School For Deaf Mutes, $45,000; county superintendents, $42,000; superintendent of public instruction, $25,000; Colored Industrial school, $12,000; foreign evening schools, $10,000.

Authorizing the governing bodies of towns by ordinance to compel property owners to construct house connections with sewers which may exist in the streets upon which their property is located.

Authorizes boroughs to sell public utility plants when such plants are operated at a loss, provided such sale is authorized by the legal voters of such municipality.

Makes valid any deed given by a municipality where the records were destroyed by fire on a sale for taxes after twenty years.

Help For G. A. R. Encampment.

Increases the state allowance for industrial education to $10,000; appropriates $35,000 to aid in defraying the expenses of G. A. R. national encampment at Atlantic City in 1910.

Provides that in municipalities where the governing body and not the voters fix the limit of expenditure for the several departments for such municipalities unexpended balances may be tied over or transferred.

Permits the board of freeholders of counties having no houses of detention to provide for the care of juveniles under the school of detention act in private houses.

Employers' Liability Act.

Senator Ackerman's employers' liability act, which fixes the liability of employers for injuries received by their employees while in their employ.

Authorizes townships to borrow money for street improvements.

Authorizes school boards to raise money on note where through inadvertence no provision was made for raising the amount necessary to meet bonds becoming due.

Provides a penalty of $5 for the refusal on the part of an owner to improve a sidewalk.

Amends the general school law of 1903 by authorizing the appointment of a physician by boards of education who shall be known as the medical inspector and who shall examine every pupil to learn whether any physical defect exists and lecture to the teachers.

Enables counties to sell public lands not used or desirable for public use.

Authorizing two or more municipalities to unite in constructing and maintaining a sewage disposal plant and issue bonds to defray the cost thereof.

Authorizes freeholders to enter into five year contracts for lighting highways more than one mile in length leading from the main shore across meadow lands to seaside resorts.

Authorizes counties to issue bonds at a rate not exceeding 5 per cent with a 2 per cent sinking fund for the purchase of toll or turupike roads.

Memorial Day Measure.

Requires freeholders to include in the tax levy money to pay for flags and flowers to be placed on veterans' graves on May 30 of each year.

Makes it a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment of one to five years to have in possession dynamite for any unlawful purpose.

Makes it unlawful for a notary public to protest a note to which he is a party.

Validates proceedings for the construction of sewers in villages.

Amends the pollution of potable water act of 1899 so as to cover the recent decision of the court of chancery in the case of the board of health against Phillipsburg.

Makes a note indorsed as payable at a bank the same as a certified check, so far as the principal debtor is concerned.

Provides for the appointment of three counselors at law of at least ten years' standing to represent New Jersey in the commission for the promotion of uniform laws.

Pure Candy Law.

Amends the pure food act so as to prevent the adulteration of candy.

Fixes the annual salary of the prosecutor in counties of between 40,000 and 60,000 inhabitants at $2,000.

Provides that justices of the peace elected and taking office shall pay a fee of $5 to the state and $1.50 to the county.

Repeals the act of 1906 validating bonds issued by boroughs.

Limits the right of local boards of education to appoint supervisors without consent of state board.

Amends insurance law of 1875 by barring a waiver of loss on the part of the insured for failure to notify the company, unless required to do so, within sixty days.

Gives town councils the right to fix the salaries of town clerks and collectors of taxes.

Authorizes the securing of damages where property adjacent to sewage disposal works is injured by the location of the works.

Continues for another year the commission on industrial education, but the commission is not authorized to incur any expense for which the state shall be held responsible.

Validates all bonds heretofore issued for borough improvements where the debt limit has not been exceeded.

Authorizes boroughs at a special election to vote on the issuing of bonds for the purchase of a water supply.

Amends the town act concerning the opening or improvement of roads and the payment thereof.

Authorizes boroughs to issue bonds not exceeding $100,000 for the construction and extension of sewers.

Authorizes the issuing of life insurance policies to lodge members on the installment plan.

Incorporates the First judicial district of Morris county, consisting of boroughs of Chatham, Madison and Florham Park, townships of Morris and Chatham and town of Morristown.

Close Season For Rabbits.

Makes it unlawful to kill or have in possession any rabbit between Nov. 15 and Dec. 31.

Makes it unlawful to hunt for wild deer except with a shotgun of a smaller caliber than 12 gauge or to hunt for the same except in daylight.

Authorizes boards of health to require permits for the sale or delivery of ice.

Provides that in any municipality the governing body thereof may appoint three reputable citizens to be known as the board of protectors. They shall investigate the causes of drunkenness and when they are satisfied that a person is or is likely to become a drunkard they shall give notice in writing to all persons licensed to sell liquor to desist from selling or giving intoxicating liquors to such person. Penalties of from $50 to $200 and forfeiture of license are provided for those who disregard such notices. The protectors are also required to give notice in writing to any person that they decide is or likely to become a drunkard to cease the purchase of liquor, and if he disregards the notice he shall be deemed a disorderly person and punished.

CLAIM IS SOMERVILLE WAS NOT INCORPORATED

At the annual town meeting held in Somerset Hall, Somerville, Monday night, the advocates of borough government turned out strong, while the opponents who have recently been flooding the town with anonymous circulars making personal attacks on members of the Citizens' Committee who proposed a change of government kept in the background. There was not a dissenting voice in the meeting against borough government, but the opponents placed a boy at the entrance of the hall with a new series of circulars attacking the project, which he handed to every person who entered the meeting.

Speeches favoring the new form of government were made by Col. Nelson Y. Dungan, Charles Kenyon, president of the Board of Town Commissioners; former Prosecutor James L. Griggs, and Alvah A. Clark. According to the speakers, Somerville, which has been governed for forty years by a board of street commissioners, is now incorporated under any law. No one has ever been able to collect damages for any cause against the town, because the courts have decided that there is no town or government machinery within the meaning of the law.

On the other hand the town never attempted to collect a claim or to enforce an ordinance through the courts. The law enacted by the last Legislature providing for a change of government for the town was signed by Governor Fort too late to make the change before the regular spring election. The following candidates were nominated for town commissioners last night: Walter Durling, Charles Schwed, Lewis A. Bellis, Joseph Barras, William Maxwell, Alexander W. Mack and Albert B. Kline. These candidates are likely to be elected without opposition May 3, and the following day the matter of adopting borough government will be voted on. If the change in government is approved the election of borough officers will follow in a few weeks.

OBERAMMERGAU.

One of the most impressive scenes in the whole collection of 300 views of "Oberammergau, Its People and Their Plays," presented by Henry Ellsworth in connection with his famous presentation on the subject—is the church scene, in which a faithful reproduction of the little edifice is given, both the interior and exterior view—visited each day by the humble villagers of the little Bavarian hamlet. It is quite ordinary in architecture, but as its outlines begin to develop upon the screen, stars appear, lights fill its windows, and the beautiful silvery moonlight floods the scene. Realistic chimes played during the time of this picture only add to its beauty and impressiveness. The interior of the church is then presented, and after a brief silence that naturally falls upon the audience in the presence of such realism, voices singing seem to transport the audience to a divine service in the little village church of Oberammergau. Attending a pictorial reproduction of Oberammergau and its plays is as much like attending the real play itself as it is possible to make it with stereopticons and a word picture. Mr. Ellsworth uses 300 colored views in his entertainment, a select orchestra, 10 choir singers and cathedral chimes are introduced. Moving pictures were never taken of the play. Mr. Ellsworth will appear at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and evening under the auspices of Plainfield Aerie, F. O. E.

NOTHING DEFINITE ON LAWMILL REOPENING.

Trenton, April 29.—Gov. Fort has not made up his mind as to whether he will call a special session of the Legislature. Tuesday he formally acknowledged receipt of the letter which William Fellowes Morgan wrote to him as president of the Republican League for Limited Franchises and Equal Taxation. Mr. Morgan, as told, wrote to the Governor that the league was in favor of a special session of the law-making body to consider election reform bills. In his letter to Mr. Morgan the Governor explained he would write more fully later.

It is known that the Governor had conferences with several persons Tuesday, among them Attorney General Wilson. It is believed that the conference had to do with the question of the extra session.

None of those at the conferences would talk of the subjects considered. The Governor feels that he can name the experts who will make a revaluation of the railroads without calling a special session of the Senate. What the Governor expects to do in the case of David Baird, whom he failed to rename as a member of the State Board of Assessors, is a matter that has not been discussed by him.

—Herbert Taylor, who has been a member of the quartet of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, has taken a position at the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, New York.

NORTH PLAINFIELD HIGH LOSES A CLOSE GAME

The N. P. H. S. lost a closely played game to the Somerville High School on the latter's grounds yesterday afternoon by a score of 1 to 0. Weakness at the bat was the cause of the borough team's defeat, as they easily outplayed their opponents in the field.

The only man to cross the plate was Brunt, who scored in the third inning on an error made by First Baseman Adams, who dropped a thrown ball. For N. P. H. S., Smith pitched a fine game, although allowing nine hits he kept them well scattered, besides he struck out ten men. Henderson, for the home team, allowed but two hits, and did not pass a man to first.

P. H. S. TRIMS BATTIN IN AN UPHILL GAME

Scoring on long hits along the foul lines, the Plainfield High School team defeated the nine from Battin High School, of Elizabeth, at Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon, when they won an up-hill game by a score of 7 to 3. The game marked the renewal of the athletic relations between the schools after a lapse of seven years. Van Zandt was in the box for the local nine and pitched excellent ball after the first session, when he was a bit unsteady. Two hits, a passed ball and four errors netted three runs for the visitors in the first, but after that no Elizabethan took the path from third to the plate.

Hits by Runyon, Clark and Lidgate, and a pass for Giddes netted two runs for the local boys in the fifth, and Doane clinched the game in the seventh by pushing out a long single over first base, scoring Lidgate and Snyder, who gained the bags by safe hits. In the eighth three P. H. S. boys came home, Van Zandt and Lidgate, each hitting safe and Clark making a two-bagger over thir base. Runyon led the locals in stick work, making three hits out of four times at bat. The High School line-up:

Van Zandt, p; Dodwell, c; Lidgate, 1b; Snyder, 2b; Giddes, ss; Clark, 3b; Doane, lf; Runyon, cf; Riffert, rf.

Cycle Club President's Party.

A surprise birthday party was given President Sherman Haberle, of the Plainfield Cycle Club, at his home on Chatham street. The affair was well attended as it was Sherman's twenty-first birthday and his friends wanted to show they were not going to let the occasion pass without a celebration. The Cycle Club orchestra and quartet were on hand to provide plenty of music. Those present were Percy Haberle, Robert Woods, Emil Thompson, Walter Cubberly, I. B. Huffman, James Neal, Ray Mantz, W. B. Dunham, E. S. Burd, Clarence Jackson, George Simons, George Adams, Frank Neal, William Bentliff, William Little, Sherman Haberle, Jack Horner and William Trembath. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Walker Institute Subscriptions.

Rev. F. D. Tildon, of Bethel chapel, who was asked to receive for the Walker Industrial Institute whatever funds might be presented by the charitable people of Plainfield for that cause, desires to state that he is no longer acting in that capacity and that any further donations should be sent direct to the president of the school at Augusta, Georgia, V. N. Carney, its financial agent, having left the city.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Beekman, of Elm place, have returned home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Millar, of Jersey City.

Mrs. Mortimer Parker and Mrs. A. C. Parison, of South Amboy, were the guests yesterday of Miss Etta Raybert, of East Second street.

Mrs. Emery N. Downs, of Park avenue, is entertaining her mother from Buffalo, whom she has not seen in more than a year. She will remain here for sometime.

CRANFORD HOLDS UP PHONE WIRE ORDINANCE.

The Cranford township rooms were filled to the doors Tuesday night by a representative gathering of citizens and taxpayers at a public hearing by the township committee upon the application of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company for an ordinance to utilize all of the streets in the town for the erection of poles and underground conduits.

After a three-hour discussion, the township committee retired and allowed the citizens to hold a mass-meeting, at which it was voted that the township committee defer action until such time as a substitute ordinance be presented, giving the telephone company reasonable rights, but so sofe-guarded in its terms as to restrain control of the erection of poles, and to order, where necessary, such subways as may be needful to prevent unsightly construction, oppresive terms or the violation of individual rights of citizens, and that no ordinance be granted to cover a longer term than ten years.

After the passage of the resolution the township committee reconvened and the hearing was adjourned until May 25. The telephone company proposes to spend $19,000 on improvements in Cranford, and has offered the town the same concessions as Westfield, the latter town having 600 subscribers to about half the number in Cranford. Many of the citizens in Cranford think the wires shoulud go underground, while others are willing to give the telephone company the right to use the streets if shade trees are protected and scenery not disfigured by unsightly poles.

VEITCHE SEEKS TO FIND HIS LOST HALF-BROTHER.

James Veitche, of Pittsburg, Pa., is anxious to find his long lost half-brother, William Streeton, who he says he has not seen for nearly nine years. According to Vitche's story, the two left their home at Motherwell, Scotland, to seek riches in this country. Vitche settled in Pittsburg and Streeton was last heard of when he was working on a farm near South Plainfield in 1901.

The Pittsburg man visited Piscataway township yesterday but could find no clue as to Streeton's whereabouts, he says. Before leaving for his home he inserted an advertisement in this paper seeking information as to Streeton's whereabouts.

Miss Mary Buckley.

Miss Mary Buckley, forty-six years of age, died at her home, 419 Cottage place, last night, after an illness of many months. She was the daughter of the late Thomas and Mary Buckley, had been a resident of Plainfield all her life. The funeral will take place Saturday morning at 8:15 o'clock from her home and 9 o'clock from St. Mary's church. Interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery. She is survived by two brothers, Thomas and James Buckley.

General Grubb's Friends Peevish.

Disappointment prevails among the members of the 23d Regiment of New Jersey Volunteers who still survive over the announcement made yesterday morning that the proposed reunion of the regiment at the home of General E. Burd Grubb at Edgewater Park, which was to have taken place on May 3, had been indefinitely postponed. General Grubb offended some of his old comrades when he accepted the Democratic nomination for Congress last fall.

F. S. KATZENBACH BOOM MEETS WITH MUCH FAVOR.

The boom launched Tuesday night at the banquet of the Americus Club in Elizabeth for Frank S. Katzenbach, of Trenton, for the Democratic nomination for Governor in 1910 was widely discussed by politicians of Elizabeth yesterday, and was received almost without exception with favor.

While it is a far cry to the fall of next year, it is pointed out that Mr. Katzenbach made the strongest run of any candidate of the party who has ever been nominated since the Republicans gained control of the State government by the election of Griggs as Governor in 1895.

NEW CHOIRS ON SUNDAY

At Crescent Ave., Grace Episcopal, First Presbyterian and First Baptist Churches.

ALSO CHANGES IN ORGANISTS.

Several Soloists to Be Heard for First Time in Several Edifices on May 1.

Sunday will mark a number of changes in music at the local churches, more in fact than usual in past years. At the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, where William P. Dunn has been the organist, he will be succeeded by R. A. Laslett Smith, of Stamford, Conn. He has been playing in Waterbury, Conn. There will be three new members of the quartet, Miss Grace Carroll, contralto soloist, remaining for another year. She has been singing at the church seven years and holds the record for length of service. The three new singers are all from New York. Miss Duncan will be the soprano, Mr. Pilcher the tenor and Mr. Pettigrew the baritone. The new order of things will be effective on Sunday.

In connection with the change of organist at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, there is a strange co-incident. Mr. Smith, who has been engaged there, is a brother to S. Frederick Smith, the new organist at Grace church, who will assume his new position on Sunday. At that church he will inaugurate a boy choir in place of the mixed one. Strangely, the music committees of the two churches were ignorant of each other's action in engaging new organists. The change from the mixed to the boy choir at Grace church is not without regret on the part of many members of the parish who had learned to admire the music as furnished by the mixed choir, but the boy choir is considered more in keeping with the music of this church.

Another change effective on Sunday will be at the First Presbyterian church, where Miss Anna Lucretia Case, soprano, retires and is succeeded by Miss Helen Grant, of Roselle. Miss Case has held the position for three years and goes to a Brooklyn church. Miss Grant's home is in the West, and she is receiving vocal training in New York, which accounts for her being at Roselle. Mr. McClintock, tenor; Mr. Byard, bass, and Miss Jessamine Burd, contralto, will remain at the church for another year, while Clifford A. Braider, organist, will also continue.

At the First Baptist church there will be one change, Miss Gertrude Hinz, who has been contralto soloist for three years, resigning. She will be succeeded by Miss Josie Bracker, of New York, who has been singing in one of the Newark churches. She received most of her musical education abroad, and is said to have a particularly good voice, as to strength and sweetness of tone.

So far as known there will be no other important changes in the music arrangements at the other city and borough churches, those now engaged continuing for another year.

SIXTY AT RECEPTION FOR NEWLY-WEDDED COUPLE.

About sixty relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gilmore sprung a surprise reception upon the newly-weds at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Payson, of West Fourth street, Wednesday evening. There were guests from Jersey City, East Orange, Reading, Hillsboro, Attleboro, Mass., and Plainfield to congratulate the young couple and wish them a happy wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore received many beautiful and handsome presents, consisting of silverware, cut glass, table linen and china. At a late hour refreshments were served.

Theodore Smith.

Theodore Smith, aged forty-one years, died this morning at his home on Allen place, North Plainfield, following a long illness from rheumatism which became chronic. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Augnst Smith, who died several years ago, and was born here June 1, 1868. He had always lived in Plainfield. For many years he was employed as a bartender for A. D. Findley, of East Second street, but a month ago was obliged to give up his position on account of ill-health. He is survived by a wife and tw children, a son and daughter; also one brother, Charles Smith, of Craig place. Announcement of funeral will be made later.

ANDREWS TERM ENDS AS TAX BOARD MEMBER

Frederick H. Andrews, of this city, today ceases to be a member of the Union County Board of Taxation, his term having expired and Governor Fort failing to re-appoint him. Until some action is taken the county board will consist of two members. It is the opinion of those at the county seat that Governor Fort will reappoint Mr. Andrews, although the former has been making efforts to get rid of the county boards of taxation, simply because he does not believe in them.

The legality of the board with two members, when the law provides for a commission of three, is being questioned today. It is said that the same thing exists in other counties of the State, where the Governor has failed to re-appoint members. It is understood that the Governor received the name of Mr. Andrews for re-appointment.

FREEHOLDERS TO CONFER WITH STATE ROAD HEAD

The county road committee from the Union County Board of Freeholders, of which S. P. T. Wilbur, of this city, is a member, which has been making a general inspection of all roads in the county during the past three weeks, met yesterday at Elizabeth and arranged to hold a conference with State Road Commissioner Gilkyson at Trenton on Tuesday, regarding the appropriation of State funds for road work, before taking any further action.

The appropriation for county road work will probably be made under the new law, which means that the money will be appropriated from the automobile fund. It is estimated that Union county should receive between $6,000 and $7,000 from the State fund for the repair of roads.

The freeholders have practically decided to expend about $30,000 on road repairs in the county this year, which will include about $10,000 for three miles of repairs on Westfield avenue, through Garwood and Cranford; $5,000 for two miles of repairs of the Seven Bridges road; $5,000 for two miles of repairs on Mountain avenue, at this end of the county and about $2,500 for one miles of repairs on St. George's road near Rahway.

In rebuilding and repairing roads the method of work has been changed. Instead of the clay binder, in all future work an asphaltic binder will be used. This, it is believed, will help a great deal to preserve the roadways and at the same time assist in keeping the dust down. The constant use of the county roads by heavy automobiles has made the problem of preserving them a serious one, but in the opinion of those who have made a study of road building material with an asphaltic base is the only kind that will help to solve the question.

H. C. KREBS THE WINNER OF "COCKED-HAT-TOURNAMENT."

The big "cocked-hat-tournament" which was started at the Park Club last October, was concluded on the club alleys last night, when H. C. Krebs, superintendent of the North Plainfield Public Schools, was announced as the winner by a half-point. He made a total of fourteen and a half points during the tournament, while Charles L. Nichols was second with a total of fourteen points. A. M. Abbott finished third with thirteen points.

When the tournament was begun there were about thirty contestants, but at the finish there were but a handful left to compete for honors. There was but one prize, a silver cup, and that will be presented to Mr. Krebs next week.

Trolley Hits Baker Wagon.

Struck by a west-bound trolley car on West Fourth street, near John street, yesterday afternoon at about 4 o'clock, a delivery wagon owned and driven by Nathan Lewis, a West End baker, was badly damaged and the horse was severely cut about the fore legs. Lewis escaped without injury. It is said that the horse became unmanageable and balked on the track. The car was in charge of Conductor Thomas Duffy and Motorman John Lindeberry.

Coal Thieves Plead Guilty.

John Anthony, Joseph O'Yees, Stephen Doric and John Gusten, who were arrested at Dunellen yesterday by Detective D. M. Laverett, of the New Jersey Central, charged with stealing coal, were arraigned before Recorder D. S. Campbell at that place last night. The prisoners pleaded guilty and were fined $5 each. The fines were paid.

D.A.R. DELEGATES REPORT

Continental Chapter Hears of Proceedings at the Order's National Convention.

WASHINGTON ROCK TABLET.

Local Daughters Again Discuss Plan to Place Memorial on Historic Site.

Besides receiving interesting reports from Miss Addie Dietrich, of the local chapter, and Miss Anna Todd, of Camp Middlebrook, Bound Brook, delegates to the National convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution at Washington, the members of Continental Chapter, D. A. R., of this city, at its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. J. H. Vail, on Hillside avenue, yesterday, discussed matters pertaining to the proposed monument or tablet to be erected on the site of Washington Rock.

At the last meeting of the chapter, Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen was appointed a committee of one to ascertain who the present owners of the Washington Rock property are, but she was unable to be present at yesterday's meeting and no report was received. The talked-of plans on the part of a syndicate to destroy the Rock site were discussed and it was the belief that this would not be done, but the chapter is now anxious to do something at once that will suitably mark the site as originally proposed. The chapter has several hundred dollars in the trasury and for a number of years has been adding to the fund with the idea of making it $1,000 which it is believed would be sufficient to accomplish the purpose.

In the absence of definite information little or nothing could be done yesterday, but the members propose to take immediate steps towards carrying out the original plans.

Miss Addie Dietrich in her rpeort of the National convention in Washington describe in an interesting way the dedication of the New Jersey room in the headquarter's building, the wood used for the purpose being taken from the old frigate "Augusta." Continental Chapter furnished a handsome desk set for this room and the appreciation of this gift was expressed.

The report of Miss Anna Todd referred more especially to the business of the convention of the D. A. R., and she particularly emjhasized the fact that the gathering was the most harmonious in the history of the organization. She denied absolutely that there was any such dissention in the selection of officers.

At the close of the meeting there was a social hour and refreshments were served. The chapter will not meet again until fall.

"GYPSY ENCAMPMENT" AT HEAVENLY REST

Under the auspices of the Women's Guild of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, an entertainment entitled "A Gypsy Encampment," was given in the parish house last night. A number of women, members of the guild appeared in gypsy costumes and presented an attractive picture. The first part of the program was devoted to tableaux, after which there was a Spring song by the band, followed with a violin solo by Miss Violetta Staples; dramatic reading by W. K. Flanagan and baritone solos by William Holmes, all of which was greatly enjoyed.

In part second there was a gypsy dance, which was executed in true style, followed a solo and chorus, Miss Susan Bennet taking the solo part. There was another reading by Mr. Flanagan and soprano solos by Mrs. E. E. Brown.. The concluding part of the program was devoted to tableaux, including "Fortune Teller," "Crowning the Gypsy Queen," and "Asleep in Camp." In the tableaux Mr. Brown's famous dog took an important part.

At the conclusion of the program icec ream and cake were served. The proceeds will go toward liquidating the debt for the piano purchased some time ago. The committee in charge of the affair comprised Mrs. E. E. Brown and Miss Elizabeth Forster.

OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY

Monday Afternoon Club Entertains on Its Twenty-First Birthday.

AT HARTRIDGE AUDITORIUM.

Miss Finch Recites—Joseph McIntyre and Horace Britt Provide Musical Program.

In spite of last night's severe storm, a large number of the Monday Afternoon Club's members and their guests celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of the club's existence with a literary and musical program at the Hartridge auditorium. The decorations of the pretty hall, confined mainly to the stage, were very effective. Beautiful palms, greens and cherry blossoms with burning candles and a light on the foreground gave the hazy effect of spring time, which by a light from above was transformed into the golden glow of summer. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Henry M. Maxson, detained at home by illness, the guests were received by the vice-presidents, Mrs. Orten G. Dale and Mrs. Leighton Calkins.

The literary part of the program was given by Miss Lavine Finch, who prefaced her "Old Mammy Stories" with the plea that they should not be considered irreverent and that the southern folk lore must be transmitted by human speech, for the tone and quality of their emotional expression were lost when committed to print. Miss Finch interupted the following program with the "Old Mammy" spirit and fervor, for which she received applause and flowers. "The Story of Moses," "Lazus," "Gimme de Preacher," "Listen to the Angels," "The Stories of the Creation," "Were You There;" "The Resurrection" and "Misery."

The musical part of the program, dividing the literary portions, was received by the audience with enthusiastic delight. Horace Britt, cellist of Metropolitan Opera and Joseph MacIntyre at the piano rendered the following selections: (a) Meditation de "Thais," Massenet; (b) L'arlequin, Popper; (c) Romance, Saint-Saens; (d) Serenade-Badine, Gabriel-Marie. With rare skill these performers evoked such exquisite harmonies from their instruments that the audience showed their appreciation by prolonged applause which was rewarded with an encore, and still they asked for more.

Much credit is due the entertainment committee for the exquisitely decorated stage and their efforts in planning the twenty-first anniversary of the club. The members of the committee are Mrs. George S. Ring, Mrs. Charles H. Tomkins, Mrs. Alan Cowperthwait, Mrs. William M. Stillman and Mrs. William M. Wherry, Jr.

MONROE AVE. FLOCK'S RECEPTION FOR PASTOR

The members of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church gave their pastor, Rev. C. S. Kemble and wife, a reception in the church, last night, showing their appreciation of their return for another year. The event was a happy one in which all joined heartily. Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Charles M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, and Rev. and Mrs. Ora J. Shoop, of Grace M. E. church, were among those attending.

The musical program comprised piona selections by Miss Daisy Brouard and vocal solos by Mrs. C. K. Shreve. The address of welcome to the pastor was made by Edward H. Beekman, in which he expressed the harmony existing between pastor and people, and the pleasure that he was returned for another year. Mr. Kemble made a happy response. Other remarks were made by Rev. Mr. Shoop and Dr. Anderson, who joined in the spirit of good fellowship and congratulated both pastor and people that the religious work at the church is progressing so satisfactorily.

During the course of his short address, Dr. Anderson said that when he learned that he was to go to Plainfield, he had no regrets, for he realized that he would be among friends and that Pastors Kemble and Shoop would be here. During the social hour which followed the women of the church served refreshments.

CONCERT BY GLEE CLUB

Mendelssohn Singers of Elizabeth Appear at First Presbyterian Church.

HANS LETZ THE VIOLINIST.

Splendid Program Faultlessly Rendered by Chorus of 25—Letz Delights Audience.

The concert given at the First Presbyterian church, last night, by the Mendelssohn Glee Club, of Elizabeth, with Hans Letz, violinist, as the assisting artist, was an event of more than usual interest in local musical circles, and there was a large audience present to enjoy the fine program of classical and popular selections. Miss Helen Huntington accompanied the glee club at the piano, while Miss Jessie Utter was the accompanist for Mr. Letz. Bowman Lowe was the director of the glee club. The affair was given under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, organist of the church.

It was the first appearance of the glee club outside of its home, the Town and Country Club, Elizabeth, and the reception here was a cordial one. There were twenty-five members of the club hre and they sang several numbers in a delightful manner. Their work showed great care in training, in fact every one has a solo voice, combining an especially strong chorus.

The program was opened with two numbers by the glee club, "Worship of God in Nature," Beethoven, and "Ave Maria," Abt, rendered in a finished manner. Then followed a violin solo, "Ballade et Polonaise," Vieuxtemps, by Mr. Letz. His work was of the usual high order and his rendition of the difficult composition, was perfect. He was obliged to respond to an encore, playing "Traummero."

The glee club then sang three numbers, "How the Rills are Murmuring," Kremser; "Lullaby," Brahms," and "The Scissors Grinder," (Flemish Folk Song). Jungst, and the perfect harmony of voices were heard, perhaps, to the best advantage, unless it was in the next number, "To the Sons of Art," by Mendelssohn, where strength and sweetness were combined to a high degree.

Following two numbers by Mr. Letz, "Romanza from 2d Concerto," Wieniawski, and "Humoresque," and the repetition of the latter which the audience demanded as an encore, the club sang a noteworthy number, "The Sword of Ferrara," by Bullard, in concluding the program. Altogether the concert was one of the most satisfactory and pleasing heard at this church and many praiseworthy comments were expressed by those in the audience.

GRACE MEN'S CLUB DRAMATIC PERFORMANCE

Under the auspices of the Men's Club of Grace church, a successful dramatic entertainment was given at the church parish house, when a comedy playlet, "Done on Both Sides," was presented by a cast comprising Miss Ursula Rowland, Miss Dorothy Fleming, W. T. Pellitier, Laurens Van Buren and A. Willis West. Miss Louise Saunders presented two original monologues and stilled the applause with an encore. Despite the averse weather conditions, there was a large attendance.

The affair was arranged and the amateurs coached in their parts by W. T. Pellitier. The cast follows: "Mr. Whiffles," W. T. Pellitier; "Mrs. Whiffles," Miss Dorothy Fleming; "Miss Lydia Whiffles," Miss Ursula Rowland; "Mr. Thibbs," Laurens Van Buren; "Mr. Brown-John," A. Willis West. The play is delightful comedy, with abundant humorous situations, which were excellently presented. Miss Alma McCormick played several piano selections during the evening.

Ash Carter Arrested.

Ferdnando Brown, an ash carter of 766 Webster place, was arrested yesterday by Chief Marshal Weiss for carting ashes without a license. The case will come up before Recorder Dolliver tonight.

Parent-Teacher Meeting.

INDEPENDENTS' SHOWS WILL BE SEEN HERE

The announcement that Klaw and Erlanger, representing the theatrical syndicate, has made an agreement with David Belasco and Harrison Grey Fiske, representing the so-called independents, and formed a colition whereby both sides will hereafter play attractions at each others theatres, is of particular interest to Plainfield theatre-goers. It means that at Manager Counihan's New Plainfield theatre next season an added list of Broadway attractions will be seen here.

While the unfriendly feeling between Klaw & Erlanger existed, it was impossible to have the great productions of David Belasco and Harrison Grey Fisk presented to the local public. In the future, both of these managers will book attractions for Plainfield together with Klaw & Erlanger.

HORSE DEAL GETS TWO INTO TROUBLE

Carl Ahnert and William Smith were placed under $100 bail each to await the action of the Grand Jury, in the Elizabeth Criminal Court yesterday, on a charge of conspiring to defraud Charles Lyons, of Neshanic.

Lyons went to Elizabeth Wednesday, April 21, and bought a horse from Ahnert, who keeps a blacksmith shop on Pearl street in that city, for $20, telling Ahnert he would leave the horse there for a few days. He took the animal to a barn which was owned by a man named Williams, whom he told he would pay for the horse's keep when he returned.

Lyons did not return as soon as he expected to, and when he did go to Williams' barn for the horse, Williams told him that the animal had been sold to pay for his keep by William Smith, who took him to Newark and disposed of him there. Lyons went to Police Court and made a complaint against Ahnert and Smith.

Judge Mahon tried to get a receipt from Ahnert for Lyons, showing that Lyons had paid him for the horse and that there was nothing to justify the animal being sold again. Instead of signing at the bottom, Ahnert put his signature at the top of the receipt. Judge Mahon sent the receipt back to him and told him where to sign, but Ahnert could not be found.

The judge, believing there was a conspiracy between Smith and Ahnert to defraud Lyons out of the horse and money, made out a complaint to that effect and both men were arraigned in court yesterday.

TO SHOW PASSION PLAY AT THE THEATRE TONIGHT.

Under the auspices of Plainfield Aerie, F. O. E., a pictorial reproduction of Oberammergau, its people and their ways, will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre tonight by Henry Ellsworth. Three hundred colored views will be shown and as an additional attraction there will be a select orchestra and a choir of ten voices. The Passion Play as produced in 1905 will be shown for the first time here.

Owing to this attraction, there will be no advanced vaudeville at the theatre tonight but the great show given last night will be seen again tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. It will include Jane Stuart, in novelty monologues; Forbes & Forbes, in a comedy sketch; Charles Reilly, a character comedian; DeVore & Martin, sensational flying ring artists; the Overing trio, juvenile entertainers and last but not least the famous Lucier family, a quartet of refined musical entertainers.

THE WEATHER.

Showers and warmer tonight, probably thunderstorms; Saturday, showers, cooler in afternoon. Maximum, 45; minimum, 35.

Leased Auto Show Rooms.

The Plainfield Auto Sales Company, which was organized and incorporated this week at Elizabeth, today leased of Fred Endress his stores at 118-120 Madison avenue for auto show rooms. The concern has the agency for three counties for the Herreshoff automobile, and will do a general business in autos and supplies. The incorporators are Dr. S. A. Aldrich, Carlton C. Brown and C. C. Rocap, the last named being the agent.

Minstrel Show Ends Tonight.

The final performance of the Hope chapel minstrels will be given at the chapel tonight. At its conclusion the minstrel men will hold a banquet at Timbo's.

NEW THOUGHIST REPLIED

Mrs. Marsh Has Something to Say About Local Ministers' Criticisms.

EXPLAINS HER DOCTRINES.

New Thought Not New—Its Followers Are Not Reformers, Says Lecturer.

Coming to this city last night from the New Thought centre church in Brooklyn for the last of her series of three lectures on the faith, Mrs. Caraline S. F. Marsh, head of the Brooklyn church, spoke of the sermons preached about New Thought last Sunday by Rev. George A. Warner, rector of Holy Cross church, and Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and said that the antagonistic attitude of the latter was entirely uncalled for. "New Thought is not antagonistic to the churches," she said, "but this disturbing element of pulpit criticism is expected by us, because the people are not ready for the movement. Church people don't fully live their religion—they read the Word of God and hear it read, but they don't understand it. They live according to the letter of the Bible, but don't think what it means.

"One of the Plainfield clergymen says that it is presumptuous to put one's own interpretation on the Word of God, but I think that the majority of clergymen do make these interpretations in their sermons. He would truly be a 'technical clergyman' who made no effort to expound the Bible truths by a personal interpretation, and an application to life of this twentieth century.

"Another clergyman has a denial of his sermon published, but it seems to me that this denial was brought about by opposition on the part of the parishioners to some of his statements. This rector is not to blame—his people are not ready for New Thought ideas in his sermons. I don't consider his sermon to be any powerful defense of New Thought, but some of the principles of our faith are believed by every church member, and even his conservative treatment of these principles has apparently met with disapprobation.

"We don't ask you to believe, we only ask you to think. I tell you what's true—take it or leave it, and 'judge not, that ye be not judged.' Christian Scientists are a great and good people, and there is no antagonism between us and them. I am glad that the published statement that Mrs. Mary G. Baker Eddy was once a New Thought believer was been corrected. We New Thought followers say 'God is all,' the Christian Scientists, and I think the use of a question mark after the word 'Christian' here is entirely uncalled for—deny the body. That is the fundamental distinction."

Mrs. Marsh's talk last night at the Babcock building was on "New Thought Healing and The Silence." "To love is the first step toward New Thought healing. We love every man and woman, we love the churches, but we say that in this great twentieth century no church can say 'stand still, and forbid progress with present day philosophy and science. Why, dear me, I don't want to break up the churches. I'm a descendant of Jonathan Edwards and come of a Presbyterian family, brought up a Presbyterian. I love them all.

"New Thought is nothing new. If you're satisfied, stand still. If you feel that you are not entirely satisfied in religion, progress; think, interpret Bible truths with twentieth century education, commune with the Spirit of God that is in you, and live in peace.

"What must you do to be healed? Why, change your environment; connect yourself with the great vibrating cosmic energy all about you until yet get in union and communion with the super-human mind. Shut your eyes and look inward; be silent, and study yourself; banish jealousy, anger, and hatred, forget your imperfections and those of all other people; get in conscious communion with the heavenly spirit within you and the heavenly things around you. Healing is believing, understanding, knowing, a full recognition of being.

"Lots of us are living New Thought teachings unconsciously, and its healing is not only healing of the sick, but it's the healing of thought and environment by the force and power we have within us, and we can build ourselves into body perfection and increase in health, wealth and love. Suppose you have a headache. Now if you can subjectively realize to the fullest extent the perfectioness of life

GOLF.

Travers is being interviewed by the newspapers and much talked about since his arrival in Scotland. A comment from the London Times is:

"Most interesting of all should be the invasion by Jerome Travers, who has for the last two years won the amateur championship of the United States, an invasion which is not likely to be treated with the same mistaken light-heartedness as was that of Mr. Travis in 1904. England has been waiting some time for a raid upon her shores by the young golfers of America; it is now some years since Mr. Low warned us to be prepared for their attack, adding the prophetic utterance that already he 'heard the whistle of their steamers in the Mersey;' but Mr. Travers is the first genuine representative of the golf of young America who has come."

Whether the New York interscholastic tournament ever will be resumed or not, there is no abatement of interest in junior golf in Boston, Chicago or Philadelphia. The Philadelphia interscholastic championship is announced for May 17, 18 and 19 at the Merion Cricket Club. On the preceding Saturday over the same course the boys will start a new competition, a Philadelphia junior championship for a trophy presented by Robert W. Lesley.

There are 2,789 players rated on the new handicap list of the Massachusetts State Golf Association. The compilation is an admirable one, and although more open handicaps are held than elsewhere it justifies the claim that the mug hunter has been eliminated from the game in Massachusetts. J. G. Anderson and H. H. Wilder are scratch; W. C. Chick, T. M. Claflin, T. R. Fuller, A. M. Reid and P. W. Whittemore receive one stroke, and P. Gilbert and H. R. Johnstone two strokes. A. M. Reid is the St. Andrews player who is rated from his summer club at Hyannisport. He gets three on the M. G. A. handicap.

BASEBALL.

The Clinton Avenues will play the Bloomfield Club at Bloomfield tomorrow afternoon, leaving here on the 1:30 o'clock train.

The Y. M. C. A. team will open its season at Crescent Oval tomorrow afternoon, when the Bedford Branch, Brooklyn, club will be its opponents. The locals are in fine condition and no doubt there will be a large crowd present to witness the opening contest. Russell and Burns will be the battery for the locals.

John Burns, the star catcher for the Y. M. C. A. team, has already become a favorite here with the fans. He fills his position on the team in fine style, while he is right there with the stick when base-hits are needed.

NEW THOUGHIST REPLIED

and your one-ness with God, you can't think about a headache, and the next thing you know, it's gone.

"New Thought followers are not reformers. Every man can make just what he wants to out of himself, and we don't interfere with any man. If you want to drink, why go ahead and drink. You'll sink to a lower plane by drinking, but you can pull yourself up again if you want to. There's no harm in drink, only in over drink. Sugar, corn, and even milk all ferment, but they are beneficial to us, if we take them in moderation. It's just like over-eating, you see. Whatever you do, you pay the price for it, and you are all-powerful. A minister here has referred to Patten in his sermon attacking New Thought. Patten paid his price for what he got—he has become unpopular and has lost his health. But he got what he wanted. It's not for us to judge, you know."

HEARS OF MISSING CHILDREN.

Mary Syen and Boy of Three Years Seen Near Tappan.

Chief of Police Forrs of Garfield, received a telephone message last night from Mayor Ralph Karl, of Garfield, that sixteen-year-old Mary Syen and three-year-old Joseph Berger, who disappeared from the Bergen home in Garfield on Sunday, had been seen in the neighborhood of Tappan yesterday.

Mayor Karl, who has led in the search for the two, telephoned the news from Tappan, where he said he would spend the night. Mayor Karl said that the girl and her little nephew had been seen in a road near Tappan. Mayor Karl was sure that the description of the children's clothing tallied with that of the missing ones.

The police of New Milford also telephoned to Garfield yesterday that the two had been seen in that town at 10 a. m. As New Milford is eight miles from Tappan the two children apparently walked that distance during the afternoon. Under the direction of Mayor Karl, the vicinity of Tappan, which is in Bergen county on the State line, will be scoured tomorrow for the missing ones.

Exempts to Parade.

The Elizabeth Exempt Firemen's Association, having nearly 500 members, will parade in Newark at the firemen's celebration on June 14. This was decided on at the annual meeting last night, and a committee composed of the officers and eight members was appointed to make the necessary arrangements. The Exempts will be in uniform, and expect to make their usual hit.

Friendly Outers' Stag.

The "Friendly Outers" an organization comprisingn fifteen county school superintendents of which Henry C. Krebs, of the borough, is a member, will hold its annual stag at the Seaside hotel, Atlantic City, tomorrow. The organization grew out of a house party held at the home of the Atlantic county superintendent three years ago.

Mrs. F. C. Burner Injured.

Mrs. Fred C. Burner, of Jackson avenue, fell down stairs at her home yesterday and severely sprained her ankle, which will detain her for a few weeks. Mrs. Burner had just started to go down stairs, when her foot slipped and she fell a distance of several feet before she could catch hold of the banister.

Change in Business.

S. S. Kresge, of Detroit, the owner of fifty five and ten cent stores throughout the country, recently purchased four stores of this character formerly conducted by Germaine, one of them being at West Front street and Madison avenue, and is now in possession of the local business.

Horse and Buggy Gone.

Horse thieves Wednesday night stole a valuable horse and buggy from the barn of J. L. Headley, a member of the Union County Board of Agriculture, and another horse and buggy from the barn of a farmer named Crane, near Lyons Farms.

The annual banquet of the Somerville Athletic Association will be held on May 7 at the Somerset Hotel.

SEA GIRT DATES FIXED FOR SUMMER ENCAMPMENT

The State Military Board at Trenton yesterday fixed the following dates, subject to the approval of Governor Fort, for the annual encampment of the New Jersey National Guard at Sea Girt in July and August:

July 10 to 17, Fifth Regiment, under command of Colonel Edwin W. Hine; July 17 to 24, First Regiment, under command of Colonel Henry W. Freeman; July 24 to July 31, Fourth Regiment, under command Henry H. Brinkerhoff, now lieutenant-colonel, who will be elected colonel by the field officers of the regiment Monday night, to succeed Colonel Joseph H. Brensinger, who has been elected brigade commander of the First Brigade; July 31 to August 7, Third Regiment, under command of Colonel John Mather; August 7 to August 14, Second Regiment, under command of Colonel Nelson Y. Dungan.

Under this schedule there will be five weeks of encampment, one week to be devoted to each of the five regiments in the State. To carry out this plan, however, will require some financiering by the military authorities, for the reason that the Legislature has appropriated only $62,200 for the Sea Girt encampment expenses this year. This sum, if expended in the same scale as in previous years, will cover only four weeks' encampment. If each company is assigned to a week's duty at Sea Girt, this will mean that one of the five regiments will have to remain at home this year.

The problem of taking care of five regiments in four weeks at Sea Girt will be put up to Governor Fort today, and it is possible that some satisfactory solution may be worked out. In case it is finally decided to keep one regiment at home this summer it will rest with the Governor to determine which one will be deprived of the Sea Girt experience.

It is quite probable that Governor Fort will suggest to the State Military Board that if economy is practised some plan can be arrived at wherein the five commands can be cared for under the present appropriation. If the Governor insists upon cutting down expenses it is likely that the officers of the various regiments will not find encampment as pleasant as hertofore. In fact their work will be made more near real soldier life.

Bethel Entertainment.

A good sized audience assembled at Bethel chapel last night to enjoy the entertainment given by the Boys' Club. There were twenty members of the club present to go through the pantomimes taken from "Mother Goose," and to sing plantation songs. At the conclusion of the entertainment, the boys sold a number of baskets and rugs they had made.

Mercerized Finished Percales, 33 inches wide, at 25c a yard.

Our Embroideries

are certainly lovely. That's what the ladies say, and they ought to know. The styles are extremely various. Nainsook, swiss and cambric edgings and insertings in matched sets, beautiful designs in fine corset covering, shirt waist bandings and all-overs. The English eyelet and the French handwork embroideries are positively fascinating. There's a very good reason why we sell embroideries for so much less than the other stores—we import them ourselves direct and thus save the middleman's profit.

Laces and Nets

Every variety is here exhibited. There is a beautiful collection of all-over laces for waists and gowns; a complete assortment of plain and pleated nets, and an elegant variety of fancy and staple Valenciennes in matching sets.

Have you seen the new "Art-Stitch" Laces? They look just like hand-made goods, yet only cost one-tenth. A shirt waist suit is certainly enriched by the use of "Art-Stitch" Beadings and Insertings.

American made laces, exact reproductions of French Fillet; beautiful patterns in edgings and insertions, in white and ecru, ½ inch to 2½ inches wide and only 5c and 10c a yard.

EPWORTH LEAGUE ELECTS OFFICERS AT CONFERENCE

Before adjourning the New Jersey Conference, Epworth League, yesterday at Ocean Grove, elected these officers: President, the Rev. J. B. Kulp, of Bradley Beach; secretary, C. Grason Bond, of Trenton; treasurer, R. H. Robbins, of Camden; vice-presidents, the Rev. Geo. T. Harris, of Mt. Holly; the Rev. Leon Chamberlain, of Milltown; Mrs. J. B. Shaw, of Wall, and Miss Almira L. Dobbins, of Cape May City; superintendent of junior work, Samuel H. Thompson, of Camden. The place for holding the next convention was left to the board of control. It most likely will be Trenton, as it is known that many of the delegates favor that city.

The speakers at the meetings yesterday were the Revs. Steadman Applegate, of Asbury Park; H. L. Burkett, of Jamesburg; C. M. Johnston, of Trenton; Alexander Corson, of West Collingswood, and George S. Johnson, of Red Bank, and H. P. Bennett, of Long Branch; Mrs. J. B. Shaw, of Wall; the Rev. F. A. DeMares, of Long Branch, and the Rev. Sherman G. Pitt, of Atlantic City. The sessions closed last night with an address by the Rev. George P. Eckman, of New York city.

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Samuel Kean, of Malta, is preparing for his eleventh trip to the gold fields of Alaska.

Sergeant of Police John Sommers, of Paterson, suffered a paralytic stroke Wednesday afternoon at his home, 580 Main street.

Mrs. J. S. Crowell was seriously injured while attempting to stop a runaway horse attached to a scratch harrow at Minotola.

The Trenton police authorities are looking for a German peddler who stole his pushcart from the police headquarters after it had been confiscated because he had no street license.

Mrs. P. Howard Avis, of Mullica Hill, who was so badly kicked by a horse some weeks ago, is not able to lift her head from the pillow yet. In some respects, however, she is improving.

Isaac Penn and Tenaco Melo were held for court under $200 bail each. They are charged with an attempt to kill Edward Dobbs, a farmer near Woodbury, who caught the men stealing some produce.

Burlington county authorities will ask for an investigation of the escape of Walter Jobes, of Florence, a prisoner under bail on an assault charge, from Constable McCune, also of Florence, Tuesday evening in Burlington.

As Rev. Edward Mount, in the Williamstown M. E. church, was preaching the electric light suddenly went out. He drew a dark lantern from the pulpit, lighted it, and, with the remark, "I am always ready for an emergency," proceeded with his sermon.

Both the Cumberland and Bridgeton lodges, I. O. O. F., of Bridgeton, have voted favorably upon the question of consolidation, and as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made the organizations will unite as one, making one of the strongest lodges in South Jersey.

Emil Bangartner, a loomfixer, employed by the United Loom Company at Paterson, tore the flesh off a portion of his hand while repairing looms yesterday. The wound was dressed at the General Hospital. Bangartner lives at 379 Clinton street, Paterson.

In Jersey City, in the Hudson Circuit Court, a jury awarded $750 damages to Isadore Hiller, of West Hoboken, who sued Gustav A. Heidenfelder, of 124 Oak street, Weehawken Heights, for $5,000 for a dog bite. Hiller, who is an insurance collector, visited Heidenfelder's home to collect insurance, and was jumped upon and bitten by a bulldog.

Henry Fetner, of Barclay street, Paterson, while at work on an electric light wire pole in Second street, Passaic, Wednesday came in contact with a live wire. His right arm and hand were burned. The victim was brought down the pole by Charles Powell, of 49 Park place, Passaic. The victim was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, that city. No serious results are anticipated.

Physicians in charge of Miss Mary Headley, the eighteen-year-old nursemaid who risked her life at Atlantic City to save that of three-year-old Roy Higbee, her charge, who had run in front of a trolley car, fear for the reason of the young woman, whose lucid moments are filled with hallucinations that she is still falling in front of the car, which was stopped within a few inches of her prostrate form.

Freed by a court order, after spending twenty-eight months in jail, Michael Raymond, convicted for withholding information of the murder of John Buglio by Joseph Labriola, who was hanged for the crime, can now return to his home in Minotola. Raymond served part of his sentence because he was unable to secure bail pending a decision on an appeal. It was made on the ground that a confession of the prisoner was against him in the prosecution.

Fireman Joseph Murphy, of Engine Company No. 6, Paterson, had his fighting clothes on early Wednesday morning, and after getting into a battle with Dan Hickey, a well known police character, at Beech and Cedar streets, he decided to take a fall out of Policeman White, who had tried to stop the fight, when a patrol wagon arrived with several policemen. Murphy had to be subdued with a club. He was locked up on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

The fact that David Jones was about half the weight and size of Michael Henning, of Philadelphia, saved the former from a prison sentence at Atlantic City Wednesday, when he was arrested on the charge of holding up Henning and robbing him of his ready cash. Henning claimed that Jones forced him to hand out his cash, but when Recorder Keffer discovered that the alleged hold-up man was a pigmy alongside his giant accuser, he refused to hold Jones, who was released.

Arraigned in the Camden Criminal Court Wednesday on a charge of assault and battery on Joseph Holladay, of Fifth and Bailey streets, Elliot Chew was scored by Prosecutor Scovel as being a public nuisance and a dangerous man to be at large. Passing the home of Chew several weeks ago, Holladay told the court, he was called by Chew, who seemed to be in agony. When he started to assist him Chew kicked him in the stomach. Judge Joline granted a request that sentence be deferred until two physicians examine Chew as to his sanity.

Fear that attempts to collect back poll taxes in Atlantic City, which have been unpaid for years, would result in a political upheaval, has decided heads of the local Republican ring not to enforce the order given to Assistant Recorder Hayes to collect the "head tax," which would have brought in nearly $80,000 from recreant voters. The poll tax act has been practically a dead letter in Atlantic City for years. City Comptroller Heston issued a statement showing the big loss to the city through failure to collect the tax, but political leaders have called off the plan to force payment.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, of Newark, have returned home after a visit with friends here.

The Blue Serge Suit You Can Buy Here at $18 is very much different from the blue serge suits you see elsewhere at anywhere near the price. Our Blue Serges at $18 will compare favorably with most blue serges that are offered at $22, both in quality and smartness.

Now, that isn't because we have any mysterious way of procuring better blue serge than other manufacturing clothiers, nor because we have any more advanced knowledge of the styles.

It's because we have the inclination to use in these $18 Suits serges of a quality that is usually used in garments that would cost $22, and because we have had our staff of tailors work into these $18 Suits touches of style—individuality—smart effects that are seldom seen in garments costing much more in other stores.

These $18 Blue Serges are self-stripes and shadow-stripes, which are in such great demand for Spring and Summer Suits, and are lined with alpaca. The models are three-button, with the new close-fitting high collar and natural shoulder effect, and the new narrow cuff with one button.

PATENTED

This is the Square Pot of the

BOYNTON FURNACE

that saves fuel and dollars and will heat the whole of a house. In every great engine and under every big boiler you'll find a square fire box. Ever noticed it? Well—we have adapted that principle to our furnaces. A square pot gives a clean, hot, clinkerless fire without waste of fuel. It requires the least attention and responds instantly. BOYNTON furnaces only have square fire-pots. It is our patent. There are other improvements. A square ash pit that improves the draft and makes removal of ashes easier. A pure air supply—for health's sake. A dust flue that saves the rooms above.

Look up the BOYNTON dealer in your town and talk it over.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

MODERN, UP-TO-DATE, ATTRACTIVE

Our oxfords and pumps for women come under this head. Women are always reaching out for the kind of shoes we sell, and we are reaching out for the customers who can appreciate the best that there is in shoes. Come in and see the Spring and Summer styles. They will bear examination, they'll bear comparison and they'll bear your weight for months. The bronze and Swede oxfords and pumps, the latest attraction, ask to see them. Our Misses' and Children's shoes and oxfords for school and dress occasions are similar lasts to the Ladies', are fashionable in appearance and with correct shaping to perfect the form of the foot while growing.

Buffets

These are undoubtedly the greatest values ever offered in dining room furniture. They were delayed in transit, in consequence of which we secured a tremendous price reduction. It's our habit to pass such savings to you. See them in our window.

ONE THAT WAS $19.98, 14.50

ONE THAT WAS $26.50, 15.50

ONE THAT WAS $27.50, 18.75

All have full swell fronts with mirror.

These must be seen to be appreciated. Don't delay. The quantities are limited and will certainly be sold in a few days.

To Make Cloth Waterproof.

"Take eight ounces of sugar of lead, eight ounces of powdered alum and two and one-half gallons of lukewarm water," says Woman's Home Companion for April. "Mix in a tub, and let stand for twenty-four hours. Stir thoroughly when first mixed and occasionally for the first hour, to dissolve the ingredients. Take the garment (overcoat, suit or dress, anything of woolen or cotton material), brush thoroughly, and let soak for twenty-four hours. Take out, let drip until almost dry (don't wring), hang in the air until dry, then press as usual. Water will fall off as from the proverbial 'duck's' back. One can use a suit treated in this way, on hunting trips and in a driving rain and come home dry. It does not destroy or interfere with the ventilation or injure the fabric in the slightest degree. The quantities as given here cost about twenty cents, and will successfully water-proof an overcoat and suit, or in proportion."

VALUE IN MILK AND CREAM
Depends on Quality as well as Price.

Our Cream for instance, is worth from half again to twice as much as that of most other dealers, on the ground of richness and consequent greater cost to us

No artificial "thickeners" or preservatives in ours either. Our cream is thicker because richer.

Rich Milk 8c per qt; Rich Cream 12c per half pt.
Buttermilk 6c per qt.

Re-printed from The Weekly Constitutionalist

June 16, 1870.

John Heath, son of Thomas Heath, Esq., of Baskingridge, while engaged in drawing iron for the Peapack & Passaic Valley R. R. one day last week, was instantly killed by being struck upon the head with the lang of the wagon while unloading, crushing his skull in. The iron was swung under the axles.

Always when you come in possession of any important local news, go directly to your paper, and inform the editor. You will not only receive his grateful acknowledgment of the favor but also the thanks of his patrons.

Among the patents issued from the United States Patent Office for the week ending June 7, 1870, we notice one to Frank M. Bacon, of this City, for a Washing Machine.

We apologize for the late appearance of our paper, but when we say that sickness of an Editor and Compositor is the cause our subscribers will readily excuse our tardiness.

We learn that Mr. J. B. Coward, of this City, has given out the contract for a handsome residence, to be built next to the 1st Presbyterian church on Front street. Messrs. Hartfelder does the carpenter work and Jas. Smith the mason work.

Mr. Pattinson is around taken the Census of this Township, and would be much obliged if the gentlemen who would leave the amount of their Real and Personal Estate with their wives when leaving home.

In the Hudson County Sessions last week, John White, a Hoboken justice of the peace, was convicted of extortion in exacting $5 as a fee for issuing a warrant, the law not allowing so large a fee and forbidding any fee until after conviction. Sentence was deferred.

Patrick Clinton, the depot master, recently summarily ejected Mayor Ricord of Newark, from the ladies' room of the Newark & New York R. R. of the above city for smoking in the same.

SEVENTY CENT ICE MAKES TRENTON HOT.

Trenton householders are greatly agitated because ice dealers there announced a price of seventy cents a hundred pounds to all small consumers for the coming summer. Cafes, butchers and other large consumers will be supplied at the rate of forty cents a hundred pounds.

No explanation is made by the dealers as to why the price should be almost double what they will be in other nearby cities. Much of the ice used here is the artificial product, and this consumers say costs no more to make than it did last summer when the prices were much lower.

There is talk of an official investigation to ascertain who is responsible for the advance.

For Mothers' Day.

Atlantic City, April 30.—Members of the Atlantic City Lodge of Elks and officials of the city, headed by Mayor Stoy, are preparing a petition to Governor Fort, asking that he issue a proclamation calling on people of the State to observe "Mothers' Day" on the second Sunday in May by the wearing of a white carnation. Civic societies all over Atlantic City have taken up the project to honor the mothers of the land for one day of the year, and the assistance of the Governor is asked to make the occasion of State-wide import.

Rahway Opposes Sewer System.

Mayor John W. Burns reported to the Garwood Borough Council Tuesday night that the city of Rahway had filed a protest with the State Board of Health against the proposed sewer system for the former Westfield section of Garwood. Rahway is afraid that the brook in Garwood which empties into the Rahway river in Cranford will be contaminated. A hearing upon the Rahway complaint will be given by the State board on Tuesday. Garwood will be represented by Mayor Burns, its engineer and counsel.

F. W. FORT MAY SUCCEED TO RAYMOND'S POSITION.

Attaches at the courthouse at Newark were much interested Wednesday in a report to the effect that Franklin W. Fort, eldest son of Governor Fort, is to be made first assistant prosecutor, should Thomas L. Raymond be advanced to the bench of the United States District Court to succeed Judge Lanning. Prosecutor Mott was not inclined to discuss the probability of such a change.

Mr. Fort, since his father has been Governor, has several times been mentioned for an assistant prosecutorship. Recently a story was afloat that Judge Ten Eyck contemplated resigning and that Mr. Mott was to be given his position on the bench, Mr. Raymond to be raised to the prosecutorship and Mr. Fort to his post. Judge Ten Eyck spoiled this plan by not resigning.

Union County Court of Common Pleas.

Notice of Hearing Objections to Assessments For Street Improvements in the City of Plainfield.

Thomas J. Hughes, Harry B. MacDonald and Andrew J. Gavett, the Commissioners appointed by the Union County Court of Common Pleas, by order entered on the ninth day of December, 1908, to estimate and assess benefits conferred by the permanent street improvements in the City of Plainfield, under the ordinances of said city specified in said order, (said ordinances being also hereinafter specified) and the character of the work and improvements for which said assessments have been made and a description of the sections of the particular streets and avenues thereof which are included in said assessment, being as follows: viz.: (1) The paving with permanent and durable vitrified brick pavement of:

East and West Front Streets, respectively, from the westerly side line of Madison Avenue to the easterly side line of Watchung Avenue;

Somerset Street, from the northerly side line of Front Street to the bridge over Green Brook;

Watchung Avenue, from the southerly side line of East Front Street to the southerly side line of East Fourth Street, exclusive of the portion of said Watchung Avenue already provided with brick pavement;

Park Avenue, from the southerly side line of Front Street to the southerly side line of Fourth Street;

East Fourth Street, from the westerly side line of Sycamore Street to the easterly side line thereof;

Arlington Avenue, from the northerly side line of West Seventh Street to the southerly side line thereof; also from the northerly side line of West Eighth Street to the southerly side line thereof; and (2) the macadamizing with durable macadam pavement of:

North Avenue, from the northeasterly curb line of Berckman Street to the southwesterly curb line of Terrill Road;

Leland Avenue, from the present macadam on East Front Street to the present macadam on South Avenue;

Netherwood Avenue, from the present macadam on East Front Street to the northwesterly curb line of East Second Street;

Monroe Avenue, from the present macadam on West Seventh Street to the present macadam on West Eighth Street;

West Eighth Street, from the present macadam on Monroe Avenue to the City Line;

West Third Street, from the present macadam at Monroe Avenue to the present macadam at Clinton Avenue;

Clinton Avenue, from the present macadam at West Third Street to the City Line;

under the ordinances of said City entitled: "An Ordinance for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield with permanent and durable Brick Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits," approved July 1, 1907, "An Ordinance to amend an Ordinance entitled 'An Ordinance for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield with permanent and durable Brick Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits,' adopted by the Common Council July 1st, 1907 and approved by the Mayor July 1st, 1907," approved July 13, 1908, and "An Ordinance for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with permanent and durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits," adopted by the Common Council May 4, 1908; re-adopted by the Common Council June 8, 1908, notwithstanding the objections of the Mayor, which ordinances were adopted under and by virtue of the act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to authorize the improvements of streets and highways in cities of this State and to provide for the payment of the expense of the same," approved June 13, 1898, and the amendments and supplements thereto, having made and filed in the office of the clerk of said court, a report in writing of their estimates and assessments, accompanied by surveys and maps prepared by the City Surveyor under their direction, showing lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, respectively, the total cost of the whole work upon each of the sections of said streets or avenues improved as aforesaid, under the aforesaid ordinances; the portions assessed upon the City at large, and the names, so far as ascertained, of the owners of the said lots or parcels of land and real estate, and the amount of the assessment to each owner for each of said lots or parcels of land and real estate for the said benefits, and the excess thereof to be paid by the City at large, and raised by general tax, and the other matters required by said acts of the Legislature, as by reference to said report and maps will more fully and at large appear.

Notice is hereby given, that the said Union County Court of Common Pleas has fixed the twelfth day of May, 1909, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as the Court can attend to the same, at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth, as the time and place for hearing before said court any objections that may be made to such assessments, when and where all parties may be heard, and has directed the publication of this notice.

WEDS GIRL HE RISKED LIFE FOR IN COURTING

A romantic courtship culminated Wednesday evening at Somerville, when Jacob Wachter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wachter, of Somerville, was married to Miss Della Hough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hough, of Raritan.

During his courtship the bridegroom was often threatened in order to make him desist calling upon the young woman. He had received numerous letters and was twice assaulted. Once on his way to call on Miss Hough he was shot at from ambush, receiving an ugly wound in his right shoulder. He never obtained any clew to the identity of his persecutors.

The marriage ceremony was performed at the parsonage of the First Reformed church, Somerville, by the Rev. Dr. William Stockton Cranmer, the pastor. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. William Hough, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. After the ceremony the couple went immediately to their newly furnished home, in South street, Somerville.

BIAS BROADCLOTH SAVES SKIRT HEM.

Skirt braids are doubly important when skirts are worn long, as they are this season, and trebly so if a woman is trying to make her one good suit outlast several seasons. But never yet has a braid been invented which would not wear out long before it was intended to, and never yet have braids been manufactured to match exactly the new shades that come out every season.

As the braid must in addition to other requirements be unshrinkable, a little woman who lives and moves and has her being in Paris, recommends "to all the fortunate women who are not in shivering Paris," but comfortable in their American homes, the use of a double fold of bias broadcloth left over from the gown, as a skirt protector.

Any other closely woven cloth may be used in the same way, but material that is wiry or very much inclined to ravel should not be considered; neither will its wearing quality recommend it.

The bias is cut one and a half inches wide, is folded together, and slightly pressed. It is basted to the lower part of the skirt, so that a cordlike edge is visible on the right edge and the doubled raw edge appearing on the wrong side is catstitched fast to the under side of the facing or hem.

Two points in particular recommend this as a skirt projector; the fact that it perfectly matches the gown and the fact that its shrinkable or non-shrinkable propensity is entirely the same as the skirt. Furthermore, being bias, it accommodates itself to the size of the skirt, thus obviating the tendency to "draw in." Its economy may be a consideration, and when the material is soft as broadcloth is its wearing quality and its comfortable attitude toward the finest of shoes are no mean considerations.

Scores Another Triumph

Our sale of the last few days of the stocks of our four manufacturers of suits for women and misses has been a veritable trade triumph, and has increased our prestige, notwithstanding greater competition by sellers of women's outergarments.

We have made two more purchases which enable us to sell High-Class Tailored Three-piece Suits at practically less than the cost of the materials used in their making.

It is not necessary to wait until the season's end for such bargains; you can buy them here and now.

They are of excellent quality, striped, prunella, panamas or wool rajah effects, in all the season's fashionable shades; the coats are hipless model, with cutaway round corner fronts; collars and ties of satin tipped with gilt tassels; pockets, collars and fronts handsomely button trimmed; the dress is a panel front guimpe with a graceful flare skirt, beautifully trimmed with braid and bengaline buttons.

JERSEY CITY CLAIMS $500,000 FROM CENTRAL.

Mayor H. Otto Wittpenn has made a decisive move against the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey in the South Cove matter. Through Corporation Counsel Warren Dixon a suit has been started in the Circuit Court against the railroad company. Damages to the amount of $500,000 for alleged trespass are claimed by the municipality.

Since 1887 the railroad company has occupied a strip of land adjoining the South Cove grant to the city. This later grant was wrested from the same railroad company after William D. Edwards, then corporation counsel, had fought the case through the United States Supreme Court.

The railroad company obtained the strip by filling in a waterway that provided access to the South Cove from deep water. This tidewater basin was originally 500 feet wide and the legislative grant to Jersey City provided that the basin should be kept open.

The filled in strip has rendered the south cove valueless to the city for a dock system under existing conditions. The Central Railroad Company has leased space on the strip to the Uvalde Asphalt Company, James P. Hall Company and other industries.

Of the 500-feet-wide basin, 300 feet are filled in, and the filled portion adjoins the city property.

The city has started an ejectment suit to get the railroad company and its tenants off the strip, and that suit will come up in the Supreme Court on Monday next. But even if successful this suit will not remove the filling that blocks the south cove grant.

ROBERT M. SUTPHEN SEEKING A DIVORCE.

Robert Morris Sutphen, of Orange, has filed a petition in the Court of Chancery at Trenton asking a divorce from his wife, Mary Josephine, and the custody of his young daughter. The latter is in the custody of her mother, who has been living at 30 Burnett street, East Orange. Mr. Sutphen changes that his wife is not a proper person to have charge of the girl.

The application for the divorce is based on statutory grounds, the petition conecting Mrs. Sutphen with an unidentified man, described as weighing about 185 pounds, being six feet in height, with a smooth face and high broad shoulders. It is alleged that this man and Mrs. Sutphen were seen together on April 5 last at a public house in Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Sutphen were married on June 16, 1904, the ceremony being performed by a Roman Catholic priest in the city of Newark. Mr. Sutphen's home was at 23 Snyder street, Orange, but for the past ten days he has been living at the Hotel Windsor, in that city. He is represented by Cyrus H. Vail, of Newark.

TO RAISE $500,000 FOR CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY.

Joseph M. Byrne, of Newark, who is now traveling in Europe, has been appointed a member of a committee in the Knights of Columbus who will undertake to raise $50,000 among the members of the order to present to the Catholic University at Washington, if the project be approved at the national convention this year.

Mr. Byrne was named by Edward L. Hearn, the supreme knight. Edward H. Doyle, of Detroit, is the chairman of the committee, and Philip A. Hart, of Philadelphia, secretary. Mr. Hearn is the other member. The committee is to make preliminary inquiries to ascertain how quickly the money may be obtainable.

The committee is to obtain expressions of opinion from each council, and will also communicate with each individual member, of whom there are about 220,000 in the country. The subject will be considered at the meetings of all State councils next month.

Syndicate's Real Estate Purchase.

Elizabeth, April 30.—It has leaked out here that a New York real estate syndicate has purchased a valuable tract of land fronting on Elizabeth avenue and near Spring street, this city. On the ground will be erected a row of flats five stories high fronting on Elizabeth avenue. At the rear of these will be built a large umbrella factory. Ground will be broken next month.

Strong Specialties at Proctor's.

Fanny Wood and her dancing boys, and Abbott and Lee in a comedy repartee act, will be the specialty attractions at Proctor's theatre today and tomorrow, with a fine list of motion pictures, the best in the market. Despite the rain the playhouse was crowded last night with patrons to enjoy the fine program.

Prince to Talk on Music.

John D. Prince, Speaker of the New Jersey Assembly and a professor of Oriental languages at Columbia University, will deliver a lecture on "The Origin of Music" at the Jersey City High School tonight. Professor Prince is a composer of some fame, having written the score for Kipling's "Mandalay" and other ballads.
